At the close of the regular rehearsal on Tuesday, January 3, the choir boys of St. John's Church were given a hot supper by a committee of ladies under the convenorship of the choir mother, Mrs. J. L. Howden. Every member was in attendance, and accompanied by Rev Dr. R. C. Blagrave and the choirmaster, Mr. F. G. Mann, sat down to a real chicken dinner at tables lighted by the warm glow of Christmas candle. At the conclusion both Dr. Blagrave and Mr. Mann spoke to the boys of the opportunities which were theirs by reason of membership in the choir, urging all to do their work earnestly and well, and on their behalf expressing appreciation to the ladies for the splendid meal provided. This was responded to by the boys giving three hearty cheers and a tiger for the ladies' committee which was composed of Mesdames J. J. Howden, W. Comstock, H. W. Decy, W. F. McWilliams, and F. G. Mann.

DRESS
By MARY MARSHALL

The smart way to use fur trimming is shown on this little felt hat trimmed with strips of squirrel.

Strips of rather flat fur are used as trimming on some of the new hats—not enough to add to the weight or warmth of the hat, but to give it a winter aspect. Shredded felt provided the trimming for a very neat little hat I saw the other day. The hat was of felt and cloche shape and the trimming consisted of droops made from shreds of the felt on either side.

Two groups of persons have been disappointed in recent developments of millinery fashions. First the producers who wanted to see a large demand for all sorts of hat trimmings. They had almost convinced themselves that the day of very much trimmed hats was about to dawn.

And the other disappointed ones are the women who fully expected that the new hats were going to be roomier—women with large heads or too much hair or a natural dislike for close-fitting headgear. But the newest hats have more than ever the aspect of having been put on with a shoe horn. And the only sort of hair to have nowadays apparently would be the sort painted on a perfectly smooth cranium.

The new hats fit even closer than ever. There is less draping, less pleating and folding of the material, less place anywhere within the confines of the crown to tuck away a strand or so of hair.

It is in the wearing of the hat that so many well-dressed older women fall just short of looking as smrt as their daughters. Even with bobbed or shingled hair they cannot seem to acquire the knack of wearing the little close-fitting hats that look as if they had been moulded on a perfectly hairless head.

These older women have done much—they have overcome their prejudices against high-heeled slippers or low-cut shoes for street wear in winter. They have hardened themselves to thin silk stockings and learned the trick of wearing them as trimly as their daughters. And they have gone without sweets and other calorific foods until with the aid of properly made girdles they are almost as hipless as their daughters. It is only when they go to the milliner's that they feel the prejudice of their maturer years weigh down upon them. It is, indeed the very exceptional older woman who wears the close-fitting new type of hat as it should be worn—and the still more exceptional older woman who honestly likes it.

SAINT and SINNER
By ANNE AUSTIN

Faith glared at George and hugged her handbag. "I've got plenty of money!"

George laughed disarmingly. "I don't want to steal it! But I'd feel much easier if you'd look to make sure. Just how much have you?"

"A dollar and thirty-four cents," she told him angrily, as if it were his fault. "But I can cash a check," she added.

"Just as I thought," George chuckled. "You women! I never knew one of you to have sense enough to carry enough money with you to protect yourselves against emergencies. Here! Take this. It's only fifty, but I'll send you more after the bank opens tomorrow, or cash a check at a drug store where I'm known."

"I won't need it," Faith protested vehemently, but George settled the argument by slipping the folded bills into the pocket of his sister's coat which he had brought for her.

"Now," George leaned back, when the car was running swiftly and smoothly along one of the boulevards toward the open country, "where to? Got any preference? I'm at your service."

"Take me to Darrow, if you don't mind a fifty-mile drive," Faith decided suddenly. Her one aim was to get as far away from home as possible in the shortest time.

"Suits me," George agreed cheerfully, speeding the car up a bit as if he realized the urgency of her need for solitude. "Now, why not tell me all about it, honey? You know you can depend upon me, for anything from my life down or up, as you figure it."

"I know, George!" Tears unexpectedly stung her eyelids. Maybe it would have been better for her if she had married George. Except that she didn't love him. But what had love brought her except turmoil and pain and now this supreme agony? "I can't tell you, George. I couldn't tell anyone in the world. I—haven't the right to tell. Let's just say it was my fault, and let it go at that."

"Your fault!" George snorted. "You never did a mean, ignoble thing in your life. I'd like to horsewhip Bob Hathaway for whatever it is he has done to you—"

"Don't George!" she cried out in pain. "Please don't mention his name again. It hurts me too much. And I don't want to feel anything right now. But you must promise me one thing, and keep your promise. Promise me you won't tell Bob where I am. If you don't promise, I'll run away again as soon as you've left me."

George hesitated for a long minute, his face grim, his eyes frowning at the road. "I said I'd do anything you asked me. I don't see why I should go to Hathaway and tell him I've helped his wife to leave him. But in exchange for my promise I want one from you—that you'll keep in touch with me and let me help you in whatever you decide to do. Of course you know I still love you. I always will. But all I'm asking is that you'll let me help you in this trouble of yours. Is it a bargain?"

HOROSCOPE
The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

FOR THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1928

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)

Menacing stars rule this day, according to astrology, which reads threatening aspects in the skies.

Under this planetary government there may be a tendency to be dissatisfied and critical. It is well to banish all unpleasant ideas.

The rule is likely to encourage nervous debility and sense of fatigue after holiday pleasures, and it is wise to obey the impulse to rest.

Quarrels are easy precipitated while this configuration prevails and for this reason it is well not to argue or to attempt any sort of domestic discipline.

Mechanics and all who work with their hands may be susceptible to fatigue and even discouragement, but they should realize that the stars are responsible for vibrations that are debilitating.

Discontent and a disposition to criticize may be manifested today and wise persons will look and forebear.

Mysterious arts practiced by our American Indians are to be revived, the seers prophesy, and there will be renewed interest in spiritism.

Three years of travel are foreseen for the Prince of Wales by London astrologers who predict, as usual, that his marriage may be looked for in the current year.

Russia, Poland, Rumania and Egypt are to be centers of unrest and even of uprisings that disturb the whole world.

Persons whose birthdate it is face a year ruled by disturbing stars. They should not make any changes.

Children born on this day probably will have eventful careers that lead to success. Library workers are born under this sign.

The Lonel, Midland and Scottish Railways proposes to convey milk in glass-lined tank cars, each holding 3000 gallons instead of the milk cans now in use.

WHAT SANTA READS

When Christmas is over, one wonders if the youngsters who address innumerable letters to Santa Claus have the cause for gratification or disappointment. In the hundreds of epistles that find their way to the Christmas letter box at the J. C. Turnbustore, there are several with a hint of disillusionment, such as Edna's who "hopes that Santa won't miss it this year" and asks for a new fluffy sweater and "quite a big" writing desk, and a new pair of slippers.

Edna must have been born in March or March people are usually concerned over footwear, because she includes requests for slippers for her sister also her mother and lastly, her father along with desires for a tie and new shirt for the latter. We hope that Santa hasn't been sending any sad stuff to this house, because Edna emphasizes "new" a great deal, also.

Then there is Claire, who writes a glorious little-girl letter paper dotted by a couple of dancing sprites and a tiny dog. She begins with a "you hope for Santa's continued good health and wants, of all things, a skirt waist" (she must have been looking at Gibson girl illustrations), a pair of stockings, harness for her dog, and "a pair of long drawers, and whatever you think I need."

Helen enumerates her wants, and then says she is expecting "many other things that I cannot mention now"; Sherman looks for a hockey stick and puck, a pistol, a Christmas stocking and a horn. He would also like a little book called "Jack the Giant Killer," "if you can spare me one. Anyway, leave what you can."

Audrey wants "a pair of skates, size 13, and that will be all"; Jean also wants skates of this size, a pair of black goloshes, and a pair of shoes. Her ideas running exclusively to foot appendages; and Beatrice commences with: "I'm nearly too late. I suppose the orders have all gone in by now, but there may be something left. I would like a hat box in particular and a skating sweater, which I would like to be blue, if possible. I would like many other toys, but am ashamed to ask for too much. My Grandma lives in East City and if she would leave a bag on the door I hope you would drop something into it."

Ola says she would like a story book and a pair of bedroom slippers, a pocket book and a watch, and ends with "and lots of oranges and candies, and peanuts. That's all I want from you."

Lyla would like a fountain pen and a brush for her blackboard and also mentions the wants of a little friend, who desires run to a rubber doll and a picture book.

John thanks the jolly saint for the things he brought last year and says he is looking forward to Santa's visit this year. He would like "pear of robbers and a bucks of paints and a hokey stick." He says "that is all the news I have to tell you" and wishes Santa Claus the compliments of the season.

Francis, who is seven years old, and sends a lot of kisses in X form, wants an apron for his mother and a prayer book for his dad—" a black prayer book," he directs. He wants for himself a wagon and little car and a baby sitting on the wagon, also a bicycle, a sleigh and a tool set, a reindeer, a school bag and pencil box, an electric train, a pair of rubber boots, a pair of skates and a saddle horse, a cork gun, a drum, and a horn. Francis, whose wants must be the despair of the parents for whom he craves such useful articles, send "love to you and Mrs. Santa."

Doris, whose parents have evidently been hedging by telling her stories about Santa's inability to attend to every want, makes the reservation: "if there is enough snow for you to come," and has very useful desires in her requests for "a book bag, a raincape, and a pair of goloshes."

And here is Tommy's missive, deserving of full quotation: "Dear Old Santa: As you have only one wrecking car, I do not think I shall receive that, so I would please like a sleigh, and I cannot coast down hills in that one. I am the little boy you gave the jazz drum to last year and I have really enjoyed it."

In Peterborough Churches

ST. LUKE'S ANGLICAN.

There was a large congregation at St. Luke's Church in the morning of the first Sunday of the New Year. Mr. Bousfield's sermon bore an especial message for New Year's Day. "The most noted way to celebrate the New Year has to do with resolutions," said Mr. Bousfield. "It is best not to make too many of these; make resolutions that are moderate and few and then they will be attainable. No one can reach perfection suddenly or quickly. The Christian life is a growth, and perfection can be attained at no set time."

Mr. Bousfield then went on to say that men do not attend God's house because they have reached perfection. Far from that, they seek God's house as those who have failed, as sinners in the sight of God. And, having discovered and acknowledged the fact of sin, they can rid themselves of certain things and seek for those things that make for better lives.

"The Christian life is a growth," repeated Mr. Bousfield, "perhaps not only a growth here but also hereafter. St. Paul used all sorts of figures of speech that set forth this fact — such as likening man to a 'temple in the building,' or 'a soldier going forth to fight.'"

"Looking forward to the year ahead," said Mr. Bousfield, "we naturally want it to be a happy one. To have this desire is legitimate. God wants us to be happy. The 'Happy New Year' greetings is very right and very beautiful. But 'what is happiness?' we ask. It is a term of relativity, attained in different ways by different people. Our Blessed Lord in the Beatitudes showed just what would bring real happiness. The word 'beatus' means 'happy.' However, the Beatitudes contradict the worldly view of happiness. According to the worldly view, we do not gain the greatest happiness by being 'poor' or 'weak' or persecuted.' We are still a long way from Jesus Christ and the true ways of happiness, but very gradually His ideas are gaining ground. He is influencing this life of ours and moulding it toward better things. There is no surer way to gain true happiness than by devotion to Jesus Christ. In doing things for others we are showing devotion to Jesus Christ."

Mr. Bousfield concluded by appealing to all to let religion be a greater reality in their lives, for "out of religion man derives his truest happiness."

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

The New Year message given by His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, at St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday, was based on St. Paul's Epistle to Titus, 2:11-15, "Dearly beloved, the grace of God our Saviour hath appeared to all men, instructing them that, denying impiety and wordly lusts, we should live soberly and justly and godly."

Wishing for his congregation a happy and blessed year in the period just beginning, His Lordship said that the happiest people were those who dwelt in the friendship of God, and who pressed on to eternity with certain footsteps.

Speaking of the inspiration afforded by the exercises of the great feast of Christmas, the Bishop went on to refer to the coming feast of Epiphany, when Christ, who had been born a Jew, manifested Himself as the Lord of the Gentiles, proclaiming Himself thus as a universal Redeemer.

To live soberly and justly and godly meant a life in accord with the will of God; to live in avoidance of excesses, to be just in relations with friend and neighbor and to give adequate worship and glory to the Almighty. It was incumbent on Catholics to try to develop a Catholic mentality in all things and at all times. To be a Catholic on Sunday was not sufficient. The true meaning of the word lay in casting out of bigotry and narrowness and prejudice, of unjust dealing and uncharitableness. Catholics should be known for their truth and fair-mindedness and should give an example of law-abiding citizenship.

"How wonderful it would be," said His Lordship, "if Catholics were perpetually absent from the law courts, from the jails and the penitentiaries." It is not enough to attend Mass and receive the sacraments regularly. These practices should be implemented in the daily life.

On Friday next, the Feast of the Epiphany, Masses will be a the hours of 5.30, 7, 8 and 9 o'clock, the last Mass being sung by the children. Friday being a Holy Day of obligation, Catholics are exempted from abstinence from meat on that day.

At the Masses on Sunday, His Lordship impressed upon his congregations the importance of exercising the franchise and especially of voting in favor of the Westclox by-law.

"Although Catholics are deprived, by the law of Ontario, which is in direct contradiction to the covenant entered into by the provinces with the Fathers of Confederation, of receiving any benefit from the taxes of those companies listed as Protestant corporations, and although Quebec, on the contrary, has always lived up to its promise by recognizing the inalienable rights of the Protestant minority within its borders, still this is not the fault of the companies themselves. The Westclox by-law should receive the support of every citizen who wishes for the prosperity of Peterborough," declared His Lordship.

GILMOUR MEMORIAL.

"Speak unto the children that they go forward," Genesis, 14-15, was the text of the sermon of Rev. W. S. Edgar in Gilmour Memorial Church on New Year's Day.

"The text," said Mr. Edgar, "deals with a well known Old Testament incident. Israel had just left Egypt and had completed their three days' journey to find themselves in a rather tight corner. Pharaoh had learned by this time that they really contemplated flight, and so he came after them with his horsemen and chariots to recapture them. With the mountains on one hand, the desert on the other, the Red Sea in front and Pharaoh and his host in the rear, the Israelites seemed doomed. The people were terror-stricken. Moses alone was calm and confident. He told the people to stand still and see the salvation of God. Then God used the words of the text and the people went forward.

"Now we cannot leave that scene without remarking on the fine example and courage exhibited by Moses, on that memorable occasion. Never perhaps, was the fortitude of a man so severely tried as was that of the Hebrew leader in this crisis exposed as he was to various dangers, the most formidable of which was the wrath of a desperate multitude, but his meek and unruffled composure presents one of the finest examples of moral courage to be found in all history. And whence did his courage arise? He saw the miraculous cloud still accompanying them and his confidence arose solely from the hope of a divine interposition, although possibly he might have looked for the expected deliverance in every quarter rather than in the direction of the sea. When, in answer to his prayer, he received the divine command to go forward, he no longer doubted by what kind of miracle the salvation of his great charge was to be effected.

"Now, we, living in the 20th century, can take this command given to Israel and apply it to ourselves. Like them, we can go forward in the divinely appointed path of faith and duty. The Christian life is a life of progress. Christianity is not a profession to be made, but a life to be lived, and the law that governs it is a law of progress. We have to grow in grace, to go on from strength to strength. Now, you naturally ask the question, 'In what are we as Christians to go forward?'

"We must, first of all, go forward in the acquisition of Christian knowledge. No Christian should be satisfied with the mere rudiments of the Christian faith. Paul, writing to certain Christians who ought to have been well advanced in the Christian faith, says: 'I have fed you with milk and not with strong meat, for hitherto ye were not able to bear it, neither yet now are ye able.' Instead of advancing in Christian knowledge they had been engaged in unchristian strife and their spiritual life suffered as the result.

"Again, let us go forward in our conformity to the Lord Jesus. This is where most of us fail and come short. We may have taken Christ as our Saviour and think that that is all he is to us. But we have to remember that He is our great exemplar as well as our Saviour.

"Then again, go forward in your efforts to do good to men. Christ went everywhere doing good and if we are his true followers, we shall seek to do the same.

"Go forward in the conquest of your spiritual adversaries. These are many, but the Scriptures classify them under three heads, "The World, the Flesh and the Devil.' This terrible trinity is constantly on our track seeking our spiritual overthrow and we need more than human wisdom to circumvent their evil designs and more than human power to gain the mastery over them.

"In the last place, go forward in your preparation for heaven. Heaven is the consummation of the Christian life. What has been begun in grace will end in glory, what has been the work of time will extend right into eternity."

They Always Help Me and Keep Me Healthy

British Columbia Lady Always Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. S. Nargang Suffered With Swollen Ankles

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 2.—(Special).—Short, but right to the point, is the statement from Mrs. S. Nargang, 536 Drake St., Vancouver. She writes:—"Have used Dodd's Kidney Pills for a number of years and have always found them very helpful. My ankles used to swell. It might have been dropsy, but Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me right away and keep me healthy."

It is statements like this that have made Dodd's Kidney Pills a household remedy all over Canada. For more than a third of a century people have been telling each other of the benefits received from Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are purely and simply a kidney remedy.

If your kidneys trouble you, take Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are the remedy you need.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have restored sound health to thousands of troubled men and women. Give them a trial at once.

Women, Your Manifold Duties Require Strength

St. Catharines, Ont.—"During my early married life Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was very helpful to me as a tonic and nervine. I had become all run-down, my nerves were all-upset, I could not sleep, and was weak and miserable. I was advised by my mother to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it relieved me of the nervousness and made me a well, strong woman. Since then I have always recommended it to weak women."—Mrs. M. F. Slack, 5 Francis St.

District Churches

MILLBROOK UNITED S.S.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 4.—The anniversary services in connection with the United Church Sunday School were held on Sunday, January 1, Rev. E. W. Rowland, of Omemee, preaching inspiring sermons morning and evening. The Fallis Line service in the afternoon was withdrawn, and the pastor, Rev. F. H. Howard, took charge of Mr. Rowland's circuit in the latter's absence.

There was no afternoon session, the school uniting with the congregation for morning worship, and the sermon being especially to the young folk. The selections by the choir included two anthems, "Lord We Praise Thee", with solo by Mrs. H. W. Johnston, and "The Lord is My Strength."

Rev. E. W. Rowland chose his text from Psalm 48:7: "Thou breakest the ships of Tarshis with an east wind", and his subject was particularly "The Ship"; the question and answer method keeping even the youngest scholars interested throughout.

Suggesting an ocean trip for the boys and girls, the speaker drew out the information as to what things it would be necessary to know about the boat and its equipment, and then proceeded with the analogy to the voyage of life, the ship being the body; 'the house God has put you in; see that you keep it strong and well-developed'; the 'engine' the heart—don't put in anything that will slow it down, such as cigarette smoking, drinking liquor, or evil thoughts and passions; the 'boiler', the stomach which makes blood for the heart and so care of diet is necessary if the life-stream is to be clean and wholesome; the 'crew' will include 'the companions with whom you must play the game fairly and squarely for God does not intend that any of us shall live unto himself or herself'; the 'captain' which is yourself, the real you that lives in the body, and must be kept wide-awake, and well trained; the 'compass' is the voice of God within too often smothered by a wilfulness that refuses to listen when selfish desires pull the other way'; the 'chart' is the Bible, which never lead one astray, and as old age comes on and the port is drawing nearer our Pilot, Jesus Christ, comes on board and we are safe home at last.

"For though from out the bourn of time and place,
The tide may bear me far, I hope to see my Pilot
Face to face, when I have crossed the bar."

The awards for the year were distributed at the close of the service, twelve scholars having not missed a Sunday; in Mrs. T. H. Aiken's class, Reg. Edmunds and Orval Lunn; in Miss Jean Burnham's class, Muriel Clarke and Ida Lunn; in Mrs. Otis Williamson's class, Bryer Edmunds and Bonna Clarke; in Mrs. McDowell's class, Marguerite Hawken; in Mrs. I. M. Nattress' class, Marshal Fallis; in the Junior Trail Rangers', Eric Clarke, and Harry Freelove; in the Senior Trail Rangers', William Skitch and Harold Hawken; in the Tuxis Boys, Bruce Freelove.

Two of the boys, William Skitch and Eric Freelove, have an unusual record, the former not having missed a Sunday in twelve years, and the latter eight years. The school gives a Bible to any scholar being present every Sunday, a book being substituted when a copy of the Scriptures has once been awarded.

Prizes to those reciting verses went to ten scholars: Reg. Edmunds (160), Kathleen Smith (256), Myrtle Nattress (246), Margaret Smith (312), Helen Mitchell (372), May Perrin (360), Charlotte McMahon (268), Arthur Howard (163), Elwood Fallis (130), Jack Stinson (171), Flossie McMahon (302), and Gordon Might of the Primary Department who recited 88 verses. At least 150 verses must be learned to receive any award.

Every child in the primary department was remembered with a story and this custom being followed each year. The superintendent, Mr. Marshal Fallis, mentioned particularly the very fine class of Bibles purchased from the Bible Society colporteurs in Peterborough, at cost.

The sermon at night was especially helpful, and the choir repeated the Christmas anthems which were so much appreciated one week before.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

St. John's Lose Opening Game of Junior Series

SAINTS RECEIVE SETBACK IN FIRST GAME, WEAKENING AFTER HOLDING LINDSAY HALF THE WAY

Midgets Take Lead of Seven Goals in First of Four Game Series.

MUCH IMPROVED.

Winners Show Nice Stuff, But St. John's Expect to Reverse Result.

(By F. D. C.)

St. John's, Peterborough's new junior O.H.A. team, ran into unexpectedly tough opposition in their first scheduled game at Lindsay last night and, after holding the Midgets practically on even terms until the battle was half over, caved in during the next fifteen minutes and had to accept defeat by 9 goals to 2.

The game was the first of a series of four, total goals to count, and the Midgets have a nice lead to carry into the next fixture which will be played here on Friday night.

The score looks as if Lindsay were miles in front of the Saints, but as a matter of cold fact the battle was much more even than the figures indicate.

Half way home the Peterborough team, all of them making their debut in the O.H.A., were sitting pretty holding the Midgets well in hand and threatening at any moment to sew up the game.

Finally Lindsay managed to drive home their third goal and all at once they took command of the game. When Hutchinson, the Saints' goaler, was beaten by a couple of long side shots the break took a lot out of the ultimate losers while Lindsay came on like a new team and soon were in the driver's seat. They left the ice leading by 6 to 1 and although the Saints sent Payne in to look after the net in the last period the winners added another pair of goals early in the last dash to make the issue sure. Each team scored just before the final bell, the Peterborough counter being hung up in the last second of play.

The Lindsay team is a greatly improved outfit over that which represented the Midgets last year. They have size and speed and their team work shows a big advance over last season's stuff. Forbert, the best forward of the 1927 crew, is still the ace of the line and is going great guns, while he is flanked by a pair of unselfish, hard checking and fast skating wings in Spratt and Hogan. The defence pair, Woods and Rich, both checked well and were a source of great strength offensively, bagging four goals, while back of them McClory turned in a smart game in the nets.

The new Peterborough crew needs more work and practice to shake down into a team. Individually they compared favorably with their opposition but they were deficient in team-play and their failure to work together was a material factor in the final result. The Saints, however, are not dismayed. They feel that they got few breaks at any stage last night and that they are capable of much better hockey and they promise the Midgets a warm reception here on Friday night.

Jarvis, the Saints' left winger, was outstanding on the forward line although Jack and Terry Hall, the other two regulars worked hard, and the sub pair gave all they had when called upon. Back on the defence Jack Johnston and Frank Carroll, while bothered to some extent by the small ice surface, gave a good account of themselves at all stages. The Saints used two goal keepers, Hutchinson making some fine stops until he weakened under fire in the last half of the second period. Payne, who played the last twenty minutes, performed well.

The teams:

Lindsay
Goal—McClory.
Right Defence—Woods.
Right Wing—Hogan.
Left Wing—Spratt.
Subs—Gerster, Begley.

St. John's
Goal—Huchinson, Payne.
Right Defence—Johnston.
Left Defence—Carroll.
Centre—Jack Hall.
Right Wing—Terry Hall.
Left Wing—Jarvis.
Subs—Hartley, Dunkerley.
Referee—Bert Smith, Whitby.

There was little to choose between the two teams in the first period, which was notable for the speed at which both outfits travelled. It was hockey all the way and honors were virtually even. The Midgets broke into the scoring after five minutes hot action when Rich went down and drove a beautiful shot past outside the defence, to beat Hutchinson. The Saints were a man short at the time.

The next twelve minutes were scoreless but finally Wood broke away to score the first of his two goals and put his team two goals to the good.

Lindsay got that one back a minute later in the prettiest rush of the night. He stickhandled around Woods and went in close to lift the rubber over McClory's shoulder into the top corner of the net. The end of the period found the score still 2 to 1 for Lindsay.

Early in the second session the Saints had the edge in the play and looked good to tie up the tussle. Hartley had one glorious chance when he faced the puck over the net with the goalie at his mercy. Several other good opportunities went wrong and the Lindsay, after being hard pressed for some time, scored their fourth goal when Woods batted in Gerster's rebound. Two minutes later the Midget defence man came back with a soft goal on a side shot and the Petes were on the run. Even a double penalty with Hogan and Woods ruled off almost together was not taken advantage of and when the Saints went down with a four-man attack and failed to pass the puck Rich broke away and slipped the rubber to Forbert for another counter, and a little later a Hogan to Forbert play added No. 6 to the total.

Right off the reel in the last period Spratt, left uncovered in front of the Petes' net, slipped in a rebound on which Payne had no chance and soon after Forbert hung up another. The Saints pulled themselves together and forced the play but could not score and as the minutes passed 8 to 1 looked like the final count. Gerster, however, took a pass and slammed in another for Lindsay in the final moment and in the last second of play Johnston went down alone and beat McClory with a neat shot, for the Saints' second goal. It was a close fit. The timer's bell rang with the shot in mid-air but the puck crashed against the back of the net before Referee Smith's bell could bring the game to a close and the goal, of course, counted.

GEORGIA PEACH FOR ATHLETICS

Ty Cobb May Again Wear the Uniform of the Mackmen.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4—Ty Cobb, veteran of 22 major league baseball campaigns and recently unconditionally released by the Philadelphia Americans, may wear the uniform of the Athletics again this coming season.

Manager Connie Mack stated today that he intended to get in touch with the "Georgia Peach" in the near future to see if satisfactory terms could be arranged.

Cobb's salary last year was reputed to have been $60,000, including the bonus he received for signing a contract. When he was released he made the statement that he would be willing to play for the Athletics for less money, but that he had received no offer.

Manager Mack said that he had been dropped solely because the team could not afford to pay that much money and that he "did not have the heart" to offer him less.

"The club still feels the same about Cobb as it did when his release was announced", Mack said today. "We would like to have Ty with us, but as I told him, we can't afford to pay him a salary like he received last year.

"If we can agree on salary figures, I guess Cobb will be playing with us again next season. I'm going to get in touch with him very soon and see what we can do."

Mack made it plain that he had not received any overtures from Cobb and was not at all sure that the great batsman was not ready to retire from baseball.

FEW CHANGES FOR YANKEES

Looks Like a Prosperous Year for the New York Club.

ADD TO PITCHERS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—It looks like a prosperous New Year for Miller Huggins' well-known hired hands—and a tough one for the rest of the American League. The Christmas season brought Huggins no present in the shape of bigger and better ball players. Probably because it was rather generally felt that he had enough stock on hand to last him one more season at least.

Since the Yankees swept through the American League to a championship last fall and then dusted off the Pittsburgh Pirates in four straight games to prove their right to top baseball ranking, Huggins, negotiations to add "strength" to his club have been met with a stern and rockbound silence on the part of rival managers.

Except for a shake-up in his pitching corps, Huggins has not done much with his championship machine. Reports are that the Yankees have obtained title, under cover, to the crack keystone combination of Oakland Club, of the Pacific Coast League, Lyn Lary and Andy Reese. If they have been purchased it is probably for future delivery. The Yankees are pretty well fortified around the middle bag now with Lazzeri and Koenig.

The only major addition to the club since the season closed is Stanley Covelski, veteran spitball twirler, who was let out by Washington last season.

Huggins has disposed of three pitchers, Bob Shawkey, Dutch Reuther and Joe Giard, besides Ray Morehart, utility infielder. Shawkey and Ruether were handed their unconditional releases. Giard and Morehart went to St. Paul, of the American Association. Rumor, busy as ever, has slated Urban Shocker, another veteran hurler, for a new berth next summer.

The release of Reuther and Giard leaves Herb Pennock as the sole left-hander among the moundsmen, but at 33, he still ranks among the game's greatest pitchers. The right-handers include Wilcy Moore, sensation of the 1927 season; George Pipgras, Waite Hoyt, Walter Beall and Myles Thomas.

The rest of the club has a permanent aspect. The infield combination of Gehrig, Lazzeri, Koenig, and "Jumping Joe" Dugan is expected to start the 1928 race, although Dugan's age may make necessary a change at the hot corner. Miles Gazella and Wera, were the reservists. With Ruth, Meusel and Combs as regulars, and Ben Paschal and Cedric Durst ready for the well-known emergency, the outfield posts are adequately taken care of.

HOCKEY NOTES

The Church Hockey League will commence at once to draw up schedules with the following teams entered:

Midgtt — St. James', All Saints', Trinity, Murray Street, George Street, Mark Street.

Juvenile—George Street, Murray Street, Trinity, All Saint's, St. George's.

Junior—George Street, Park Street, All Saints'.

There is but one senior entry to date, that of George Street.

All clubs who have not done so are asked to send their entry fee at once to Harold Rehill, 514 Bolivar street, with a list of all eligible players and the manager's address and phone number.

Twenty-One Nations To Compete In Games

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Jan. 4 (Canadian Press).—Twenty-one nations will compete in the second Olympic games winter sports, entries for which closed January 1. The nations to be represented are: Canada, England, Esthonia, Finland, France, Holland, Italy, Japan, Argentina, Latvia, Lithuania, Norway, Luxembourg, Austria, Poland, Rumania, Sweden, Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary, Jugo-Slavia and the United States.

Twenty-four nations entered, but Spain, Mexico and Brazil withdrew. Canada is regarded as an almost certainty in the hockey contests. Canada and the United States will figure strongly in the sprints, and Finland in the distance skating; Norway in the skis, and France in the military patrol skis.

Figure and fancy skating is regarded as a toss-up between the United States and Austria, with Austria as a slight favorite. Beatrix Loughran, United States, however, is favored to defeat Mme. Szabo-Plank, of Austria, winner in 1924.

MARLBOROS WILL BE STRONG FOR FIXTURE HERE

Harry Watson Bringing a Starry Aggregation To-morrow.

A GREAT GAME.

Senior O.H.A. Season Promises To Get Away to Memorable Start.

While the professionals and the Industrial Lague have grabbed off many of Toronto's star amateurs Harry Watso of the Marlboros has succeeded in rounding up a real starry collegon of senior puck-chasers who hope to show their class by beating th Petes here tomorrow night in the first local senior game of the season.

Watson is a shrewd coach, and the Dukes under his schooling will undoubtedly prov plenty of opposition for Eddie Wrist's revamped team.

However the gang led by Ray Rose are going great in practices and they expect to knot Marlboros off tomorrow night is a preliminary to clashing with Varsity in Toronto on Saturday afternoon.

The first senior game of the season promises to attract a real crowd. There are not many of the old Petes left in action but the fans are interested in the new line up and hopeful that the team will be right in the running in the senior race.

The game with Marlboros will not only provide a good test but it should also provide a hot, thrilling hockey.

SPORT BITS

Lou Gehrig hit two home runs during the 1927 mason with the bases fully occupied.

Suzanne Lenglen's latest hobby is collecting stamps with special attention being paid to airmail stamps.

Horses owned by H. P. Whitney won 75 races during the racing season of 1927.

Winnings of $327,934 during the 1927 racing season enabled H. P. Whitney to top all owners in purses.

Babe Ruth failed to hit a home run with the bases loaded during the 1927 season until he hit his 57th homer on September 27. He did the feat again on September 29.

An attack of tonsilitis will keep Johnny Gibson, one of the best middle distance runners in the world, from taking part in any winter meets.

Joe Bush, who will be with Connie Mack again this year, started his baseball career in 1912.

First Appearance

NEW YORK, N.Y., Jan. 4 (Canadian Press). — McGill University hockey team will make its first appearance of the season here tonight, when they play the Dartmouth University sextet. The game will be played for the benefit of the New York Women's League League for Animals.

The second game of the Montreal collegians' tour will be played here Saturday night, when they meet Harvard University.

Defends Crown

MIAMI BEACH, Florida, Jan. 4 (Canadian Press). — Gene Sarazen, former national open champion yesterday successfully defended his Miami Beach open golf crown, winning that event with a card of 292 for the 72 holes of medal play.

Johnny Farrell, New York and St. Augustine professional, was second with 295; while Joe Kirkwood, the Albany, Ga., professional, was one stroke behind him in third place; Willie Klein, Miami professional, was fourth wth 298.

Bass and Canzoneri To Fight For Title

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Benny Bass of Philadelphia, recognized as world's featherweight champion by the National Boxing Association, was signed yesterday to meet Tony Canzoneri of Brooklyn in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden January 27.

The winner of the bout, which brings together the two outstanding contenders in the 126-pound division, will be recognized by the National Boxing Association and by the New York State Athletic Commission, as world's champion.

Jess McMahon, matchmaker for Madison Square Garden, also signed Ace Hudkins of Nebraska to meet Lew Tendler, Philadelphia welterweight, in a ten-round bout here January 20.

COLLEGE COACH ON COMMISSION

Will Succeed John C. Righeimer on Illinois State Athletic Administration.

RECOMMENDS CHANGES.

Press).—Boxing in Illinois began the New Year yesterday under the administration of a college athlete-coach, one of the youngest heads of a state boxing commission in the country, Paul Prehn, of the University of Illinois.

He was elected chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission yesterday to succeed John C. Righeimer. Prehn is the only surviving member of the commission of three appointed by Governor Small when the new boxing law became effective in July, 1926.

For many years he has been instructor of boxing and wrestling at Illinois, his alma mater, and is just past his 35th birthday. A slightly cauliflowered ear is his diploma in the school of the ring.

Chairman Prehn pledged himself to strictly enforce the rules and regulations of the commission, to keep the game clean, and to make it tough for managers and boxers inclined to crookedness.

Prehn said he would make recommendations to the next Legislature for some changes in the boxing law, particularly with reference to the state tax. He advocates reduction of the state's percentage from ten to five per cent, and the placing of amateur matches, with which Chicago is now flooded, under control of the commission.

Chairman Prehn and Samuel P. Lunzo, who was appointed just a few months ago, are seeking a high type of men either in professional or social life in Chicago to recommend to Governor Small for the vacancy as third member of the commission.

SECOND BATTLE WITH MIDGETS HERE ON FRIDAY

Lindsay Crew Will Meet St. John's at Brock Street Rink.

SAINTS CONFIDENT.

Expect to Reverse the Results When They Get Rivals Here.

Peterborough fans will get their first chance to see the St. John's team in action and to look over the 1928 edition of the Lindsay Midgets at Brock Street rink on Friday night when Fred Martin brings his clever youngsters here for the second game of the series.

The Midgets uncorked a surprise on the Saints last night, but the new Peterborough entry are confident of turning the tables at home. It was their first O.H.A. test and stage fright and the cramped ice surface undoubtedly played a big part in the result. On their home cushion the Saints promise to make a much different showing although they are not underestimating the Lindsay gang, who are stronger all round than last year. Up in Lindsay the fans will all tell you that the present crop of Midgets is the best in recent years and they are not far wrong at that.

It remains to be seen whether they can perform so well on the road. In any case the St. John's crew are hopeful that they can reverse last night's result when they clash with their rivals Friday night.

WHAT SALARY WILL LOU GET

Gehrig Sure to be Given a Fat Contract By Owner of Yankees.

TALK OF YEAR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—As the time approacfied last winter to sign Babe Ruth to a new contract, Colonel Jake Ruppert, the dapper and big dough owner of the New York Yankees, was in a chronic condition of nervous sweats.

In the earlier days, the process of getting the Babe's nifty signature on a contract was a rather simple process. The Babe always needed dough and any sum that looked big enough to keep the sheriff and the bookies off his heels was all right by him. Also, in those merry days, the Babe handled his own business affairs and it is a matter of record that he was a poor business man and terrible handler of his affairs.

Then the Babe took unto himself a manager, a hustling young man who had made out of the Baltimore orphan boy one of the ranking giants of sport literature—Christy Walsh.

The Babe's manager gave the Babe an idea of how much money the colonel had, how valuable he was to the Yanks and to the American League and painted for him the value of getting while the getting is good.

The result was that the Babe walked into Ruppert's office, discussed the weather and the prospects of beer coming back and walked out with a contract that called for $210,000 for three years' work.

The good colonel came out of his sweat with a smile when the Babe crashed through to a new home-run record and helped the Yanks make a new record in winning the American League pennant and the world series.

Without the slightest warning, another sweat descended upon the good colonel. He knew he had a roly-poly German playing first base by the name of Lou Gehrig, but Gehrig was just one of the fellows on the payroll. He didn't cost the Yanks anything when they got him from Columbia University and his $7000 a year was just an item on the payroll.

But suddenly Der Gehrig became the talk of the year. He started smaking home runs, triples, doubles and singles all over the American League map and he set out in a spirited battle with the Babe for home-run honors. He also did himself well picking up grounders and catching balls at first base.

The duel between Ruth and Gehrig was the outstanding feature of the 1927 season and it put ideas into the head of Der Louie about dough. The Babe went so far as to tell him, like an old fraternity brother, that he was in the big dough and to put the arm heavily on Der Colonel.

It so happens—more sweats for Der Colonel—that Der Gehrig also is managed by Mr. Christy Walsh and his manager is versed by experience in the appraisement of baseball values.

Der Gehrig is scheduled to visit Ruppert's office in the brewery before spring winds blow and he will have the privilege of looking over a new piece of paper that certainly will call for more dough.

The Babe and Walsh will give him ammunition and it may go heavy on the colonel's dough bag.

WILL NOT HAVE REPRESENTATIVE

U. S. Will Not Be Represented By Hockey Team in Olympic Competition.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 4 (Canadian Press).—The United States, in all probability, will not be represented by a hockey team in the Olympic competition this year.

William S. Haddock, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the A.A.U. hockey commission, said last night that he had about abandoned hope of getting a team together to represent this country in the puck-chasing Olympic games.

Haddock said he had but one hope—Eveleth, Minnesota. He added that he had wired hockey enthusiasts at Eveleth asking if they could get a team together and to date had received no reply.

Haddock met many setbacks in his efforts to get a club. He scoured the country for eligible players, and some teams, after accepting, later recalled their acceptance, saying it would not be possible for the players to make the trip. He negotiated with clubs in Boston, New York and some Western cities without success and he says that the reply from Eveleth would decide whether the United States would be represented in the Olympic hockey competition.

THREE TEAMS ENTER LEAGUE

Hydro, Outlaws and High School Grads to Play at Campbellford.

RINK NEARLY READY.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 3. — The local hockey league has received the three entries which were originally desired for its formation. The three teams which will compete for the honors are the Hydro Athletic Association, the Outlaws, and the High School Grads. At the present time these is a small dispute regarding who certain players will represent, but this is considered only a minor matter, and practices for the various teams have been in progress for some days. With only three teams in the league and a host of players of all calibres to pick from, there is every reason to expect as fast a local hockey season as Campbellford has ever known.

The new rink, Davidson's Arena, is nearing completion. Though it was scheduled to open before the New Year, the delay occasioned when the high wind wrecked the structure when only nicely begun, was unavoidable and everything is being done to rush the work to completion. The roof is now completed and the interior work is progressing nicely. Men are busy erecting benches for spectators and finishing the dressing rooms for the players. A good sheet of rough ice has been made, and it is expected that when the carpenters are finished with their work, the ice will be ready for use. Just what form the formal opening will take has not yet been definitely decided, but it is certain to take place early next week.

The Campbellford team will take the ice for the first time this season in a fixture with Tweed at Tweed Friday night. The fan sare anxiously waiting to see what form the boys will show in the opening game, and thus afford them some food for speculative gossip. The original game of the series which was to have been played here, had to be postponed owing to weather conditions. The first fixture in town is slated for next week.

PETES JUNIORS PROMISE FIRST WIN TO-NIGHT

Lew Lebarr's Team Confident of Beating Whitby Here.

BOTH NEED GAME.

Petes in Good Shape and Glad to Get a Chance at Home.

Lew Lebarr and his crew declare that they will start Peterborough hockey teams on the road to victory tonight when Frank McIntyre's Whitby outfit invade Brock Street Rink for a Lakeshore group battle with the young Petes.

Like the Petes Whitby have lost two starts away from home but they are just as strong as the rest of the outfits in the group and they hope to prove it tonight by taking a fall out of the home talent. They can't see it that way at all, however, in the Peterborough camp and the blue and white youngsters are confident that they will score their first points in the O.H.A. race by a clean cut win tonight.

In any event it will be a real battle from gong to gong and those who appreciate plenty of action had better be on the side line when Referee Edgar of Bowmanville gives the command to go.

The Petes have turned in two fine games away from home and they are rarin' to go on their own rink tonight. The team is in good shape and confident of victory.

SCORELESS TIE GAME PLAYED

Boston and Pittsburgh Battle Hard For Goals—Detroit Wins.

TIE FOR FIRST PLACE.

BOSTON Jan. 4. — The Boston Bruins and the Pittsburgh Pirates, played through two overtime periods to a scoreless tie in a hard fought National Hockey League game here last night. Pittsburgh played a strong defensive game throughout, warding off the desperate efforts of the Boston team to score. In the overtime session Connor of Boston, and McKinnon of Pittsburgh came to blows and each was given a major penalty.

Detroit's victory over the New York Rangers in New York last night left Detroit and Boston tied for first place in the American section of the league.

Cougars Creep Up.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. — Laurie Aurie, a poem as to name, and the poetry of swinging motion on the ice, carried the Detroit Cougars to victor over the New York Rangers in a game full of bristling excitement last night. Aurie beat the boys in blue single handed the last time the teams met, and last night he did it again, scoring three of his team's goals. The score was 4 to 2.

It was a costly defeat for Lester Patrick's sextette for by losing they dropped to third place in the American section of the National Hockey League. The Boston Bruins were held to a scoreless tie by the Pittsburg Pirates so the Cougars slipped up on even terms with them for the lead both with twenty-one points.

RAVINAS LOSE OVERTIME GAME

TORONTO, Jan. 4.— The goddess of misfortune seems to cling on the trail of the Ravinas in the Canadian Professional Hockey League, and last night at the West Toronto rink she was present in all her glory smiling on Windsor, while she again frowned on the locals, smiling them to a 3 to 2 defeat in 16 seconds of overtime play. The regulation sixty minutes elapsed with the teams tangled in a two-all tie, but on the first play from the face-off in the extra time, Bellemer secured the rubber, raced down centre and when he was about to hit the defence, passed to Pete Pelangio, who slapped it into the net from far out on the rail.

Kitchener on Top

KITCHENER, Jan. 4.—The Kitchener Millionaires went back into first place in the Canpro Hockey League here last night by defeating the London champions 5 to 2, thus getting a one-point lead on the Detroit club, who Sunday night ousted the locals from the leading place. The winners deserved the victory, as every one of their five counters was a combination effort from right in close and Goalie McCormack had no chance whatever on any of the tallies.

Falls Beats Tigers

NIAGARA FALLS, Jan. 4.—Mickey Roach and his Falls pro hockeyists crowned themselves with glory here last night when they came from behind during the final period to score three goals and take a Canpro fixture from Hamilton Tigers by 4 to 2. The game, which was witnessed by 2,500 fans, was fast and thrilling throughout. Clean hockey featured the event, and the 11 penalties imposed were for petty infractions.

"CHARLEY'S AUNT" TO BE INTERPRETED BY A FAMOUS ORGANIZATION

An authentic presentation of "Charley's Aunt" by the Brandon-Thomas Comedy Company, an organization which is one of the great theatrical institutions in the Old Country, will be seen for the first time in this city at the Grand Theatre tomorrow night, under the direction of Mrs. Brandon Thomas, widow of the author of the world-famous farce. Although possessing an extensive repertoire, upon which it falls back from time to time, the company's most popular production is the play in question.

"Charley's Aunt" made people roar the first night it was produced, though the total box office receipts on that occasion were only eleven shillings and ninepence, and it has continued to cause merriment and wholesome fun more than any other comedy known to the present generation. It had its initial performance at the little town of Bury, St. Edmunds, in February, 1892. W. S. Penley, for whom the play was originally written, though a London actor of note, was not prominent in the provinces, so the success of the production was obviously due to its own merits rather than to the drawing ability of its star. The play, in fact, was so successful that Penley wired to Brandon Thomas: "Your fortune is made."

His optimistic prophecy was amply justified when, on December 21st of the same year, "Charley's Aunt" was produced in London, where it obtained a stupendous first-night reception, the sincerity of which was proven by the subsequent success of the play.

W. S. Penley was a London favorite; but the author, Brandon Thomas, at the time was known chiefly for his previous success, "Comrades", a serious play. The former, however, has a shrewd idea of Brandon Thomas' power of writing, obtained from the one act play, "A Highland Legacy", and had been very much impressed with the play, "Comrades."

AT THE REGENT.

"IS ZAT SO?"—YES, IT IS A SPLENDID COMEDY DRAMA

"Is zat so?" And the answer is, "It is," one of the most amusing pictures in many months if not of the entire season. Of course we refer to Fox Films screen version of the great Broadway stage hit which had its first showing at the Playhouse yesterday under the title of the first three words of this review.

There may be nothing new under the sun, but there is something decidedly novel in the idea of a prize fighter and his manager breaking into high society and staging a bout in the conservatory of a Fifth avenue mansion and then winning the hearts and hands of two of its inmates. The contrast between the pugilist, played by George O'Brien and the gay man-about-town played by Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and the fight manager, played by Edmund Lowe and the society leader, played by Cyril Chadwick, furnish many hilarious episodes.

"Is Zat So?" is a nerve tonic and a picture to give, in the language of the film, the knockout to Old Man Gloom."

Kathryn Perry, Dorris Lloyd, Philippe De Lacy and Dione Ellis have important roles in this merry film. But is is not only a happy picture crowded with laughs; it has its moments of fine pathos as well as many thrilling and exciting scenes.

It proved a real treat to this reviewer and that this treat was shared by the rest of the audience was attested by the fact that it brought gale after gale of laughter from the crowded house.

"Is Zat So?" begins a three days run at the Regent, beginning on Thursday.

AT THE CAPITOL.

To the uninitiated "The Somme," to be shown at the Capitol to-morrow will be the clearest insight into the mighty drama of war and the lives of its players than anything which has yet been written or screened. Stark realism so often lacking in a war picture runs through "The Somme" to the end of that "glorious tragedy," that terrific series of smashes that sought to take the weight out of the German blows at Verdun.

The soldier who got through the Somme will see a glimpse of the very assault in which his unit took part and the soldier who got "blighted" will see that friendly dressing station into which he crawled out of the storm. It is all there, the horrors and the heroics the humor, often pathetic but irrepressible, and ever present, the dread and the thrill of conquest. Almost every battalion in the British Expeditionary Force took its turn at going over into the Hun. It was battle on battle, with brief lulls between to bring the guns up and to get fresh men into the line. And the Canadians are given their share of the picture at Poziers and Courcelette and Regina Trench.

Before the geysers of chalk go up at La Boiselle on July 1, 1916, when the "push" opened, one sees an intimate view of the Hun in his own lines. No attempt is made to picture him with his arms permanently skyward and yelling "Kamared." He sticks to his machine gun as he actually did spraying death into the oncoming thin lines of attackers until a "Mills" sends him crashing into oblivion. The stiff discipline in the German army is seen in the salute of privates in the front line, a thing not done on the other side of the barb wire.

There are good No-Man's Land scenes where men pull a bomb-pin with their teeth and a Highlander gets ready by taking his dirk out of his hose top and waits in fearful suspense while the sky lines leap as the gun flashes are lancing up the night behind him. The night firing is well done and the soldier will see again in the livid sheet jumping out of Caterpillar Valley or Contalmaison, with the hag like trees standing stark and naked in the flashes.

Assaults on "The Somme" are not the assaults and "galloping" victories of other war pictures. Men go forward warily, shell hole to shell hole, fighting, tearing, cursing crazy, in a barb wire that holds them until the machine gunners get them in their spray. One sees a Tommy laughing, and a sergeant screaming something and jabbing with his bayonet as a potato masher is thrown at his head. The chaos of action is real and the spouting ground cannot be told from the actual steel filled spout of a five nine.

Delville Wood, or "Devill's Wood," as Tommy called it, shows the South Africans holding on grimly, grey-faced men from the chalky mud and the hours of strain. Shells 400 a minute, and gas, failed to put them out.

The tale of three V.C.'s is told. A little Englishman sees an arm wave in No Man's Land—a wounded officer—and goes out covered by a puny Lewis gun with its nose in the mud. The whole story is re-enacted by a man who says "A lump came into my throat when I heard I had the V. C." A runner takes a message that needed "a reply at any cost" from the forward line to battalion headquarters and is wounded in the stomach before he is well started. He brings the reply clutching his stomach with his hands, and takes the note from the steel band before he dies from the wound.

Then comes the Anzacs at Poziers, where they were relieved by the 1st Canadian Division. It was here that the Canadians first became introduced to deep saps, built by the German, and acquired the dugout complex. Moquet Farm is a mound of debris in a valley and the dressing station at Poziers is well done — iodine and morphine and bloody gauze and men with bad wounds, grinning and smoking captured German cigars.

"The Hush Brigade" are abel to talk after the first tanks lumber their way forward through the smoke of battle on September 15th when the Canadians got Courcselette and the Sugar factory. One man asks another: "Do you see that?" and his shell hole mate says: "Yus, but wot the 'ell is it?" and another exclaims, "Gawstrikemepink."

The Pozier-Papaume road and the Sunken road are as evil for travelers as ever, where troops move at high speed. There is a trench, too, that looks strangely like Centre Way.

BOWLING BANQUET IS GREAT SUCCESS

All Saints' Men Hold Annual Social in Parish Hall.

The Examiner regrets that a number of names were omitted from the account of the Bowling banquet at All Saints' Church and publishes the following revised account:

On Thursday evening the Men's Club of All Saints' church held their first annual banquet, which proved to be a great success. About 135 men and women sat down to a most bountiful repast that had been prepared by some of the ladies of the club.

Mr. Wiggins, president of the club, opened the program with the toast to the King, which was heartily responded to by all.

The next item was a musical trio by Mrs. Goodley at the piano, Mr. Farthing 'cello, and Mr. McKeown violin, which was beautifully rendered. This was followed by vocal solos by Mr. Herb Rush, accompanied by Miss Gladman.

Two recitations by Mr. Runnett caused much amusement and laughter among the audience. Mr. Frank Clarke gave several banjo selections, which were well received.

The toast to the Church was proposed by Mr Percy Hooper and was responded to by the Rev. J D. Patterson, Rector of All Saints', who said in part:

"Brotherhood is one definition that should be essential to all men working together as a club. When I was visiting people on Christmas day who were not quite as fortunate as others, it came into my mind that many people would call this charity, but it is not, it is Brotherhood, and if we could just realize this and do for one another as we should do, then we would have a different conception of life. If we would but join together in common life as we do when we unite as one and say "Our Father" then we would be as brothers."

The speaker then welcomed the Rev. A. H. McConnachie of Springville United Church, and the members of the club by spending an evening or two with the folks from Springville at a carpet bowling.

Miss Jessie Hill here contributed some popular Scottish songs, which were much enjoyed. These were followed by several humorous selections by Mr. Charles Coleman that that were given in his usual very pleasing manner.

The toast to the guests was proposed by Mr. Buller with all joining in the singing of "For they are Jolly God Fellows."

Mr. McConnachie, in responding to the toast, thanked the members for their kindness, in extending to his officers and himself their very kind invitation to their banquet, and it was appreciated all the more, since it came from the club, instead of the church, because it represents one of the sides of the church life that people are apt to make too little of that is, the human side of religion "We are reminded at Christmas that Jesus was very human when he was born in the manger at Bethlehem," he said. "It is necessary for our church to have the higher mysteries etc., in our religion, but we must remember the human side, and so have such social gatherings that will keep our congregations together, instead of having them seek it elsewhere."

A vocal solo by Mr. Stazicker followed by a monologue as an encore, were very well given.

Mr. J. John gave several recitations that caused much amusement.

The toast to the club was proposed by Mr. Boddison in poetic form.

This was responded to by Mr. Runnett, who spoke of how the club had progressed to such a favorable position in the last three years despite the many obstacles it had encountered. Mr. and Mrs. Wiggins were presented by Mr. Runnett with a small token of their esteem and love for their faithful work in the past. Mr. Wiggins replied in a suitable manner.

The next part of the program was as follows:

Song by Mr. John Ridyard, accompanied by Mr. R. J. Devey.

Song by Miss Isabella Black, accompanied by Miss Mildred Hetherington.

Violin duet by Messrs. Gallagher and Rusaw.

Mr. Paterson moved a hearty vote of thanks to the artists and the ladies who prepared the supper, which was responded to by all in the usual manner.

The concluding item on the program was a sketch entitled "The Artless Prattle of Childhood," by Messrs. Spencer Hope, Homer Landy and Charles Lewington.

The entertainment committee included Mr. A. Hope, convenor, ably assisted by Messrs. Runnett, Woods and Cheverill.

Mrs. Runnett was the convenor of the refreshment committee, assisted by Mesdames Hope, Wiggins and Shadgett and Miss Runnett.

SHE COUGHED NIGHT AND DAY COULD NOT SLEEP

Mrs. Leonard Haywood, Victoria Corner, N.B., writes:—"Last fall I took an awful cold which I caught while driving in an open car on a cold day.

"I coughed night and day, could not sleep at night, and my eyes ran water so that I could hardly see a thing.

"My husband got me a bottle of

and before I had taken the whole of it my cold had disappeared."

A most encouraging year's work is reported. Just before Christmas the ladies, assisted by the C.G.I.T. group, took a treat out to the inmates of the House of Refuge.

A midnight celebration of the Holy Communion was held in St. John's church at 11.30 on Saturday night.

Following the blowing of the siren and the ringing of the church bell which ushered in the New Year, the Holy Eucharist was received, the rector of the parish, Rev. W. J. Creighton, M.A., being the celebrant.

The annual Christmas treat of St. John's Sunday school was held on Friday afternoon and evening and a jolly time was spent. The children were asked to come from 4 to 8 o'clock and it is certain that few if any were late in arriving. The teachers were assisted by a number of mothers of the children.

A new year's eve dance was given at "The Grove" on Saturday evening which was delightful especially for the younger set who spent a happy day on the last night of the old year.

Lost 22 Lbs After Operation, Then Gains 40

"After my operation I lost 22 pounds. My doctor ordered Vinol and I gained twice as much as I lost."—Frances Marchese.

Vinol is a delicious compound of cod liver peptone, iron, etc. The very FIRST bottle often adds several pounds weight to thin children or adults. Nervous, easily tired, anemic people are surprised how Vinol gives new pep, sound sleep and a BIG appetite. Tastes delicious. McDermid & Jury, Druggists, E. L. Payne, McDermid Drug Company.

MANVERS FIGHT FOR OFFICE KEEN

Rivals For Seats On Council Make Great Efofrt to Secure Election.

PONTYPOOL, January 4.—One of the hottest election fights came to a conclusion on New Year's Day, Jan. 2nd, that ever took place in this municipality. There were two aspirants for the reeveship, two for the deputy reeveship and five for the three seats as councillors.

The reeveship was contested by Fred Gray, last year's reeve with six years' experience, four as councillor and two as reeve and Bert Richardson, last year's deputy, with six years experience, four as councillor and two as deputy.

The contestants for deputy reeve were John Burn, Janetville, who served two years as councillor and William Corbett, Pontypool, an ex-reeve with some eleven years service and a councillor in 1927 council.

The contestants for councillors were L. Staples, Bethany, an ex-reeve of this township, Alex Potts, Pontypool, with last year's experience as councillor, O. McGill, Betnany, a new aspirant, E. Youngman, Pontypool who was an unsuccessful candidate some years ago and Charles McNeil, Janetville, another new aspirant with no municipal experience. There was also a vote on the abolition of statute labour which caused considerable comment with full returns not in as yet. The main interest was in the race for reeveship as both candidates had never been defeated and generally polled large majorities. In this polling sub-division about 75 per cent of the possible vote was polled and both sides worked hard in getting the vote out. The weather was extremely cold and the roads icy which made it very difficult for the cars. Probably the oldest voter to exercise the franchise was Mrs. Esther Payne who is in her 87th year.

In the evening, Mr. Richardson and his supporters held a sociable time in the Orange Hall. The chairman, John Payne called on Mr. Richardson for a speech. He thanked them for their support and stated that he had fought a clean campaign and the only regret he had was that his supporters were not repaid for their efforts by seeing him elected. He assured them that they might at a later date have a similar opportunity to use their franchise in another contest. Mr. Youngman who is a war veteran, thanked his supporters and stated that if he was elected it would be all right and if he wasn't it would be just the same.

The chairman stated that if the 1928 council would be as game winners as the losers were something good should be in store for this municipality. James Richardson furnished music on the piano and dancing was indulged in until after midnight. The guests present were also the recipients of several treats which were donated by the losing candidates. The evening was brought to a conclusion by the National Anthem.

Next year's Council will be: Reeve, F. Gray, Deputy, W. Corbett, Councillors, A. Potts, C. McNeil, O. McGill.

The first one to cast his ballot was Captain W. L. Rayfield, V. C., who was going to Toronto to be with his regiment for the big social gathering in the mess on New Year's Day.

CHRISTMAS CONCERTS

GEORGE STREET CRADLE ROLL.

The small tots of the Cradle roll department of the George Street United Sunday school and their mothers were entertained at a Christmas party in the Sunday school auditorium. They assembled at 3.30 o'clock, the little ones bringing white gifts. They marched past the platform in line and dropped their presents into a white cradle. These gifts were afterwards distributed to children less favored.

Mrs. Harris took the chair for the program, which was as follows:

The Christmas story was told by Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe of the Murray Street Baptist church, in his usual pleasing manner.

Recitation, Joy Walker.

Christmas song, Berta Belleghem.

Cradle roll exercises, assisted by Joy Walker. Several new babies were enrolled.

Recitation, Lloyd Routley.

After the program the children and their mothers sat down to a prettily decorated table adorned with red streamers red candles and a miniature decorated Christmas tree. Santa Claus came and gave each child a gift bag of candies and fruit.

Mr. George Robertson, the capable superintendent of this department, was responsible for the success of the party, and was ably assisted by Mrs. W. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Walker, Miss Brown and Miss McKim.

ST. LUKE'S PRIMARY S.S.

The Primary Sunday school department of St. Luke's church held its annual Christmas party in the parish hall, with a large attendance of children, sixty of the little tots being present for a programme which included a bountiful tea, with the tables decorated very effectively with red streamers and candles and small Christmas trees, followed by a series of lantern slides depicting the story of the Christ Child, also number of nursery rhymes. Later, Santa Claus arrived and dispensed the gifts from a laden tree, also presents of candy for all.

The distribution of prizes followed, in connection with the various classes. Prize winners were: (In Mrs. S. Perry's class) 1st Dorothy Sharpe and Roma Wickenden; 2nd, Helen Black, Shirley Butcher, Joan Heap, Viola Lee and Fred Vivash. (In Primary C—Miss C. Adams' class) 1st, Marjorie Joyes and Albert Storey; 2nd, Ronald Burgess and Harvey Starr. (Primary B—Miss Eva Patterson's class) 1st, Norman Whittaker; 2nd George Ebbs and Harold Pamnett. Primary A—Miss Bridgewater's class) 1st, Jack Davies; 2nd, Gladys Clark, Myrtle Joyes and Winnie Sharpe.

FAMOUS LOVE ROMANCES — Lord Nelson and Lady Hamilton (III) — By Nicholas Afonsky

Nelson was beloved by the men under him. It is said that he would often, seeing some of the little middies hesitate about climbing into the shrouds, tell them he would race them to the masthead. Once there, he would encourage them, and when they had reached him, extol the life of a sailor.

Nelson got into difficulties with the admiralty, and for five years was without a command. He fretted at his inactivity—and filled his time going bird nesting with his wife, reading, studying, writing, digging in his father's garden. Then he got command of the Agamemnon, a ship of sixty-four guns.

He was sent to the Mediterranean on a diplomatic mission, and at Naples called on Sir William Hamilton, British ambassador. There he met Hamilton's lovely wife, Emma. "I'll introduce you to a little man," said her husband to her, "who will become the greatest man England has ever produced."

Nelson was not particularly interested in Lady Hamilton, and soon sailed away to join in the conquest of Corsica. One day he was on the ramparts of a battery when a shell from an attacking ship struck it. Sand from the sandbags composing the battery struck his face, and not long afterward he lost the sight of one eye.

GRAFTON FIRM 75 YEARS OLD

Employees From the Various Branches Attend Banquet in Dundas To-day.

TWELVE FROM THIS CITY.

Not many establishments in Canada can look back over seventy-five years of continuous, progressive business, but that is the position of Grafton and Company Limited. To-day is the seventy-fifth anniversary of the company's first start as clothing manufacturers.

To-night there will be a royal celebration at Dundas, with the staffs of all the branch stores gathered together for a banquet and a splendid program of entertainment. Twelve of the staff of the local store left on the noon train as Peterboro's share of the assembly, who will partake of the hospitality of the firm.

Colonel Grafton believes in getting his co-workers together, and this is not the first time many of the employees have met but never before have such a number gathered at one time as will be seen in Dundas to-night.

SACRED HEART WINS OPENER

Defeats Immaculate Conception Juveniles 6-3 in Holy Name League.

FAST AND CLEAN.

The juvenile series of the Holy Name Hockey League opened with a bang last night at the Sacred Heart rink, Sacred Heart defeating the Immaculate Conception 6 to 3.

It was a very fast and clean game, with the south enders always in the lead, due to their clever combination.

The East City boys, however, had not played as a team before, and after they have practised together a few times will prove real contenders for the leadership of this league. The teams:

Sacred Heart — Goal, Foley; defence, Blodgett and McGrath; wings, Burke and Meagher; centre, Jones; subs, Heffernan and Collins.

Immaculate Conception—Goal, McGillen; defence, Ralph and R. Leonard; wings, McMahon and Maher; centre, Houlihan; subs, E. Leonard and O'Dette.

Referee—Lew Lebarr.

The following games are scheduled for Friday night:

6.00 to 7.00, Midgets—S. H. vs. S. P.
7.00 to 8.00 Juvenile—SH. vs. S.P.
8.00 to 9.00 Junior—I.C. vs. S.H.
9.00 to 10.00, Seniors—I.C. vs. S.H.

Parish representatives and managers of the teams playing on Friday are asked to note the hour they are scheduled.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

To-day's Bedtime Story

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY'S MOLASSES

"How about a molasses cake" asked Uncle Wiggily of Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one morning.

"Why, yes, molasses cake is very nice" squeaked the muskrat lady housekeeper, flicking a speck of dust off the piano with the end of her tail.

"Oh, I mean will you bake one for my supper" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"I guess so, if you'll get me the molasses," promised Nurse Jane.

"What are you two talking about over there?" asked Mrs. Longears, hopping into the room just then. "You can't take Nurse Jane off adventuring with you now," the rabbit lady told her husband. "She must help me wash the children's ears, so they can go to school. And you know yourself, Wig, without me telling you, that to wash the ears of forty-leven little rabbits, to say nothing of Baby Bunty, who is so squirmy that it takes twice as long—well, you know, it isn't any fun. I need Nurse Jane to help me."

Uncle Wiggily began to run.

"Far be it from me," said Uncle Wiggily, with a low and polite bow of his pink, twinkling nose, "far be it from me to take Nurse Jane away from her ear-washing to go adventuring. I was just asking her to bake me a molasses cake."

"And I said I would if he would get the molasses," added the muskrat lady housekeeper of the hollow stump bungalow.

"Here I go! After molasses!" cried Mr. Longears as he hopped away. "I'll have my adventure, get the molasses and tonight I shall have molasses cake for supper. Hurray!"

Uncle Wiggily was so fond of cake that he thought it would be best to get a jug of molasses first and look for an adventure afterward. So he hopped to the store and told the Grocery Cat what he wanted.

"A jug of molasses?" mewed the Grocery Cat, brushing some grains of sugar off the counter with his tail. "Certainly, Uncle Wiggily. Here you are," and he filled a jug and handed it to the rabbit. "Only be careful," mewed the Cat as Uncle Wiggily was about to hop out of the store.

"Be careful about what?" the rabbit gentleman wanted to know.

"Be careful about that 'molasses,' mewed the Cat. "It is very sticky. If you spill any, and step in it, you may be stuck so fast you can't get home."

"Oh, I'll take good care about that!" chuckled Mr. Longears.

He was hopping on through the woods, with the jug of molasses under his paw, thinking how good the cake would taste and wondering when he would find an adventure when, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily heard a noise behind him.

"Perhaps that is an adventure coming now!" he thought. Looking around the rabbit gentleman saw some one running toward him over the dried leaves of the forest. And a voice cried:

"Wait! Wait a minute!"

"Ha! I know who that is!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "It is the Bob-Cat who wants me to wait so he can nibble my ears! But, no, no! My ears shall not be nibbled today if I can help it." So Uncle Wiggily began to run and hop very fast. Then whoever it was chasing him also ran fast, coming nearer and nearer over the dried leaves of the forest.

"I shall soon be caught if I don't do something," thought the bunny. "Let me see—what can I do, Ha! I have it! The molasses! It is very sticky, the Grocery Cat said. I will take out the cork and let some of the sticky molasses dribble behind me on the leaves. When the Bob Cat comes along he will step on the molasses leaves, they will stick to his paws and he can't run so fast. Then I'll get away."

No sooner said than done! Taking the cork from the molasses jug Uncle Wiggily let some of the sweet, sticky stuff dribble behind him on the forest leaves as he ran. He looked back and saw some animal step on the sticky leaves, fall down, roll over and then get up, all covered with leaves and molasses.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, putting the cork back in the jug. "I fooled you Bob Cat!"

"Boo! Hoo! I'm not a Bob Cat!" came from the bunch of molasses leaves. "I'm Jackie Bow Wow and I wanted you to wait for me so I could go home with you. And I'm all stuck up now and—boo hoo!"

"Oh, dear me!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I didn't know that was you running after me, Jackie. I thought it was the Bob Cat. I'm sorry!"

Then the bunny gentleman helped Jackie wash the sticky molasses leaves off in the brook near by and he took the puppy dog home with him and gave him a big piece of molasses cake which Nurse Jane baked. So everything came out all right and if the cake of laundry soap doesn't go up in the bath room and pretend to be a wash rag, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Nobby's warts.

OLD MASTERS

The elm lets fall its leaves before the frost,
The very oak grows shivering and sere,
The trees are barren when the summer's lost:
But one tree keeps its goodness all the year.

Green pine, unchanging as the days go by,
Thou art thyself beneath whatever sky:
My shelter from all winds, my own strong pine,
'Tis spring, 'tis summer, still, while thou art mine.

—Augusta Webster: The Pine.

The movies have invaded England with such force in recent months that $50,000,000 worth of moving picture houses will be built during 1928.

Millbrook

ST. THOMAS' S. S.

MILLBROOK, Dec. 31.—The annual Christmas treat for the scholars of the Sunday School of Saint Thomas' church was held in the school room on Wednesday evening, a good attendance gathering by the opening hour of 8 o'clock.

A Christmas carol appropriately opened the informal programme, followed by recitations by two or three of the primary children. Games of various kinds made the time pass happily, as a crowning number the distribution of gifts and prizes concluded this part of the evening, Rev. P. C. Howard, who filled the position of chairman in his usual capable manner, giving out the awards.

Every child in the primary class (Miss Ella Grandy, teacher), was given a prize, the school furnishing these, and the teachers of the other classes remembering his or her scholars with a personal gift.

A treat of candy, and the service of dainty refreshments, brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

AUTHORITIES TRY TO STOP UNFIT EMIGRANTS SAILING

Doctors Sent From Canada To Pass Settlers in Native Lands.

SPECIALLY TRAINED.

OTTAWA, Jan. 4.—Some details of the new medical regulations regarding immigrants, now being put into force on the recommendation of the Federal Department of Health, have already appeared in the press. Complete information of the proposed changes, as outlined in an official statement from the department, which will appear in the forthcoming issue of the Canadian Public Health Journal, indicates that the old system has been almost completely scrapped.

The statement from the department follows:

The problem of immigration has been, and is, one of the greatest importance to Canada and the Department of Health, which acts in an advisory capacity to the Department of Immigration and Colonization in respect to the medical aspects of the Immigration Act, has found it one of the most difficult of the problems with which it has to deal.

The Department of Health is called upon to give advice to the Department of Immigration in two most important ways:

1. Whether or not an immigrant, upon presenting himself at a port of debarkation in Canada, is physically and mentally fit to be admitted as a citizen of Canada:

2. Whether or not certain immigrants who have already been admitted to Canada and for some reason or other have not been successful here on account of some physical or mental defect, were in such physical or mental condition at the time of their entry.

During the winter of 1921, a general medical roster was organized by Canada, Great Britain and Ireland, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, and any prospective immigrant who presented himself for medical examination to any one of these doctors, upon the payment of a certain fee, was given a medical certificate on which were noted all physical or mental defects. The certificate was then presented to the director of European Emigration in London who transmitted it to either of the two Medical Advisers of the Department of Health in London, for perusal and concurrence or otherwise. If, in the opinion of the Medical Adviser, the prospective emigrant was considered a physically and mentally fit subject, he was then permitted to embark for Canada. Unfortunately, however, this certificate could not always be relied upon, as, in many cases, either through lack of medical knowledge or laxity on the part of the roster doctor, the emigrant's actual physical and mental condition was not accurately recorded.

But this medical certificate did not give the emigrant assurance that he would be admitted to Canada as a citizen, as he was again examined upon his arrival at the port of entry and, if any physical or mental defect was noted, he was held for further observation. If found physically or mentally unfit, he was immediately deported to his country of origin. This examination at the port of arrival was not as thorough as desired, as time and means afforded, would not permit of it. However, even with this cursory examination, many physically and mentally unfit immigrants were prevented from being "officially landed" in Canada, and were deported to their native country. This, of course, it must be realized, certainly inflicted great hardship on the emigrant concerned, and in many cases, whole families had to be deported on account of one physically unfit member who should never have been given a clear medical certificate before leaving his own country. Cases such as this, naturally, were a great deterrent to emigration as others from the same locality were reluctant about giving up their home ties, only possibly to meet the same fate upon arrival in this country.

To try to overcome the hardship which has heretofore been inflicted on many prospective emigrants, there is now being established overseas, an Immigration Medical Service. This service will be composed of twenty-five efficient and specially-trained medical officers who will be assigned to duty in different parts of Great Britain and Ireland and on the Continent of Europe, to whom any prospective emigrant may go for a thorough and efficient medical examination, free of charge. Arrangements are also being made with the Department of Immigration and the different steamship companies, for these medical officers to go to different localities at certain times as may be agreed upon, notice of which will be duly published in advance, where they will be prepared to carry out examination of any emigrants who may present themselves for same. In this way, very little, if any expense will be incurred by the emigrant.

When the above scheme is in full operation in the early spring of 1928, it is hoped to reduce to a minimum the monetary burden which the various provinces of the Dominion have had to bear, by preventing those physically and mentally unfit individuals from ever coming to Canada.

60 Per Cent. Vote Polled This Year

The citizens of Peterborough take a greater interest in the municipal elections when there is a mayoralty contest. This year 5,700 citizens out of a possible 9,589 used their franchise; that is, almost 60 per cent of the electors took enough interest in the city's welfare to cast their ballots. The vote this year according to statistics was the largest for a number of years. In 1927, when there was no mayoralty contest, only 3,383 electors, or 34.2 per cent, voted; and in 1926 when Mayor Holloway was elected, 5,246 or 54.7 per cent voted.

PRESIDENT ASKS INQUIRY INTO S-4

Coolidge Would Have Committee of Five Make Investigation.

WASHINGTON, January 4 (Canadian Press). — President Coolidge to-day in a special message asked Congress to authorize him to appoint a commission of five, three to be civilians, to inquire into the sinking of the submarine S-4. Chairman Hale, of the Senate Naval Committee, introduced a resolution for this purpose and it was referred to his committee. A similar measure was prepared by Chairman Butler of the House Naval Committee.

CHRISTMAS CONCERTS

ST. GEORGE'S S. S.

APSLEY, Jan. 4.—On Monday evening the Parish Hall was filled on the occasion of the Christmas tree and entertainment under the auspices of St. George's Sunday School. The entertainment consisted of a short play entitled "Reveries," in which an obdurate father, looking into the fire has a visi n of his own childhood sixty years ago. The vision was well staged, an old-fashioned Christmas tree surrounded by half a dozen children in the quaint costumes of that period appearing on the stage. After dancing the old-fashioned minuet they jumped into the fireplace and disappeared, leaving a little boy, seated in the big armchair, who was the old man when he was a boy, the part being well played by Raymond Reynolds. Mr. Spence represented the obdurate father and the ensuing dialogue had the effect of changing his stubbornness into a forgiving spirit and the play had a happy ending. Besides the Sunday School scholars every child in the hall received a present and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent.

Besides the Apsley Christmas tree, similar events were held at St. Stephen's, Chandos; St. Paul's, Lasswade, and Loon Lake, on Thursday, Wednesday and Friday evenings respectively, with moving-picture entertainment, all superintended by the rector, who also acted as chairman at the school concerts of No. 8, Chandos, and No. 2, Chandos, on Monday evening and Wednesday afternoon respectively.

Program of S. S. 8, Chandos (teacher, Miss Horie): Welcome, Boys and girls; recitation, Jesse Liscum; singsong, school; recitation, Marion Roberts; dialogue, Advertising for a Husband; recitation, Charlotte Masters; wreath drill, eight girls; recitation, Katie Tanner; ace of diamonds drill, six girls; recitation, Vernal Young; dialogue, Organising a Society; song, Mrs. Charles Tanner; recitation, Victor Tanner; tableau, "We Three Kings of Orient Are"; reading, Mrs. Charles Hawkes; recitation, Isobel Tanner; song, Charlotte Masters; dialogue, "Harry's Pockets; recitation, Freddy Tanner; recitation, Marjorie Liscum; Christmas carol, the school.

WARSAW UNITED S. S.

WARSAW, Jan. 4.—The United Church Sunday School held its Christmas entertainment on Wednesday evening, December 29. The church was prettily decorated and comfortably filled.

Rev. H. B. Herrington and the superintendent, Mr. Robert Somers shared the office of chairman. The children gave the following program:—Address of welcome, Ivan Clements; chorus by beginners and primary pupils, "Jesus Bids us Shine," each little one carried a lighted candle; Mr. Herrington made a few remarks; Eloise Clysdale gave a recitation; May and Emily Payne sang "Two Little Maids"; audience sang one verse of "Take it to the Lord in Prayer"; Don Clysdale recited "Santa Claus"; Enid Darling and Cressa Payne recited the Shepherd Psalm; mouth-organ selections by Harold and Sidney McCauley and Clarence Payne; Archie Crowe recited "The Rear-Seat Driver"; drill, "Onward Christan Soldiers," by seven girls, each carrying a cross; Ivan Clysdale recited "Janet's Ride"; four boys told how they were Santa Claus' boys; Kejham Mouradian gave some mouth-organ selections; pantomime, by intermediate girls, "Away in a Manger"; exercise in two parts, "Jack and Jill"; Dorcas Lloyd recited "The Little Match Girl"; motion song by eight girls, "Evergreen and Holly," each girl carried a branch of evergreen tied with small knots of red; dialogue, "Here Comes the Bride"; Mr. Somers thanked all those who had come. There was a good-night chorus, and Santa Claus (Roland McCauley) distributed the gifts.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY MEAGHER.

After an illness of some months' duration the late Mrs. Mary Meagher passed peacefully away at her home, 84 Lansdowne street, New Year's eve.

To know Mrs Meagher was to appreciate her real worth. She was an exemplary Christian mother virtuous and charitable. The many spiritual and floral offerings bespoke the high esteem in which Mrs. Meagher was held. She will be greatly missed by her large circle of friends and acquaintances in the parish.

The funeral mass, which was largely attended, was celebrated by her faithful pastor, Rev. J. J. O'Brien, assisted by Rev. C. Moloney, who also assisted at the cemetery.

The Children's Gregorian Choir of the Sacred Heart School, sang the Funeral Mass.

The pall bearers were her three sons, Harry, Patrick and William E., son-in-law Fred Cook, and grandsons William K., and Oswald J. Meagher.

She leaves to mourn five sons and two daughters, John J. of Chicago; Thomas of Midland, Harry, Patrick and William E., of this city; Mrs. Fred Cook, of Windsor and Ada, at home. May she rest in peace.

MICHAEL F. COLLINS.

The death took place in St. Joseph's Hospital on Tuesday, Jan. 3 1928, of Michael Frederick Collins, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Collins, 396 Aylmer street. Interment took place to-day at 3 p.m. in St. Peter's cemetery.

FRANCES Y. CARNEGIE.

The death of Frances Y. Carnegie, widow of John Carnegie, of Peterborough, occurred on Tuesday, January 3, 1928 at the residence of her daughter Mrs. William L. Innes, of "Strathlynn," Simcoe, Ontario. She was in her seventy-fourth year, and was well known here.

The funeral will take place from Comstock's Funeral Home, 305 Water Street, Peterborough, on Friday afternoon, January 6, at 2.30. Interment will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

EIGHT CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH

Three of One Family and Five of Another Lose Their Lives.

EARLY TO-DAY.

NEWARK, N.J., Jan. 5 (Canadian Press).—Three of the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Niccola Angelas were burned to death today when fire destroyed their home. They were: John, 15; Anna 9, and Irene, 6.

Antonette, their 11-year-old sister, escaped by leaping out of a window to the porch roof, after making a futile effort to herd the others out of the smoke-filled attic room of the 2½ storey building.

Five Lose Lives

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 5 (Canadian Press). — Five children were burned to death early today in a fire that destroyed the form house of W. G. Denby near here. The children were sleeping in one room.

THE OLD GROUP PHOTOGRAPH

Some will smile, some even laff,
At that old group photograph
Hangin' on the office wall.
Home it wouldn't do at all:
"Have it if you want it, dear,
But you cannot have it here."
But, at that, I do not care;
What would that be doin' there?

Home they're kind of tired of me;
I don't just fit in, you see.
They have learned so much, somehow,
I look kind of common now.
When the house is full of friends,
Friends of theirs, and supper ends,
I come here, about at nine,
And spend an hour or two with mine.

These are lads who knew me when
I could hardly raise a ten:
But, when I had made my pile,
Still they met me with a smile;
For they thought no less of me
Even in prosperity,
Did not envy, nor condemn—
Looked on me as one of them.

So, when I am out of place,
As so often is the case,
I slip out, and find my hat,
Get away from all of that,
And just set here for a spell
With the friends I knew so well,
Friends who wear the same old laff
In that old group photograph.

WEDDING BELLS

CORDERY—JACKSON

The marriage was solemnized by Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave, pastor of St. John's Church, on Saturday, Dec. 31st, at 3.30, of Bertha Irene Jackson and Jack Cordery, both of Peterborough. The bride looked very charming in peach georgette. The bridesmaid, Miss Ida Hoover, was in blue georgette. The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Mr. Harry W. Cordery. The gift to the bride was a gold bracelet and to the best man a pair of cuff links. Mr. and Mrs. Cordery will reside in Peterborough.

KENNEDY—HARDING

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. Mr. Wren at Trinity Parsonage Wednesday, December 28th, when Mr. Lloyd Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy of Smith Township, was united in marriage to Miss Audrey Harding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Harding of Smith Street, Peterborough. The ceremony was witnessed by Mr. Everett Cockburn and Miss Phyllis Harding. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left by motor for a honeymoon in Toronto and other points West, and on their return will reside in Smith on the groom's farm.

U. S. PROPOSAL FOR PEACE PACT IS MADE PUBLIC

Given Utmost Prominence By Press in the French Capital.

GAINS WIDE INTEREST.

Negotiations Being Followed Closely By League of Nations Circles.

PARIS, Jan. 5 (A.P.).—The note of Frank B. Kellogg, United States Secretary of State, to Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister, of December 28, suggesting enlargement of the proposed amity pact to outlaw war between France and the United States to other nations was made public by the Quai d'Orsay last night.

It was given the utmost prominence in the French press and became the centre of discussion in all circles of French life.

The negotiations, looked at from this end, and in absence of official comment, appeared to be near conclusion, although there was some apprehension at the extension of the accord to an indefinite number of powers as is proposed by Washington.

The idea of a pact to outlaw war which was generally popular here when considered as a proposition between France and the United States, becomes complicated in the average French mind when it is proposed to extend it to other countries.

The reason for this, it is said, is in the best informed circles, the feeling that a general pact of such a sort would look too much like competition with the League of Nations.

Follow Negotiations

GENEVA, Switzerland, Jan. 5 (Canadian Press).—Negotiations between France and the United States for a pact to outlaw war are being followed closely by League of Nations circles, where it is felt that the draft treaty proposed by Hon. Frank B. Kellogg, United States Secretary of State, follows the basic idea of a Polish resolution adopted at the last Assembly meeting.

This Polish resolution prohibits forever all wars of aggression and commits members of the League to the employment of pacific means to settle disputes of every question. The Kellogg proposal, as reported here, goes further than the assembly resolution in some respects because it creates a formal treaty with Secretary Kellogg even suggesting that France and the United States jointly propose to the powers a multi-lateral treaty condemning and renouncing war as an instrument of national policy.

It is believed here that this suggested general pact may come up for discussion at the meeting on February 20 of the League's Security Committee as calculated to provide that very security which the League wishes to see created in order to improve the chances of reduction in armaments. The United States has declined membership on this security commission.

There is much speculation concerning France's attitude as it is recalled that France refused to participate in the Geneva national conference believing that problems of international scope are better handled by the league. Moreover, it is felt that exclusion of questions touching the Monroe Doctrine may embarrass France because of her close political relations with her fellow republics in Latin-America.

SCOUT MEETING OPENS FEB. 16

Two Day Program Being Arranged For Provincial Gathering Here.

SCOUT LEADERS COMING.

Some time ago it was announced that the annual meeting of the Provincial Scout Council for Ontario would be held in Peterboro, and now comes the information that the convention will be held here on Feb. 16 and 17. The Provincial Scout leaders' conference will also be held here the same days.

The decision to hold these important meetings in Peterboro was arrived at by the Provincial executive committee at its December meeting. In awarding the conference to this city the committee held in mind the fact that these annual meetings have never been held east of Toronto, and now committees at headquarters and at Peterboro are busy with the details — arrangements, programs, speakers demonstrations, etc.

Pictures Greater Italian Nation

MILAN, Italy, Jan. 5 (Canadian Press).—The picture of a greater Italian race is sketched by Arnaldo Mussolini, brother of the Premier, writing in Popolo d'Italia under the caption "Politics of Tomorrow."

He says the Fascists must believe in and favor justice and exalt Labor, while at the same time the party must secure the nation's life in the world.

He continued: "In the duplicity and insincerity of this day the Fascists must show moral and intellectual probity and outstanding piety. Along with these moral attributes must be reborn and emerge the latent virtue of our descendants.

"The world is large. It is necessary to believe in the virtue of all. A people cannot make its history in one school, life is only the result of centuries of growth."

He says the right to labor in security is necessary for Fascism and Italy.

MARINES HOLD REBEL FORT

Believed Liberal Leader Awaits Favorable Opportunity to Attack Town.

GUARD PACK TRAINS.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 5 (Canadian Press). — United States Marines and Nicaraguan National Guardsmen holding the town of Quaililali are on the lookout for an attack by the rebel general Augustino Sandino, who is believed to be awaiting a favorable opportunity.

Particular care is being taken to prevent a surprise attack upon Marine patrols, pack trains and reinforcements, which are being sent daily to Octotal, which is the distribution centre supplying Quaililali and the rest of the embattled region.

The very quiet of the situation has put the Marines on guard, as there have been no indications of rebel movement since the Marines lost one man killed and five wounded in a counter-attack Sunday.

Sandino is understood to have established a republic last July, in Nueva Segovia, after other Liberal generals laid down their arms in compliance with an agreement negotiated by Henri L. Stimson, President Coolidge's personal envoy. He is said to have changed the name of San Fernando to Sandino, coined some money and established prohibition in territory under his control. The penalty for selling liquor was prescribed as death for a man and burning of her property for a woman.

ROY TO BECOME FIRST MINISTER

Consul General in Montreal Would Be French Minister Here.

RUMORED IN PARIS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.— (Canadian Press.) — The appointment of the Hon. Phillippe Roy as First Canadian Miniser to France is expected in Paris shortly, according to a mailed article received by the Associated Press from its bureau in the French Capital to-day. Hon. Mr. Roy has been representing Canada as Commissioner General in France since 1911.

France is expected to select as its first Minister to Canada Baron Regis Darnauld De Vitrolles, Consul-General at Montreal and principal French representative in Canada, the Paris Bureau of the Associated Press is informed.

Canadian Farms Given Two Awards

OTTAWA, Jan. 5 (Canadian Press).—Two awards have been given to the horticultural division of the Government Experimental Farm here in exhibitions at Brussels and Paris, it was announced here yesterday. New varieties of apples developed at the Experimental Farm were shown by W. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist, and these secured a gold medal diploma at Brussels, where only one variety, the Melba, was exhibited and the grand silver gilt medal diploma at Paris, where a collection was shown.

The horticultural division has in previous years been awarded seven silver medals for valuable varieties of apples shown at exhibitions on the North American continent, and officials here expressed gratification that the new honors achieved in Europe.

FRENCH TAKE UP U. S. PROPOSALS TO OUTLAW WAR

Foreign Minister Briand Introduces Resolution From Kellogg to Cabinet.

RECEIVED AT LONDON.

Officials Think Resolution Will Be Placed in Preamble of Arbitration Treaty.

PARIS, Jan. 5. — Canadian Press. —The French cabinet to-day undertook consideration of the negotiations between Franec and the United States for a pact to outlaw war when Foreign Minister Briand presented Secretary of State Kellogg's proposed treaty text and informed his colleagues of the state of negotiations.

In the opinion of official circles, the pact as it is now being elaborated will in no way affect obligations of France as a member of the League of Nations. The understanding is that the resolution to outlaw war will be incorporated in the preample to a treaty of arbitration being negotiated separately between France and the United States, and other countries, with the arbitration treaty attached to give judicial form to the anti-war resolution.

Received in London.

LONDON, Jan. 5. Canadian Press. —The British Foreign Office announced to-day that the text of the Kellogg proposals for treaties to outlaw war has been received by the government. It was stated that Great Britain merely has been informed of the proposed treaties and not asked for any expression of opinion, for which there seems to be no need.

MANY ENTRIES ARE COMING IN

Poultry Association Executive Expects Largest Show in History.

PRIZES ATTRACTIVE.

The executive of the local Poultry Association met last night in Frank H. Dawson's office and every member was present. The final arrangements were made in connection with the big poultry show, which is being held in the market hall next Tuesday Wednesday and Thursday, January 10-11-12, afternoon and evening.

Every member of the executive was at high pitch of enthusiasm which augurs well for the success of the show.

The entries are coming in very fast and from all indications it will be one of the largest poultry shows ever held in Ontario.

The prizes are very attractive, which has resulted in many enquiries being received. The executive is hoping that all the farmers in this vicinity will avail themselves of the opportunity of coming in and seeing some of the finest poultry that can be produced. One of the main objects of the association is to assist the farmer in developing his interest in poultry raising, so that it may become profiable to him, in marketing his poultry products. It is fast becoming one of the most important industries of Canada, and many poultrymen and farmers now see the benefit of feeding and housing their poultry in a scientific way, in order to produce the very best results

There will be other attractions in connection with the Show, which will be interesting, such as locating the Mystery Man, which will be explained fully in another part of the paper.

Kentucky Bluegrass Grows In Arctic; Stefansson Contradicts Stories of Cold

HARTFORD, Conn. Jan. 5.—(Canadian Press.)—The glamor of the frozen northlands and the heroism of intrepid explorers of the Arctic was unmercifully debunked here last night by Vilhjalmur Stefansson noted explorer and author. In his lecture Stefansson revealed that an Igloo is an amazing sight to an Eskimo that the latter, unless he is a circus freak, cannot and does not drink oil, that the annual snow fall at the North Pole has been exceeded by a single snow fall in Virginia, that the summer temperature within the Arctic Circle averages 85 degrees and has occasionally approached a hundred degrees in the shade.

Heartlessly he exposed the fact that the Kentucky blue grass grows in the most northerly part of the world, as do over 859 varieties of flowering plants, in addition to spruce trees which measure over one hundred feet in height Iceland, he said, is icy in name only. The temperature there in January is the same as that in Milan, Italy. He prefaced his exposures with a rap as the geographers who cram children with the misinformation which passes under the head of education in America."

Slight Falling Off in Number of Factories and Patrons Recorded.

KINGSTON, Ont., January 5 (Canadian Press). — At the Thursday morning session of the Dairymen's Association Convention of Eastern Ontario, the report of G. G. Publow, chief dairy inspector and sanitary inspector for Eastern Ontario, was the most important matter taken up. In his report Mr. Publow stated that the total number of factories in operation during the year was 634, twelve less than in 1926. In these there was a total of 22,503 patrons, a decrease of 3,136. These patrons milked a total of 235,279 cows, a decrease of 37,963 from the previous year.

The standard of workmanship in the making of cheese is very high, as evidenced from the fact that less than two per cent. of the under grade cheese were so placed on account of mechanical defects.

"It is interesting to note," said Mr. Publow, "that including all causes, only about seven per cent. of the cheese in Eastern Ontario are under first grade. The total production of milk for six months ending October 31 was 980,637,096 pounds, an average yield per cow of 3,783 pounds. The yield of cheese per pound of fat was 2.59 pounds. The average selling price of cheese was about 18¢ cents, giving on this basis a total value of $16,111,833."

GYM CAMPAIGN STARTED AT 'Y'

More Members is the Slogan of Every Class at Y.W.C.A.

FULL PROGRAM OFFERED.

The various gymnasium calsses at the Young Women's Christian Association have enthusiastically taken up the slogan, "More gymnasium members for the Y.W.C.A.," and this month each member is trying to make known to as many girls as possible the good times and health-building exercises enjoyed at the 'Y' gym.

Over four hundred and fifty members are now enrolled in the weekly gymnasium classes, but there is room for more. The program of the various sections comprises everything of a healthful type for girls, and the different sections are divided according to age, with special attention given to each, from the tiny babies of four and five years of age to the mature seniors. The most up-to-date methods in training are employed and the gym is fully equipped with necessary apparatus. Gymnastics, folk dances, drills and games are included in the programs and January is an excellent month to join, for the new season's work is just commencing and many other new members will also be joining at this time.

The Association's program of four-fold development for growing girls is splendidly implemented in the physical training given in these classes.

Around the City

Following the noon hour fire on Rogers Street, Wednesday, the fire brigade made two other runs to East City. At 1.25 p.m. a chimney fire at 68 James Street caused alarm, and at 8.42 p.m. there came a call from 634 Ross Street, another chimney fire.

Bank clearings for the week totalled $648,593.

Gun In Ribs Fails To Produce Results

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Jan. 5.—(Canadian Press.)— With a gun pressed into his ribs from the rear as he sat in office to-day and disregarding the command "hands up," Jerry Heaton cooly asked a masked youth what was wanted. Upon being told that money was wanted, Heaton declared the visitor was in the wrong place for that and ordered him out in very expressive language, at the same time reaching for a chair to use as a weapon. The would-be bandit departed.

Police later arrested Harold Gough, 19, and Leslie Reece, 21, Gough was charged with attempted robbery while armed and Reece is being held on a nominal charge.

NAVAL INQUIRY IS PROCEEDING

Three Bodies Brought Up From Sunken Submarine Are Identified.

TWO ARE OFFICERS.

BOSTON, Jan. 5. — (Canadian Press.)—The naval inquiry into the sinking of the submarine S-4 pressed forward to-day with the unfinished testimony of Lieut. Frank L. Worden, commander of the ill-fated craft's sister ship, the S-6, and with the knowledge that the three recovered bodies of the forty officer and sailor victims had been identified.

The bodies have been identified as those of Lieut. Commander R. K. Jones, Lieut. Joseph McGinley, and Chief Machinists' Mate Aaron Hodges. Lieut. McGinley stuck to his post aboard the S-4 that another officer assigned to relieve him might spend Christmas at home.

POWER CONTRACTS WILL BE OPPOSED

Hydro Forces Will Fight Dominion Charters For St. Lawrence.

TORONTO, Ont., January 5 (Canadian Press). — Applications by private interests for authority to develop power on the St. Lawrence River will meet with strong opposition from the Hydro forces in Ontario, said C. A. Maguire, president of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association and member of the Ontario Hydro Commission to-day. Mr. Maguire said a meeting of the Association will be called this month to make a strong protest against the granting of any charters by the Dominion Government to the Montreal and Western Canada Company and the Beauharnois Heat, Light and Power Company.

FIRE DESTROYS NORTH BAY STORE

Canadan Department Store Gutted—Furniture Shop in Danger.

NORTH BAY, Ont., Jan. 5 (Canadian Press).—Fire breaking out in the Canadian Department Stores building, in the heart of the business district, at noon today has caused a heavy loss by early afternoon. The Department Store's premises were gutted, the huge stock and buildings being a complete loss. In addition, the stock of J. W. Richardson, furniture dealer, was damaged to the extent of several thousand dollars, and firemen were concentrating on the work of attempting to save the Richardson store from the flames.

WHIPPET PRICE MUCH REDUCED PRESS IS TOLD

Great Cuts Announced By Willys-Overland Officials Yesterday.

FACTORY NEARLY READY.

Newspapermen and Dealers Guests of Company at Toronto Plant.

To a public not yet satiated with motor sensations further developments in automobile construction and prices were unfolded by yesterday's announcement of slashing cuts on the prices on the perfected Whippet models of the Willys-Overland Company. With one model the Whippet cabriolet coupe, priced lower than the equivalent Ford production and with the entire line in direct price competition, the Detroit magnate is now for the first time confronted with competition on a direct price basis.

Two announcements to this effect were made yesterday in the King Edward Hotel by T. A. Russell, president of Willys-Overland Company. The first was made before a group of representatives of the leading newspapers of Ontario, including The Examiner. The second was made by Mr. Russell to a large crowd of Willys-Overland dealers, distributors, and branch managers assembled from all the important trade centres of Ontario. The newspaper men were afterwards entertained to luncheon in the Yellow Room of the King Edward Hotel by the Willys-Overland Company. Victor Blake, head of the Publicity and Advertising Department of the company, presided at the luncheon. At the conclusion of the dealers' convention, which

Thursday night, turkey, or cash value of $5.00.

This year's poultry show promises to be the best in the history of the local exhibition. Entries and enquiries have been coming in from all over the province.

FLOODS RECEDE IN OLD COUNTRY

Disappear in Many Parts Almost as Quickly as They Rose.

DANGER NEARLY PAST.

LONDON, Jan. 5 (Canadian Press).—The worst stage of the floods which have been besetting England today is believed to have been passed, although the lower Thames is still rising a little. Floods in England, usually caused by purely temporary conditions, disappear as quickly as they come. In Dartford, Kent, where hundreds of families went to sleep last night in the upper floors of their flooded homes, the inhabitants woke this morning to find that the waters had disappeared as if by magic and that the River Dareth had resumed its normal course.

Deny Mission Work Wiped Out In China

SHANGHAI, China, Jan. 5 (Canadian Press).—In refutation of recent statements that missionary work in China has been wiped out by the revolution, the head of American missionary groups yesterday issued a statement declaring that the work was far from stopped.

Fully 2,500 American missionaries, which is more than half of the normal number, have returned to their posts in the interior of China and more are constantly returning from vacations in the United States.

"The anti-Christian movement has abated noticeably," the statement says, "and better understanding is developing between the missionaries and the Chinese. It has been decided to decrease membership, but the work has stopped entirely only in a few places. We admit that some missionaries in the past have followed imperialistic tactics in dealing with the Chinese, but modern missionaries generally have not got mixed in economic imperialism.

FATHER IN JAIL; ARSON SUSPECT

Coroner Investigates Deaths of Five Children Burned in Beds.

HEADS CRUSHED IN.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 5.—(Canadian Press.)—W. G. Dendy, a railroad shop worker, was held in jail on suspicion of arson to-day while the coroner investigated the death of five of Dendy's children, whose charred bones were found in the ruins of the Dendy farm home here yesterday. Dendy sobbed as he told the story of the misfortune which he he said had been trailing him around for two years. He showed bruises about his head and hands which he said were sustained when he tried to fight through the flames of the burning room in which the children were trapped.

Dendy's arrest followed the report of a neighbor that the children were all in one bed, although there were two in the room, and that some of the bodies had crushed heads. However, the neighbor stated that falling timber might have struck some of the children on their heads.

HICKMAN SENIOR REVERSES VIEWS

Now Hopes That Son Will Escape Death As He Is Insane.

EL PASO, Texas, Jan. 5.—(Canadian Press.)—Reversing his former views, Thomas Hickman, father of William Edward Hickman, yesterday expressed the hope that the youthful slayer of Marian Parker would be saved from the death penalty. The elder Hickman said his son undoubtedly was insane and wished that he would be called as a witness at the sanity trial of the accused youth.

TO-NIGHT'S HOCKEY GAME AN IMPORTANT FIXTURE

New Players on Peterborough Team Should Make Good—Fans Are With Them.

The hockey fans in the city and district are interested in to-night's first series O.H.A. game in Brock street rink when the Mariboros of Toronto, will meet the Peterborough Senior team in the first scheduled game of the season.

This is a very important game for Peterborough, and if the new players on this year's team make a good showing they are bound to be well supported by the Peterborough public.

The general admission is 50c for the east side, and reserve seat tickets run from 75c to $1.25, plus tax in all cases.

Expected Lindbergh Reach Managua Today

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 5 (Canadian Press). — Nicaragua awaits the arrival of Colonel Lindbergh expectantly. He will reach the capital, it is believed, to-day from Teguolgalpa. Days ago houses and streets were lavishly decorated with flags and bunting, and banners are flying bearing all kinds of inscriptions in tribute to the daring aviator.

There will be thousands at the field to welcome the flier, and many more thousands will cry his praises as he proceeds through the thoroughfares of Managua to meet President Diaz and later as he proceeds to the National Palace.

BRITISH PRESS MAKES JIBES AT POLICY OF U. S.

Holds Out Olive Branch While Waging War in Nicaragua.

BERLIN COMMENT.

News Devotes Column To Nicaraguan Situation, Paragraph to Treaty.

LONDON, Jan. 5. — (Associated Press.)— The British foreign office has intimated that it wold give most favorable attention to any proposals for outlawing war.

At the same time, reports appearing in the London paper that the United States' proposed treaty to that end has been forwarded to the British government are without confirmation. Officials remarked yesterday that it would be difficult to comment on a treaty which has been so variously reported in the press.

The Nicaraguan situation receives much more space in the London evening papers than the proposed treaty.

"While the United States is inviting France to join in proposing to the world a treaty renouncing war as a national policy," says the Evening Standard, "she is involved in a campaign in Nicaragua."

The Standard explains that this contract between precept and practice has been brought about by General Sandino, the rebel leader.

The Star heads the Nicaraguan situation—"An Unpopular War."

The Evening News devotes nearly a column to the Nicaraguan situation and an inch paragraph to the proposed treaty.

Commenting editorially, the Westminster Gazette calls Secretary Kellogg's proposal to France for a multilaterial treaty "a shrewd stroke." It is unable to see, however, how this would advocate the cause of pacific settlement of international disputes.

Aim of League.

Commending the purposeo f condemning war and establishing arbitration the Gazette declares that this has been the urgent aim of the League of Nations since its foundation and is embodied in a formal resolution adopted by the latest League assembly.

"The members of the League," continues the paper, "may well ask why does the United States refuse to join the League. It goes without saying that if it really is proposed to us we will sign it with the utmost cordiality. But it will be wiser to recognize that however great will be the value of these solemn declarations, their binding force should not be exaggerated."

Berlin Comment.

BERLIN, Jan. 5. — (Canadian Press.)—Treaty proposals to France by Hon. Frank B. Kellogg, United States' Secretary of State, in reply to overtures from Foreign Minister Briand met with sarcastic treatment in the Roersen Zeitung.

"To Secretary Kellogg's counter suggestion that the proposed French peace pact should include other powers, the rattle of American machine guns in Nicaragua furnished a befitting accompanment," the paper says "The American suggestion if typical of the practical political viewpoint of the gentlemen at Washington to whom the French peace proposal was inopportune, not wishing to be rude, they paralyzed the tangible French move by relegating it to the sphere of the abstract."

Nact Ausgare considers Secretary Kellog's note of the greatest political significance inasmuch as it "represents a diplomatic defeat of Foreign Minister Briand who acted in agreement with other members of the French Cabinet."

"The French attempt was not so much for the creation of a Franco-American anti-war pact and Franco-American rapproachment as to back up French propaganda in the United States and the world to influence public sentiment before the revision of the Dawes plan and the regulation of inter-allied debts," the paper says.

A semi-official interpretation on the United States' proposals is set forth in the Deutsche Diplomatische Korrespondenz which says: "Despite a theoretical sentimental agreement with the French ideas of a peace pact Secretary Kellogg's reply is practically a rejection of the French decisive point as already forecast in advance comments in American newspapers."

CABLE COMMITTEE TO BEGIN INVESTIGATIONS ON JANUARY 16

Probe Problems Which Operations of Pacific Cable Board Give Rise To.

MEET AT LONDON.

Representatives From Great Britain and Dominion Take Part in Discussions.

OTTAWA, Ont., January 5 (Canadian Press). — The committee representing Great Britain and the Dominions will meet in London on January 16 to probe the difficulties of the Pacific Cable Board, and Canada's technical advisers, L. J. Gaboury, Deputy Postmaster-General, and Commander G. P. Edwards, Director of Canadian Government Radio Services, are now on their way to England, where they will be joined by Sir Campbell Stuart, who is representing the Federal Government on the Board. Representatives from Great Britain, New Zealand, and Australia will confer with the Canadians in an effort to iron out the problems which the operations of the Pacific Cable Board have given rise to.

Chief among these is the deficits which the Board is incurring through competition with beam wireless. It was stated in London recently that wireless generally had resulted in causing a loss annually amounting to $475,000, and that there was reason for anticipating that this would not represent the peak of the Cable Board's loss in the near future through such competition.

The first Pacific cable under Imperial partnership was laid from Southport, Australia, to Bamfield, in British Columbia, in 1902, and from that year until 1915 the Board incurred annual deficits. The total loss in this yearly period amounted to $3,466,515, and as one of the partners in the project Canada was obliged to contribute nearly $1,000,000, to make up the deficit, the remainder being paid by the other Dominions and Great Britain.

Earned Large Profits.

An access of business was brought to the Pacific Cable Board, however, by the war, due to the interruption of the Eastern cable routes by enemy operations, and from 1915 onwards the Pacific Cable Board earned large annual profits, eventually accumulating a surplus in excess of $11,000,000. Instead of this money being distributed among the partners, as was suggested in 1926 by Canada, the Board overruled Canada and proceeded with the duplication of the cable between Bamfield and the Fiji Islands. The Dominion opposed the expenditure on the ground that before embarking on such a plan the Board should inquire into the possibilities of beam wireless. The contract for 5,500 nautical miles of duplicate cable was let, however, at an estimated cost of $11,000,000, and from being a profitable enterprise the Pacific cable has become a liability. The restoration of the eastward cable routes from Great Britain to Australia, combined with the strong competition from wireless have brought about a condition of things which have resulted in summoning the meeting in London on January 16.

There is no intimation as to what attitude the Canadian representatives will take at the conference, but officials here feel that the results have justified the Canadian attitude of two years ago.

FARM PARTY STARTS EAST

Western Members of Overseas Tour Leave Winnipeg For Halifax.

SAIL ON SUNDAY.

WINNIPEG, Man., January 5. — With a month's visit to Great Britain and Denmark, where they will make a special study of marketing and agriculture as their objective, a party of more than forty farmers and prominent agriculturists of Western Canada left here yesterday morning on the Continental Limited for Halifax, whence they will sail on Sunday on the s.s. Lapland for Liverpool. They are members of the Canadian National Railways farmers' marketing tour, and will be joined at Montreal by delegations from Ontario and the Maritime Provinces.

Prominent among those of the West who are making the trip are the Hon. George Langley, former president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers, and one time Minister of Municipal Affairs in the Saskatchewan Government; Ernest Raper, vice-president of the British Columbia Dairymen's Association; D. W. Warner, ex-M.P. of Edmonton, who represents the Alberta Dairymen's Association, and the Edmonton District Chamber of Commerce; Herbert Scott, District Agriculturist of the Alberta Government, Sedgwick, Alberta; George Batho, Winnipeg, representing the North-West Farmer, Miss E. Cora Hind, agricultural editor of the Manitoba Free Press. At least one "farmerette" is included in the party. This is Miss Nora Fyfe, of Quappelle, Saskatchewan, who has gone in advance of the others. John Strachan, Canadian National Railways agricultural agent here, is in charge of the Western delegation. The tour will be conducted by Colin Groff.

Study Market Conditions.

The party will spend a month or more in Great Britain and Denmark on a special study of market conditions for Canadian agricultural products, with an investigation of co-operative marketing systems. This is the first organized body of Canadian agriculturists of any considerable size to leave Canada for such a tour of the Old Land, and the members will be brought into contact with some of the most outstanding agricultural and marketing authorities in the world. Conferences will be held with the Empire Marketing Board, and similar organizations in all the large centres, and visits will be paid to the homes of historical live stock herds, as well as to the headquarters of noted co-operative organizations. The Prince of Wales and the Lord Mayor of Liverpool will be among those who will entertain the travellers. J. S. McGowan, manager of the Canadian National Department of Agriculture and Colonization, and other officials of the Railways, saw the party off yesterday morning.

The Misses Marion and Eva Inkster spent Wednesday in Peterboro.

MOTHER-SISTER TO TAKE STAND AT SANITY TRIAL

When Los Angeles Youth Begins Fight to Cheat Gallows.

PREPARE CASE.

Seek Indictments Against Hickman and Hunt For Murder of Druggist.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 5. — Canadian Press. — The mother and sister of William E. Hickman will take a part in his defence here three weeks hence when the youth's sanity trial begins in connection with his confessed kidnapping and slaying of Marian Parker.

Plans to bring the mother, Mrs. Eva Hickman, and her daughter, Mary, 17, here from Kansas City, Mo., were revealed yesterday by Jerome Walsh, the attorney for the accused youth.

Charles E. Edwards, former chief of police of Kansas City, also will be a defence witness Walsh said. Edwards has been advisor to the Hickman family and is familarly known as "Cap" to the 19 year old slayer.

Wille Hickman's attorney granted three weeks to prepare his case instead of the 35 days which he requested on Tuesday from Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy, went about marshalling defence forces, legal authorities thumbed the state's most recent statutes pertaining to insanity defences.

Hickman's plea of "Not guilty by reason of insanity," was interpreted by the court as a plea of guilty to the two counts of kidnapping and murder, making it necessary to hold a trial to determine guilt. Debates over the law's reaction should Walsh attempt to prove that Hickman was sane at the time of the crime, but insane now, were frequent to-day.

Ask Indictments.

Indictments against Hickman and Welby Hunt, the Alhambra boy, charging murder of C. Ivy Thoms, a druggist, are to be asked from the county grand jury. Both have confessed they staged the hold up of a drug store in the suburb of Rose Hill during which Thoms was killed.

The insanity hearing of Hickman, which Judge Hardy yesterday set for January 25, was viewed yesterday as the probable beginning of a long legal fight by the youth's counsel to save him from the gallows.

Prosecuting attorneys have frequently declared that they would demand the death penalty in expiation for the muder of the Parker girl, whose mutilated body was delivered to her father after he had paid $1500 ransom.

Drowns Children, Takes Own Life

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 5 (Canadian Press).—Two children, aged 1½ and 5 years respectively, were drowned by their grandmother, who also drowned herself in a bathtub at their home in a prominent residence district here late yesterday.

The victims were Helen Shonle, 1½ years; her sister Dorothy, 5, and the grandmother, Mrs. Ella Shonle.

The tragedy was enacted while the mother of the Shonle girls was at a club meeting. Police and physicians worked with pulmotors for more than an hour attempting to revive the victims. The mother found the youngest child and the grandmother in the bathtub on her return here. The older child's body was lying on a table. No reason was assigned for the act. Horace Shonle, father of the children, is a chemist.

200 DROWNED IN BLACK SEA

Russian Vessel Founders With All on Board in Great Storm.

BERLIN, Jan. 5. Canadian Press.—Despatches from Bucharest to the Vossissche Zeitung report the sinking of the Russian steamer Ogoja, with 200 passengers between the Russian harbors of Nikolahevsk and Novdrossijk.

The Neue Berliner reports that the Ogoja carried 250 passengers and that it sank so rapidly in a great storm on the Black Sea that other vessels hurrying to its assistance were unable to save a single person.

Wedding Bells

SWITZER—THOMPSON.

A very pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Thompson, Springbrook, on Tuesday, December 20th, when their daughter, Myrtle, became the wife of Mr. Ira Switzer, of Omemee, Ont. About forty guests were present to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. P. F. Gardiner, Little Miss Doris Thompson, niece of the bride, acted as ring bearer. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Kenneth Thompson sang an appropriate solo. The bride received many very useful and beautiful gifts. After the wedding dinner the couple left on the afternoon train amid showers of confetti to visit friends in Toronto, returning to spend Christmas with Mr. and Mrs Thompson. On Tuesday, December 27th, a large number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson to extend good wishes and congratulations to the newly maried couple and present them with a miscellaneous shower. Among other gifts was a lovely mahogany clock presented by the "Canadian Girls in Training" of which Mrs. Switzer had been the leader. Mrs. Switzer had always been very active in all social and religious activities and will be greatly missed in that community. All join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Switzer happiness and prosperity in their new home.—Stirling News-Argus.

PORT HOPE YOUTH SHOT BY BROTHER

John Burgess, 16, is in Hospital With Wound in Lung.

PORT HOPE, Jan. 5.—Shot through the lung with a 22-calibre rifle in the hands of his five-year-old brother, John Burgess, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Burgess, Caldwell Street, Port Hope, is in the hospital here in a critical condition.

The injured boy had just returned from bringing his father's dinner to the Port Hope Sanitary plant, and with his little brother went upstairs and brought down the rifle. The smaller boy wished to play with the rifle and was allowed to do so. The next minute, Charles, the smaller boy, had pointed the rifle at his brother and pulled the trigger, the bullet entering the chest, puncturing a lung.

Dr. Diamond was immediately called, and the boy was rushed to the hospital, where it was found that the bullet had entered the chest, and had been deflected in the direction of the lad's right side. The bullet has not yet been removed.

HOTEL FIRE CAUSES $30,000 DAMAGE

Wentworth Arms, Hamilton, Badly Burned During Midnight Blaze.

HAMILTON, Ont., January 5.—(Canadian Press). — Fire at Wentworth Arms, a well-known hostelry in downtown Hamilton, at midnight last night caused $30,000 damage. When the alarm was sounded the firemen found the upper floor of the hotel in flames. The guests had been notified, and were able to get safely out without serious loss or accident. It is thought the fire started in the laundry, which is situated on the top floor of the hotel.

RECITAL GIVEN.

Pupils of Miss E. M. Grisdale Give Pleasing Piano Program.

On Saturday afternoon, Miss Eleanor M. Grisdale, Cross street, gave a musical hour and tea to her piano pupils and their friends. A pleasing recital was given by the pupils, with the following numbers:

"Ding Dong Bell," played in duet by Margaret Eano and Alma Duffy; "Pussy Cat", by Agnes Lynch; "Here We Go", duet, played by Margaret Eano and Agnes Lynch; "Buttercups", by Helen Eano; "Marionettes" by Kathleen Towns; "The Bogey Man", duet played by Michael Pepe and Miss Grisdale; "Narcissus" and "Bunty", by Alma Duffy; "Lily of the Valley", by Isabelle Towns; "Polly, Put the Kettle On", by Jack Eano; "Bye Low", duet played by Margaret and Helen Eano; "Up the Hill and Down the Hill", duet played by Helen Eano and Miss Grisdale; "Message of the Violet", by Margaret Eano; and "Tinker Bell", by Michael Pepe.

Readings were also given by Margaret Eano, who recited "The Golden Key", and Alma Duffy, reciting "Grandpa Says." During the tea hour, Miss Grisdale played Paderewski's "Minuet" and Moszkowski's "Love Waltz."

He was born in Bellsville, Ont., coming to Toronto in 1885. He was a former president of the Ontario Society of Photographers.

Many Recommendations For Legislation Outlined By Smith At Opening Session

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 5 (Canadian Press).—The work accomplished since his first inauguration together with twenty specific recommendations for legislation during the present session, were outlined by Governor Alfred E. Smith in a 99-page message which launched the legislature on its 1928 voyage yesterday.

Most of the recommendations were repetitions of policies advocated by him for several years which have been repeatedly defeated by the Republican majorities in the Legislature. Among them were:

Requests for State development and control of undeveloped water power by a State water power authority; abolition of the motion picture censorship; iteration of the direct primary; four-year term for governor with gubernatorial elections between presidential elections; biennial sessions of the legislature; extension to towns, villages and counties of the provisions of the city home rule laws, and giving municipalities control over public utilities operating within their borders.

The message, in its consideration of the broad question of prohibition urged adoption of an amendment to the State constitution to provide that no amendment to the Federal constitution be ratified by future legislatures until it had been approved by a referendum. The message also contained a declaration for strict observance and enforcement of the prohibitory laws. No legislation affecting prohibition was suggested.

PROGRESS IN AVIATION TOLD BY MAJOR-GENERAL M'BRIEN

Head of Canadian Air League Recounts Early Attempts To Fly.

MANY CENTURIES AGO.

The following address on the Canadian Air League was given by Maj.-Gen. J. H. MacBrien:

Progress in Aviation.

An examination of history, especially the history of Mythologies and Religion shows that flight has ever been uppermost among the aspirations of man.

In most mythologies and religious systems, the supreme beings who ruled the universe were given their abode in a vague region above the earth and the ability to soar at will through the air became an attribute of Godliness. Man could walk the earth and swim its waters but he couldn't fly. Next to immortality, flying was the one accomplishment which differentiated a Deity from common mortals.

To Scientists and Philosophers the problem whether man could fly, could succeed in elevating himself was a fascinating problem. There were to things in nature which had the power to rise—birds and smoke. From this fact two distinct schools of aeronautical philosophy arose and developed parallel to each other down the ages to the present time. Aeroplanes and balloons are the practical result of bird-flight and smoke-flight theories.

The Inquisition considered attempts at aerial navigation as a form of sorcery, and valuable documents and appliances were destroyed by its orders and their authors punished. The argument was: that if God had intended man to fly he would have endowed him with wings. Angels who flew were divine beings, while devils who also flew, were most decidedly not. Not being divine, any man who succeeded in flying could not be inspired by the angels, consequently he must be in league with the devil and aided by him. Hundreds of clever men were sent to the rack or the stake as a result of such logical reasoning.

About 360 B.C., history records that a flying model—"an imitation of a dove made of wood . . . made to fly by regulated mechanics."

During the reign of the Emperor Nero, there was a well authenticated story of a certain Simon who elevated himself in the air in the forum at Rome before a vast crowd which included the Apostle Peter. Simon's object was to prove that there was nothing supernatural in the Transfiguration. It would appear possible that a hot-air or smoke balloon was used by Simon to raise himself high enough to be killed by his subsequent fall.

First official recognition by a Government to the inventor of a flying machine was to Bartholomy de Guzmao by the King John V. of Portugal; a ship was to fly by three methods:

(a) Current of air to be generated by bellows in the hold to blow upwards against a canopy over the deck.

(b) Two large globes of lodestone or magnetic iron mounted on the deck were to attract the metal body of the ship.

(c) A number of pieces of Amber, suspended above the deck were to be heated by torches and by a principle of Static electricity cause the straw in the hold to rise towards them. Three good ways of lifting oneself by one's boot straps.

Guzmao is said to have made a flight in a machine of his own construction in 1717—even the King couldn't save him from the Holy Tribunal which destroyed his papers and he only escaped death by getting away in Spain. A globe containing fire which he himself lighted is mentioned as part of his machine.

The first balloon ascension was in 1783 by Montgolfier Brothers, and many improvements made by Charles in this year are still in use.

Our Latest Air Mammoth.

Without reclame or the blowing of trumpets a la America, a vast liner is now nearing completion at Howden, Yorkshire. She is the biggest and most scientific lighter-than-air craft that has ever been built.

This ship, really the first "air liner," is constructed of duralumin. The envelope which will take her gas is three acres in size. She has a displacement of 156 tons, is 709 feet in length and 130 feet high. She will accommodate in comfort 100 passengers, each of whom will be allowed 112 pounds of luggage, her crew will number thirty-five and her power will come from six 700-h.p. engines, giving a speed of eighty miles perh our, her cruising radius will be 5,000 miles.

The hull part of this monster of the skies is built in three tiers. There is a dance deck, and sleeping-cabins as large as those of a passenger boat, but each one with a little observation balcony. Service lifts connect the three tiers and a central kitchen supplies the rations for passengers and crew.

When the R100, as this mammoth is unromantically named, takes the air her envelope will have to lift some hundreds of tons into the air. Are such ships any use commercially? Air experts are divided on the question. Commander Burney, M.P., who is directing the construction of the R100 claims for this airship that she could, with a fleet of sister ships give a transatlantic service on a sound commercial basis, charging $550 for a single passage and carrying beside ten tons of mail bags. Commander Burney envisages the day when the transatlantic, lighter-than-air service will be as commonplace as the present day and night cross-Channel services of the Imperial Airways which have carried 40,000 passengers without accident or mishap.

—George Godwin.

This success in this form caused flight by wings to lag for a time. After the steam engine was improved, thought was given to the problem of harnessing this new force to aerial navigation.

To the design of Sir John Cayley in 1842, much is owed as it embodied the great majority of devices which made dynamic flight ultimately possible.

First Flight.

The outstanding event of the beginning of the 20th century was the fulfillment of the age-long objective of man to conquer the air.

On December 17th, 1903, an object heavier than air carried a man (Orval Wright) into the air for a few seconds.

Since then we have had 24 years of intensive development and progress.

The flying machine of to-day is a wonderful tribute to man's courage, perseverance, genius and scientific accomplishment. The modern aeroplane is strictly a technical product, built according to the usual Procedure of Engineering.

It is designed, calculated and manufactured and its strength, capacity and performance are known before work is commenced. A high standard of engineering is demanded in aircraft construction.

It is to-day a reliable means of transportation on organized routes; daring and trying have given way to calculation and methodical research.

To-day we see all progressive peoples of the world endeavoring to establish aerial transportation in their countries and aircraft manufacturing industry for economic and defensive reasons:

Travel by air under proper conditions can be as safe as travel by any other form of land or sea-transportation.

The four conditions for safe air travel are:—

(a) Best modern aircraft with multiple engines.
(b) Trained operating personnel.
(c) Organized airways and air-ports.
(d) Adequate weather and communication services.

These will lessen the risks and the losses will be less in actual practice than travel by automobile. In the United States alone, 22,000 people are killed annually to motor accidents.

All new methods of transportation have to go through a period of distrust, for instance, a paper of 1845 said—"the largest item in railway returns bids fair to be the list of killed."

Development in Certain Countries.

A survey will be made of what is taking place in the development of aviation in some of the leading countries of the world, with the object of coming to a conclusion as to whether or not Canada is lagging behind in this respect, and as to whether or not an Air League is needed for the promotion of the newest and fastest method of transportation.

Europe.

In Europe, 36,000 miles of airways are in operation; these are being rapidly developed, and it is possible to travel to almost any part of the continent safely by air at little more than first-class railway fare.

Most of the leading countries of Europe have Government efforts supported by Air Leagues; for instance, Cheko Slovakia, a country of 15,000,000 population, has an Air League of 80,000 members.

Germany.

In Germany, there are over 15,000 miles of airways, and German aircraft on the average cover 40,000 miles a day. Under the Peace Treaty, Germany has been prevented from developing a Military Air Force; consequently she has devoted her whole attention to the development of Civil Aviation, with the result that in this respect she is leading all nations of the world.

A German Air League exists, said to contain over 200,000 members.

Two German companies have plans for a transatlantic service beginning in 1929.

One firm is constructing an aeroplane with eight engines, capable of carrying one hundred passengers, whilst another firm has constructed a multiple-engined

Turn Hair Dark With Sage Tea

By JEAN MACON

The old - time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 75 cents, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1928.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

The tone of Ald. Nagle Phelan's expression of thanks to the electors, like that of Mayor-elect Denne's, upon which The Examiner commented last night, shows a sportsmanlike and helpful attitude on the part of the unsuccessful candidate for the mayoralty.

It is a fine thing to know that elections can be fought and election results accepted in such a fashion.

The Mayor-elect asks the co-operation of the electors, those who voted against him as well as those who supported him, in working for a better Peterborough; and Ald. Phelan in turn unhesitatingly promises his successful rival every support and assistance in his efforts.

With such a spirit in evidence this year's Council has a wonderful chance to be of great service to the community, and it is a pleasure for The Examiner to stress these two notices to the electors as indicative of a very general desire to work for a better city.

AN INSPIRING ADVERTISEMENT.

The Department of Trade and Commerce is to be congratulated upon the inspiring and optimistic advertisement which appeared in The Examiner and many other Canadian newspapers on Tuesday.

The advertisement had two objects, the first to arouse in the people of this country a feeling of pride in the splendid progress made by the Dominion, and the second to call attention to the very great importance of export trade.

No Canadian could read the facts and statistics embodied in this striking publicity without a feeling of satisfaction in being a citizen of a great country and a sense of confidence in the future development and expansion of the Dominion.

Undoubtedly the celebration of Canada's sixtieth anniversary inspired throughout the length and breadth of this country a national pride that will be intensified by such advertisements as that of the Department of Trade and Commerce.

There is no political propaganda in such advertising—simply an optimistic and robust Canadianism that is bound to have a tonic effect upon the people of Canada generally.

WELL DONE, THE ELECTORS.

The electors of Peterborough, often scolded by The Examiner for their failure to pay proper attention to municipal matters, earned commendation on Monday when 60 per cent of those on the lists turned out to vote in the civic election.

In view of the bitterly cold weather conditions this is a very excellent showing that is in great contrast to the Toronto election, at which only three people out of every ten on the list voted.

It is difficult to understand the small vote polled in Toronto, unless it is viewed as the opinion of the majority of the electors that neither of the mayoralty candidates merited support.

The mayoralty election usually sets the pace and in the last Toronto election neither the victor nor the vanquished was of the type that appealed to the popular fancy, and it looks as if many of them showed their resentment by turning a cold shoulder toward the whole campaign.

Peterborough, however, did well in polling 60 per cent of its possible total and it is hoped that the mark will be surpassed in future elections.

A WORLD'S CHAMPION.

The Peterborough district has produced many championships in the world of sport and in other lines, but it has remained for a Cavan township cow to bring the first world's title to this section of Ontario.

"Idlywilde Korndyke", the property of James Seymour and Sons of Ida, is the world's champion in butter fat production, and the Canadian champion both in milk and butter fat production.

Judging from the figures this busy queen of the dairy is not merely a cow but a whole industry in herself.

Over the test period of 305 days Idylwilde Korndyke has been producing milk at the rate of more than 63 pounds a day, while her total butter fat production was 819 pounds, beating the previous world's record of 771.73 pounds.

A cow that can produce nearly 20,000 pounds of milk in 305 days and at the same time break the world's mark for butter fat production could teach automobile manufacturers something about mass production.

The owners of Idylwilde Korndyke are deserving of general congratulations upon the great record of their champion, a record that is bound to be a wonderful stimulus to stock breeding in this district.

Incidentally it is worthy of note that Mr. Seymour, Sr., gives credit to the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition for the part it is playing in educating the people of this section of Ontario to seek better stock and learn better methods.

WOMEN, CLOTHES AND SALVATION.

Monsieur Poiret, of Paris, who is a sort of world Lenin of feminine fashions, having stated in Montreal that hereafter womens' skirts must come below their knees, a lot of editors, chiefly males, have taken to moralizing. This being the closed season for politics, editors, we admit, must fill up their columns with something; and womens' knees are always interesting; at least they always have been. Yet we don't like the trend of the discussion. It is altogether too theological. Too much wedded to the hoary theory that there must be some connection between womens' knees and wickedness.

The theologians, usually males, have always argued that the great discovery which Eve made in her celebrated distressful circumstances was an eternal casual association between nudity and evil, and that, overwhelmed with consternation, she and Adam went into the clothing industry. Now, as a matter of fact, there was nothing of the sort. Eve made a discovery, all right; but it was not the nature and cause of unrighteousness that worried her. That chapter had been read and was closed She and her man were in a scrape and the matter in hand was to find a way out. She found it. She discovered the original, perennial, universal, altogether adequate means of salvation for herself and the race of her descendants. She discovered clothes—an occupation for mind and hand that never could fail to allay unrest, assuage grief, and purge from sin. By this achevement she cleared her record; and the masculine habit, in particular the theological habit, of going back to her indiscretion as a premise for a philosophy of history, is not only unchivalrous behaviour, but a manifestation of unmitigated ignorance. There should be a "Big Bill" Thompson for all the world to get after such bad histor.

* * * *

An how man does love to come back to the subject and to strut about dispensing moral advice, warnings and anathemas! The thing will not down. Metaphysics or theology, manners or morals, fashion or negligence, economic interpretation of history or supernatural, everything is he same. And that same thing is clothes. Clothes proclaiming, like a prison garb, the fall of man, or clothes functioning as the only dependable protection against wickedness or weather, this is the one object of interest in its alternative historical aspects, the one comprehensive subject of education, the one end and aim of human striving.

* * * *

The one consolation, to our way of thinking, is that the moralists gradually give ground. In the days of Jane Austen, for example, if the heroine, even by mishap, displayed her alluring ankle, then the hero, if he was a gentleman, was supposed to blush. Later on, even when Victoria the Good reigned, a blush became necessary only if th mishap involved revelation of calves; though the theologians were furious. The poor old world was galloping to destruction at a break-neck pace. Its salvation was to get back to ankles.

* * * *

Then came th war; a field day for the moralists. The Kaiser and te Bolshevik having upset the world and broken down cuntless inhibitions and habits, threw all of us into mots and economic turbulence. But it would never do to admit that we were such helpless creatures of circumstance that we must go on being indiscreet and more or ess wicked when the war was over just because we had ben upset. Somehow we must account for the fact tha we are going to the bad by reference to a cause tha antedated the war, that manifested itself throughot those parts of creation that were not directly touced by the war and that continued to work. Obviosly, that cause must be found in something as primitiv as man himself and contemporaneous with original si. Therefore, the editors took to their typewriters, and the preachers to their texts, to show that the cause was nudity, or lack of clothes; that the explanation of a the new modes of miserable wrong-doing was found i the wickedness of mothers who sent their daughters to the ballrooms and the bathing beaches in scant attir. Everybody was terribly agitated. We had discourse, soberly setting forth that as soon as our overseas men began to come home those irresponsible mothers, whose daughters had been deprived of male attention and matrimonial opportunities for four long years, immediately went about making them attractive by "undressing" them and sending them forth to prey upon unsophisticated youth so long sequestrated and held under discipline in France! What the world needed was to get back to calves.

Now they're arguing something else. Skirts, since the war, have gone several points north, demolishing the theory about mothers plotting against the lads coming home; but no matter. The male editors and the theologians are still going strong. They want skirts where they were after the war.

* * * *

Honestly, we think these philosophers are wrong. We think this Monsieur Poiret is wrong, too. We would like to see such people turn their attention to the alternative hypothesis that Eve invented clothing not to save the human race by concealing nudity, but by giving it something to be interested i, and that her daughters through all the generation have been better judges of the relation of clothing to virtue than her sons have been. Wouldn't it after all be rather decent and sensible to let the women continue to handle this affair according to their own ideas and in their own way? After all, theology and morality aside, Sparks street is a much more attractive place at five o'clock in the afternoon now than it used to be fifteen years ago; and the architecture of the buildings is the only reason.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Toronto bandit was routed by a box of cigars. Christmas left overs, probably.

And now will come the annual scramble for the committee chairmanships.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 5 (Canadian Press).—The export trade with the United Kingdom and the Continent was again of a very limited character here yesterday. Outside of sales of a few cars of oats the local market for cash grain was quiet and prices were unchanged.

Prices for all grades of Spring and Winter wheat flour were well maintained under a quiet demand from all sources.

A moderate amount of business was worked in all lines of millfeed and the undertone was firm. The tone of the market for standard grades of rolled oats was steady with a small business passing.

A feature of the egg trade was the increased demand for storage eggs between jobbing houses and some fair-sized lots changed hands. The undertone was steady for both fresh and storage grades. The receipts were 2,574 cases.

The potato market continued dull, but prices were unchanged. Car lots of Prince Edward Island Green Mountains were quoted at $1.15 per bag of 90 lbs; Prince Edward Island White potatoes at $1.05 per bag of 90 lbs; New Brunswick Green Mountains at $1.00 per bag of 90 lbs in bulk, and New Brunswick White potatoes at 95c per bag of 90 lbs in bulk ex track.

The condition of the market for imported beans was unchanged, prices being firm with a small trade passing. Car lots of choice white hand-picked were quoted at $2.65 per bushel, ex-track, and broken lots at $2.75 per bushel, ex-store.

Owing to the continued limited demand from all sources for butter and liberal supplies available on spot an easier feeling developed and prices scored a decline of ¼c per lb, but even at this reduction buyers showed little disposition to operate. The receipts were 67 packages.

The cheese market was without any new feature to note, business being dull and prices unchanged. The receipts were 476 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (Canadian Press).—Active speculative buying of corn went hand in hand yesterday with a material falling-off in corn receipts and with simultaneous indications of corn export business.

Liverpool corn market quotations advanced a penny a bushel.

Chicago closing prices on corn were unsettled, ½ c to 1c net higher. Wheat finished firm at ¼c decline to ¼c advance; oats unchanged to ¼c to ⅜c up, and provisions unchanged at 7 cents down.

Wheat kept inside of narrow limits throughout the day, but averaged a trifle lower. European continental countries were reported purchasing from this side of the Atlantic, but call for United States wheat was relatively slack, and for the most part business with Great Britain appeared to have been checked by the present advance. A forecast of milder weather tended to counterbalance reports of lack of snow protection for Winter wheat. Shipping demand here for wheat, however, was good, with little coming in.

Provisions were somewhat easier, reflecting the course of hog values.

SMITH ELECTIONS.

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir:

As the elections are over for another year the result of the election just over must have been a hard knock to those parties, who for selfish motives undertook to elect the council, independent of the electors, it will be a good lesson for them not to try it again. When will the taxpayers get out from under the stove election day and vote without having to be pulled out.

SMITH ELECTOR.

HICKMAN AND HUNT.

Editor, The Examiner.

Dear Sir: Will you kindly allow me a little space to give expression to a few thoughts respecting the Hickman and Hunt case.

The world is up in arms over the crimes of these young lads, and no wonder, but let us look for a moment a little further back. What of those men who should have been fathers to those boys? Why did they go off and leave their young offspring to run wild, as every thing in nature tends to do if not trained? Why did they leave their partners to carry on the battle alone?

To train young boys is a man's job, it needs a firm hand and a kind interest in all that concerns the boy. Yes, it's all very fine for Hickman to say, "I disown him," but the mother—does she say so? No, no! She cannot talk in that strain. She remembers him as a little lad, for boys never grow up in mother's eyes; they are always boys, and girls are always girls. We mothers find it hard to believe ill of our children, for we remember the days which only seem like yesterday when we put on their first little clothes and taught them to walk and comforted them in their childish distress.

Oh, men, wake up to your duties and privileges and be men in the truest sense of the word, men who women can trust and children love—life does not consist in getting unholy thrills, but in doing our duty unselfishly and well.

Thanking you and hoping these lines will sink deep in hearts that need reproof. I am yours very truly,

—Mother.

ERROR CORRECTED.

Montreal, Canada.
December 18, 1927.

Editor, Peterborough Examiner,
Peterborough, Ontario.

Sir:

My attention having been drawn to certain objectionable and derogatory statements regarding my father, the late Major-General Sir Samuel Benfield Steele, K.C.M.B., C.B., M.V.O., ex-Royal North West Mounted Police, made in lines 7 to 11, page 131, in the original edition of 'The Silent Force', by Mr. T. Morris Longstreth, I communicated with Mr. Longstreth, as a result of which, referring to these statements, he has written me as follows:

'In light of further information regarding my statements concerning Major-General Sir Samuel Benfield Steele, K.C.M.G., etc., on page 131 of 'The Silent Force' I realize that my characterization is unwarranted. The offending sentences will be deleted from future printings.'

Mr. Longstreth, as a whole, presented a fair picture of my father's character, except in respect to the offending statements referred to. But, as the first edition was exhausted before these statements could be erased, it is necessary, in the interests of the future, that the truth be made public, and the inaccuracy of the sentences complained of be immediately established. The present generation is well aware that no stain could truthfully be placed either on my father's character as an officer and a gentleman or on his fifty years of continuous service to Canada and the Empire within the Mounted Police Force and elsewhere. The matter is now settled; and, if you will kindly publish this letter, the harm done will have been eliminated as far as this is possible.

Yours faithfully,
HARWOOD STEELE.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THE SENDER AND THE BRINGER

I honor him who honors God by giving of his treasure
To those who rougher roads have trod, whose days know little pleasure.
If heaven has sent him sun and rain, has prospered him in money,
I honor him for giving grain where fields are seldom sunny.
And yet the penny sent the poor, the rose you sent the mourner,
To someone just across the moor or just around the corner,
Meant little to one Friend of thine, however much you thought it,
Who gave the world His love divine, and did not send, but brought it.

I know the need of fire and food, the gifts that gold can bring them,
But men in hours of solitude need more than gold you fling them.
When through the mists of life they grope, in doubt and hesitation,
Only a friend can give them hope, can bring them consolation.
I know the need of food and fire, when darkly hangs December,
But friendship also men desire, and kindness to remember.
Not from some cold, majestic height His words of love He flung them,
But, when men walked a world of night, came down and walked among them.

Ah, yes, our gifts of gold are good, and yet the gift is double,
The gift we bring in brotherhood that wasn't too much trouble.
Though gold is something for awhile
when shadows start to lengthen,
Only a face can wear a smile, a hand alone can strengthen.
The gift is much, the giver more, in want or care or grieving,
Whatever need men need it for, however much receiving.
Yes, fair the gift that kindness sends,
the purse, the check, the letter,
But, when the heart has need of friends,
the gift we bring is better.

THE MEANING OF ACIDOSIS

It is quite common for patients to believe that their blood is overly acid. They have arrived at this conclusion from hearing so much about acidosis, which has gradually come to mean to them that their blood has turned acid. This is a false assumption, as the blood, during life, always presents an alkaline reaction, and death takes place at the very moment when the blood becomes more acid than alkaline.

A small amount of tissue may become deadened—for instance, a crushed finger or toe may have the tissue so destroyed that the basic alkalinity is lost—and this dead tissue may then be said to be more acid than alkaline. But this cannot be true over any large are of the body, for in life the entire blood stream must be slightly alkaline.

When what is called "acidosis" exists, it only means "a lowered alkalinity." For example, if you add a teaspoonful of baking soda to a glass of water, the water will then possess a definite amount of alkalinity. If even a drop of acid is added to this alkaline water, the alkaline reaction is lowered in just that degree. If drop by drop more acid is added, the mixture finally becomes neutral, and then one drop more will make the entire amount slightly acid.

In the body a similar phenomenon takes place when, through wrong habits of living, the amount of alkaline blood reserve is reduced. The blood is then less alkaline, but is really not acid.

As the blood carbonates are reduced, the lines of defense against infection are broken down. One with so-called acidosis is subject to bacterial invasion, and such disorders as rheumatic fever pneumonia, typhoid and similar disorders develop.

Diarrheal diseases of children often bring on a serious acidosis. The intestinal irritation caused from unripe fruit, or from the use of fruit with starchy foods produces copious bowel eliminations, and this depletes the system of alkali through wasting bile and the digestive ferments.

Prospective mothers often suffer from acidosis because of the folly of "eating for two," and not realizing that the most important thing is to eat less of all foods, and increase elimination which must truly go on for two.

One who has a tendency to develop "cold sores" or similar inflammatory conditions of the mucous membranes should realize that acidosis exists and such warning should be heeded, and the blood's alkalinity built up to prevent more serious disorders such as rheumatic fever, diabetes mellitus, and the deficiency diseases.

Acidosis is really not a disease in itself, but is a condition which predisposes so many disorders.

Some of the first signs of acidosis are increase of ammonia in the urine (which should be normally acid), skin rashes, cold sores, coated tongue, headaches, and increase in respiration.

In tomorrow's article I will explain how to cure acidosis.

Questions and Answers.

Question: H.P.C. writes: "I have always heard that one should rest his body and brain after eating. Would like to know if a walk of a mile and a half to work after breakfast would be harmful. Also, what is the reason that my ears become stopped up, especially during a walk?"

Answer: I am sure you would not be harmed by taking a walk after breakfast, but it would be much better to rest before you exercise, if you will arrange to have your breakfast a little earlier. Your ears may have a stopped-up feeling simply because of the increased circulation of blood and the temporary raising of your blood pressure.

Question: Anna M. asks: "Will you please tell me if the pomegranate is a healthful fruit?"

Answer: The pomegranate is a good acid fruit if you will eat it by itself, drinking plenty of water at the same time.

Question: "Thank You" writes:—"Would like to know if you advise the milk diet for severe cases of gastritis. If so, could I use any fruit or fruit juices with it, as it seems to agree with me better that way."

Answer: The milk diet is an excellent treatment for any inflammatory condition to the stomach or intestines. It is advisable to use a small amount of lemon juice, or the juice of some other fruit with it, as this seems to assist in the digestion of the milk, and stimulates the flow of the gastric juices.

Question: A Reader asks: "Is there any way of getting rid of liver spots on the face? I have had them since before my baby was born, that is, about six or seven months."

Answer: The liver spots you speak of will usually disappear if you will be careful about your diet and see to it that your liver is not overburdened with an excessive amount of work.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY'S JUMPY BALL

Though it was November, and, in that part of the woods where Uncle Wiggily lived, though it was cold and blustry, still the rabbit gentleman thought he ought not to stop playing golf.

"I just love to play golf!" he said to his wife, and he tossed some of the small, hard, white rubber balls up in the air and caught them on his paws. "I think I shall go out now and knock a few balls around the yard."

"Why don't you give up golf until summer comes again?" asked the lady rabbit. "It will soon be time to play snow ball instead of golf."

"Ah, but if I stop my golf now I may forget how to play," said the rabbit gentleman. "No, I must go out now and practise."

So Mr. Longears took his driver and his brassie and his niblik, his mashie 11-12.

Mr. Longears took careful aim.

and his putter—which, as you know, are different kinds of golf clubs—and with some balls went out in the yard around his hollow stump bungalow.

"I'll just knock them around easy like," said Mr. Longears to himself. He made a little tee, or mound of sand, placed a ball on it and tapped it. Down the yard the ball went spinning toward one of the nine holes, with flower pots set in them, that Mr. Longears had made the week before so he and Mr. Stubtail, the bear gentleman, could play a sort of baby game of golf.

"We'll now if I can knock that ball in the first hole I'll have done it in two strokes, which is one less than par," said Uncle Wiggily to himself, speaking golf language.

The white ball was near the edge of one of the holes with little flower pots set in them to keep the holes from filling with dirt. Mr. Longears took careful aim with the putter, tapped the ball and set it rolling.

Into the flower pot hole it toppled. But, all of a sudden, a strange thing happened. For no sooner had the golf ball rolled in, than up and out it bounced again, rolling on the grass as before.

"That's funny!" said Uncle Wiggily to himself as he stood a short distance away from the hole. "What a jumpy ball. I suppose that doesn't count. I must put the ball in again."

He could not see the bottom of the flower pot hole from where he stood. But thinking he had a very lively ball, the rabbit gentleman used the putter club again and tapped the "white pill," as it is sometimes called, more gently this time.

Into the hole it rolled, but in a second it popped out again.

"Dear me!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "This is getting funnier and funnier! I wonder what's the matter? Maybe my ball is too jumpy. I'll try another."

Not thinking there could be anything wrong with the flower-pot hole, Uncle Wiggily picked up the first ball, stuck it in his pocket and laid another down on the ground not far from the hole.

"If I roll this in and it jumps out again I shall know something must be wrong with the hole and not the ball," said the rabbit.

Again he tapped the ball. It rolled into the hole and then, all of a sudden, it jumped out again, and this time so hard and so high did the golf ball leap that it banged Uncle Wiggily on his pink, twinkling nose.

"Ouch!" he howled, clapping his paw to his nose. And then from the flower-pot hole a voice exclaimed:

"Well, I wish it would stop snowing such big flakes. I'm tired of tossing them out!"

"My goodness! There's somebody in one of my golf holes!" cried Uncle Wiggily. Hopping close he looked in and there he saw a mouse lady and her family of seven little mice who had made themselves a nest of some soft grass on the bottom of the flower-pot hole. Each time Uncle Wiggily rolled the golf ball in Mrs. Field Mouse, thinking it was a snow flake, had tossed it out again. That's what made the ball so jumpy.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Mr. Longears when he saw the mouse family. "I am sorry I bothered you, but I will give you a new home in the warm cellar of my bungalow for the winter. You will soon freeze in here in this golf hole."

"Yes, it is cold nights," said Mrs. Mouse. "We were living under a pile of corn stalks until we moved here. But I shall be glad to come in your cellar."

So she and her children moved out of the golf hole and Mr. Longears had no trouble about jumpy balls.

EXPLOSION KILLS SEVEN IN BERLIN

Defective Gas Main Causes Blast Which Wrecks Dwelling.

BERLIN, January 5. Canadian Press. — Seven persons were killed and twenty injured in a violent explosion which wrecked and set fire to a house in the northern part of the city shortly after midnight. It is feared that other persons may have been burned in the ruins.

Of the injured, seventeen were tenants of the place and the remainder were firemen who worked superhumanly to put out the flames. The explosion is believed to have been due to a defect in a main gas pipe.

The explosion caused a panic throughout the neighborhood, hundreds of persons rushing from their homes.

IMMIGRANTS COME IN THREE CLASSES

Those of Two Divisions Settle on Farms—Others Are Independent.

What becomes of the immigrants who settle in Peterborough and district? Is there any record of his progress kept?

Such were the questions that an Examiner representative was asked during the course of a conversation with a friend, the other day. Unable to answer authoritatively he took steps to inform himself on the subject.

From reliable sources it was learned that immigrants from Europe come to Canada under three courses. The British Empire Settlement Scheme is one which brings the families out at the expense of British and Dominion governments. They are expected to settle on farms and also engage in farming. Otherwise they are deported. A Dominion inspector pays periodic visits to the district and a check-up is therefore available in Ottawa. No immigrant from the British Isles is kept track of unless he comes under the conditions of this third system.

A record of their residence in Canada is kept at Ottawa.

Then, too there are those who come independently and there is no record or check kept on their progress or movements.

The third class, who come from Central Europe under permit, must

Announcing

The VICTORY SIX

BY DODGE BROTHERS

ON DISPLAY TODAY WITH THE SENIOR SIX AND AMERICA'S FASTEST FOUR

From an engineering standpoint The Victory is radically new, radically different and thoroughly original—is literally years ahead of its time in many vital features.

In a very real sense, too, it compares with no other car or class, because NO car, either here or abroad, provides features that are comparable. To enjoy these advantages you must buy THIS car, for elsewhere they simply do not exist.

Revolutionary New Principles of Design

1. For the first time since the invention of the automobile, the chassis and body of The Victory are a single integral unit—the wide, deep Victory chassis frame, flush with the lines of the body, replaces the customary body sills. (Heretofore, the body was mounted on a sill and both in turn mounted on the chassis.)

2. For the first time in history, battleship construction (i.e., double steel walls) is here applied to the motor car.

Spectacular Performance

The results of these, and other basic innovations are astonishing in their effect on every phase of motor car value; beauty, comfort, safety, strength and most impressive and important of all—performance itself.

With chassis and body a single unit, there are 330 fewer parts—175 pounds less weight—and an extremely low center of gravity.

The results are greater motor efficiency—increased power—quicker pick-up—greater stability and flexibility in relation to load—an easier car to handle—a faster car to drive!

21 miles to the gallon at 25 miles per hour is precisely what you can expect—with sustained high speed all day long at instant call!

Drive over cobbles and await the usual discomfort—it will never occur! The Victory is the smoothest riding car, for its type, ever built.

Safe, Strong and Stable

Because the chassis frame conforms precisely with the body lines—and because of the car's low center of gravity (weight close to the ground) The Victory is remarkably stable—tipping, skidding and swaying are reduced to a point positively negligible!

Turn a sharp corner and you will understand!

And the double steel walls mean double protection in case of accident—double the safety of any type yet known. A staunch body, with doors that close with a substantial and non-metallic snap.

Quiet and Comfortable

The aim of all engineering is simplicity, for simplicity means economy—strength—SILENCE. There are only 8 major parts in The Victory body—and they are welded into a single unit. Not a joint to squeak or rattle. A silent body.

And Dodge Brothers powerful new six-cylinder motor—specially engineered for The Victory—preserves this luxurious quietness at all speeds.

A Car of Striking Beauty

Body and chassis built as a single unit—without the customary body sill—permits lower over-all height with liberal head-room and road-clearance.

Splash shields, a constant source of noise and annoyance are replaced by the wide, deep Victory chassis frame; wide, heavy-gauge one-piece fenders and drum-type head-lamps are provided. Upholstery, hardware, instruments, color combinations and other appointments satisfy the most exacting demands of style and good taste.

Indeed, you have a distinct and thrilling impression that the car in which you are riding is long, low, swift and safe—a car of surpassing originality and smartness down to the smallest detail.

CHARLOTTE STREET

TUNNEY TO FIGHT TWICE THIS YEAR

Paulino Uzurdun and Jack Dempsey Will Be His Opponents.

NEW YORK, January 5 (Canadian Press). — Gene Tunney plans to fight Paulino Uzcudun and Jack Dempsey in the two title matches he plans for 1928, the Evening World said to-day. The Spanish heavyweight will be Gene's opponent some time in July, probably in Los Angeles, where Paulino is booked to fight George Godfrey in February, the paper said. This is the fight for which Tunney has been offered a guarantee of $125,000 more than Tex Rickard had promised for a single 1928 match, the paper asserted.

GEORGE STREET LADIES' AID MEETS

Reports of Committee Convenors Submitted at Regular Meeting.

The January meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of George Street United Church was held in the Board Room of the Sunday School Hall yesterday afternoon. The president, Mrs. C. E. Smith, presided, and Mrs. Harvey took charge of the devotional exercises. The Bible lesson was read by Miss J. W. Hales. Mrs. Smith made a few remarks on the wonderful work accomplished by society, saying she felt that the success was due to the fine co-operation between the members and the executive, and she asked their continued loyalty and support during the coming year, so that the society might make the year 1928 a better and bigger year than any previous one. After the secretary's report had been given by Mrs. Staples and the treasurer's report by Mrs. S. Oke, and adopted, the convenors of committees reported. Miss Elliott, corresponding secretary, read several letters expressing thanks for flowers sent. Miss Morrow, Flower Committee; Mrs. Shortly, Cupboard Committee; Mrs. H Foote, Parsonage Committee; Mrs. Stubbs, Sick and Visiting Committee; Miss Higgins, Lookout Committee; Mrs. Weldon, Decorating Committee; Mrs. Shortly, Christmas Cheer. The yearly reports of convenors were then submitted.

Mrs. C. H. Saunders delighted the audience with a sweet solo, "My Ain Wee Hoose." A discussion took place about a Christmas Fair for this year. It was decided to again hold a Christmas Fair in 1928, and plans were discussed regarding it. Refreshments were served and a social half-hour spent at the conclusion of the business meeting.

A NICE FELLOW BUT SO SKINNY

That's what the girls say about you fellows that need a few more pounds of good solid flesh and have never tried McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets.

A New Jersey Man was just as bad as you, but now he's got what the girls call a manly figure—he needed 28 more pounds and thanks to McCoy's he got them in just a couple of months.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets or 2 one dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

Steady Laying is the secret of Hen profit

Get your birds right down to fall and winter business. There is no reason why you shouldn't have eggs regularly.

Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash works wonders in egg production. Thousands of successful poultrymen feed it. A scientifically balanced ration. Contains every ingredient hens need to make them lay regularly and keep them in good health.

Cod Liver Meal in Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash helps the other ingredients to do faster work and more work on the egg-producing organs. Its vitamines supply the necessary sunlight element all the year round. The base of all Ful-O-Pep feeds is high quality oatmeal—not just ground oats.

No domestic animal, size considered, requires so much mineral as the laying hen. A good hen will produce half her weight in egg shells alone in a year. Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash is 9% mineral.

Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash is economical. It means more and better, strong-shelled eggs.

GEORGE STREET UNITED CHURCH

Rev. J. E. Todd's New Year's message to his large morning congregation was on the importance of Beginnings. The Bible lesson was taken from the first chapter of St. John's Gospel and the first chapter of Genesis.

In referring to the importance of a good beginning Mr. Todd spoke of a sport exhibition, where one of the contestants for honors, who apparently had everything" in his favor, failed because he did not make a good beginning.

A runner in a marathon race, whom everyone considered an easy winner at the first of the race, used up all his reserve strength, and because he did not make a good beginning, failed. Beginnings also make a vast difference in every walk of life. In the case of writers, much depends on the beginning of an essay or the first chapter of a book.

The beginning of a sermon makes people interested or inattentive. Therefore beginnings are important factors in ultimate results and because of this "I want to talk to you about beginning the year 1928," said Mr. Todd, "on this New Year's Day. Some people are supercilious in regard to the matter of days, saying 'one day does not differ from another,' but I say they are not thinking clearly or well when they say all days are alike.

"If we study history we find some of the days that are so important that they are remembered down through the ages, and will continue to be memorable days.

"The first Christmas Day, when Christ was born in Bethlehem.

"August 11, 1492, when this continent was discovered by Columbus.

"Beginning of the Great War, August 3, 1914.

"Armistice Day, Nov. 11, 1918.

"Other days are of great importance in individual lives, such as your wedding day, days of great joy, days of deepest sadness.

"So because days are important and beginnings are such important factors in ultimate results: How shall we start the New Year?

"In the reading of our Scripture lesson we heard: The beginning was God. Any other theory is inadequate and does not embody all facts.

"I am an evolutionist of a sort in believing that the basic principle of life is growth. God teaches it: First the blade and then the grass.

"There are many tehories as to the beginning of life, but why worry over them. One thing sure is that there was a beginning. It started back at the beginning with God.

"Our program of life is inadequate if we do not take God into our homes, churches, schools, educational systems, industries, politics.

"Are we going to start the New Year by giving God a place in all our programs?

"Then if God was at the beginning He will also be at the end. When God set out to redeem the world He will not be satisfied until His task is completed and He finds the very last one. The redeeming and healing process must continue down through the ages and at this, the beginning of the New Year, lay your troubles before God and look up for the best things of life, not keeping your eyes on the petty sordid things of earth, so that at the end God will say 'well done'."

The music at the morning service consisted of a baritone solo, "The Earth is the Lord's" Synes, by Mr. Douglas Carlisle. Anthem, "Festival Te Deum," D. Buck; Miss Daisy Murray taking the soprano solo. Contralto Solo, "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes," Mrs. Liddle.

At the evening service, Rev. J. E. Todd delivered an eloquent and thoughtful sermon, his subject being "A Better Day."

Mr. Arnold Spencer rendered a violin solo accompanied by Mr. Liddle. Soprano Solo, "Ring Out Wild Bells," Gounod, by Miss Daisy Murray.

Prices Fall To-day In Active Trading

TORONTO, Ont., January 5 (Canadian Press). — In heavy trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning prices tended lower. International Nickle, after selling around 85, closed at 83 for a loss of two points. Christie Brown sold down 2½ at 87, while Dominion Stores lost one at 105. British-American Oil, the most active stock on the board, dropped a full point at 38⅞. Fractional losses were shown in Massey-Harris, Page Hersey, Imperial Oil, and Canadian Canners. The old Canadian Canners stock had a spectacular gain of six points at 111, while the Preferred gained 3½ at 133½. The second Preferred gained 1¼ at 22½, and Hiram Walker's was another firm feature with a gain of more than a point at 64⅝.

Wheat Prices Rise In Spite Of Selling

CHICAGO, January 5 (Canadian Press). — Assertions that European import requirements have been under estimated to a material extent were a factor in making wheat prices average higher early to-day. On the other hand houses with Winnipeg connections were sellers here, presumably spreading against purchases at Winnipeg. Opening at ⅛c to ⅜c advance, Chicago wheat held near to the initial range. Corn and oats were also firmer, corn starting ⅛c to ½c up, and subsequently showing further gains. Provisions tended to sag.

Opening prices were: Wheat, March 130⅜, May 132¼. Corn, March 87⅜, May 90⅝. Oats, March 54⅞, May 93.

Stocks Drop Quickly And Then Recover

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.— (Canadian Press.)—A sweeping reaction followed by a partial recovery took place in to-day's stock market. Early selling was based on the unexpectedly large increase in stock exchange member loans with the subsequent recovery influenced by the reduction in call money rates from 4¼ to 4 per cent against an opening rate of 5½ yesterday. Trading was in tremendous volume the day's sales promising to run well over 3,000,000 shares.

Spectacular declines took place in some of recently strong specialties. Midland Steel Products preferred broke 28 points to 232 and rallied to 265 by early afternoon. Greene Cananea Copper collapsed 15½ points to 139 and snapped back above 145. International Harvester, Union Carbide, Brooklyn Edison, Otis Elevator, Air Production and Collins and Aikman tumbled five to six points. United States' Steel, American Smelting, Allied Chemical and General Motor all sold down 3 to nearly five points. Rails yielded with Industrials, although declines were not as large.

PILES

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldmon banish Piles.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M.D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in hundreds of cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at McDermid & Jury, McDermid Drug Co., Bond's Drug Store, who will gladly refund the purchase prices to any dissatisfied customer.

Mine Market Weak; To-day's Session Quiet

TORONTO, Jan. 5 (Canadian Press).—The weaker tone on the Standard Mining Exchange continued today in lighter trading, but occasional advances were shown in the broad list dealt in. Sudbury Basin lost twenty-five cents of its recent climb at 13.50, and Lake Shore also lost a quarter dollar at 27.25. Teck Hughes and Amulet each sold down 12 cents. Bidgood lost seven and point losses occurred in Barry Hollinger, Crown Reserve, Dominion Kirkland, and Laval Quebec. Amity Copper was a quiet but firm feature with a two-point gain at 39½.

SNYDER-GRAY APPEAL BEGINS

Governor Told Mrs. Snyder Suffered Sunstroke While a Child.

NOT RESPONSIBLE.

ALBANY, N.Y., January 5 (Canadian Press). — The last fight for the lives of Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of the woman's husband, Albert Snyder, opened before Governor Smith at the State House to-day. A sunstroke, suffered as a little girl, so affected Mrs. Snyder's mind when she grew up, Edgar Hazelton, her chief counsel, told the Governor, that she lost her sense of responsibility, and so could not help killing her husband.

JURY FAVORS SUPERVISION

Would License Rooming Houses and Control Sale of Wood Alcohol.

IN WINNIPEG CASE.

WINNIPEG, January 5 (Canadian Press). — Rigid inspection of all rooming houses, the licensing of rooming apartments ,and strict supervision of the sale of methyl-hydrate in drug stores were among the recommendations of the coroner's jury which last night investigated the death of Timothy Curran, one of the eleven victims of a "wood alcohol" orgy in Winnipeg Chinatown on December 27. Curran was a member of a party at Coronation Block, a rooming apartment frequented by the down an out of the city.

The jury found that methyl-hydrate caused Curran's death. Thirty witnesses, including a number of friends of the victims who live in the ramshackle Chinatown apartment, testified at the inquest.

CUSTOMS REPORT IS STILL PRIVATE

Will Not Be Made Public Until Submitted to the House.

OTTAWA, Jan. 5 (Canadian Press) W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue, said today that the report of the Royal Commission on Customs will not be made public before Parliament meets. It will be tabled in the House of Commons. The report was made by the Commission after an exhaustive investigation which covered the whole Dominion, included a visit to Washington, and occupied about eight months. Recommendations for general tightening up of the customs service, modification and rigid enforcement of the terms of the anti-smuggling treaty, improvement of the appraisal system, reduction in the number of ports where goods may be entered into the Dominion, etc., are expected in the report, which will probably be tabled shortly after the members gather here.

U.S. GRAIN GROWERS WANT LOWER RATE

Resolution Brought Into Senate To Enable Them To Meet Canadian Competition.

WASHINGTON, January 5 (Canadian Press).—A resolution intended to bring about a reduction of the freight rates on grain and grain products exported from the United States in order that the United States grain growers and milling interests may be placed in a better position to meet Canadian competition, was introduced by Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas.

WORK BEGUN ON BREWERY

Peterborough Brewing Company To Operate Temporarily at Calcutt Plant.

EXPERT IN CHARGE.

George C. Wiedenmayer, of Newark New Jersey, one of the best-known brewmasters of the United States, is in the city at present supervising the cleaning up of the old Calcutt brewery plant for the installation of brewing equipment and ale will be brewed within six weeks. Work will start shortly upon the new plant of the Peterborough Brewery Company and when that is completed operations will be transferred to that building according to W. L. Doyle, general manager.

Mr. Wiedenmayer was formerly general manager of the Wiedenmayer Brewing Company of Newark, which was founded by his grandfather, Christopher Wiedenmayer, over a hundred years ago. The firm was famous for the Wiedenmayer Rhenbrew beer. Mr. Wiedenmayer is a graduate of the United States Brewers' Academy in New York and of the Worms Academy Bavaria. After completing his course of study at these schools he worked for a time in various large breweries in Europe and the United States before taking over the management of his father's business.

Mr. Wiedenmayer is returning to Newark on Monday to obtain machinery and equipment for fitting up the Calcutt plant on Burnham St. He came here as the representative of a group of capitalists who were considering investing in the firm and remained to supervise the opening work.

Mr. Doyle advises the Examiner that the principal product of the plant will be an old stock ale, to be marketed under the name of Calcutt's Old Trent Ale. He and Mr. Cook are both enthusiastic over the prospects of immediate action, and are confident of the success of the company.

RADIO PROGRAMS

CHANGES IN PERSONNEL AT CKNC.

Station CKNC, the Eveready Battery Station owned and operated by the Canadan National Carbon Co., Ltd., Toronto, for a number of years, has undergone during the past few months a number of changes in personnel.

Up until the first of May this station was under the direct control of Mr. R. H. Combs, who on May 1st severed his connection with the Canadian National Carbon Co. Ltd., and therefore with CKNC. The broadcasting activities of the company were, on and after that date, made a definite department of the sales organization under the control of Mr. Alex. MacKenzie, General Sales Manager. Mr. Ewart Greig, Service Manager of the company, was appointed director of the station and occupies that position to-day. Mr. Chas. E. Bodley, who has been associated with the Eveready Battery Station CKNC for a number of years, resigned his position on December 15th and Mr. Geoffrey Waddington has been appointed musical director of the station, and he will be assisted in this work by Mr. Ernest Dainty and Mr. Samuel Hersenhoren.

Mr. Waddington is organizing three entirely new musical units—an Eveready Dance Band which we are assured will be one of the best in the city of Toronto, an Eveready Salon Orchestra and the Eveready Novelty Orchestra for Monday night programs. These two orchestras will be a type never before heard over a Canadan radio station, and music lovers and radio listeners are promised a rare treat when these two orchestras are heard on the air for the first time early in January 1928. The announcing at Station CKNC will remain in the very capable hands of Mr. Ed. Stafford. Plans now completed contemplate musical and vocal programs of the very highest order for 1928, assuring the maintenance of CKNC's splendid position in the broadcasting activities of Toronto.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

That cold may turn into "Flu", Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

Rub Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster; does the work without blister.

Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

ALL SAINTS' MEN RE-ELECT OFFICERS

C. Wiggins Again President — Treasurer's Report Encouraging.

The annual meeting of All Saints' Men's Club was held on Tuesday evening. There was a good attendance of members and a spirit of enthusiasm prevailed.

The officers, C. Wiggins, president, James Runnett, vice-president, and C. H. Cheverill secretary-treasurer, were re-elected to office for the ensuing year.

The club has recently completed a very successful bowling tournament of mixed doubles, and it was decided to commence another directly after the holiday season is over, this however, taking the form of mixed singles.

The financial statement read by the treasurer showed a substantial balance on the right side of the ledger.

The president thanked the members for the honor again conferred upon him. He asked for the co-operation of the members during the coming year, and enumerated several improvements, etc., he had in mind to be carried out during the coming summer.

The club now has a membership of over sixty, including twenty or more ladies, who are affiliated with the men's club.

The grand old game of bowling is carried on during the summer on the church lawn.

When the blasts of winter render it impossible to bowl outside carpet bowling is carried on with equal zest in the parish hall all through the winter months. Besides bowling the members also hold social evenings every Friday during the winter.

PRESENTATIONS MARK CHRISTMAS

Tuxis Boys, Chancel Guild, and Choir Offer Gifts To Members.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 3.—On Christmas morning the boys of the Katchewanookan Tuxis Square gave a special treat in the shape of candies and oranges to the children of the Regent Street Sunday School.

Following the distribution of the goodies, Mr. Ted Leonard stepped forward and read the following address to the leader and organizer of the Square, A. B. Burrows:

Dear Friend: The members of your Tuxis group have taken this opportunity of expressing to you its appreciation of your leadership, and of your interest in the boys' work of the church. You have shown yourself to be our friend in so many ways, and you have remembered us on every Christmas occasion, and so it is little wonder that we want to express our good wishes and our Christmas greetings.

Your work amongst us hasn't always been of the easiest and most encouraging type, but still you have always been pleasant, and many times you have attempted to hide the real worry and the disappointment you must have felt in a meeting. But through it all you have won the respect and admiration of the fellows who can never forget your cheerful spirit and your kindly manner.

As a slight token of your love and esteem we ask you to accept this Masonic ring, and we trust that you will find as much pleasure in wearing it as that afforded us in presenting it to you. As the circle knows no end, even so we hope that your peace and prosperity may be during the year of nineteen hundred and twenty-eight.

Signed on behalf of the boys,
N. Lemay,
E. Leonard,
K. Kemp,
H. Sherin.

Mr. Burrows was very much surprised by the presentation, of which not the slightest inkling had reached him, but he thanked the boys in a gracefully worded speech, assuring them of his appreciation of the gift and of his pleasure in the work.

Miss Hampton Honored.

Miss Louise Hampton, who for the past seven years has taken entire charge of the chancel work of St. John's Church, devoting both time and energy and reverent care and to its preparation for the Holy Communion, was presented with a wrist watch by the members of St. John's Chancel Guild on Christmas Eve. The gift was conveyed to Miss Hampton's home with the following note accompanying it.

Dear Miss Hampton: The members of the Chancel Guild of St. John's Church wish at this Christmas season to express to you their sincere gratitude for the manner in which you have cared for the chancel and the altar.

We know that to you the task was pleasant as it was a service to our Lord and that the care of His altar is a sacred task, lovingly and reverently performed, with no thought of reward save at the end, His words of commendation when you will hear His voice saying, "Well done, you have loved much and served well."

We have appreciated your service as fellow members of our beloved mother church and at this Christmas season we wish to give you a small remembrance as a reminder of our appreciation and our regard for you. We hope you will accept it with our best wishes for a happy Christmas and a bright New Year.

On behalf of the Chancel Guild,
Very sincerely yours,
Blanche Graham, Sec.

Gift to Organist.

Following the usual weekly practice of the Regent Street choir on Friday evening, December 23, A. E. Higgins spoke briefly of the closing year with its associations and expressed a feeling of personal pleasure in the harmonious relations existing, referring to the splendid service rendered both church and choir by their faithful and efficient organist, Mrs. H. E. Moore.

Miss Frances Fairbairn then read the following address and Mrs. Theodore Crawford presented her with a handsome wicker fern stand:

Dear Mrs. Moore: It makes our choir very happy to be able to show our gratitude for, and our apprection of your constant help and cheerful willingness at all times, and we take this as an appropriate occasion to show it in some tangible way.

Will you accept this gift from all of us, and with it the sincere thanks and good wishes of your fellow choir members. We wish you and your family a very merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year, and hope that we may all be associated with you for many years as pleasant as the one that is almost passed.

Signed on behalf of the Regent Street choir,
Frances Fairbairn, Sec.-Treas.

It is customary on these occasions to report that the recipient of a gift was taken by surprise, but as the choir members said on this occasion the rather awkward phrase was literally true for Mrs. Moore had not the faintest suspicion and the gift arrived as a genuine surprise. Speechless for a few minutes, Mrs. Moore rallied to the happy occasion and thanked her friends for their remembrance. To her also the association had been pleasant and the members of the Regent Street choir will ever be numbered among her most esteemed friends.

There were Christmas services in all the village churches on Sunday last with special music.

In St. John's Church there were two celebrations of Holy Communion, one at 8 a.m. and a choral celebration at 11 a.m. In the evening a carol service was held with solo parts taken by Mrs. H. G. FitzGerald, Mrs. Osborne, Miss F. Atwood, Miss Winnie Payne, Dr. Lingwood, Mr. F. Kendall, and Mr. R. Murduff.

Mrs. A. B. Burrows sang the solo parts in "Oh Thou That Tellest," by Handel, in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterborough, on Sunday evening, December 25.

W. H. Casement, Lakefield's genial postmaster, has just missed one Christmas in fifty-three years in being in the thick of the Christmas mail rush. Three years ago he was ill in Toronto and that is the only year he has missed. This is probably a unique record.

The Lakefield branch, No. 77, of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, is holding a dance and card party in the Memorial Hall on Tuesday evening, January 3. They are planning a real community party with both round and square dancing and progressive euchre for those who don't care for dancing. There will be prizes for cards and also several prizes for dancing. A radio set valued at $200 complete will be drawn for during the evening.

"Skinny," Rundown Folks Gain Weight

Get new weight and strength with YEAST and IRON

Pleasant to take—Quick results—or pay nothing

Why put up with your skinny figure? Why be hollow-cheeked, thin legged, flat-chested, lacking in strength and vitality, when IRONIZED YEAST can put pounds of graceful flesh on your bones, fill you with energy and make your cheeks glow with healthy color?

It's the Yeast That Builds Weight

*IRONIZED YEAST is two tonics in one—*weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial.

This yeast is treated with iron taken from fresh vegetables—spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it most effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building values of Yeast. By this formula IRONIZED YEAST gives you results in half the time required by yeast and iron taken separately.

Go to your druggist, get IRONIZED YEAST and begin to enjoy the amazing health benefits at once. Just a single course treatment gives you pounds of solid flesh (not fat), the blood is cleared of impurities and you get a nice, clear, healthy skin. IRONIZED YEAST comes only in pleasant-tasting tablet form—60 to a bottle. Safe for everybody. Does not upset the stomach or cause gas or bloating.

First treatment gives results—or no money

Get IRONIZED YEAST now. If not satisfied with quick results, money for one bottle will be promptly refunded. If inconvenient to buy from the druggist, send $1.25 to CANADIAN IRONIZED YEAST CO., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

That cold may turn into "Flu", Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

Rub Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster; does the work without blister.

Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

District Churches

CAMPBELLFORD CHURCHES

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 5.—The local churches were all well attended at both services Sunday, when special music and sermons ushered in the new year in a very fitting manner. At St. Andrew's church in the morning, besides the anthem by the choir, Miss Emma Meiklejohn sang, Hark, Hark, My Soul," by Ernest Newton. The Rev. James Grier's sermon was in keeping with the season. The members of the congregation were pleased that he was able to take charge of the services. Mr. Grier has been indisposed during the week due to a throat condition.

In St. John's church, there was also special music in the form of anthems and duets. In the evening, as well as the regular anthem, a male quartette sang very acceptably. As topics for his sermons, the Rev. Ernest Harston selected for the morning, Driving Out Imps of Fear," and for the evening, The Master-Blunderer."

At Christ Church, the Rev. N. Clarke Wallace occupied the pulpit at both services. In the evening his text was taken from the Epistle to the Ephesians, chapter 5 and the 16th verse, Redeeming the time." Every prudent business man, said Mr. Wallace, sets aside a certain time for stock taking. But he did not think that this should be a matter for business men only. He thought everyman should have a time for taking stock of himself and of his life work, and the end of the year was as good a time as any. At such a solemn time, everyone ought to look back over the past years of his life and see just what he has accomplished. In the end we will all be accountable as stewards of God, and ought to have our reckoning ready.

One of the predominant thoughts at this season of the year is the speed with which time flies. To look back over the past year seems such a short time. Even Job, in his time, realized the swiftness of the passing of time. He said that his days were swifter than a weaver's shuttle, and in those words a most important truth. All men are weavers in the great workshop of the world. Regardless of our age, class or occupation, we are all weaving something and are making our futures after a definite pattern. Like the weaver, we stand on one side of time and cannot see into the future. The weaver stands on one side of his machine and cannot see the pattern of his cloth. Could some of us see the pattern of the cloth" we are weaving, it would be a sorry sight for us. But it is seen by others, and some day we will see it ourselves. We should not forget that every day adds something to the pattern of our weaving. We are working for either temporal advantages or we are making something which will be eternal. Which of these depends on our natures. Those who are selfish or are hypocrites, adulterers, murderers, or who have hatred in their hearts or are uncharitable or malicious are weaving a hideously gruesome pattern from which they will some day start back in horror.

The time will come when each of us must look on our work of the past and examine the webs from which our pattern has been woven. We will be able to inspect it from the other side of the loom. Now we ought to ask ourselves the question, What sort of work have we been weaving?" For what we weave we shall surely find again. We are told that Our works do follow us." We can not undo the pattern we have already woven. But we can repent and begin another pattern of less gruesome design. The key to a happy life is to be always busy and never to forget that all is The Master's business."

When St. Boniface landed in England, he brought the gospel in one hand and a carpenter's rule in the other. While he taught men to build good houses, he led them to live good lives. So should we live throughout the coming year. The human heart is like a millstone. Put wheat under it and it grinds it to flour. But without the wheat, it is itself that wears away. Many a selfish life is thus grinding itself away without any high objective or noble ideal.

Now is the time to ascertain what is our great objective in life and how we are to attain it. Can we look back on the past year and feel that we have really striven to accomplish something worth while. Have we appreciated and used the means of grace which God has given us? Have we had a due sense of all his mercies and have we expressed our thanksgiving in fitting manner?

These are some of the questions which we should ask ourselves, and if we can not answer them satisfactorily, we should resolve to make 1928 a more profitable year. Let us decide that this year shall bring some good work to perfection. Let us banish selfishness and substitute sacrifice.

UNITED W.M.S. HOLDS ELECTION

St. John's Branch, Campbellford, Holds Annual Business Meeting.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 5. — The annual meeting and election of officers of the W.M.S. of Saint John's United Church took place on Tuesday afternoon in the basement of the church. The meeting was opened with a hymn and the Lord's Prayer in unison. Mrs. James Sanders read the Scripture, the 36th Psalm.

After the regular business of the meeting had been disposed of, the election of officers took place. These resulted in Mrs. William Ashton being appointed to the president's chair. The four vice-presidents are Mrs. P. B. Nelson, Mrs. George Oliver, Mrs. J. P. Haig, and Mrs. E. H. Greig, in the order named. The recording secretary is Mrs. A. D. Bennet; the corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. A. Kingston; treasurer, Mrs. D. W. Douglas. The auditors for the coming year are Mrs. J. H. Bell and Mrs. Nell Thompson. Mrs. Robert Scott was appointed pianist. Mrs. J. P. Haig was also appointed to a second office, strangers' secretary, with a committee consisting of Mrs. Robert Scott, Mrs. Thomas Rowe, and Mrs. C. W. Palliser. The meeting closed with a prayer by Mrs. J. P. Haig.

The reports of the committees are not yet complete as the church books are not yet closed and all the fees have not yet been received. The society has reached its apportionment for the year, and this money will be forwarded at once to the head quarters of the society.

There was not as large an attendance as had been expected at the meeting, but the severe weather is no doubt responsible for this unfortunate condition. There will be a special meeting of the society before the next regular meeting day, Tuesday, February 7th.

In many English towns and villages free beer is distributed on various anniversaries in accordance with the wills of jovial testators.

COUGHS AND COLDS DREADED BY MOTHERS

What a weight of responsibility rests on the mother of the family during the cold weather season. In every cough and cold she seems to hear the warning of serious developments. She dreads croup, bronchitis, pneumonia and consumption and realizes that these are the natural results of neglected colds.

But Dr. Chase has provided a prompt relief for coughs and colds and a preventive of more serious ailments of throat and lungs, in his Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

This medicine is so well-known that only a reminder is necessary to most people to recall its effectiveness in relieving croup, bronchitis, asthma and all forms of throat and bronchial troubles.

WIRE SERVICES NOW RESTORED

Havoc Due By Sunday's Storm in Eastern Quebec Almost Repaired.

HIGHWAYS BLOCKED.

MONTREAL, Jan. 5.—(Canadian Press).— Telegraph and telephone services between Montreal, Three Rivers, Quebec, and other points in the eastern part of the Province of Quebec, has been restored. The work of repairing the havoc caused by the severe wind storm which on Sunday night laid low over a thousand poles and caused trees to fall on numerous wires, bringing down lines and blocking highways, was being continued and although it will take some time to fully reconstruct the damaged lines normal conditions practically prevailed today as far as the transmission of business over public utilities was concerned. The highways were being cleared of wire entanglements and vehicular traffic encountered only occasional delays.

NURSING STUDENT RECEIVES PRESENTS

Miss Nellie McNevan Leaves Keene To Enter Training Hospital.

A very pleasant time was spent at the home of Mrs. David McNevan on Tuesday evening, December 27, when about fifty friends and neighbors gathered to honor and bid farewell to her granddaughter, Miss Nellie Stewart, who left the following morning to enter as nurse-in-training in the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay. During the evening the following address was read:

"Dear Nellie:

"We, your friends and neighbors, are here this evening for several reasons.

"One reason, and possibly the most important one, is to wish you health, happiness and success in your future work. We feel, knowing you as we do, that our wish will be fulfilled. We have not known you these years without becoming acquainted with your friendliness, cheerfulness, and lovingness; also your ability and 'stick-to-itness' in any line of work you have undertaken.

"One other reason for being with you this evening is to present you these gifts as a remembrance and also as a token of our esteem and respect.

"Again wishing you every success, we are

"Your friends and well-wishers."

Miss Stewart was presented with a suit-case, and ivory manicure set and clothes brush and a sum of money. She was very much surprised but she thanked her friends for their thoughtfulness and good wishes. Lunch was served by the ladies and a social time enjoyed by all.

On Sunday morning, December 25, Miss Stewart was presented with a fountain pen and an address by her Sunday school class in the Keene United church.

"Dear Nellie:

We, the members of your Sunday school class, have learned that you are leaving us, and we wish to take this opportunity of extending to you, our sincerest good wishes for success in the work upon which you are about to enter.

"We are sorry that you are leaving us, but we know you will be loved wherever you go. We feel that we cannot let you go away without remembering you in some little way, and so we ask you to accept this small remembrance with our heartiest good wishes for a bright and happy future, and hope it will serve to call to your memory the many worthwhile hours we have spent together in this little corner.

"Signed on behalf of the Sunday school class."

Emperor Nero did not play a fiddle while Rome burned. The instrument was not known until about fifteen centuries after Nero's time. Historians believe he played a lyre if he played anything at all.

ACCIDENT SOLVES ORILLIA MYSTERY

Men Believed Drowned Last May in Motor Crash in Texas Town.

ORILLIA, Ont., Jan. 5.—Word received from Robston, Texas, has solved the mystery of the disappearance of two Orillia men believed drowned on Georgian Bay last May. A wire to J. F. Breckton announces that his son, Keble Breckton has been injured in a motor accident, while his companion, Sidney Cane, had succumbed to his injuries.

The men disappeared while fishing on Georgian Bay on May 11. Three days later their upturned boat was found near Port McNicoll. Nothing has been heard since, until the wire announcing the accident.

Cane was a married man with a wife and child in Orillia. Breckton is single.

According to the story told by Breckton to his father, the couple were picked up by a rum runner bound for the States when their boat capsized. Breckton was dazed for several days.

After they landed in the States, they decided to stay there and made their way to Robston, where they have resided since. Both were well provided with funds.

While the men were generally believed dead, evident preparations of Cane for a long absence when he left Orillia for Midland on May 10 gave credence to the theory that the men had vanished voluntarily. Provincial police worked for many days to clear up the mystery.

James Smith, of the Ontario Hospital here, was notified of his brother-in-law's death. Burial will take place in Texas. Mrs. Cane left some weeks ago for Hamilton to train as a nurse.

According to word received by Mr. Breckton, the men were preparing to return home when the accident happened. Breckton is not seriously injured.

Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Jan. 5.—The first curling of the season was enjoyed on Christmas Monday, the ice being in good shape, and devotees of the 'roarin' game' enthusiastic over the opportunity to enjoy their favorite winter's sport once more.

The many friends of Rev. Canon Allen will be glad to learn that his health is improving, though he has been unable to take his parochial work for some time, and apparently it will be some weeks yet, at least, before any active duties can be resumed.

Mr. F. W. Pendrie, and Mrs. W. Archer were guests of Mr. T. W. and Miss E. McIndoo, Fairmount, for Christmas. Mr. M. McIndoo of Toronto, was also home for the holiday.

Dr. and Mrs. N. H. Young spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Baxter, Kingston.

Miss Isabelle Hislop, of Stratford, a cousin of Mrs. (Dr.) Alvin Gray, spent Christmas the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wentworth Gray. The many friends of Dr. and Mrs. Gray will be glad to learn that they are enjoying their work at Haifa, Palestine, Dr. Gray being the head of the Anglican mission hospital there. Having remained in Jerusalem until they had learned the language, Dr. and Mrs. Gray have been for some two or three months at Haifa, and the hospital has recently been considerably renovated and improved under their supervision, while everything is progressing most favorably in connection with the work.

Mr. Will Pitt of Toronto spent the Christmas week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pitt.

Miss Charlotte Luxon, of the Continuation school staff at Severn, is spending the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Luxon.

Miss Francis Turner, student at Toronto University, is spending the Christmas holidays with her parents, Dr. H. A. and Mrs. Turner.

Miss Gertrude Spence of Malton is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Spence, for the Christmas holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Spence, and daughters, Misses Elsie and Gertrude, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hubbeard, Zion Line, for the Christmas family gathering on Monday.

Miss Mabe McCarthy of Stirling is spending the holiday week with her mother, Mrs. E. H. Barnes.

Rev. John and Mrs. Riddell spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Harper, Toronto

Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilkinson were guests of her sister, Mrs. C. Raines, Peterborough, for the Christmas family gathering on Monday.

Dr. B. C. Whyte of Battle Creek, Michigan, is spending the Christmas holidays in town the guest of his mother, Mrs. E. Whyte, and of Reeve W. T. and Miss Margaret Wood. Mrs. Whyte and two children, Nancy and Geoffrey, came last week and are with her brother and sister, Mr. W. T. and Miss Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Armstrong of Toronto were in town for the Christmas week end, and with her mother, Mrs. S. Eakins, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Dawson on Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Winslow and their family, Clare, Audrey, and Allen, were guests of Rev. Canon and Mrs. Allen at the rectory on Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hill, and baby boy, of London, are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorndyke, for the holiday week. Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe and baby, of Peterboro, joined the family gathering for Christmas.

Councillor and Mrs. G. W. Sayles had a large family gathering for Christmas Day, the guests including Mr. Harry Doxsee, of Schenectady, N.Y., Mrs. Sayles' eldest brother who is making his first visit to Canada in eighteen years; her mother, Mrs. R. Doxsee, who has been enjoying an extended stay with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Stenson, at Kirkland Lake; Mrs. Stenson was also here, and Mr. Walter Sayles, who has a good position in Kirkland Lake since last summer; Mrs. McAllister and daughter, Aileen, of Marysville; Misses Marjorie and Lila McAllister, and Mr. J. McAllister, of Toronto; Mrs. E. Kenyon of Peterborough, and Miss Zeta Kenyon, of Toronto. Miss Marjorie Sayles of Peterborough, was also home for the holiday.

WAS VERY WEAK NERVOUS AND MELANCHOLY

Mrs. Geo. McKenzie, Campbellford, Ont., writes:—"A short time ago I was troubled very bady with my heart and nerves, the cause of it, I think, was my going through the change of life.

"I was very weak and melancholy, and so nervous I could hardly bear to hear a clock ticking, and I did not sleep well.

"I was advised to try MILBURN'S HEART NERVE PILLS so I sent at once for a box; took them and got another, and before they were all gone I felt good, my nerves are fine, I do not mind any noise, and I can sleep well. I cannot recommend them too highly to those suffering as I did."

MARINES PREPARE FOR BIG OFFENSIVE

Getting Landing Field Ready So Planes Can Bring in Supplies.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 5.—(Canadian Press).—The garrison of United States marines at Quilali turned its effort yesterday toward the establishment of an effective base for an offensive against the rebel General Augustino Sandino.

Preparations will be rushed on a landing field to save the long mule-back trip now necessary to Ocotal, where the nearest air field is situated. Large quantities of ammunition, including hand grenades, bombs, and machine guns, will be sent in a large transport plane from Managua to Quilali when the landing field is ready.

Marines and national guardsmen will be consolidated for the offensive against Sandino when additional supplies arrive. With the promise of a thousand more marines from the United States, Col. Gulick, marine commander, is hopeful of pushing the campaign against the rebels to a successful termination.

REINFORCEMENTS ON WAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(Canadian Press).—As plans went forward yesterday for rushing a thousand additional marines to Nicaragua to reinforce the 1400 now on the ground, the navy department announced that over 200 more marines and several hundred blue jackets either were on the scene or proceeding to the troubled country to be used if need arose. The cruiser Rochester, flagship of the United States fleet in Central American waters and the Tulsa are on the way from Balboa to Corinto with reinforcements. The Denver is already at Puerto Canezas, former seat of the Sacasa Liberal government, with 14 officers, 280 blue jackets, and 58 marines.

Flowers From Queen Adorn Dancer's Bier

PARIS, Jan. 5.—(Canadian Press).—A great wreath of roses and lilacs from Queen Marie and one from former Crown Prince Carol were among the mass of flowers at the bier of Loie Fuller, famous dancer, at the cremation ceremony yesterday. Miss Fuller died on Monday from pneumonia. Prince Carol's tribute was tied with a ribbon of the Rumanian colors inscribed "To a great friend of my country."

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WHIPPET PRICES EQUAL TO FORD

was attended by F. J. Duffus, the company was taken over the plant. A $300,000 body-building area is now approaching completion, and additions have been made to the mechanical plant.

Simultaneous announcements of the new prices were made yesterday at Toledo, Ohio, Toronto, Montreal, Moncton, N.B., Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Vancouver. Mr. Willys personally made the announcement at Toledo.

Details of the improved Whippet which were made public yesterday reveal new body types, added equipment and a wider range of colors. The added equipment includes an automatic windshield wiper, rear vision mirror ,and a combination rear driving light and stop light, which, it is claimed, will make this car the most fully equipped car now built.

In announcing the new departures, Mr. Russell said that the Whippet will be the only light car on the market which will be priced at a figure close enough to the lowest now made on any car ,to place it in a directly competitive price position.

The Ford, Mr. Russell said, is the only car which is as largely made in Canada as is the Whippet. He also pointed out that Willys-Overland exports are in excess of the domestic sales. "We export an average of about 1,000 cars a month," he said.

The four-door Whippet Sedan was cut $160 and the list price on this model which will be a leader in the present Whippet line is $760. The two-door Sedan is priced at $695, which is a reduction of $100 over the former price. The coupe is priced at $695, which represents a cut of $100. The Roadser and the Touring models are now $630 and $595 respectively, the cuts being $200 on the Touring and $260 on the Roadster. The Roadster with Rumble Seat is $55 extra.

The Cabriolet Coupe on which the present list price is lower than on the corresponding Ford model is now priced at $705—a reduction of $245 from the former price. This popular model was recently introduced by the Willy-Overland.

The chassis is now priced at $460 which represents a cut of $65.00.

The Whippet Six prices have been correspondingly reduced and this model to-day offers exceptionally strong competition to all low priced cars in the light six field.

The two-door Sedan is $895; Four-door Sedan $965; Coupe $895; Convertible Coupe $965; Landau $1,000; Roadster $850; Touring $735.

"These," said Mr. Russell, "are the lowest prices ever made by Willy-Overland on any cars in the low priced or light six field and bring this manufacturer into direct price competition with the lowest priced cars for the first time since either the Whippet Four or Whippet Six were put into production.

"The perfected Whippet Four at the new price offers a new type of body with many improvements, new equipment including automatic windshield wiper rear vision mirror and combination stop light and rear driving light"

New colors are offered and the bodies have been improved in finish.

Mechanical features include a gasoline tank at the rear with vacuum feed, four wheel brakes larger than those used on any other light car, semi-elliptic springs with snubbers, full pressure lubrication, extra heavy crankshaft, single plate, dry disc clutch, long connecting rods to eliminate side thrust at high motor speeds and the use of a banjo type single piece pressed steel rear anxle housing.

Oversize balloon tires with a greater diameter than those used on any other light car, are standard equipment; quality construction equivalent to that of the highest priced cars has been maintained.

Present production schedules at the Willys-Overland factory are greater than those on any other light car in the same price range and immediate deliveries are being made at all dealer points.

Factory capacity is given at 2,000 chassis a day with all plants in shape to go immediately into full production schedules.

Regarding the new prices Mr. Russell said: "These are not to be construed as indicating a price war. They have been under consideration for several months and all manufacturing plans at the Willys-Overland factories have been made with this present situation in mind.

"In Toronto we have built large additions to our factories which includes a new body building plant and two assembly plants costing approximately half a million dollars.

"The addition of these plants has enabled us to increase our daily output between 50 and 75 p.c.

"The entire factory has also been practically re-tooled which has greatly increased the efficiency of the men employed.

"To-day I believe we have one of the very best automobile manufacturing plants to be found in Canada," stated Mr. Russell.

Mr. Russell further stated that similar progress had been made at the Toledo and Pontiac plants. At Toledo they have built a new body plant and a new forge shop, while at Pontiac numerous changes have been completed in readiness for the anticipated large increase in Willys-Overland business in 1928.

"Important savings have been made in production costs, costs which are usually put into the price of a car to cover service and replacement expense have been greatly reduced because of the trouble-free service which the Whippet has given.

"The mechanical principles of the Whippet, established eighteen months ago remain unchanged and experimental costs have been eliminated. Sales have exceeded our original estimates, effecting savings through increased production.

"All these savings are being passed on to the buyer in the new prices.

"We have in no manner tried to reach lower prices set by other manufacturers. We have only put the price of the Whippet at the new low level made possible by our manufacturing program.

"The power plant in the Whippet is the same one as that which set a fuel economy record of 43.28 miles to the gallon of gasoline in a run made between Los Angeles and New York, covering 3,559 miles and officially observed by the A.A.A. and which set a speed record of 71.6 miles an hour for 50 miles, officially observed on the Rockingham Park Speedway at Salem, New Hampshire.

"With this price move the Whippet definitely steps into a comparatively price position in the low priced field which has never before been occupied by any other car in relation to Ford. It enters the position with all plants ready to go into maximum production and the largest manufacturing schedule in the history of the company in full swing."

Mr. Russell stated that in every detail of material and production expense, Willys-Overland now stands on an equal basis with any manufacturer in the field. Comment in the industry reflecting on the new Whippet prices and the position of the company as its relates to deliveries indicate that the present move and the full preparations which have marked the announcement are of deep significance in the light car field.

It is cited that the Whippet is a proved product with 150,000 already in service, with all experimental work completed and with an outstanding record for satisfaction afforded owners.

Mr. Willys was quoted as saying: "Manufacturing economies which have been worked out in the Willys-Overland plant have put the company in a position to meet any price move which may be made by any manufacturer. There can be no monopoly in the light car field. Our costs for materials, productive labor and our manufacturing overhead are as low as those of any manufacturer in the industry. The quality of the Whippet will be maintained in every detail of material, design and workmanship, and it will be even better equipped and better looking than in the past.

"The new prices which will be put on these cars will not be dependent on any increase in the present production. Increased sales as a result of the new prices will serve materially to increase the earnings of the company."

Shipments on the Whippet have been under way for several days and cars will be available for delivery on January 6.

GOLDEN WEDDING DAY CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eggleton Married Fifty Years Jan. 1.

STIRLING, Jan. 5.—On Sunday, January 1st, a joyous day was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eggleton, Mill Street East, the occasion being the fiftieth anniversary of the day when Robert Eggleton pledged his troth to Violet Carr. They were married in Stirling on January 1st, 1878, by the late Rev. F. M. Finn, who was then the pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Circuit. To this union were born five sons and five daughters, all of whom are living and were present at the festive occasion, as well as twenty-two grandchildren. The Rev. A. N. Reid and his mother, of the Presbyterian manse, were also present. A sumptuous dinner was spread for the occasion, the tables being suitably decorated, the crowning feature being a beautiful wedding cake. Mr. and Mrs. Eggleton are members of St. Andrew's Church, he being one of the elders as well as superintendent of the Sunday School. Mr. Eggleton and his four sons are carpenter contractors, and do a large business in this section. The many friends of the family wish them many more years of happiness.

OBITUARY

THOMAS WHIBBS.

DOURO, January 5. — Of an exceptionally jovial and cheerful disposition, few people have ever passed away in the township whose passing was more deeply regretted than was that of Thomas Whibbs. His wife predeceased him some years ago. Surviving him are a family of two daughters and five sons—Mrs. Mary Hogan and Mrs. John Ryan, Michael, Leo, Joseph, Thomas of Douro, and George of Sidley, Sask., three brothers, Augustus of Indian River, John of Campbellford, and Rev. G. Whibbs of Montreal.

The funeral took place on Tuesday morning at 9.30 o'clock to St. Joseph's Church and Cemetery. Rev. J. McGuire sang the requiem mass. The pall-bearers were the four sons, Leo, Michael, Thomas, and Joseph and two sons-in-law, John Ryan of Douro and Frank Young of Ennismore.

Those from a distance who attended were: Messrs. Michael and Edward Sullivan, James Killen and son John, Leo Kearns, John Killen and wife, Edward Crough and wife, Mr. Mrs. Peter Galvin, all of Ennismore, Dennis O'Leary of Downeyville, Jas. O'Keefe and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Scoliard, John Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Guerin and daughter, all of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maloney, Messrs. Frederick, Joseph, and Hugh Nolan, Mrs. Harry Armstrong, Miss Josie Maloney, etc., of Lakefield, and Mr. Thomas Whibbs of Toronto, Rev. Father Galvin of Downeyville and Rev. G. Whibbs of Montreal.

ALEXANDER MATCHETT.

CAVAN, Jan. 5. — Mr. Richard Matchett, Cavan, has received word of the death of his uncle, Mr. T. Alexander (Sandy) Matchett, on Dec. 16, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Archie McLachlan Treherne Manitoba.

Mr. Matchett was 86 years of age. He was a former resident of Cavan, moving to the west when his children were all at home.

He is survived by three sons, Herbert, Cecil and Wilburt, and two daughters, Mrs. T. Wilson and Mrs. A. McLachlan, all residing in the west. He is also survived by one brother, Mr. Abraham Matchett, of St. Paul's, U.S.A., and two sisters, Mrs. R. Staples, and Mrs. T. Johnson of Bethany.

WILLIAM FRANCIS DUNK.

CAMPBELLFORD, January 5. — Word was received here yesterday of the death of William Francis Dunk, of Maywood, Illinois. The late Mr. Dunk was born on a farm near Crow Bay here ,and for some years has been a resident in the State of Illinois. He was in his fifty-fifth year, and is survived by his widow and three sons, Carmen, Howard, and Ellwyn, all of Maywood. The funeral will take place on Friday of this week from his residence there, and interment will be made in a Chicago cemetery.

GEORGE HENRY HENDY.

Campbellford, Jan. 5. — The many friends of the late George Henry Hendy were shocked to hear of his death about noon yesterday. The late Mr. Hendy had been seriously ill with pneumonia for some time and scant hope was held out for his recovery during the last few days. He was in his 45th year, and was by occupation a farmer and dairy man. Born in Seymour west, the son of the late Charles and Ellen Hendy, he had followed his occupation throughout his lifetime, only ten years ago having purchased the farm where his family now reside. Beside his widow the late Mr. Hendy is survived by a son and two daughters, all living at home. The funeral service will take place from his late residence on Friday afternoon at two-thirty and will be conducted by the Rev. James Grier. Interment will be made in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 5.—Gerald Connor and Ralph Stanbury returned to Toronto yesterday afternoon to continue their courses at the University. Gerald is completing his final year in the faculty of applied science and Ralph his final year in the faculty of medicine.

A. D. Dickson returned to resume his duties with the Coniagas Mining Company at Cobalt. For some time he has been on their field staff, but expects to be located in the Porcupine area this winter at the Coniarum mine.

Mrs. Richard Bonnycastle and her son Desmond returned to Belleville yesterday after spending the holiday with the parents of her late husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bonnycastle.

Misses Helen and Francis Bonnycastle returned to Peterboro on Tuesday to resume their duties on the staff of the schools there.

Mrs. Vandewater (nee Ruth Diamond), Toronto, and her small son, Stuart, returned to Toronto on Tuesday after spending the holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Diamond, Front Street.

Miss Florence Shannon, R.N., New York, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Diamond for the last few days, is visiting friends in Port Hope. She will return to Campbellford before leaving for New York.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart, retired manager of the local branch of the Standard Bank of Canada, left yesterday for an extended visit to the southern states.

To-night will be the first skating on Davidson's arena, but the formal opening is slated for a future date. The first man to take the ice will be Mr. Fred Dinwoodie, one of the Campbellford Old Boys, and a member of one of the first pioneer families of the district. Although eighty-four years of age, Mr. Dinwoodie still enjoys excellent health, and is active in every respect. His prowess as a sportsman is widely known throughout the district, and the younger generation are very anxious to see how they did it in the "Olden Days." Mr. Dinwoodie will be presented with a season ticket, the first to be issued.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Faith had refused to allow George to come into the hotel. "And you promise that you won't leave this place without letting me know?" George let her go reluctantly.

"I promise," Faith assented hurriedly, impatiently. "Good-bye, George, and thank you. I think you're the best friend I've ever had."

Now she stood at the desk, a bellboy behind her with the bag which George had provided for her. Selma Pruitt's initials were stamped in gold beneath the lock, and the sane part of her tortured brain cautioned her to register under a name which would fit the initials, S. P. She had slipped off her wedding ring before the car had reached Darrow, and it was with a smile of approval, at her own cleverness that she wrote, in a careful backhand, very much unlike her natural, free-flowing, forward-slanting handwriting, the name, "Miss Stella Pringle, Chicago."

"Room with bath?" the clerk repeated affably. "Certainly, Miss Pringle. I can give you a nice room with bath, southern exposure, for five dollars a day, American plan. We have dinner at noon on Sunday, and supper from six to eight. Front, boy! Take Miss Pringle to 507."

Because she never expected to need money again, Faith tipped the boy the thirty-four cents, which, with a dollar bill, had been her entire available cash before George Pruitt had forced the fifty dollars upon her. And when the boy was gone, she locked the door, leaving the key in the lock. Still subconsciously thrusting aside the moment of full realization of her tragedy she looked about the room to which she had come to die.

The plastered walls were tinted a curiously unpleasant green, the color of wilted lettuce. The wide bed, with its thin mattress, was of white enameled iron, with occasional black scars and knobs of winking-bright brass.

There was a small, golden oak writing table, with a slanting top covered with an ink-stained blotter. A sheaf of writing stationery, disfigured with a picture of the hotel, a pen staff with an ink-encrusted pen, an ink well with a small amount of dark-blue fluid, reminded her that she would have to write a farewell note to someone, or her body might remain unidentified for days. But that was silly, of course, she told herself, as she stood fingering the writing materials. George knew where she was. "The body of a young woman who registered as Miss Stella Pringle of Chicago, was discovered this morning in room 507 of the Denham House. The coroner's verdict will undoubtedly be 'death by suicide,' since an empty bottle labeled 'veronal' was found in the bathroom and a glass containing a small amount of the dissolved poison —"

No, no! She couldn't do it that way! It wouldn't be fair to George, who had loved her so unselfishly and who had just risked scandal to help her in her great hour of need.

OLD MASTERS

When lovely woman stoops to folly
And finds too late that men betray—
What charm can soothe her melancholy,
What art can wash her guilt away?

The only art her guilt to cover,
To hide her shame from every eye,
To give repentance to her lover
And wring his bosom, is—to die.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)

FOR FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 1928.

Astrologers read this as rather an uncertain day in planetary direction, although a benefic aspect is strongly active. This is a day under which to proceed with caution, postponing all but necessary business activities.

Bankers and brokers are subject to the most stimulating influences. The stock market will register many sharp fluctuations.

Under this rule of the stars the judgment is believed to be unreliable, the tendency being toward a sanguine view of one's business assets which is not justified.

This is a day in which to pay debts instead of contracting them and any one who is inclined to speculate will regret it.

Thrift again is counseled for all who belong to the great majority which does not possess wealth.

The seers foretell that there will be a contest between democracy and autocracy in which new dictators will attain power.

The women of the world are to have opportunity to test their attitude toward peace, astrologers forecast.

China continues under a planetary direction that gives little promise of a stable government for some time.

India is to make a determined attempt to overthrow the British rule, astrologers foretell, and there is to be great loss of life.

Russia is subject to better planetary direction, it is announced, and the year may gain extended faith in the people.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have rather an uncertain year. Industry not luck should be the dependence.

Children born on this day probably will have many changes in their lives They may be rather restless and uncertain in their aims.

AN EASY WAY TO LOSE FAT

Instead of abnormal exercise or diet they combat a cause of excess fat. They supply an element Nature employs to turn food into fuel and energy. This method was discovered by research men some two decades ago. It has for 20 years been embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. Millions of boxes have been taken and almost every circle shows the results in new beauty, new health and vitality.

The formula comes in every box, also the scientific reasons for results. So users have no fear of harm. Go learn now what Marmola does for excess fat, and why. Your druggist supplies it at $1 per box. Take four tablets daily and watch the change.

A striped blanket coat that provides ample warmth for any of the winter sports.

As a generally useful wrap for all sorts of winter sports none at present is more popular than the hooded blanket coat. And even if you do not go in for ski-ing or tobogganing or skating or snowshoeing you may find one of these snug, light-weight garments very useful. Some of these blanket coats are made with hood attached while others have separate caps and scarfs to match.

Wool-lined leather jackets are preferred by some winter sports enthusiasts and when wintry winds do blow leather has decided advantages. Besides the heavier leathers are waterproof.

One of the warmest of all possible sports coats is made mackinaw fashion from a Hudson Bay blanket. These coats are made with two sets of pockets on either side—one to be used as a real pocket and the upper ones as "muff pockets."

Another interesting winter sports jacket was made from a Navajo blanket of bright design with heavy knitted band to keep it secured closely about the hips. For active exercise in winter long coats are inconvenient—and seldom worn by experienced sportswomen.

The winter sportswoman chooses her stockings with care. There are regular ski stockings of brushed wool made with double cuffs—one at the top to fit around the knee bands of the breeches and a lower applied cuff to turn down over the top of the boots. Some girls prefer two pairs of stockings—one high and the other coming just above the ankles. When long Norwegian breeches are worn the short-cuffed socks are worn. The lower edge of the breeches is tucked into the top of the boots and the cuff of the socks turns down over the top of the boots.

"I hear Myself Sing!"

—says Gigli—the great operatic tenor—of his performances—as he hears them on the new Orthophonic Victrola.

Above—four short, simple words! What a wealth of meaning they hold! For a great artist does hear himself sing on the new Orthophonic Victrola. He hears himself as you may hear him,—his highest notes pure and clear; his lowest intonations full and deep in their rich resonance.

The voice is perfect as in life, the instrumental music which accompanies, is like the background in a beautiful relief, exactly in its proper relation. So it is in hearing all music on the new Orthophonic Victrola with its Victor-controlled prinicple of "Matched Impedance" or "smooth flow of sound".

Classic—yet beautifully modern in design—and convenient are these instruments. Electrically operated (no winding) at slight additional cost. Instrument stops when the record stops. Models from $1400 to as low as $115 on convenient terms from all His Master's Voice Dealers.

THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION

CANADA celebrated her diamond jubilee in 1927 with the pomp and circumstance befitting the occasion. For months prior to July 1st plans were laid by the Federal Government for a fitting observance. On the day on which Canada celebrated her sixtieth birthday the capital was the centre of interest throughout the Dominion. Speeches were delivered in front of the Parliament Buildings by the Prime Minister and others, and these historic addresses with incidents of the proceedings were broadcast by radio to the most distant towns and villages throughout the country.

An additional impressiveness was lent to the celebration at Otawa by the fact that the great Carillon of 53 bells which had been installed in the Peace Tower, and which is the largest Carillon in the world, played stately airs and pealed messages of triumph which were heard by the 40,000 people gathered on Parliament hill and by the millions more who were listening in throughout Canada.

The New Status.

The Imperial Conference which met in the fall of 1926, acting on the report submitted by the Committee on inter-imperial relations, had more clearly defined the status of the various self-governing dominions of the Empire, the main change in Canada being a slightly altered status in the relation of the Governor-General to the Federal Government and a declaration reiterating the full measure of her independence as a nation which had just ben advanced at the Versailles Conference in 1918.

A new departure which had been forecast for several years back, and for which a parliamentary appropriation had been made but not expended for several years, was the appointment of a Canadian legation at Washington, for which a most attractive home was purchased and furnished at a cost of something over half a million dollars. Hon. Vincent Massey was the first representative appointed, and the filling of the post was regarded in many quarters as a new expression of Canadian independence. The United States paid the Dominion the compliment of appointing Hon. William Phillips, who arrived at Ottawa on Confederation Day, to be envoy extraordinary and Minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Canada. Mr. Phillips was a diplomat of experience and high repute, having served his country as ambassador to Belgium.

Conservatives Meet.

Politically the chief event of the year was the holding of a great Conservative Convention at the city of Winnipeg to select a new leader and for the purpose of infusing new zest into the party. Delegates from all provinces in the Dominion attended the largest gathering of its kind, opening on October 10th under the chairmanship of the Hon. Hugh Guthrie, who had been selected as temporary leader following the defeat of Mr. Meighen at the polls and his retirement from active politics. After two days of discussion, balloting for a new leader took place on October 12th, after Mr. Meighen, Mr. H. H. Stevens, and Premier Ferguson had refused to allow their names to go before the convention.

On the second ballot the order of preference was as follows: Hon. R. B. Bennet, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, C. H. Cahan, Hon. Dr. Manion, Hon. Robert Rogers and Sir Henry Drayton. As Mr. Bennett held a commanding lead his election as leader was made unanimous amid a scene of great enthusiasm. Mr. Bennett's choice was praised not only by the members and press of his own party but generally throughout Canada. Mr. Bennett is a bachelor and although born in the Maritimes has long made his home in Calgary.

While no effort was made to draft a party platform at the Convention, a number of resolutions were passed recommending an outlet to the Pacific Coast for the Peace River district, the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway, the development of the St. Lawrence waterway "in the National interest . . . when conditions warrant" and in favor of giving immediate effect to the findings of the Duncan Commission for the relief of the Maritimes. An aggressive immigration policy was also urged.

Provinces Confer.

In November, Premier Mackenzie King summoned a meeting of the provincial premiers, when a large number of subjects came up for discussion. No formal decisions were come to although the Government announced its agreement with some of the proposals and are expected to implement their approval with definite legislation at the next session of parliament. The question of the readjustment of provincial subsidies and the reservation of certain branches of taxation to the provincial authorities had the general support of the Finance Minister, although he definitely refused to accept certain concrete proposals with regard to the handing over of certain taxable sources to the provinces. The question of Senate Reform or of amendments to the B.N.A. act met with little support. An interesting sidelight on the Conference was the close co-operation between Premier Ferguson of Ontario and Premier Taschereau of Quebec on the matter of provincial control of water powers.

A Provincial election was held in Prince Edward Island largely on the liquor question and the Government was overwhelmingly defeated at the polls when they sought to alter the existing system of prohibition which has prevailed in P.E.I. for 30 years. Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia are now the only two remaining "dry" provinces in Canada. New Brunswick came into the wet column on April 12th by action of the legislature.

In Manitoba, Premier John Bracken and the Progressive Government who have been in office since 1922 were again sustained at the polls on June 28th. Sale of beer by the glass was also approved at a referendum on polling day, although the rural districts voted by large majorities against the reintroduction of taverns.

The protracted illness of Hon. John Oliver forced his retirement. His place at the head of the B.C. Government was taken by the Provincial Treasurer, Hon. J. D. MacLean, without any appeal to the electorate. Mr. Oliver died shortly after handing over the reins of office to his successor. The legislative sessions in Alberta and Saskatchewan were uneventful but the question of the transference of the Alberta Natural Resources to the province which involved a highly controversial issue regarding school lands and the rights of minorities was thrown up by the Privy Council on the ground that the province should have been a partner in the litigation.

British Premier Comes

In honor of her diamond jubilee celebrations, the Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Prime Minister of Great Britain, visited Canada in August on a whirlwind tour. It was the first time in history that a British Premier had visited a self-governing Dominion. He was accompanied on the journey over and for the first part of the tour by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, who was making his third visit to Canada, and his brother Prince George, and by Mrs. Baldwin. The distinguished party landed in Quebec on July 30th, and the Prince of Wales dedicated the Peace Tower at Ottawa. On August 7th the Prince of Wales and Vice-President Dawes jointly opened the Peace Bridge across the Niagara River which unites Fort Erie and Buffalo. The two princes next proceeded to the Prince's ranch at High River, Alberta, while Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin made a flying trip to Winnipeg and thence through Montreal to North Sydney, where they boarded the Empress of Scotland for home. The Prime Minister made a number of speeches before Canadian Clubs and other public organizations and received a most enthusiastic welcome wherever he appeared.

The Prince of Wales on his return to England took the opportunity of urging more business men to get first hand knowledge of Canada, and his speech had a practical effect, many individual and party tours for 1928 having already been arranged.

Overseas Guests.

The Prime Ministers of Australia and New Zealand both visited Canada on their way home from the Imperial Conference. Premier Bruce received some praise and some averse criticism for his outspoken remarks on Dominion contributions to the naval defence of the Empire.

About 100 newspaper men and their wives, mostly representing the provincial daily and weekly papers, paid a visit to Canada in August and were enthusiastically received on a coast to coast tour.

Lord Hewart, the Lord Chief Justice of England, came to Canada as the guest of the Canadian Bar Association and made several addresses during his stay here. He was accompanied by Mr. Justice Chitty.

The World's Poultry Congress held at Ottawa at the end of July was attended by delegates from 42 separate nations and exhibits from over 200 foreign exhibitions.

The triennial Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress, to which came Sir Robert Horne, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, F. W. Beyers, Minister of Mines for South Africa, and Sir Thomas Holland, President of the Mining Engineers of London, was held in August, and was attended by over 200 foreign delegates. After the Convention the delegates split into two main parties and personally visited most of the important mining areas of the Dominion.

PRIME MINISTER

Rt. Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, who pleaded for unity and racial harmony in his speech at the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation.

WHAT OF 1928?

THE YEAR 1927 closes with a lessened feeling of security and with less confidence of continued peace than it opened. Next year will be a critical year for many of the Great Powers. There are danger points in more than one centre of Europe, while in the East, China shows very little advance towards stabilization. There have been many disappointments to those who have striven and worked for world peace of which the two abortive conferences at Geneva are probably the most striking.

Against these must be placed the entry of Germany into the League of Nations and, a much less important sign, the acceptance of the invitation by Russia to take part in the last disarmament conference at Geneva. Soviet Russia's melodramatic gesture and her farcical proposals for general disarmament while she still remains the most powerfully armed nation in Europe, so far as numbers go, not only raised a smile of derision among the diplomats of the world but discounted the hopes that the world felt when the invitation to be present at Geneva was first announced. As a direct result of the failure of the last Geneva conference, President Coolidge announced early in December a program of ship building which is hailed by the "powerful fleet" party of that country with delight, while the amount which the United States intends to expend on armament is estimated to amount to a thousand million dollars.

Danger Spots

In Lithuania, where mobilization of the entire army startled the world immediately before the Disarmament Conference there is still a feeling of nervous tension, while Poland, although exercising restraint, shows no signs of getting down to a real peace footing. The Danzig corridor still remains a source of irritation to Germany cutting off Eastern Prussia from the rest of the Republic, while it is felt that some readjustment of boundaries in that region must be made before there is any hope of permanent peace. The treaty between Albania and Italy has also been bitterly resented by Jugo-Slavia, which sees in that treaty an attempted encroachment on Serbian rights and a threat to Balkan peace.

In France, Germany and the United States, and possibly in Britain, there will be an appeal to the electorate during 1928. On the result of that voting will depend the policies which the statesmen of those countries will frame and, ultimately, also the issue of peace or war. In all these countries there is the usual tendency to shelve new undertakings just before an election and to avoid risks by advocating an unpopular policy. The British, French and German parliaments now sitting were all elected in 1924.

The French Election

In France the majority representatives were elected largely as a reaction against the policies of Poincare and his occupation of the Ruhr. The fall of Poincare gave way to the government by the famous Cartel of the Left, and while that government made certain progress towards European appeasement, the Cartel so ruined the finances of the country that a National Government was formed—a coalition on a grand scale to rescue the country from bankruptcy. In this work the Bloc National has been successful. The franc has been pegged for months and may be stabilized before the election, but in so doing they have lost the support of the Radical and Radical Socialist group. These parties have gained ground and the result of the elections may be the return of the old Cartel, who will work for closer international harmony but may ruin the country again in the meantime by the madness of their financial policy.

In Germany it is expected that the Social Democrats will make large gains at the general election, and will thereafter make a coalition with the Catholic Center party and People's party. Like the French Cartel such a party would work for international peace, although there would be more insistent demands for revision of the Versailles Treaty, which is a very touchy subject with France. Such a coalition, however, is likely to make havoc of domestic issues and the possibility of Germany repudiating her obligations under the Dawes plan, and of refusing to pay the large share of indemnity due this year cause grave concern.

The Tories in Britain

In Britain it is considered likely that the Tory party under Premier Baldwin will weather the storm throughout the year and go to the electors at the end of the year, or more likely early in 1929. While their majority will probably be cut down, competent observers believe that the Labor party will not only fail to obtain a majority, but even in coalition with the Liberals will not command sufficient votes in parliament to make government possible. A great deal will depend on the prosperity or otherwise of Britain during the coming twelve months. The month of November saw Britain with the greatest volume of exports since the war, with special advance in the iron and steel trade and in manufactured goods. If the wave of prosperity continues, slowly but surely, the Baldwin government may regain what prestige it lost through the stagnation of industry due to the coal muddle.

In China, Britain still has a large force of soldiers, sent to that country to protect British interests and to be an influence for peace. They have been at especial pains not to take sides with any of the warring factions, but while there is less actual fighting at the end of the year there is little expectation of immediate peace. The Nationalists took a real step towards establishing peace by handing the Soviet ambassador his passport on December 14th.

One influence for peace is the establishment of Cartels in industry, and international agreements have been reached, notably in the steel and chemical trades, by which price cutting between nations and cut-throat competition may be expected to be diminished. When the industrialists and financiers of the world are convinced of the waste and extravagance of war there is some chance that they will use their influence towards making the several governments bent their swords into ploughshares.

CANADIAN PARLIAMENT

THE Canadian Parliamentary session of 1926-27 set two new marks, one for brevity and the other for comparative fredom from partisan rancor.

Its legislative achievements were not voluminous but a few of them will be remembered. A series of enactments looking to the betterment of conditions throughout the maritime provinces, decision to proceed at once with completion of the Hudson's Bay railway, an Old Age Pension Act, a Rural Credits Act and legislation to make the West Indies Trade agreement effective, formed the higher lights of results put into the records.

Another item which occupied far more than its share of Parliamentary time was the application for extension of the charter of the Georgian Bay canal enterprise. The matter went through some fourteen sittings of the House—exclusive of much time spent on it in committee—only to be finally rejected. It presented the most acrimonious debate of the session and wound up in a strenuous controversy as to the relative authority of Federal and Provincial Governments over the Ottawa and other rivers which, in addition to being navigable, have hydro power potentialities. Even the International Provincial conference held late this year failed to reach an agreement on the question and it is now proposed that it should be referred to the Supreme Court of Canada, and probably to the Privy Council.

A Short Session.

The 1926-27 session of Parliament was embraced in a meeting of five days during December—when the House met and proceeded to pass the supply held up by the impasse which occurred the previous June when the King Government resigned—and by the resumed sittings which began February 8th and closed April 14th. The brevity was made possible by the relative absence of partizan debate, which, in turn, was accounted for by the fact that two general elections within a year and the unlikelihood of another for several years did not stimulate the party spirit. Further, the Conservative party was without a permanent leader and there was no disposition to compromise one who was to assume that role later, by ill-advised obstruction.

In legislative accomplishments greatest interest perhaps attaches to the serious effort put forth by both Liberals and Conservatives to meet the situation in the maritime provinces. The Duncan Commission report had been before the country for some months and when legislation was brought down and policy announced it was evident that every phase presented by the Duncan Commission had been dealt with. Some of the solutions offered were not thought to be sufficiently all-embrasive, but they were all steps in the direction that promised results. Lowered freight rates were ordered; provincial subsidies were increased pending final settlement of the subsidy question; encouragement for the mining industry was arranged and steps were taken to increase the business of the ports of Halifax and St. John.

The Budget.

The Budget presented no changes in tariffs, due to the fact that the Tariff Board was prosecuting its inquiries and the Government announced its decision to await recommendations from the Board before acting. A few reductions in taxation were announced by the Finance Minister, along with the promise of more to follow.

The Old Age Pensions Act was finally accepted by the Senate and has since been adopted by two provinces, British Columbia and Ontario. The Act provides for a fifty per cent. contribution and operation by the provinces. The Rural Credits Act and the act to provide for revaluation of soldiers' lands also made their way through the Senate, after having twice passed the Commons.

A measure which occasioned much controversy and which brought to Ottawa one of the largest lobbies of interested workers was that introduced by the Minister of Finance to regulate the operations of loan and trust companies through the issue of annual licenses. After a bitter struggle in committee and much debate in the House the measure passed and has become law.

Implementing of the West Indies Trade agreement required the construction of special steamers to ply between Canada and the islands. There was a division of opinion as to the wisdom of the venture but it was agreed upon and the ships are under construction.

Complete construction of the national departments concerned with the collection of revenues was decided upon as a result of the disclosures made in the Customs Inquiry. The reorganization has already proceeded to a considerable extent and it is expected that it will be complete when the House reassembles.

New Governor-General.

A definite program for the completion of the Hudson's Bay Railway was accepted without opposition, and provision was made for a three-year branch lines program for Canadian National Railways which will cost $20,000,000.

The session also introduced to Parliament the new representative of His Majesty, His Excellency, Lord Willingdon.

Part of the work done by members was the making of provision for the fitting celebration of Canada's Diamond Jubilee. In this they were helped enthusiastically by a wide circle of public-spirited citizens from all walks of life.

Provision was made for revision of salaries of civil servants in accordance with re-classifications carried out and the House adopted legislation creating Ottawa into a Federal District for improvement purposes, the aim being to assure a city and district worthy to be Canada's capital.

BILLION-DOLLAR CROP

Another billion dollar crop has been harvested in Canada in this year of 1927, with the resulting improved conditions for the farmers and the country generally. The volume is greater than it was a year ago, but the grain does not command as high a price, hence the total value of the crop is less than in 1925, and $136,000,000 more than in 1926. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics places a value of $1,141,367,100 on the field crops of Canada, which is the value on the farm, not the marketable value of the produce. Of the crop of 445 million bushels of wheat, not more than 400 million bushels will be marketed. For that grain the average price will not exceed $1.05 a bushel. After allowing 25 cents a bushel for threshing, freight and handling charges, the net return to the grower will be approximately 80 cents the bushel, or a distribution to the farmers of $356,000,000 in cash or indirectly.

BRITISH PREMIER

AVIATION

IN NO field of activity have there been such absorbingly interesting and important developments as in aviation. Unfortunately there has been a tragically large list of casualties which lend sadness to even the brilliant achievements that mark 1927 as the airmen's year.

The most spectacular achievement of the year and the one that caught the world's interest most keenly was the flight of Charles A. Lindbergh from New York to Paris in 34 hours on May 20th and 21st in a plane he named "The Spirit of St. Louis." His courage in jumping off into the unknown quite alone as well as his modest bearing after success had been achieved, made this flight probably the most talked of event of the year.

Before he crossed the Atlantic, two brave French airmen, Coli and Nungesser, had made the attempt, starting on May 8th from Villacoublay in France for New York, but had been lost. On the day Lindbergh left New York, two experienced English pilots, Flight-Lieutenants C. R. Carr and L. S. M. Gillman, hopped off from Cranwell (England) headed for India. They were forced down in the Persian Gulf.

The world had hardly recovered from the interest stimulated by Lindbergh's flight before Clarence D. Chamberlin, carrying Charles Levine as a passenger, left New York for an unknown destination in Europe. They made a record flight of 3,905 miles but were forced to land at Hefts owing to shortage of fuel on June 3rd. The plane was known as the Columbia.

The America's Flight.

On June 29th Commander Byrd and a crew of three in the "America" left New York, crossed the Atlantic and were forced to land at Ver-sur-Mer in France owing to fog. On June 28th-29th a United States army plane, with E. Smith and Emory Bronte, left the Pacific Coast for Honolulu but just missed their goal when they had to land at Molokar Island, 60 miles from Honolulu.

Charles Levine came into the limelight when without experience and without a pilot's license he flew from Paris to Croydon. Later he employed Captain Hinchcliffe, a famous British airman, as a pilot, and went with him on a trip from London bound for India. They met with disaster in Italy and the journey was abandoned.

On August 31st, Col. Minchin, Capt. Leslie Hamilton and Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim, one of the most experienced of all women aviators, left Upavon, England, for America. They have never been heard of since that day.

A notable journey by air was begun on August 27th, when the "Pride of Detroit," with William S. Brock and Edward Schlee left Harbor Grace, Newfoundland. They reached Croydon the next day, were at Munich August 29th, at Basra on the shores of the Persion Gulf on September 3rd, Karachi September 4th, Calcutta September 6th, thence by way of Indo-China, Hong Kong, landed in Japan on September 12th, where they decided to abandon their flight and returned home by steamer.

Interest next turned to Canada, where Capt. Tally and Lieut. Medcalf were making preparations for a London (Canada)) to London (England) flight in the plane "Sir John Carling." Eventually the attempt was made but nothing has ever been heard of the airmen. A trip which Phil Wood and "Duke" Schiller planned from Windsor (Canada) to Windsor (England) was abandoned owing largely to public sentiment protesting against spectacular but useless flights.

An air journey financed by William Randolph Hearst also ended in disaster when the "Old Glory" left New York for Rome never to be heard of again. In England, Capt. MacIntosh and Commandant Fitzmaurice made plans to fly from Dublin to America, but their plans were frustrated by heavy weather and the flight abandoned.

A Woman Flyer.

On October 11th Miss Ruth Elder was a passenger in a plane piloted by Capt. Haldeman. They were picked up off the Azores.

Richard Bentley, a South African airman, covered 7,000 miles from Croydon to Cape Town between September 1st and 28th.

Count de Lesseps, son of the engineer of the Panama Canal, who had done much flying in Canada, was lost in a storm during October. His body was found nearly two months later in Newfoundland.

Britain won the Schneider Cup at a speed of 281.5 miles per hour thus setting a new record in this competition.

In Canada experiments were begun to speed up mails to Ottawa and Montreal by the use of airplanes, and so successful were these trials that late in December a new route to expedite the despatch of mails from Montreal after the close of navigation was given a trial. In Canada also the use of the plane in forest service and for taking aerial photographs was greatly developed and the Federal Government made large appropriations of civil aviation.

December 14th.—Charles Lindbergh flew from Washington to Mexico City.

THE EMPIRE

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE failure of the conference called by President Coolidge in which France refused to take part was a disappointment to Britain and to those who put their faith in some form of extension of the Washington Naval agreement. It was followed by a similar failure of the Council of the League in November. The benefits which accrued to the cause of world peace by Locarno were implemented this year by the admission of Germany into the League of Nations. Russia made an insincere gesture by accepting the invitation to take part in the Geneva Conference which was nullified by her ridiculous proposals for complete and immediate disarmament which no one took seriously. Towards the close of the meeting of the League Sir Austen Chamberlain held a private conference with Litvinoff the Soviet chief delegate but their negotiations came to nothing and no basis of agreement was reached.

The bitterness which ran riot during the general strike and which was fanned during the coal strike was revived when the Baldwin Government introduced a measure on May 2 declaring it illegal to take part in a sympathetic strike. This aroused Labor who fought the measure very vehemently. The debates in the Commons were violent but the measure was eventually passed, on May 5th.

REFORM OF THE LORDS.

Reform of the House of Lords was introduced in the Upper Chamber whereby the number of peers would be reduced by one half but after some discussion the bill was withdrawn. The Government redeemed its pledge to give a wider franchise to women by putting them on the same terms as men and this proposal facetiously called the "Flapper vote" act roused considerable hostility within the Conservative party itself. The Government announced however that it fully intended to carry out its expressed determination in spite of the opposition, after twenty years by both Houses of Convocation and a special committee the revision of the prayer book came before parliament early in December. It was expected some opposition would come from the Lords but they passed the measure authorizing the new prayer book as an alternative form of worship by 241 votes to 88, on December 14. On the following day the book was unexpectedly rejected by the Commons by a vote of 247 to 205.

AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND.

The Duke and Duchess of York journeyed to Australasia for the express purpose of inaugurating the new capital at Canberra on May 9. Canada was represented by Hon. Ernest Lapointe. The buildings which were designed by the Chicago architect are estimated to have cost two and a half million dollars. The Duke of York presided over the first session of parliament held in the new building. The Duke and Duchess made a triumphal tour throughout Australia, visiting many of the important centres and afterwards extended their trip to New Zealand. They were received everywhere with enthusiastic expressions of affection and loyalty to the Crown.

"Lucky" Lindbergh, who became the hero of the year when he flew across the Atlantic alone.

SOUTH AFRICA.

South Africa still finds herself with many vexed problems demanding settlement notably the Mines bill which Premier Herzog desires to make retroactive. A settlement was reached however (largely through the efforts of former Premier Smuts and Dr. Malan an Afrikander) on the vexed Flag bill by which South Africa will have its own flag in which the Union Jack and the old flags of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State will be combined while the Union Jack will also be flown alongside the national flag from all public buildings on all official occasions.

INDIA.

There was far less unrest throughout India during 1927 than there had been in previous years. There was a serious outbreak of cholera in November which called for the mobilization of a very large staff of doctors and nurses who fought heroically against the spread of this dread epidemic. Although under the Montagu-Chelmsford scheme the British Government were under no pledge to give India any further measure of self-government Premier Stanley Baldwin announced in December in the House of Commons that a Royal Commission under the presidency of Sir John Simon would visit India to make recommendations for giving India more responsibility in Government before the appointed time. Some criticism was offered because no Indians and no men of executive experience in India were appointed to serve on this commission.

Juniors Lose Their First Game on Home Ice

WHITBY JUNIORS DEFEAT LOCAL TEAM BY ONE GOAL; PLAY IS FORCED OVERTIME

Visitors Win First Junior Home Game of the Season at Brock Street Rink.

SCORE WAS 3 TO 2.

Game Was Fast Throughout, With Great Deal of Individual Hockey.

Whitby Juniors stepped into Peterborough last night, and snatched a victory from the local junior sextette in the Lakeshore Junior O.H.A. group. The game was very close throughout, and the play was forced into ten minutes' overtime when with two minutes to go and Ted Lebarr in the penalty box, J. Sleightholm, Whitby's star defence man, skated around the local defence and beat Mein on a long shot that was hard to get, winning the game three goals to two.

Whitby started the scoring in the first period when after five minutes of play J. Sleightholm got the puck in centre ice, and on a long shot from the blue line beat the Peterborough goalie. The Petes failed to tally in the first, but in the second with a little combination they ran in two goals and held the visitors goalless. In the third Tucker grabbed the puck in the face-off, beat the local defence, and shot it into the Peterborough nets when Mein misjudged it.

Play Rough Game.

The play was rather rough throughout, and Referee "Ginger" Edgar handed out 20 minor penalties, but there were thrills a-plenty to keep the fans who turned out always on the tiptoe.

Clarke, the little goalie for the visitors, played a splendid game in the nets. Time after time the locals had the Whitby defence beaten ,but the goalkeeper always came across with timely saves.

No Combination.

Both teams failed to play to any degree combination, and as a result there was a great deal of skating and individual shots that were often wide of the mark.

In the overtime the locals had the best of the play until Lebarr was sent to the penalty box, and then the visitors forged ahead with a four men up and slipped in the winning goal.

With two minutes to play in the scheduled time, Pat Calladine came nearly being the hero of the hour when he beat the Whitby defence and drew the goalkeeper out of the box in what seemed to be a sure goal, only to have Clarke make a splendid save. Kenneally scored in the third, but the goal was not allowed, as it was offside.

First Appearance.

This was the locals' first appearance on home ice ,and from the showing made last night they will be heard from later this year. They are a fast skating aggregation, and with a little more practise they will play more combination and make the Whitby boys go some when they return again to this city.

The Game.

The play broke very fast on a keen sheet of ice, with a great deal of body checking. Calladine was soon chased to the penalty box, and when he had served his time, in went Jones so as to keep the box occupied. J. Sleightholm got the puck in centre ice, shot past Calladine, and beat Mein for the first goal. Whitby then found the way to the penalty box ,and in a very few moments both Mowbray and Sturgess had served two minutes. Peterborough opened up and gave an exhibition of fast skating,but they were beaten every time by the star goalkeeping of Clarke. Before the period ended both White and Lebarr had also received penalties.

Whitby 1, Peterborough 0.

The Petes came on the ice in the second, resolved to do better, and during this period they played a brand of junior hockey that is seldom seen in Peterborough. Lebarr, Jones, and Allin played a nice combination, and as a result the first two players scored two well-earned goals. Whitby tried hard to score, but they lacked combination, and were no match for the Petes in this period. Lavin was the bad boy for the visitors, as he drew three penalties. Pat Calladine played a fine game on defence, but he simply refused to pass the puck ,and as a result he made many wide shots that if they had been put into combination would have meant goals, as the Whitby players were being badly outskated.

Peterborough 2, Whitby 0.

From the face-off in the third period Whitby got the goal that tied the game when Tucker secured the puck, and on a long shot from outside the blue line beat Mein for an easy goal. Neither team showed any combination in this period, but there were many splendid exhibitions of individual hockey and timely saves by Clarke. Kenneally scored, but his goal was ruled an offside, and with two minutes to play, Calladine was outlucked on the goal that would have won the game for the Petes.

Whitby 1, Peterborough 0.

In the first five minutes' overtime there was no scoring, both teams worked hard, and each was playing a defensive game. When Lebarr was sent to the penalty box Whitby forged ahead, forcing the play, and J. Sleightholm scored after beating the men on the defence. Final:

Whitby 3, Peterborough 2.

You Need These Rules For a Winning Squad

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 5.—The recipe for a successful basketball team is the same old recipe needed for a success in any sport—condition, teamwork and spirit.

"That is the opinion of Edward Watcher, basketball coach at Harvard.

"These three attributes are needed for a winning team," Wachter says, "and they must be found together. If any two of them are disconnected, the chain will not be complete—and success will be found wanting."

PERHAPS IT WILL BE GENE TUNNEY

LOUGHRAN, TUNNEY AND COURTNEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Football honors its heroes with places on All-America teams, baseball rewards its star with prizes to the most valuable player in the big leagues, track and field stars get foreign trips to Olympic games as their tribute, and golf players win cash and prizes for their conquests.

Now comes boxing with a medal for its most distinguished athlete. "The Ring," a New York boxing magazine, announced recently it would award annually a valuable medal to the boxer who had been chosen as the one who had conducted himself best in and out of the ring during the year.

The committee, consisting of members of the New York commission and boxing writers, has not made its official selection, but William Muldoon, senior member of the commission and chairman of the selection committee, has spoken his piece.

"Gene Tunney is the finest representative the heavyweight class ever has produced," Muldoon said. "His conduct in the ring and the high standard of his private life have given dignity and respect to his profession."

It is almost certain, from this expression, that Tunney will get the decision of the committee.

Next to Tunney, Muldoon named Tommy Loughran, the light heavyweight, and, in this connection, he added: "Tunney and Loughran are the finest types of boxers and young men I ever have been associated with."

George Courtney, the Oklahoma middleweight, was placed third on Muldoon's honor list.

Muldoon's suggestions probably will be adopted by the committee.

HOLDS PROMISE FROM MANAGER

Mullen Annoyed With False Rumours Concerning His Connections With Tunney.

AWAITS CONTENDER.

CHICAGO, Ill. Jan. 6. Canadian Press. — Promoter Jim Mullen registered annoyance yesterday because stories from New York quoted Gene Tunney, the world's heavyweight champion, as saying he intended to fight twice in 1928, but that Mullen would not promote either amtch.

Mullen said he held a promise from Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager, for a fight in Chicago this summer, if a leading contender developed. Unless an antagonist is found in the heavyweight ranks, Mullen said he would not attempt to promote the championship match.

"The present crop of heavyweights are such bums that none shows any promise of becoming a contender," Mullen said. "I could not name a contender for Tunney by Feb. 1 as Tex Rickard has promised.

"Neither would I promote Tunney into a fight with a broken down boxer, but to get the money from the public."

WHO WANTS BOUT WITH THIS BIRD?

1034 Henleaze Ave,
Moose Jaw, Sask.,
December 31, 1927.

The Boxing Promoter,
Peterborough,
Ontario, Can.

Dear Sir,—I would be pleased to have you give some intimation as to whether you could use a crack middleweight boxer in a ten round main event, with some local or imported boy, anyone up to 160 pounds.

I am managing a middleweight by the name of "Norman Wilson" who is anxious to keep working, and I think that you would play a safe bet to book him for a match. "Wilson" weighs 156 pounds.

"Wilson" has been fighting in ten round main events in and around Chicago for the past year, under the management of Frank Churchill, meeting some of the best in the division. I would be glad to give you a complete record of his bouts both in the Middle West States and along the Pacific Coast, in Canada and the U.S.A.

Let me have your best terms either by wire or letter at your earliest convenience.

Wishing you the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours very truly,
F. W. LOTT.

HOLD PRACTICE.

Marmora High School Hockey Team Shows Good Form in Workout.

MARMORA, Jan. 5.—Good skating is again possible on the Marmora rink. The High School hockey team were out for their first practice on Monday evening and a good workout was obtained at the succeeding practice on Tuesday evening. The boys are trying hard to make a name for themselves in Interscholastic hockey and local fans are assured an interesting series of games on the home rink in course of the schedule.

M'GILL LOSES TO WEST POINT TEAM

University Takes Early Lead, But Succumbs to 43-23 Count in End.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan 5. Canadian Press. — McGill University fought the Army basketball team on even terms for the most of the first half yesterday, but succumbed to a 43 to 23 count in the end. McGill drew first blood and led for 15 minutes of the opening half. Blumenstein and Young featured in McGill's early period play. At half time Army led 25 to 13. Draper was the outstanding star; Monroe and Weldon also played well for McGill.

HAGEN WITHDRAWS FROM BALL CIRCLES

Rochester Club Given Until January 16 To Settle Its Affairs.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (Canadian Press).—The retirement of Walter Hager, professional golf champion, from a brief and probably costly venture into organized baseball was disclosed yesterday simultaneously with announcement of an extension of time granted to the Rochester (N.Y.) club of the International League to straighten out its financial difficulties.

The Rochester club will forfeit its franchise unless its affairs are settled by January 16, John Conway Toole, president of the league, announced after a special meeting of club owners here. The stay was granted at the request of William Gilbert and John Hicks, Rochester men, now back in control of the franchise as a result of the withdrawal of Hagen, John Ganzel and their associates from a deal to purchase the club.

Hagen was understood to have put up $25,000 in the transaction but encountered obstacles in raising a required $40,000 more. The golf star was given an extension of time several weeks ago, but since then, according to Mr. Toole, has decided to "reliquish" his interest. Whether or not Hagen lost his initial investment was not disclosed.

If forfeited, the Rochester franchise may go to Jersey City, now vacant territory through the transfer of its franchise this year to Montreal. This will be decided when the club owners meet here January 16.

Meanwhile the magnates will devote their attention to the issue of major-minor relations. All clubs will be represented next Monday at Chicago in the national minor league pow-wow called to decide on a new policy toward the majors.

By a unanimous vote, the club owners granted an increase in salary to President Toole from $10,000 to $12,500 annually. It is understood that this makes him the highest paid minor league executive in the country.

MAPLE LEAFS PLAY MAROONS AT FORUM

"Conny" Smythe's Club Needs Victory in Montreal To-night.

TORONTO, January 5. — The Maple Leafs returned from their successful invasion of Chicago in pretty fair condition. Keeling and Bailey were the only players to meet with any rough usage, and they were not badly hurt. Keeling suffered a bad cut on the cheek from a swing of "Duke" Keats' stick, but it should not affect his play. Bailey was badly shaken up when the same player slammed him into the boards, but he is all right now.

To-night they encounter the Maroons in Montreal and the Leafs have a tough assignment in front of them. Eddie Gerard's gang have not been going so good of late ,and they are always tough to down after they have dropped two or three games. They also appear to have the "injun sign" on "Conny" Smythe's lads, but it is hoped that the Leafs can chase it.

Smythe said the club played one of the best games of the year in the windy city ,and he confidently expects them to take the measure of the Maroons and then step into the Flying Frenchmen with plenty of confidence at the Arena here on Saturday night. The manager-coach was especially pleased with the performance of "Butch" Keeling and Bill Carson. Keeling hit his stride against the Hawks, and was about the most dangerous man on the club. The addition of Herberts has given the Leafs a centre ice player that can really share the burden with Carson, and the rests do the "Doc" good. He travels at top speed all the time he is on the ice, and is a lot more effective.

The defence has played well all season, and Smythe has no call for complaint. Day and Duncan are two of the best, and there is no better goalie in the league than Roach. Gorman and Ramsay have gone well in reliefe roles. Ramsay will most likely be sent to the Ravinas for to get into the proper condition. He is not getting enough work with the Leafs ,and he would get plenty with Selke's Club and bolster their weak defence.

Huge Crowd Expected.

It is expected that the largest crowd of the season will be at the Arena on Saturday night for the game with Canadiens. The Frenchmen have always been a big drawing card in Toronto ,and this year they are packing the Arena all over the circuit. They are setting a terrific pace at the head of the Canadian group, and they have set a record for straight victories this season that will take some equalling.

The other games in the N.H.L. to-night will see the Canadiens playing Detroit and the Americans entertaining Pittsburg. The Pirates have passed Chicago in the American group, and they are playing real hockey now. Canadiens should be a tired bunch of hockey players when they reach here on Saturday. In addition to playing in Detroit to-night, they play the desperate Chi-Hawks at Chicago to-night.

PITTSBURGH BALL TEAM IS STRONGER

Pirates' Prospects as Pennant Winners Looks Good For 1928.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 5.—A strengthened infield and prospects of better pitching make Pittsburgh look like a winner in the 1928 National League baseball pennant chase in the opinion of sports experts and close followers of the team. Despite the departure of Kiki Cuyler, stellar outfielder traded to Chicago, and a weakness in the catching staff reserve material, it is the general opinion in baseball circles here that the National League champions of 1927 stand an excellent chance to win the bunting again.

An outstanding improvement in the club will be the presence of Sparky Adams, acquired through the Cuyler deal, at second base, to plug a weak spot in the Pirate machine. With Adams on second, George Grantham will be available for regular duty at first, replacing the veteran Joe Harris, who will be held in reserve. Harris will fill another hole in the team—a tried and true pinch hitter.

Manager Donie Bush will go into the race with the famous Waner Brothers—Paul and Lloyd—in the outfield. For the other outer garden he has Barnhart, Comorosky and Pete Scott, late of the Cubs, to fill in the breach left by the departure of Cuyler. Pirate followers feel that while the loss of Cuyler will be felt, the acquisition of Adams will more than balance the scales.

Glenn Wright will be at his old station— shortstop— while Captain Pie Traynor will be at third, assuring the Pirates one of the best infields in the circuit.

Bush needs another catcher to fortify this department in an emergency.

He has the veteran Earl Smith and Johnny Gooch, but is looking about for another dependable receiver.

Rink No. 2: George Raper H. J. Armstrong, J. A. Vance, vice; L. C. Russell sk.

Rink No. 3: Dr. L. J. Stuart, R. Smith, T. H. Bradley, vice; J. Steele skip.

Rink. No. 4: W. Fodden, Dr. N. H. Young, Joseph Lancashire, vice; W. E. Ball.

Rink No. 5: C. C. Garside, P. Stinson G. W. Sayles, vice; H. R. Edmunds, skip.

Rink No. 6: V. R. Hunter, W. O'Brian, G. Hetherington, vice; R. H. Edmunds, skip.

Rink No. 7: L. H. Winslow, V. C. Lambert, H. J. Grassett, vice; W. T. Wood.

Rink No. 8: H. R. Scott, W. Thorne, W. G. Hetherington, vice; J. N. McGill, skip.

Rink No. 9: G. H. Lancashire, L. J. Hutchinson, T. H. Collins, vice; H. B. Allen, skip.

Rover: M. Challice.

The W. J. E. Gillott cup will be played for on a 13 point basis, and the Waddell Cup as Scotch doubles; the H. B. Allen Cup will be an inter-rink competition as in former years.

Providing the weather is favorable for making good ice there is is every prospect of the club having an excellent winter's sport.

OSHAWA BEATS BOWMANVILLE

Swamps Rubber Town Team in O.H.A. Intermediate Game.

FINAL SCORE 6-0.

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., Jan. 5. — Bowmanville opened its intermediate O.H.A. season here last night, Oshawa being the visitors. The game was fast throughout with a few minor penalties. Smythe was the outstanding star on the Oshawa team. Candler, Freeman and Cameron played stellar hockey with Caldwell turning in his usual game in the nets. The score was 6 to 0 for Oshawa, the winners scoring two goals in each period. The line-ups:

Oshawa—Smythe, goal; Stevens and Houch, wings; Joyce, centre; Chartran and Johnston, defence; Avery, sub.

Bowmanville—Colville, goal; Tuxton and Piper, wings; Candler, centre; Freeman and Hooper, defence; Cameron and Turner, subs.

RIDPATH MAKES DEBUT AT PRESTON

Lakefield Boy Plays Well in First Senior O.H.A. Game.

PRESTON, Jan. 5. — The O. H. A. senior season was opened yesterday evening, when the local Riversides, earned a decisive win over the Kitchener Green Shirts, the count at the final bell standing 3 to 1. The score about indicated the relative strengths of the two teams, but aside from the last period when good hockey was the order, the game was not sensational.

The old Arnott-Clark combination was working nicely, Arnott scoring all three of the local counters. Talbot and Skelly formed a formidable defence the former going well on the offensive as well. Wade and Ridpath—two new faces on the senior team—turned in a tidy exhibition, the former doing some particularly nice skating and stick handling, while Dulke worked hard and worried the Green Shirts constantly.

CANADIENS WIN GAME IN CHICAGO

Defeat Black Hawks 3-1 in Fast N. H. L. Game.

PLAY VERY CLOSE.

CHICAGO, Ill., January 5.—Canadiens, the spectacular Frenchmen from Montreal, who are making a runaway race for the National League hockey championship, defeated the Chicago Black Hawks here last night by a score of 3 goals to 1, in a fast and well-played game. A crowd of six thousand saw the contest. Chicago made a game of it in the first period, holding the speedy Canadiens even, matching speed for speed, and back-checking so effectively that the famous team play of the Canadiens was well broken up.

It was a different story in the second period, however, and the league leaders concentrated their attack in this period, crashing through for all their goals. The lone Chicago tally came in the third period as a result of a brilliant bit of stick-handling by Graham, a defence player, who broke back with the puck, carrying the rubber right to the Canadien goal and snapping it in the net.

Yankees Broke All Attendance Records

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Baseball attendance soared to new record heights during the 1927 campaign with an estimate of 2,500,000 fans witnessing the Yankees with Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig galloping home with the pennant.

Figures announced by Business Manager Edward G. Barrow, of the Yankees, today disclosed a total paid attendance of 2,246,096 at home and on the road which, coupled with 100,000 free passes distributed for the Yankee Stadium and a like amount at visiting parks would bring the gross to above 2,500,000 persons.

The Yankees broke their own mark at home and in their travels, Barrows said. Paid admission to the Stadium listed 1,264,015 fans, while away the total aggregated 982,081.

New York Yanks Buy Minor League Stars

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (Canadian Press).—Two of the most eagerly sought minor league stars in the country, Shortstop Lyn Lary and Second Sacker Jimmy Reese of the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League, have been tagged for delivery to the world's champion New York Yankees in 1929.

Purchase of the crack infield pair was announced officially yesterday by Colonel Jacob Ruppert, Yankee owner, after circulation of reports for several weeks that they had been obtained "under cover."

The price for the two young stars was not disclosed, but baseball experts estimate it will amount to at least the equivalent of $150,000 in cash and players, based upon amounts paid for Pacific Coast players during the last few years.

Officers Installed.

MARMORA, Jan. 5. — At the Masonic Hall on Tuesday evening officers of St. Paul's A.Y.P.A. were duly installed by the rector before a good attendance. The meeting was of a purely business nature and concluded with the drawing up of the winter's program.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT.

ALFRED GREEN AND HIS CANE RULE ON SETS.

"The funny man with the little stick" is an apt description of Alfred E. Green, Fox Films director, who is responsible for the screen version of "Is Zat So?" in which Edmund Lowe and George O'Brien are featured, and which is now showing at the Regent Theatre.

Green, who has been called the most unassuming director in the motion picture industry, is never without a stick of some variety. One day, it may be a bit of pine, picked up at random, or seized on the run as Green breezes through the huge carpetner shop at the West Coast Studio. Another day, it is the last word in canes— borrowed from some actor, or lifted from the hall-tree in the Green home. At odd moments, it is spare bow, minus catgut, purloined from some set musician.

Always, however, the director glides around the set, exploring things and poking away at something or somebody with his improvised wand. When he call, "Camera!" he gives George Schneiderman a dig with the stick. If he wants his script, he gouges Jack Boland, his assistant director. When Edmund Lowe takes a little nap, between scenes in the Fifth Avenue mansion built on a huge stage at the West Coast Studio, it is always Green and his little stick who prod the hard-boiled Eddie into life and activity. When he wants George O'Brien to fight harder, Green points the stick at George and says:

"Sock! Sock! Sock-ity-sock!"

However, the stick goes into retirement when Eddie Lowe's little wire-terrier comes oh the set. This tiny mutt has a cringing fear of a stick, so Green makes no funny passes when the little animal is around.

Huge Disc Wheel With Rubber Tire Designed By J. J. Duffus.

That J. J. Duffus is nothing if not original, is proven by the sign which he has had installed at the northwest corner of the large automobile building, corner of Charlotte and Water streets. It is the only one of its kind on the North American continent, having been designed by Mr. Duffus, and takes the form of a large disc wheel effect with a Seiberling all tread tire on it. Supporting the tire are two Seiberling emblems in red and black, finishing of a most attractive and unusual sign.

flying boat with a capacity of 60 passengers.

A short time ago a German plane carried a load of one ton a distance of 1,240 miles at an average speed of 127 miles per hour.

The carrying of passengers, mails and express merchandize constitute the chief work for the single aviation company which exists in Germany.

The Central Government and those of the various states, together with the municipalities, support this company in every possible way.

France.

France has the strongest and largest military air force in the world. She is also doing her utmost to develop commercial aviation and also she has a total of 8,000 miles of airways in operation.

England.

England, being a much smaller country, and with excellent train service, has only 1,000 miles of airways; commercial aircraft flying about 4,000 miles daily.

As in Germany, the aerial transportation is the monopoly of one company—The Imperial Airways.

It will be recalled that an English plane won the Schneider cup race this year, travelling at the rate of 281 miles per hour. In trials, one of the British machines travelled at the rate of 325 miles per hour. Five hundred miles per hour is a likely speed in the near future.

Australia.

There are at present 3,570 miles of air routes in use. Quite recently the commonwealth Government decided to provide an additional amount of £200,000 per annum for the development of civil aviation in Australia. It is proposed by degrees to subsidize 4,570 route miles, making a total of over 8,000 miles of air routes. This new service will result in the establishing of aerial circuit of Australia.

United States.

In the United States, there are 24 organized air routes, making a total of 12,000 miles, serving 65,000,000 people.

A rapid extension is taking place in the establishing of air ports and airways.

There are numerous aviation companies, many of them now paying their way, and some are even making profits through carrying mails, passengers and express merchandise.

Mails are delivered from New York to San Francisco within 48 hours.

United States companies are now examining the situation in Canada to see if it is possible for them to organize Canadian sections, or to operate lines in Canada in conjunction with their lines in the United States.

Mr. Levine, of trans-Atlantic fame, has announced that he intends to build seven-engined planes, and that he intends to establish a trans-Atlantic service.

In the United States, an air league exists for the promotion of aviation with the express object of making the United States "first in the air."

Aviation in Canada.

No fully organized air route exists in Canada to-day, and our country is far behind many others in the use of aircraft as a means of transportation of mails, passengers and express merchandise. The public has recently evinced a very strong interest in this newest and quickest method of transportation. Those who have knowledge of what is being accomplished elsewhere feel it to be an important time in the development of aerial transportation, and that unless Canadians realize its importance and undertake to quickly organize Canadian companies to serve the needs of the country enterprizing citizens of other countries will do it for us.

While Canada has not a fully organized air route to-day, the impression must not be formed that Canada has not made use of aircraft.

A nucleus of an efficient military air force has been established, whilst great progress has been made in the use of aircraft for the protection of forests and aerial survey.

During the past summer, 2,000,000 acres of forest lands were protected by aircraft (Governmental and otherwise), whilst 75,000 square miles were surveyed during 1926 and 1927.

In aerial protection and aerial survey, Canada leads the world.

Decision to Organize League.

Chiefly owing to the absence of a single organized air route in Canada, a number of those who believe firmly that aviation can play a most important part in the development of our vast country and influence favorably its economic life, decided to organize in Canada an air league with the object of assisting aviation and focusing public opinion in these matters and the enthusiasm which already exists, into the right channels.

I am here to explain to you as fully as time will permit, the organization, the important objects, and the proposed work of the league.

A Suggested Organization.

A headquarters at Ottawa with branches in the Province.

The various officers and committees needed to administer the league are:

Officers.

Patron-in-chief, patrons, founders, honorary presidents and honorary vice-presidents, president, vice-president.

Committees and Secretariat.

Advisory committee of prominent citizens, executive committee, small staff at headquarters.

To be affiliated with the air league of the British Empire.

The principal aims of the Canadian Air League are:

To ensure the fullest development of civil and commercial aviation in Canada.

To foster Canadian education in aeronautical engineering, interests in aviation, and to encourage research, experiment and manufacture in the science of aeronautics—by private enterprise in schools and universities and by the Dominion and Provincial Governments.

To secure the provision and maintenance of an air force adequate to meet the requirements of defence.

The policy is national and imperial and entirely independent of all political parties.

Proposed Work.

Education of public opinion in respect to aviation; creation of air-mindedness or air-consciousness throughout the country by the publication and circulation of information on aviation.

Courses of lectures on aeronautical subjects by prominent airmen will be arranged throughout the country.

Demonstration flights of new aircraft will be arranged.

Annual competitions to develop reliability and endurance.

Facilities for education in aeronautical engineering to be created in Canada.

Publication of a monthly journal devoted to aviation.

The supplying of information and statistics on aviation to all who wish it.

The organization of flying clubs will be promoted.

Schools of flying instruction in the large centres will be encouraged.

Periodical representations to the Dominion and Provincial Governments and to municipalities as to support needed by the various branches of aviation.

Co-operation with the Defence Department in the organization of a reserve of qualified pilots and in the establishment of an auxiliary (volunteer) air force.

Formation of a junior branch of the league so that young men in their teens may gain a knowledge of aviation and its possibilities as a career.

Co-operation with the air league of the British Empire.

Education.

In no other branch of engineering has scientific work been so intensive or so rapid as in aeronautics.

The Great War gave a great impetus to it but even before it there had been established three centres of instruction: Gottingen, Germany; Petrograd, Russia; University of Paris, France.

The basic science is aerdynamics is the science of air flow and its action on solid bodies; and hydrodynamics to determine the action of water on floats and hulls.

Aeronautical engineering should not be a course in itself, but the basic education should be a general engineering course, including mechanical, civil and materials (metallurgical and chemical) then aeronautical to follow.

Aeronautical engineering, educational organization requires the undermentioned equipment:

Wind tunnel to measure force of the air in motion on solid bodies.

Testing machines to determine strength of materials.

Static test equipment for testing structural assemblies.

Model basin or tank for determining hydrodynamic characteristics of floats and hulls of watercraft.

Flying field and full test equipment.

No educational institution, as far as I know, in Canada, has made any provision for the education of young Canadians in aeronautical engineering.

It is hoped that the league may remedy this situation by making a suggestion to schools and technical colleges (in this city) and throughout the country so that young Canadians will not have to go to the United States where a number of the universities have organized courses to meet the situation.

Flying Clubs.

As already stated, it is the intention of the league to organize flying clubs in order to provide facilities for young Canadians to learn to fly and gain a practical knowledge of aviation so that they may, if so inclined, take it up as an occupation or recreation.

The Government has offered two planes to each flying club subject to certain conditions. These conditions have been fully explained to the provisional committee set up to organize a flying club in this city, so I shall not give you any great details of the conditions which govern the organization of the flying clubs.

Aircraft and Trade.

Competitive conditions in business dictate the use of any tool or machine

FAMOUS LOVE ROMANCES

Lord Nelson and Lady Hamilton (IV)

By Nicholas Afonsky

Napoleon, rising to power at this time, relied on the help of the Spanish fleet in the Mediterranean. In February, 1797, Nelson, while passing through the Spanish fleet off Cape Saint Vincent, was the hero of a battle in which the twenty-seven Spanish ships were defeated by the fifteen British after a short fight.

He was now a rear admiral, had been knighted, and was looked on as one of the great men of the navy. A little later, in an attack on the hiding place of rich treasure ships, he was in a sharp battle in which he lost his right arm. It was clumsily amputated and ever afterward gave him trouble.

But he was soon in command of a ship again and on August 1, 1798, he was the outstanding hero of the battle of the Nile, which ruined Napoleon's plans in Egypt. He was badly wounded in this action. As a hero he went to Naples. There the lovely Lady Hamilton helped nurse him back to health.

It was at this time that Nelson succumbed to the beautiful Emma's charms. She wore a turban bearing the words "Nelson and Victory." She celebrated his birthday by entertaining eighteen hundred people. She was all charm and solicitude for his comfort. Small wonder, perhaps, that Nelson lost his head.

FAST ICE FOR TO-NIGHT'S TILT WITH THE DUKES

Marlboros Open Senior O. H. A. Season With Battle With Petes.

LEGON IS OUT.

Varsity Have Not Yet Released the Red-Topped Forward.

The Petes will have to go into action against the Marlboros at Brock street rink to-night without the services of "Red" Legon, who has not yet received the necessary release from the Athletic Board of University of Toronto. Varsity are reluctant to let the red top go in view of the injury to Mac King, and the Petes would not know definitely until Saturday whether they will have his services or not.

In his absence Fred Cripps, who has been playing fine hockey in practice, will likely start at centre, flanked by McFee and Kenny Kane. Maudsley and Foley will be the subs, while Rose and Clark will comprise the defence, with Hall or Lebarr in the nets.

Harry Watson has not announced his line-up, but he will most probably have Baker in the nets, with Radke and Underwood on the defence, and Miller, Heintzman and Johnny McPherson up on the firing line.

Mayor-Elect Rollie Denne will make his first public appearance since the election, starting the game by facing the rubber.

Mike Rodden will send the teams away at 8.30 o'clocko n a perfect sheet of ice.

LINDSAY CLAIM BEST LINE THEY HAVE EVER HAD

This Year's Crop of Midgets Strongest Lindsay Has Known.

HERE TO-MORROW.

And St. John's Players Are Confident of Taking Fall Out of Them.

St. John's, with a stronger line-up in action and benefitting by their experience in their initial O.H.A. battle, are confident that in to-morrow night's clash with the Lindsay Midgets, at the Brock street rink, they can carve down materially the lead obtained by Lindsay in the first fixture.

This in spite of the undoubted strength of the Midgets, about whom the Lindsay Post exultingly says:

"One thing the fans are sure of and that is that Lindsay has the best junior team she ever had. Most of the fellows are in the best of condition, big, heavy and fast. The defence never once got rattled and the forward players played more combination in this one game than they played all last year."

The Saints, however, say that to-morrow is another night and that on the larger ice surface they will be able to give the much-touted midgets considerable to think about.

There is much interest in the new Peterborough Junior Team, and a big crowd will attend. Popular prices with a 25c admission, and no tax, on the east side, will prevail.

The game will get under way at 8.15 o'clock sharp.

PLAYS PRESENTED.

Warkworth Presbyterian Young People Stage Two in Town Hall.

WARKWORTH, Jan. 5.—Under the auspices of the Young People's Society of the Presbyterian church a three act play, entitled the "Monkey's Paw," and a one act comedy, "Whiskers," were presented in the town hall on Wednesday evening. The hall was filled to its capacity and much interest was manifested in those taking part, all of whom acquitted themselves excellently. Great credit is due to their instructors, Mrs. Carlaw and Mr. Fowler.

Between acts, solos, duets, and the old maids' chorus by several girls, and vaudeville stunts were greatly enjoyed.

The proceeds for the evening amounted to $107.00.

PROGRESS IN

which will make more mobile the three vital elements of business, men, money, and materials. Time in business is a determining factor, in costs of manufacture, in costs of distribution, and in costs of management. Faster turnover" is a business motto of to-day.

Granted that the attainment of a more rapid means of transportation of men and goods is a measure of progress and prosperity, then the benefits which can be envisioned to a huge undeveloped country like ours are limitless.

Conclusion.

Organization of airways will enable close political and commercial contact being maintained between all parts of our Dominion.

In these days of aerial extension, a country without airways would be greatly handicapped in commercial activities and be regarded as unprogressive, whilst a city without an air port would not even be a flag station.

Airways will improve our cohesion and be as important factor effecting our future prosperity.

Commerce, communications, mails and defence all can be assisted by a sound development of aerial transportation.

Canadians make as good pilots as any other race in the world. If Canadians are given a fair opportunity by the business men and the governments concerned, they are quite capable of obtaining for Canada an enviable position, just as they did in the Great War.

Canadian are temperamentally suited to air travel.

All who are interested in or believe in aviation as a benefit to our country will become members of the league and then the full fruits of the new science will be reaped for Canadians.

You will agree, I hope, that the Canadian Air League is needed as a permanent patriotic institution in Canada. It has before it a great task in fully awakening the Canadian people to the importance of aviation, the newest and greatest constructive force in the economic civilization of to-day.

The league can perform a great service to Canada in assisting to put aviation upon a safe, sound, sane business basis.

The extent to which the league will be able to help, will depend upon funds which can be collected for its work and its weight and influence will be proportional to its membership.

OBITUARY

MRS. GEORGE A. WILLIAMS.
TORONTO, Jan. 4. — From all parts of Ontario are coming messages of sympathy to Rev. George A. Williams of Formosa, in the death of his wife, formerly Miss Ethel M. Foote of Toronto, who died in Toronto on New Year's day, and was buried there yesterday. Rev. Mr. Williams was organizer in the London conference in 1926 and since then in the Bay of Quinte conference for the Maintenance and Extension Fund of the United Church of Canada. He made many friends through out Central Ontario in the past year and carried on his work with his wife's encouragement, although her death had been expected for some months past.
Going out to Formosa as representatives of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, in 1919, Mr. and Mrs. Williams gave able service but returned in 1923 owing to her ill-health. Several years later they had hopes of taking work with the Korea Mission of the United Church, but Mrs. Williams' illness became more serious a year ago and for many months only cheerful courage kept her alive. She leaves four young children three boys and one girl, the oldest being 13 years of age.
At the public service in St. Columba United Church, Rev. R. N. Burns, D. D., for the Maintenance and Extension Committee, and Rev. A. E. Armstrong, D.D., for the Board of Foreign Missions, paid tribute to the loyal support given her husband in his work by the deceased and to her missionary spirit. Six fellow missionaries from the Far Eastern fields of the United Church were the pall bearers.

In Memoriam

Editor, "The Ontario,"
Belleville, Ont.
With unfeigned regret and sincere sympathy with relatives and friends, many read in the Morning Press of the passing of that noble and accomplished teacher, Miss Jessie McRae, of Peterborough Normal School.
Her untimely demise will be deeply deplored by all, nevertheless, her character and work will long be cherished among us.
The old B.H.S. students who knew her, and those acquainted with her life-work, will bow in respect mingled with sorrow at her leaving the mortal and putting on the immortal—life in God.
Our country has lost a true teacher; what an influence! A Christian woman. A worthy citizen! Such citizens the nation—Canada so young—can ill afford to lose.
By her steady outlook upon life, Miss McRae added much to the distinction that hovers around the High School, Belleville, her "Alma Mater," and the Normal School, Peterborough, in both of which she taught, besides enriching by example and thought the profession generally throughout the land.
Then it can be said in truth of her as of those who labored not in vain:
"This they all with joyful mind
Bear through life like a torch in flame,
And falling, fling to the host behind,
Play up! Play up! And play the game."
Let us hope for us all in the last great "Roll Call," good will be the final goal So may it be!
THOMAS WICKETT,
B.H.S., '32-'36.

HEINTZMAN PIANO MALCOLM'S CHOICE
Brilliant Pianist Selects Style D Grand For Local Concert.
The piano to be used by Scott Malcolm, one of Canada's leading pianists, at the concert to-morrow evening, under the auspices of the Women's Musical Club, is a Heintzman and Co., style D Grand. This splendid instrument Mr. Malcolm's personal selection at Heintzman & Co's headquarters in Toronto, is being shipped to Peterborough exclusively for this concert. And surely no piano can need more dependable recommendation for volume range, tonal beauty and responsiveness than its use by such a brilliant young pianist as Scott Malcolm.
Therefore, intending purchasers of a piano should hear the wonderful style D Grand in the Conservatory of Music Hall to-morrow night. It is brand new, and will be for sale here at Heintzman Hall, Royal Bank Building, for the next few days, before being returned to Toronto, as originally intended. Of course the same model of Grand piano is always available, as well as all styles of Heintzman & Co's world famed and superior key instruments. (Adv.)

VOL. LXI., No. 4 — PETERBOROUGH, FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 1928 — PRICE THREE CENTS

E. BRUCE FOWLER RE-ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF SCHOOL BOARD; J. A. M'KONE RESIGNS HIS SEAT

E. R. Wilson Chosen to Fill Out Term of Retiring Trustee.

COMMITTEES STRUCK

Board of Education Prepares for 1928 Business at Inaugural Meeting.

E. Bruce Fowler was elected chairman of the Board of Education at the inaugural meeting last night for his second term. The resignation of John A. McKone, elected a year ago, was accepted, and E. Roland Wilson, who was sixth in the contest for the Board on New Year's Day, was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Those members who were elected on January 1 took their declaration of office, E. A. Peck, M.P., being present for that purpose. The committees were struck and chairmen elected.

In thanking the members for the honor given him in his re-election, Mr. Fowler welcomed Mrs. Morris as a former member to whom the work will be familiar, and declared his belief that the election of Frank M. Dawson will prove a source of strength to the Board, while Mr. Dawson will find the work very interesting.

The resignation of Mr. McKone was received with regret. He has been a member of the Board for nine years and was chairman during 1925 and 1926. Pressure of business was his reason for withdrawing from the work, and tribute to Mr. McKone as an efficient and faithful member was paid by Mr. Fowler.

In moving that the resignation be accepted, E. F. Reid said that it was with a great deal of regret that he did so. He said he had spoken with Mr. McKone several days ago and when Mr. McKone had mentioned his intention of quitting office he had tried to persuade him to stay. Dr. H. M. Yelland characterized Mr. McKone as a member of great value to the Board, when he seconded the motion.

The appointment of Mr. Wilson was moved by J. F. Strickland. He referred to the custom of electing the next in line, and remarked on the exceptional opportunity to get back on the Board a trustee who had given wonderful service during his two years of office. He moved the appointment of Mr. Wilson.

W. R. Turner seconded the motion. He said he felt sure, considering the work Mr. Wilson has begun on the Board, that the opportunity of appointing hi was indeed fortunate

Speaking in support of the motion Mrs. Morris recalled the great interest in all matters pertaining to child welfare that had been evidenced by Mr. Wilson, even before his election to the board.

The following committees were struck by a special committee:

Finance—Dr. H. M. Yelland, chairman; Mrs. Morris, E. R. Wilson ahd the Separate school representative.

Property—E. F. Reid, charman; F. H. Dawson, Dr. J. J. Craig and E. R. Wilson.

Supervision—W. R. Turner, chairman; J. F. Strickland, Dr. H. M. Yelland and Dr. J. J. Craig.

Appointments — J. F. Strickland, chairman; and the whole board.

Advisory Vocational—Trustees Wilson, Reid, Mrs. Morris, Turner, Dawson, and the Separate school representative. Employers, G. A. Gillespie, James Dutton and W. A. Richardson. Employees, Norman S. Moore, Enos Maybee and Harry Morgan.

Building—E R. Wilson, chairman; E. B. Fowler, W. R. Turner, and E. F. Reid.

There was no representative present from the Separate School Board, nor was there a notice of one having been appointed, this situation having obtained for several years, but place was made for one on two of the committees.

There were present E. B. Fowler, Dr. H. M. Yelland, W. R. Turner, Mrs. Kate Morris, J. F. Strickland, E. F Reid and F. H. Dawson.

FINANCE CHAIRMAN.

DR. H. M. YELLAND,
who was last night appointed chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Education.

G. S. MATTHEWS NEW CHAIRMAN

John Crane Welcomed at First Meeting of Utilities Commission.

NEW PUMP CONSIDERED

There was a considerable agenda of business prepared for disposal at the special meeting of the Utilities Commission, held Thursday afternoon in the city buildings.

The new member of the Commission was welcomed in the person of John Crane, whose election to this office was the result of the New Year's Day vote.

It is the custom of the commission at the first meeting of each year to choose a chairman and on this occasion the senior member, G. S. Matthews, was the choice of his fellow commissioners.

A supplementary list of accounts for the financial year 1927 was passed for payment and the discussion passed to other matters.

Owing to unprecedented frazel ice conditions in the river the steam auxiliary pump at the waterworks pumping station has been run continuously from midnight on Monday last to Thursday noon. This winter so far has been the worst for ice conditions experienced in a number of years.

A remedy, or rather, a means of meeting such emergencies was suggested by R. L. Dobbin in a communication in support of which he spoke. He recommended the installation of an electric pump as an additional auxiliary for cases where the water wheel driven pumps cannot be used.

The cost of installation of a six million gallon per day centrifugal pump direct connected to an electric motor was estimated in 1924 to be, with induction motor, $11,600.00 and with synchronous motor $15,000.00. However, it is believed that there is not much change in present prices.

The Commission decided to seek estimates on the cost of installation of such equipment.

A communication from J. J. Duffus expressed appreciation of prompt attention to a broken water service on Christmas Day.

Several communications relative to private accounts were also disposed of before the meeting adjourned.

FIND THE MYSTERY MAN AT THE POULTRY SHOW

A Great Exhibit of Birds, With Loads of Entertainment For Everybody.

Do not forget the visit of the mysterious Mr. X each evening of the Poultry Show next week—Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, January 10th, 11th and 12th.

To the person who discovers the mysterious Mr. X and has a copy of that day's Examiner in their pocket there will be a fine prize each evening, either in fowl or cash if preferred.

The mysterious Mr. X will appear each evening in the Market Hall where the show is being held, and this feature with other features which will be in operation during the show is going to make this year's show a mighty interesting one.

Entries are coming in from all over the Province.

STEVENSON WAS PONTYPOOL MAN

Aviator Killed at The Pas, Manitoba, From This District.

WAR VETERAN.

PONTYPOOL, January 6. — Word was received here to-day by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stevenson, of the death of their son, Captain F. J. N. Stevenson, in an airplane accident.

Captain Stevenson, who was a member of the Royal Air Force in war time, was trying out a new plane at The Pas, Manitoba, when the engine stalled. He was alone in the plane at the time of the accident.

Heavy Industries Leaders In Loan

BERLIN, Jan. 6 (A.P.).—Germany's foreign indebtedness at the end of 1927 is estimated by the statistical bureau as between 8,800,000,000 and 9,500,000,000 marks, exclusive of the Dawes loan of 950,000,000 marks.

Among the private borrowers, the heavy industries are predominant, while the indebtedness of the chemical and textile industries amounts to only 13,500,300 marks and 24,000,000 marks respectively.

MOVING PICTURE WILL BE SHOWN

Film of World's Poultry Congress To Be Exhibited Here.

AT POULTRY SHOW.

Through the courtesy of the management of the local office of the Quaker Oats Company, a moving picture of the World's Poultry Congress, which took place in Ottawa last July, will be shown, free of charge, to all those attending the Poultry Show. The Quaker Oats Company will also run off three or four reels, showing the manufacturing process of their Ful-O-Pep feeds.

This picture should prove very interesting to all farmers and poultrymen, as it will show them clearly, how to feed and house their poultry properly in order to insure the very best results.

Great interest is being taken in this show, and Mayor Denne has consented to be present next Thursday evening to present the prizes to the lucky winners.

It is expected many other attractions will be there beside poultry. There are a very large number of tickets sold, and anyone who has not yet made his entry, should do so to-night, and get in touch with W. J. Nesbitt, Secretary, Phone No. 838W

MORE MARINES REACH QUILALI

Only Battle at Present Is in Congress, Where Expedition is Attacked.

QUIET IN NICARAGUA.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (Canadian Press). — Additional reinforcements have reached the United States Marines holding Quilali, Nicaragua, and they apparently now are ready to resume conflict with the small army of Augustino Sandino, former Liberal general.

While Marines hold their fire awaiting contact with Sandino, verbal skirmishing on the Congressional front of the Nicaraguan campaign goes vigorously on. Pot shots and volleys continue to resound at the gentlest drop of the figurative hat and much more of it is brought into prospect with the introduction yesterday of the Wheeler resolution for a Senate inquiry.

The exact imminence of any new battle in the neighborhood of Quilali was not disclosed in last night's message to Marine headquarters, saying that Lieut. Hunt had led a second relief column into the former stronghold of Sandino. The message did not give the number of men in Hunt's detachment, or give any details of their march through the rugged country, except that none of Sandino's men were encountered enroute.

DAIRYMEN MEET IN BELLEVILLE

Choose Quinte City as Locale of Next Year's Convention.

APPROVE CONSTITUTION.

KINGSTON, Jan. 6. Canadian Press. — Belleville was chosen as the meeting place of the 1929 Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association convention at a meeting of the directors here, following the close of the final session. The officers of the association were re-elected for another term, with no important changes.

The directors unanimously approved the drafted constitution of the Ontario Federated Dairy Association —an organization which will unite the several dairy associations in the province.

IMPORTS FROM UNITED KINGDOM SHOW INCREASE OVER OCTOBER

Gain One and Half Million Dollars Over Figures of Preceding Month.

EXPORTS DECREASE.

Large Drop-off Shown in Exports of Cattle and Apples.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 6.— (Canadian Press.)— Imports into Canada from the United Kingdom for the month of November, 1927, showed an increase of more than one and a half million dollars over the figure for October, and a rise of nearly four million dollars over November of 1926. A return issued by the Department of Trade and Commerce to-day discloses that in November last year goods to the value of $18,666,383 were imported into this country from Great Britain, of which $14,815,060 was dutiable. In October the figure was $16,928,214, while in November, 1926, $14,804,819 worth of goods were imported.

The twelve-months total of British imports increased by about $16,000,000 over those for the preceding twelve months, the figures at the end of November, 1927, standing at $180,081,674, as compared with $163,853,679 for the twelve-months period ended November, 1926.

Canada's exports to the United Kingdom for the month under review totalled $71,561,692, of which agricultural and vegetable products constituted the largest item, accounting for $62,656,027. The total figure was an increase of over two and a half million dollars over November 1926, when $69,018,084 worth of goods was exported.

In the twelve-months period ended November 1927, Canada's export trade to Great Britain reached the figure of $420,944,015 (Canadian produce only.) This was a huge decrease from the previous corresponding period when Canadian produce to the value of $485,998,740 was exported. The largest reduction was in agricultural and vegetable products, the 1926 figure being $362,746,858 as compared with $315,652,439 at the end of November, 1927.

With regard to the twelve-months period of imports from the United Kingdom, it was noted that alcoholic beverages rose from $23,704,119 in 1926 to $34,322,004 in 1927. There was a considerable increase in the importation of wines. In the importation of wines, 25,838,868 gallons were brought in during 1927 as compared with 18,020,832 gallons in 1926; imports of whiskey also rose from 862,193 gallons to 1,224,419.

Regarding the exports, a large drop is shown in cattle. In 1926, up to November 30, Canada sent 87,141 head of live cattle to Great Britain, but in 1927 only 14,075 head were exported. Translated into money this represented an export of $8,919,153 in 1926 and $1,459,470 in 1927.

The export of apples for the twelve-months period also dropped considerably, the 1927 figures being 810,894 barrels compared with 1,343,497 barrels in 1926.

RESIGNS FROM BOARD.

McMaster Alumni Make Final Arrangements For Financing.

TO MOVE UNIVERSITY.

Joseph Wearing, president of the McMaster University Peterborough Alumni Association, and a member of the General Executive, attended a meeting of the association last night at McMaster Hall, Toronto, where final arrangements were made for the part to be taken by the graduates of the University in the raising of the necessary money to enable the University to move to Hamilton.

It has been decided to raise in all the sum of $1,500,000 and of this $1,000,000 is to be raised among the churches of the Ontario and Quebec Convention, and $500,000 among the graduates of the University. Of this money $1,000,000 is to be added to the present endowment bequeathed thirty years ago by the late Senator McMaster and $500,000 is to be used for buildings and equipment.

Of the $500,000 to be raised by the graduates a sum of $50,000 will come from the lady graduates, who have undertaken to raise that amount among themselves. The balance of $450,000 is to be raised by the men graduates, and already one graduate has contributed the sum of $200,000.

The reasons for leaving Toronto are that the increase in students during the last few years makes it impossible to carry on in the present quarters on the North side of Queen's Park, and some move being necessary it has been deemed advisable to move to Hamilton because of the great opportunities there for a University and because the Baptist denomination is particularly strong in the Niagara peninsula and Western Ontario. The city of Hamilton has contributed a site of one hundred and forty acres near the bay, between Hamilton and Ancaster, and will maintain the whole site as a park. The citizens of Hamilton have also offered as a voluntary gift the sum of $500,000 to be used to build a Science Building.

MAKES APPOINTMENTS.

J. F. STRICKLAND, who is chairman of the Committee on Appointments, which consists of the entire Board of Education. He was elected last night.

Trees and Lights Taken Off Streets

The last of the Christmas decorations were removed from the streets of this city this afternoon. The colored lighting system that was installed by the Utilities Commission was removed by the Commission's workmen, and the Christmas trees put up by the Kiwanis and Friday Night Clubs were removed by Cooney & Jopling.

Establish Market For Poultry And Eggs

REGINA, Sask., Jan. 6 (Canadian Press). — Tentative plans for the establishment of an inter-provincial organization for the marketing of poultry and eggs, were under discussion at a special conference yesterday attended by officials of the Saskatchewan and Manitoba Poultry pools.

"We have not progressed far enough to make a statement," declared Mrs. John Holmes, president of the Saskatchewan pool.

CLUB PROTESTS ARE CONSIDERED

Local Automobile Club Has Protested Against Increase in Taxes.

WILL HOLD BANQUET.

The meeting of the executive of the Peterborough Automobile Club was held last evening in the club offices, 358 George street, there being several items of business slated for consideration.

Communications were read from the Premier of Ontario, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, and from Minister of Public Works and Highways, Hon. George S. Henry, to the effect that the protest of the Peterborough Automobile Club against an increase in the gasoline tax or an increase in auto license fees would receive the earnest consideration of the government, as would numerous protests received from all automobile clubs in the Province of Ontario.

It was reported by members of the executive that the request to the department for protective posts guarding dangerous ditches at curves on the Peterborough-Port Hope Highway had been complied with, the usual railings being erected.

A communiction was read from J. C. Bickell, registrar of motor vehicles of the Province, commending the Peterborough office on the satisfactory manner in which the business of the department—issuance of licenses, permits, etc.—had been carried out in 1927, and advising of the re-appointment of the secretary-treasurer as issuer for 1928. Mr. Stinson, the issuer, reported that part of the supplies, in the form of cards, etc., had been received from the department, but that license plates were not yet available, though expected daily.

It was the unanimous decision of the executive, that the annual meeting this year take the form of a banquet to which prominent speakers would be invited and at which entertainment would be provided. Members of the club, over two hundred in number, in addition to all motorists of Peterborough, will be invited to attend. The date was not set but a committee was appointed comprising the vice-president, Thomas M. Dutton, J. Gillespie and the secretary to complete preliminary arrangements, reporting back to the executive as soon as possible.

It was also announced during the evening that the annual meeting of the Ontario motor league, with which the Peterborough Automobile club is affiliated, will be held in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, during the month of February. The executive session will be held in the afternoon and in the evening, the customary banquet will take place in the Crystal Ball Room, to which all motorists and their wives are invited. A full press notice of this gathering will appear in a later issue.

INQUEST POSTPONED.

Engineer Still Unable To Attend Inquiry Into Accident.

KINGSTON, Ont., January 6 (Canadian Press). — The inquest which was to have been resumed at Dockrill on January 9, has been further postponed until February 6, because of the fact that Engineer Bradford would not be able to attend on Monday. The inquest was called to inquire into the deaths of six people who lost their lives when a C.P.R. freight and a C.P.R. express train met in a head-on collision at Dockrill Siding on November 27.

Runner Drops Dead In Diamond Rush; Four Thousand Seek Hundred Claims

GRASFONTEIN, South Africa, January 6 (Canadian Press). — One runner dropped dead in the diamond rush to the new field on Grasfontein Farm, in which four thousand runners participated, although it was announced only one hundred valuable claims were available. All night along the rough veldt roads, made quagmires by heavy rains, the runners assembled at the starting points, arriving in all sorts of conveyances. Thirteen clerks worked frantically issuing claims certificates at the rate of four hundred an hour.

This was probably the last big diamond rush in South Africa for at least a year, as the Government announced last December that prospecting on Crown and private lands would be prohibited for a year, as it was feared the output from alluvial diggings would exceed that of the organized companies, and consequently disrupt the industry.

GOVERNOR SMITH RESERVES DECISION IN JOINT APPEAL; SHOWS LITTLE SYMPATHY

Tells Counsel for the Doomed Pair That He Must Uphold Law.

ASK 30-DAY REPRIEVE.

Retainer For Mrs. Snyder Says Client is Pathological Case.

ALBANY, January 6. — Asking a ten-day reprieve that Mrs. Ruth Snyder, convicted murderess of her husband, might be examined in the light of a new psychiatry, Edgar Haselton, her counsel, yesterday went before Governor Smith in the executive chamber.

Mrs. Snyder, who, with her paramour, Judd Gray, is under sentence to die in the electric chair, at Sing-Sing next week, is a pathological case, Haselton asserted.

She comes with in the "mental twilight zone that separates legal insanity from the border line of mental irresponsibility," he went on. He told how her mind might have become affected from a sunstroke and a fall suffered in her youth.

In conclusion, Haselton spoke of growing adverse sentiment against capital punishment. The Snyder-Gray case, he said, had helped to create such sentiment.

Haselton also advanced the cause of Gray. He pointed out that alienists who examined the co-slayer were in doubt and presented a compromise verdict that he was "not insane" instead of saying he was 'sane."

It was the first time since Mrs. Snyder and Gray collaborated in the early morning of March 20 last when Snyder was killed as he slept, that there had been any outward alliance of the two. Each blamed the other during the trial, but now with days of life growing few, the attorney for one was arguing in favor of the other.

The executive chamber was crowded to capacity. Among the spectators were the mothers of the condemned pair and members of the State Crime Commission.

William J. Millard pleaded for Gray as one who was dominated by a stronger influence than his own.

Drawing a word picture of Gray's youth, devotion of his family, loyalty to his wife, Millard then said: "This was the man Gray up to the time he became involved in the most pitiful pathetic tragedy in human life, the tragedy that started when these two souls came together."

Governor Smith indicated little sympathy for the insanity pleas.

"Stay on the law," the Governor advised Edgar F. Haselton, counsel for Mrs. Snyder, after the lawyer had spoken of a "psychosis," with which he said Mrs. Snyder was afflicted.

"I am not going to be concerned with psychosis. Remember, there is a background for me. I have the law and the oath of office sworn to before God Himself to uphold."

Must Uphold the Law.

"St. Paul said the letter of the law killeth but the spirit giveth life," Haselton countered.

"Yes, but the Legislature of this State gave a later expression than St. Paul, and I am bound to uphold the law," responded the Governor.

Haselton had conceded both persons were able to distinguish between right and wrong, but said that physchiatrists had found contributing circumstances which limited the control of the pair over their acts.

"That's right," said the Governor, "but there is always an abnormality in a person who commits a crime, and if we were to follow our argument in this connection to a natural conclusion no one would ever be held responsible.

Reserves Decision.

"There are two pleas always made here. First one lawyer says 'Give the poor boy a chance, he had no education, no real environment, and was brought up on the streets. He is not accountable for what he did.' The second lawyer says, 'This man committed the crime, but he was a good man up until this time. He was intelligent, had an excellent home life, and never appeared in court before.' If we accepted both pleas who would suffer any penalty? That's the answer to psychosis."

The hearing of an application for a 30-day reprieve lasted two hours, the longest ever held here.

At its conclusion Governor Smith reserved decision and probably will not announce it until next week.

IN CHARGE OF PROPERTY.

E. F. REID,
re-elected chairman of the Property Committee at the inaugural meeting of the Board of Education last night.

FRENCH THINK PACT POSSIBLE

Full Accord On Principles Noted —Text Remains To Be Fixed.

REPLY RECEIVED.

PARIS, Jan. 6.—(Canadian Press.) —French circles believe that a Franco-American arbitration treaty with a denunciation of aggressive war in its preamble can be signed very shortly.

There is full accord on the principles of the treaty between the two countries and it remains only to the Polish text of the treaty so that France's League of Nations obligations and the American Monroe Doctrine can be properly recognized. These points are being discussed in exchanges of cabled notes and no real difficulties in adjusting them are foreseen

Reply at Embassy.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.— (Canadian Press.)—A favorable reply to Secretary Kellogg's note to France of December 28, suggesting an international covenant deploring war as a means of settling international disputes, was received to-day at the French Embassy. The note will be delivered to the State Department later in the day.

WRECKAGE BEARS SEVEN STAMPS

Letters and Figures Many Times Repeated—Thought Part of Plane.

CHARLOTTETOWN P.E.I., Jan. 6.—Canadian Press. — The piece of wreckage found on shore of Minnegash, recently, and thought to be part of an airplane, bears seven stamps, four of which contain the number "10" and the letters "Gar" or "Gap," it was learned to-day. The other three stamps are numbered 375261, 376261 and 378261. The number 520 is also on wreckage which carries the figures 376261 twice. The piece is being forwarded for examination to Captain H. R. Stewart of this city, formerly an officer of the aviation corps overseas.

Buoy Discovered.

ST. John's, Nfld., Jan. 6. — Canadian Press. — The Minister of Customs has been informed that an inflated buoy, supposed to have been dropped from an airplane, has been picked up at Distolet Bay, on the north coast, and is being brought here for examination by the Steamer Prospero.

REMUS REFUSED WRIT.

Appeal Only Hope Former Bootlegger Has of Escaping Punishment.

CINCINNATI, January 6 (Canadian Press). — George Remus, former Chicago lawyer, who became the king of bootleggers, was denied a writ of habeas corpus to-day, and his hope of evading punishment for the murder of his wife turned to an appeal from the Probate Court, which found him insane and directed his commitment to a hospital for the criminal insane.

SWIFT JUSTICE METED OUT TO YOUNG BANDIT

Youth With Gun Put To Rout By Irate Victim.

GIVEN 5 YEAR TERM.

Attempts Hold-up in Morning, Sentenced to Penitentiary in Afternoon.

ST. CATHARINES, January 6. — A bad, bold bandit in the morning, and a convict facing a five-year term in Kingston Penitentiary in the afternoon, was the peculiar predicament faced yesterday by Harold Gough.

Early yesterday Jerry Heaton was sitting in his office when he suddenly felt a gun pressed against his ribs and a stern voice told him to put up his hands. Disregarding this gruff command, he coolly asked what the youthful bandit wanted, and when told to hand over his money he replied that the robber had come to the wrong place for that, and reached for a chair to use as a weapon. The would-be bandit beat a hasty retreat.

Two hours later police arrested Harold Gough, aged 19, and Leslie Reece, aged 21, at a rooming house on John Street. A revolver, cartridges and a folded red bandana handkerchief were found in the room, and questioning drew the admission from Gough that he had been at the Heaton office that morning. He was charged with robbery armed during the afternoon, and on conviction was sentenced to five years in Kingston Penitentiary.

Says Sanitary Conditions In Factory Absolutely Necessary For Cheese Making

KINGSTON, Ont., January 6 (Canadian Press). — Thursday afternoon's session of the annual convention of the Dairymen's Association of Eastern Ontario was featured by addresses by W. F. Jones, Chief Dairy Manufacturers' Division, Ottawa, J. A. Ruddick Dairy Commissioner, Ottawa, and W. F. Stevens, president of the National Dairy Council.

Speaking on the subject of "The Keeping Quality of Ontario Cheddar Cheese," Mr. Jones stated that there are three principal factors which determine whether a cheese will have "good" or "poor" keeping quality. They are: Original quality, sanitary conditions at the factory, temperature of storage. He stressed the necessity for absolutely sanitary conditions in the factory.

W. F. Stevens, in his address, referred to the work of the National Dairy Council of Canada, pointing out that one of the strong features of the Council's work in the past has been education and publicity. Another feature is to endeavor to demonstrate the value of pasteurized milk to safeguard the home. "It is the opinion of many dairymen," said Mr. Stevens, "that owing to changed conditions, results brought by the Australian Treaty are causing injury to the dairy industry. It is generally recognized that if the Government restores to the dairy farmers and creamery men what was taken from them by the signing of this treaty, it will ameliorate the unfavorable condition now facing our dairymen, and encourag a larger production of dairy products and restore our export butter trade again.

Farm Laborers Prince's Guests

LEICESTER, Eng., Jan. 6.—Canadian Press. — Six farm laborers, each of whom has worked at least fifty years for his present employer, will have a special table, near the Prince of Wales to-night at a dinner given by the Prince to eight hundred farmers over whose land he hunts foxes.

The laborer with the longest service is James Adkins who at ten was a farm boy earning four pence a day. At 71 he walks two miles a day to work. Adkins has served three generations of the same family of farmers.

The Prince will give his guests an old English fare of roast beef, Yorkshire pudding and beer.

HOLD TESTS IN WINTER TIME

Submarine Commander Tells Navy Court Investigating S-4 Disaster.

OFTEN OUT IN STORM.

BOSTON, Jan. 6. — Canadian Press. — Winter conditions are not allowed to make any difference in the routine operation of submarines, Commander Edmund W. Strothers, commanding the 12th submarine division, informed the navy court of inquiry investigating the S-4 disaster yesterday.

The witness maintained that neither he nor the officer commanding the S-4 thought the weather conditions in December offered any obstacle to the holding of standardization trials off Provincetown, where the submarine was rammed and sunk by the coast guard destroyer Paulding on December 17.

"I have been out in a submarine at New London in a driving snowstorm," the witness said.

Commander Strothers produced the orders which sent the S-4 on her last cruise and described the first efforts made by the rescue ships to succor the 40 officers and men imprisoned in the sunken hull.

WATERWAY DISCUSSED.

Nothing Decided at Conference of Committee With Cabinet.

OTTAWA, January 5 (Canadian Press).—The sub-committee of the Cabinet met informally this morning with the National Advisory Committee on the St. Lawrence Waterway, and after a conference of more than two hours it was announced that nothing definite had been accomplished. This afternoon the National Committee will meet alone to select a chairman, and it is said unofficially that the Hon. Walter Foster of St. John is likely to be selected to fill the post made vacant by the resignation of Senator the Rt. Hon. George P. Graham.

FARM RELIEF BILL DISCUSSED AT WASHINGTON

McNary Claims Revised Measure Will Be Sent to White House By March 1.

MEETS OPPOSITION.

Changed To Meet Many Objections Pointed to Last Year.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 6 (Canadian Press).—Farm relief came up for its first round of consideration this season in the Senate yesterday amid an atmosphere apparently as bitter as old.

At the outset, Chairman McNary of the agriculture committee, inspired the McNary-Haugen bill supporters, who again claim a majority in the Senate, with the prediction that the revised measure would be sent to the White House by Congress by March 1, where he hoped it would be signed by President Coolidge.

After Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, had urged passage of the bill, Mr. McNary informed the Senate that his committee would take up the measure probably about February 1.

Measure Revised

Senator McNary has revised the bill to meet many of the objections pointed to by President Coolidge last year in vetoing the proposal. As a result, he expressed hope for presidential approval, despite the fact that the bill still carries the controversial equalization fee, to which Mr. Coolidge objected.

While Senators Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, and McKellar, became entangled in a spirited row over farm relief, Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, leader of the erstwhile Senate farm bloc, put forward a resolution proposing a reduction of freight rates on grain and grain products exported from this country, in an effort to equalize the position of United States grain growers with Canadian competition.

Declaring Canadian wheat enjoys an advantage of eight to ten cents a bushel, in lower transportation charges, Senator Capper held this was a serious menace to American farmers, and he called for an immediate investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission of export grain rates.

Pleads Not Guilty To Third Charge

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 6 (Canadian Press).—William E. Hickman yesterday pleaded not guilty, "by reason of insanity," when he was arraigned on an indictment charging him with the murder of O. Ivy Thoms, a druggist. The accused slayer of Marian Parker was arraigned only a few hours after his indictment along with 16-year-old Welby Hunt for the slaying of the druggist.

Collars fray and shirts shrink because of the presence of bacteria, according to an English scientist, who says the bacteria are more active in colder weather.

POLICE COMMISSION ENDS YEAR'S WORK

Appreciation of Services of Mayor Holloway Expressed by Chairman.

The City Police Commission met at four o'clock Thursday afternoon in the committee rooms of the city clerk's office, His Honor Judge Huycke presiding.

Nothing had been done regarding the cleaning up of cells in the police station, according to Chief Newhall. Last night, alcohol had been effectively used to kill vermin. Discussion of this and other items in connection with the police department followed.

A pleasing feature of the meeting of the commission was the appreciative manner in which His Honor Judge Huycke referred to the tenure of the retiring manner, Dr. W. T. Holloway. To the various problems that he had confronted and solved, to his efficient handling of his work in connection with the Police department, and to the manner in which he had conducted himself while in office, he made reference and concluded by expressing the hope that Mr. Holloway would see fit to carry on in some other public capacity.

Magistrate O. A. Langley supported the words of Judge Huycke and expressed his personal wishes that the retiring official might enjoy the best of health and prosperity.

In reply, Mayor Holloway particularly stressed the efficiency of Chief of Police Newhall and the manner in which he had co-operated in all his dealings regarding the police department. Personally he had come to know the chief and to respect him for his ability and though he had not always agreed with him, he had defended the chief against talkers who did not know the chief or his work. In conclusion, Mr. Holloway expressed a desire to prove worthy of the praise that Judge Huycke had accorded him.

Chief Newhall briefly expressed his regret at the severing of relations with the retiring mayor. He had appreciated his interest in the police department.

OBITUARY

MRS. ELIZABETH POWERS.

DOWNEYVILLE, Jan. 6. — The death occurred recently of Mrs. Elizabeth Powers at her residence, Russell street, Lindsay, after an illness, extending over several months' duration, at the ripe old age of 90 years.

Mrs. Powers lived nearly all her life at Downeyville until a few years ago, when she moved to Lindsay to reside. She was well and favorably known by a large circle of friends and was of a quiet and retiring disposition. She leaves to mourn her loss two daughters, Mrs. Alfred Dewan of Downeyville and Miss Jennie at home; also four sons Thomas, Maurice and William of Dakota and Neil of Downeyville.

The funeral took place from her late residence to St. Mary's church, Lindsay, where requiem mass was chanted by the Rev. Father Black and the remains were then conveyed to St. Luke's cemetery, Downeyville, where interment was made.

The services at the grave were conducted by the Rev. Father Galvin of Downeyville.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Vincent Connell, Neil Murray and Joseph Flynn nephews, of Emily, Alfred Dewan, son-in-law, William Lehane and William Crowley of Lindsay. The sympathy of the community goes out to the family in their sad bereavement.

Approve New System For Liquor Purchase

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 6 (Canadian Press). — The law amendments committee of the Provincial Legislature yesterday approved the cash and carry system for small quantities of liquor purchasable under the new liquor bill. The committee was unanimous in the decision which will allow permit holders to purchase in any one day a quantity not exceeding two gallons (one case) of beer, one gallon of wine, and one quart of any other liquor.

The proposed restriction on issuance of permits to persons other than guests in hotels or clubs was opposed by members of the Conservative group as a class legislation against employees in hotels and clubs.

Hon. J. A. Bernier offered a motion to delete the clause, but Hon. W. J. Major, chairman, urged that the Government would see there was no unfairness, and the clause was allowed to pass.

ELECTION RESULTS

QUIET IN MADOC.

MADOC, Jan. 6.—A very quiet election day was held in Madoc.

There were three candidates for the reeveship and five for councillors. The results were: For Reeve, Mr. E. C. Tufts, with a good majority.

For Councillors—Messrs. C. Wallbridge, W. E. Cohnor, R. Bristol and F. Smith.

The school trustees were re-elected by acclamation, Mrs. F. W. Jenkins, Messrs. J. Armstrong and C. Ross.

CANADIAN AIRMAN KILLED IN CRASH

Flier Meets Instant Death When Machine Nose Dives at The Pas.

THE PAS, Man., Jan. 6. — While testing his plane yesterday prior to starting off on a passenger flight from The Pas to Cold Lake mining district, Captain F. J. N. Stevenson, senior pilot of the Western Airways, Limited, was instantly killed, when the machine lost its flying speed and crashed.

Captain Stevenson had taken to the air after supervising repairs to his plane. He circled over the town at an altitude of about 300 feet while a crowd of spectators waited on the flying field. For a few minutes the plane was obliterated by a frosty mist. The engine stalled and the plane crashed to the ground.

The airman was dead when extricated from the tangled wreckage.

Captain Stevenson was regarded as one of the most able fliers in Canada. He enjoyed a distinguished record as a member of the Royal Flying Corps and at the close of the war entered the Ontario government forest patrol service. Later he joined the Western Airways Limited, which operates an air service from Winnipeg to the mineral fields in the central and northern sections of the province.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE TOWNSHIP OF DOURO

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I wish to convey my sincere thanks for the liberal support you gave me on Monday in electing me as Councillor for 1928.

Wishing you a happy and prosperous New Year.

J. A. CROWE.

ALL A GAME

Some boys with a bat and ball—
And we, who are old and wise,
Smile, if we smile at all,
And even perhaps advise.
We smile at the children's cheers,
We laugh at their praise and blame,
Yes, many a cynic sneers—
But isn't life all a game?

A man with a bag of gold,
Or a tinsel crown, goes past;
And we, who are wise, and old,
Run after him ever so fast.
And some of us call it strife,
And give it many a name,
Yes, some of us call it life—
But isn't it all a game?

Some boys with a ball and bat—
It's only a game they play;
But what is it all but that,
Whatever their elders say?
Yes, maybe the gold we choose,
Or maybe we fight for fame,
And maybe we win or lose—
But isn't it all a game?

Was Subject to BRONCHITIS Every Winter

Mrs. Wm. Healey, 524 Hill Street, London, Ont., writes:—"My daughter, aged fourteen, was subject to bronchitis every winter.

"She would cough until she was sore from the exertion.

"Last winter a friend advised me to get a bottle of your

FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 1928.

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED.

The shooting of a Port Hope youth by a rifle in the hands of his five-year-old brother should serve as a tragic reminder of the folly of keeping loaded firearms where they can be reached by anyone.

There have been four or five such cases in Ontario recently, and in every instance the accident was brought about by carelessness that was nothing short of criminal.

Not the slightest justification exists for bringing a loaded gun inside a building, and furthermore, every child—and many adults—should be taught that to point a firearm at anybody is the most dangerous kind of folly.

People who have occasion to carry such weapons should never fail to unload them before putting them away, and everybody else should treat every firearm as if it were loaded.

"I didn't know it was loaded," has been the only plea in numerous cases of death from accidental shooting, and it is a lame and weak excuse.

No person should take chances with firearms; it is safer to assume that they are always ready to kill.

A SPLENDID SHOWING.

The cheese factories of Eastern Ontario are to be congratulated upon the high standard of their product during the past year as indicated by the report of G. G. Publow, the Chief Dairy Inspector for this section of the Province.

Mr. Publow supplies the interesting information that, including all causes, only seven per cent. of the cheese produced in Eastern Ontario in 1927 was below first grade.

That is a showing that reflects great credit upon all concerned.

It means a great deal to the cheese industry to have the product of uniform excellence, inasmuch as it not only ensures better prices but a sure and lasting market.

The manufacture of cheese has become a big business in Eastern Ontario the value of the cheese made last year being well over fifteen million dollars, and it is a matter for general satisfaction that the industry is being so well looked after that 93 per cent. of the total production can be placed in the first grade.

The very high standard of workmanship in Eastern Ontario cheese factories means much to this part of the Province.

SHOULD BE ENFORCED.

According to The Ottawa Journal, there are at least 5,000 people in that city driving automobiles who have not yet taken out the necessary permits.

Furthermore, it is pointed out that the people who have secured operators' licenses are those who are driving constantly and thus are more competent to handle a car, while the number without licenses are the occasional drivers who are not as a rule as skilled and experienced as the others.

This is a condition of affairs that should be investigated, and it will cause some speculation as to the number of Peterborough motorists who have so far neglected to secure the required permit to drive.

The licensing system appealed to most people as likely to bring about an improvement in driving conditions, and provide protection for motorists as well as for pedestrians against the incompetent and careless driver.

If the law, however, is to be enforced with such laxity that in one city alone there are 5,000 permitless drivers, it is evident that it will fail to accomplish the purpose for which it was designed.

It should be seen to that nobody who has not complied with the law should be allowed to sit at the wheel of a car.

LESS DRUNKENNESS.

Stories of an increase in holiday drunkenness as a result of the introduction of the Liquor Control Act can evidently be taken with a grain of salt judging by the reports of the Provincial Police from the ten Ontario districts.

These reports show fewer arrests of intoxicated people during the Christmas season than there were a year ago under the Ontario Temperance Act.

This was not only true of Toronto but of smaller Ontario cities where the people as a whole lived up to Mr. Hanna's prediction and behaved themselves as sane and sensible folks.

It is true that there were line-ups in front of Government stores on the day before Christmas, but it should not be forgotten that in other Yuletides under the Ontario Temperance Act these line-ups were divided among many doctors' offices, and that the Government dispensaries had by far the biggest business of the year at the Christmas season.

And it should be remembered that all this holiday liquor under the O.T.A. was sold as medicine, a rank piece of hypocrisy that deceived no one.

It will seem to most people as preferable to have men line up to buy liquor openly and legitimately than to have them obtain it by fraud and falsehoods and at the expense of the good name of an honourable profession.

Christmas-time records of the Ontario dispensaries leave no doubt as to the thirst of the Province, even when the sale of liquor except as medicine was forbidden.

THE CONSTRUCTIVE WORK OF GOVERNMENTS.

Governments have advanced far beyond the stage of merely protecting life and property, and are now identified in some way with nearly every department of life. In the main their function is still to regulate conduct for the public good, but in the economic sphere at least they have undertaken constructive work. A great deal of the success of Canadian agriculture, for instance, is due to the research and educational work carried on by our Dominion and Provinces. In forestry, mining, fisheries and the protection of fur-bearing animals—all the primary industries directly dependent upon natural resources—the Governments have fostered and aided industry. Sometimes their action has been unwise, and at other times it has been distorted by narrow politics, but in the main we have developed underlying principles that are sound.

More recently Governments here as elsewhere, have gone somewhat beyond the development of natural resources, and have co-operated with manufacturing and trade as a whole. For centuries, of course, we have had protective tariffs which are considered as fostering home industry. In real fact, however, protection originated as a scheme for merely accumulating gold within the nation, that being deemed to be a good thing; or they have been imposed to gain public revenue. Even at the best, a protective tariff transfers money from the pocket of the consumer into that of the producer. Subsidies and bonuses are another type of assistance, the purpose of which is obvious, though here again it is just a question of taxing the country as a whole for the assistance of specific branches of production.

The broader plan for economic development which is now pursued by our Governments is illustrated by the maintenance of a corps of trade commissioners in foreign markets. The services of these men are available to all who are interested in selling Canadian goods abroad. The Canadian Department of Trade and Commerce is now quite active in other ways. Trade agreements, involving not only tariff preferences but also steamship services, etc., have been arranged, and some more are under consideration.

In conjunction with this work, the Department of Trade and Commerce is shortly to begin a campaign of publicity for the betterment of Canadian industry as a whole. The purpose is to set forth, in Canada and without, the great opportunities that exist here for economic development. There is obviously no lack of strong points to put before the public. It only needs to be effectively done. Business men have got past criticism of paternal government, and are ready to encourage any good work. And with so much other high pressure publicity clamoring for people's support, it is only fair that Canada should make a bid for the time and money of her citizens.—Monetary Times.

THE ENGLISH COLD SPELL.

The reports of exceedingly severe winter weather prevailing throughout the British Isles at the Christmas period need not be accepted too literally by Canadians, who are accustomed to regard a temperature much below zero as a necessary accompaniment of such conditions. The winter which Britishers have been enduring is by no means a Canadian winter, in point of the position of the mercury. As a matter of fact, although it is reported that skis and snowshoes appeared in London on Christmas Day, and although ice hockey was played upon many of the ponds throughout the country, the lowest temperature recorded was at Croydon, where eight degrees above zero, or 24 degrees of frost, were registered. The lowest temperature which has ever been recorded in Great Britain was in the North of Scotland in the year 1895 when the thermometer touched 17 below zero, while London's lowest reading was five below in 1816.

But if the temperature recorded in the Old Country has been much higher than that frequently experienced in Canada during a normal winter, it is not difficult to understand that the people have suffered, and suffered keenly, as a result of the cold spell. No temperature that Canada may produce can be at all comparable, so far as the comfort of the individual is concerned, to the penetrating dampness of Great Britain's infrequent periods of winter coldness. The coldness of Canada is a dry one; that of Britain, on the other hand, is damp, raw and penetrating. It chills to the marrow and, no matter what the temperature, the comparative proximity of the sea, with its accompanying dampness, is nearly always present. The fogs which submerge the larger cities, due to the consumption of soft coal in great quantities, add to the unpleasantness experienced.

But it is very probably in the houses that the greatest discomfort and hardship have been experienced as a result of the Christmas arrival of near-zero weather. As a general rule, the British house is wholly unsuited to cope with such conditions as are reported. Except in comparatively isolated cases, there is an absence of central heating facilities (although greater progress is being recorded in this connection from year to year), and the heat produced by a fireplace, burning either coal or gas, is not sufficient to bring relief. There can be no greater torture than to be obliged to endure the rigors of a English winter day or night in living quarters which possess no other heating apparatus than a smoulding coal fireplace or a gas fireplace of exceedingly limited usefulness. The Spartan-like attitude assumed by the average Englishman when he is faced with such conditions, his invariable cheerfulness under circumstances which are most trying to any North American accustomed to the blessings of central heating, is worthy of all commendation; but still the wonder grows that the Englishman of means is content, year after year, to endure the same discomfort and inconvenience, particularly when suitable fuel is procurable in ample quantities and when its cost is not excessive.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, January 6. — With less than a full load of fresh cattle in the market yesterday morning, there was of necessity but little doing in that line. A few hogs and lambs made up the finis to a scanty week's offerings.

Local buyers who were not particularly active earlier in the week, were looking for a few nice medium weight killers yesterday morning, but had to be content with such as were offerings. Prices were holding good and firm at this week's advances.

A fairly active market is looked for next week.

Lambs are higher at $14.00 to $14.50.

Hogs steady with packers bidding $8.25 f.o.b. selects.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, January 6 (Canadian Press). — The foreign demand for grain here yesterday was again of a very limited character. There was some inquiry from local buyers for oats in the domestic market, and sales of quite a few cars were made for all-rail shipment from Fort William, and in addition to this a moderate trade was done with country buyers. The tone of the market was steady.

A small volume of business was done with foreign buyers in spring wheat flour, but the domestic trade was quiet and prices were steady. The winter wheat flour trade was inactive.

A feature of the millfeed trade was the renewed demand from United States buyers, but owing to the limited supplies available here only sales of odd cars were reported. The local trade continued good and the undertone was firm. A steady feeling prevailed in the market for the standard grades of rolled oats, but the volume of business was only fair.

The egg trade was fairly active and values were firm. The receipts were 1,845 cases.

The market for potatoes was without any new feature to note, prices being steady with only a small trade passing. Car lots of Prince Edward Island Green Mountains were quoted at $1.15 per bag of 90 pounds, Prince Edward Whites at $1.05 per bag of 90 pounds, New Brunswick White potatoes at 95c per bag of 90 pounds, in bulk, ex-track.

The trade in imported beans showed no improvement, but values were unchanged. Car lots of choice white hand-picked were quoted at $2.65 per bushel, ex-track, and smaller quantities at $2.75 per bushel, ex-store.

There was no further change in prices for butter, but the tone of the market was easy at the late decline noted. There was some demand from Toronto, and sales of one car of Eastern township No. 1 pasteurized creamery butter was made at 35¾c per pound, and other lots sold for local account at 35½c to 6c per pound. The receipts were 32 packages.

Owing to the continued absence of any demand from English importers for cheese, and the lull in the trade with the United States of late, the market remains very quiet. Prices are about steady. The receipts were 151 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Ills., January 6 (Canadian Press). — Grain suffered breaks yesterday coincident with weakness in the New York stock market, and with statements by a prominent speculator regarding general grain trade conditions. In most quarters a decided bearish construction was placed on the statements concerning grain trade. Final quotations on wheat were unsteady, ⅝c to 1¼c net lower, corn ⅝c to ⅝c off, oats ¼c to ½c to ⅝c down, and provisions showing 2c to 12c decline.

More than two cents a bushel drop in wheat values took place from the day's top level. Closing prices were at virtually the bottom figures reached. Observers differed as to whether the action of the stock market yesterday or the bearish sentiment resulting from discussion of the grain market outlook by a leading operator was chiefly responsible. Earlier, the entire list of grain prices here had been showing an upward trend, helped by advices that trans-Atlantic wheat import needs have been seriously under-estimated.

Selling pressure broadened out rapidly, however, on the price upturns in the wheat market. Meanwhile, export demand for the American wheat apparently came to a standstill, although there were intimations that the Canadian growers' pool had sold considerable wheat abroad direct. On the other hand, notice was taken of heavy Argentine exports of wheat, larger both than last week and a year ago. Buying power yesterday in the wheat future delivery pit here was poor after the break in prices, the market showing the effect of recent buying on the part of traders who previously had been sellers.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat and stocks. There were assertions

ECZEMA ENDED

Madame A. Lariviere of Fall River, Mass., suffered with eczema for three years, and had treatment from several doctors, all of whom gave up the case. "Finally," she says, "I went to a specialist, which cost me another $20, but I was no better.

"A friend advised me to try Zam-Buk, which I did, and for which I have ever since been thankful. I very soon felt some relief, and perseverance with Zam-Buk completely rid me of the disease."

SEVERE CUT HEALED

Mr. C. Oakley of Saskatoon, who sustained a terrible cut on his leg, says: "Had I known of Zam-Buk when the accident occurred, I could have saved myself a $40 doctor's bill! A doctor sewed up the cut and attended me for five weeks, but the wound did not heal, and he advised me to go into a hospital.

"I objected, however, and used Zam-Buk instead, and in two weeks' time was back at work."

SAVED OPERATION

"Father developed a painful sore on his face," writes Miss N. Lewis of Silver Lake, Oregon. "Numerous remedies and treatment from several doctors failed to heal it, and the doctor advised an operation. Someone advised him to first try Zam-Buk. A few applications brought relief, and continued use of Zam-Buk entirely healed the sore, saving father from an operation."

Zam-Buk is best for eczema, ringworm, salt rheum, boils, pimples, ulcers, abscesses, blood-poisoning, piles, cuts, bruises, burns and scalds. All dealers 50c box.

A Thought

A BITTER PILL.

Some days it would seem that our misfortunes fly in flocks. When we have one disappointment, several more disagreeable situations often follow, and of course we lament our ill luck.

But "ill luck" is almost always traceable to our own mismanagement, carelessness, neglect, improvidence or want of application.

Dig beneath the pile of your own personal troubles and there you will find the cause, and the "cause" will probably show that nearly all of your troubles are your own fault.

This is a bitter pill to swallow, but it is the kind of mental medicine you probably need right now.

ST. LAWRENCE PLAN FEASIBLE

National Committee Said To Agree With Engineering Board.

ALSO ADVISABLE.

OTTAWA, Ont., January 6 (Canadian Press). — Feasible and advisable are the terms in which the Advisory Committee describes the St. Lawrence River navigation and power project, according to a rumor current to-day, although no authoritative statement has been forthcoming.

If this rumor is correct, the National Advisory Committee concurs with the Joint Engineering Board of Canada and the United States. In its first report the engineers found the scheme to be practicable. Secretary of State Kellogg, in his note of last April to the Government of Canada, pointed out that in the report "it clearly appears that improvement of the waterway for navigation and power purposes is both feasible and advisable." It is understood, too, that the National Committee has also recommended a twelve-year period for work on the St. Lawrence undertaking.

Strict secrecy is surrounding the proceedings of the committee, and rumors of decisions made remain unconfirmed. Any recommendation made to the Government by the committee will not likely be announced until after the Cabinet has had ample time to consider it, and probably not until Parliament meets. Secrecy at the present time, it is pointed out, is essential in view of the great industrial projects which would be affected by the final decision.

The committee is meeting again to-day in the offices of the Privy Council, and the session will likely continue throughout the afternoon and possibly the evening. Before finally adjourning it will again meet with the sub-committee of the Cabinet, presided over by the Prime Minister.

Brockville Boy May Pronounce Ruth Dead

BROCKVILLE, Ont., January 6 (Canadian Press). — When and if Mrs. Ruth Snyder goes to the electric chair in Sing-Sing Prison next week for the murder of her husband, it will probably devolve upon a young Brockville physician, Dr. G. Kenneth McCracken, who is attached to the staff of the prison as a surgeon, to pronounce her dead. Part of Dr. McCracken's duty is to certify to the death of those inmates of the prison who are sentenced to execution. He is a recent graduate of Queen's University, Kingston.

FINE CATS SHOWN AT TORONTO

The artistocracy of Canadian and American catdom is well represented in the international title show of the Royal Canadian Cat Club at Toronto, Ont. Nearly every one of these high-priced pussies, incidentally, has a silken cushion on which to hold court. Here on the left is "Bun Tzv," $2,500 feline, snapped in the act of making cat love to a stone squirrel figure. He is a Siamese male, sweepstake winner of the show and owned by Miss Margaret Ryan of Detroit. On the right is another prize male, "Lanfine Gingerbread Boy II., a solid red Persian owned by Mrs. Carl Benson, Toronto.

FOUR RUN AWAY FROM BURWASH

Drop From Window While Concert Is In Progress at Farm.

FOLLOW RAILWAY.

SUDBURY, Ont., Jan. 6. Canadian Press. — While a concert was in progress in the auditorium of the Burwash industrial farm last night, four prisoners made good their escape. They left the other inmates to enjoy the entertainment and removing a window from a dormitory dropped 18 feet to the ground. The escaped men are William Craig and Raymond Carr, of Toronto; Harold Crandell and James Roderick, of Brockville. Roderick is believed to have engineered the escape. He served a nine year term in Portsmouth penitentiary and his criminal record included jail breaking.

Following the railway tracks to Wanup, it is believed that one or all of the pail breakers removed a hand car but abandoned it a mile from there.

MARINE DESERTERS TEACH REBEL ARMY

Two Men Who Tried To Escape War Zone Conscripted By Sandino.

WASHINGTON, January 6 (Canadian Present). — Two deserters from the United States Marines, captured by the rebel, General Sandino, as they sought to escape from the Nicaraguan war zone, are believed by some marine officers in Nicaragua to have turned their military training to account by helping in the instruction of the rebel troops.

An official report relayed from the front to the Marine Corps headquarters here, said it was believed that the two men agreed to teach Sandino's soldiers how to shoot under threat that they themselves would go before a firing squad if they refused.

MOTHER OPPOSES FOUL PLAY THEORY

Thinks Florence Costello Struck Her Head When Falling.

TORONTO, Ont., January 6 (Canadian Press). — Not only the authorities but the girl's mother discredit the suggestions that foul play entered into the death of Florence Costello, schoolgirl, whose body was found in a small creek here after she had been missing for two weeks.

"I had been told that Florence's skull was fractured, but the thought came to me that she had been overcome by one of her fainting spells, and in falling had struck her head on something," Mrs. Costello said to-day. "I can see no motive for foul play."

MOTORIST FINED

Had Liquor in Car at Time of Fatal Accident.

TORONTO, Jan. 6. — A fine of $100 and costs was imposed on Claude Wright in court at Mimico to-day on charges of having liquor illegally in his possession. He was arrested following the inquest on the death of Miss Edith Harbour, killed in a motor accident on the Lake Shore highway. It was shown that there was a bottle of alcohol in the automobile in which Miss Wright, Miss Harbour, and several other young people had been driving.

Blizzard, Thaw, Flood, and Wind Storm On England's Program.

ONE WOMAN KILLED.

LONDON, January 6 (Canadian Press). — England, which has just experiences successively a blizzard, thaw, and flood, was hit by a gale to-day. The force of the wind in London was about sixty miles an hour, and prevented the cross-channel airplanes from leaving Croydon.

Many small buildings and trees were blown down and one woman was killed in Kilborn when a wall collapsed. Eight men were seriously injured when a scaffolding collapsed in Belfast, while Northern Scotland reported that a hurricane was raging.

WRECK NOT KNOWN TO DEPARTMENT

Nothing Heard in Ottawa of Coastguard Vessel Having Sunk.

OTTAWA, Ont., January 6 (Canadian Press). — The Radio Branch of the Department of Marine and Fisheries has received no word of the wreck of any coastguard boat off Hamilton Inlet on Wednesday night last. The radio station of the Government at Belle Island is comparatively close to where the coastguard boat is supposed to have sunk, according to a report from Hamilton, Ont. Mrs. Parke, of Hamilton, is reported to have received a message last night from the boat which sent an SOS call, and later, after Mrs. Parke had wired to the coast, reported that it was being towed to safety.

Mine Market Easier With Trading Lighter

TORONTO Jan 6. Canadian Press. —Easiness was again apparent in lighter trading on the Standard mining exchange this morning, but slight losses were well balanced by gains. The general list however showed little change. Amity Copper scored a two point gain at 42 and Howey sold five higher at 165 while McIntyre and Teck Hughes showed ten point gains; Tough-Oakes firmed one at 73. Kikland Lake suffered a five cent loss at 260 while Kirkland, Hunton, Amulet, Ajax and Crown Reserve lost one to two points.

New York Market Very Strong To-day

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.— (Canadian Press.)— An impressive demonstration of stength took place in to-day's stock market following the sweeping re-action of yesterday. All classe sf stocks pointed higher, with violent advances of six to nearly twelve points taking place in a few volatile specialties. The rally was accompanied by a marked reduction in the volume of trading.

Fears of higher money rates, which developed as a result of the unusually large increase in broker's loans, apparently had been allayed by the lowering of the call money renewal rate to four per cent. Operators for the advance marked up their favorites on the theory that a substantial portion of the January dividend would find their way back into the securities markets.

Christie Brown, Coty, Midland Steel Products preferred, and American Shipbuilding scored spetcacular advances of 8¾ to 11¼ points

Liverpool Wheat Strengthens Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. — (Canadian Press.)—With Liverpool wheat quotations showing comparative firmness and with no indications of increased arrivals of corn, grain prices here steadied to-day in the early dealings. Liverpool reported, but little pressure of wheat offerings from Canada or Argentina. Wheat started at 1-8c. decline to ¼c advance, sagged somewhat, and later scored slight general gains. Corn, oats and provisions developed strength, corn opening unchanged to ¼c. off and easing a trifle more but then rising all around. Opening prices were:

Wheat, March 129¾, May 131; Corn, March 86½, May 90; oats, March 53¾, May 54⅞.

Nickel and Christie Lead Toronto Upturn

TORONTO, Jan. 6 (Canadian Press). — International Nickel and Christie Brown, scoring considerable gains in heavy trading, led a strong upturn on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Christie sold up to 100, thirteen points higher, easing to 99 at noon, while Nickel recorded 2¾ at 84. Other large gains in heavy trading included Bell Telephone's jump of more than eight points at 164¾, a 3½ point climb in Brazilian at 129½, and gains of more than two points in both the New Canners Common and the New Second Preferred. Goodyear Tire showed the largest gain in the unlisteds, climbing seven at 147. Oils were slighlty easier, led by British American, losing ½ at 39. Liquor stocks generally were steady, with Seagrams and Walkers showing fractional gains.

MRS. SNYDER LOSING HOPE

Argument on Life Insurance Suit Postponed—Delay Was Hoped For.

EXECUTION JAN. 12.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (Canadian Press).—Hope of Mrs. Ruth Snyder for a postponement of the date of her execution on January 12 was apparently dashed again today when it was announced that argument on the motion for a jury trial in the suit brought against her by the Prudential Life Insurance Company was adjourned until January 13. Edgar Hazelton, Mrs. Snyder's counsel made application for a jury trial and it was considered possible that the date of Mrs. Snyder's execution might be postponed in the event that Supreme Court Justice Levy ruled that she would be needed as a witness.

Y'S MEN DISCUSS PLANS FOR YEAR

New President Has Charge at First Meeting of 1928 Season.

With the meeting in charge of the new president, Tom Dutton the Y's Men's Club last night discussed plans for the new year. The personnel of the standing committee was announced, also a joint meeting with the Y.M.C.A. directors to discuss matters concerning the association, particularly an extension to the building.

A committee to consider some means of raising funds for the club's work was appointed.

LADIES HEAR PAPER ABOUT TINTORETTO

Great Venetian Painter Was Called "Il Furioso" Because of Speed.

An interesting paper on Tintorstto was given at the meeting of the Art Study Club this week by Miss B. Beatty The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. R. J. Kidd, Hunter St., and was well attended.

Miss Beatty described Tintoretto as "the last great master of the Venetion school and one of the most dramatic of all painters....His aim was to attain to the design of Michaelangelo and the color of Titian. He was nicknamed 'Il Furioso,' because of the ardent rapidity of his brush. His compatriots said of him that he had three pencils: one of gold, one of silver, and one of lead. He was one that sought, rather than avoided the greatest difficulties, and possessed a true feeling for animation and grandeur."

He was for a short time in the studio of Titian, but did not continue on good terms with his master, and soon left him in order to follow his own path of study. "With Titian, the highest idea of earthly happiness in existence is expressed by beauty, but with Tintoretto in mere animal strength, sometimes of a very rude character."

All the glories of the Venetian school of training lay spread at the feet of Tintoretto and he availed himself of them all....In the region of colour and in the study of landscape, he followed Titian and also his own individual taste. He was the first to employ light and shade in the expression of the emotion of his chosen subject, and in this sense he stands out as the founder of the romantic spirit in historical painting.

"We feel in gazing at some of his compositions that we are listening to the hurried narrative of an eye witness. The painter seems to wield his brush as though he held the pen of an inspired reporter. Despite the absence of that deeper vision that marks the highest order of dramatic invention, and which was beyond the reach of even the most gifted of the Venetian painters there is a certain grandeur in Tintoretto's compositions that can escape no student of his work. Next to his portraits are his historical pictures, among the most celebrated and powerful being the "Miracle of St. Mark." The San Rocco at Venice is a perfect gallery of his pictures. They have been neglected and are covered with the dust and dirt of centuries, and some of them are falling from their frames."

Miss Beatty concluded with a reference to several of the master's most celebrated paintings.

Expert Accountants Know!

Men and women who work long hours over ledgers know the value of having exactly the right pen for their purpose. That is why they are so enthusiastic about the new purple banded Waterman's Number Seven.

See the colour index in this advertisement. Then stop in at your local dealer and select the pen best suited to your needs.

Guaranteed since 1883 and until 1983—one hundred years of pen service.

Purple—STIFF, FINE—writes without pressure. Makes a thin, clear line and small figures with unerring accuracy. Popular with accountants.

Red—STANDARD—suits most writers. A splendid correspondence nib. Medium flexibility. For home and general use.

Green—RIGID—tempered to armor-plate hardness. Will not shade even under heavy pressure. Unequalled for manifolding. The salesman's friend.

Pink—FLEXIBLE, FINE—as resilient as a watch spring. Fine, tempered point, ground fine to shade at any angle. Loved by Stenographers.

Blue—BLUNT—an improved stub nib. This point makes a broad line. May be held in any position. Liked by rapid writers.

Yellow—ROUNDED—a different pen nib. The tip is ball shape. Makes a heavy characteristic line without pressure. Suits left-handed writers.

INSANITY LAWS TO GET TRY OUT

California's New Legislation Invoked in Hickman's Revised Plea.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

LOS ANGELES, January 6 (Canadian Press). — A complete tryout of California's new laws governing insanity as a defence in criminal cases apparently will be involved in the trials of William Hickman on two murder indictments which he faces here. Hickman a few days ago pleaded "not guilty by reason of insanity" to charges of kidnapping and slaying Marian Parker. Yesterday he entered an alternative plea of the new law "not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity."

In some districts of Morocco it is a custom to deposit an extracted tooth at a shrine to prevent the other teeth from decaying and aching.

Only Three Houses Quarantined at Present, Says Sanitary Inspector.

At the present time the city is clean and healthy, from the information given out by Sanitary Inspector Stapleton. "At the present time," said he, "we have only three homes 'carded'—one for diphtheria, one for chickenpox, and one for measles. All three cases are mild ones."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

JESUS AND THE SICK

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Jan. 8: Jesus and the Sick—Mark 1:21-34.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D.D.
Editor of The Congregationalist.

Text: Mark 1-21-34.

And they went into Capernaum; and straightway on the sabbath day he entered into the synagogue, and taught.

And they were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one that had authority, and not as the scribes.

And there was in their synagogue a man with an unclean spirit; and he cried out,

Saying, Let us alone; what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art, the Holy One of God.

And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

And when the unclean spirit had torn him, and cried with a loud voice, he came out of him.

And they were all amazed, insomuch that they questioned among themselves, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for with authority commandeth he even the unclean spirits, and they do obey him.

And immediately his fame spread abroad throughout all the region round about Galilee.

And forthwith, when they were come out of the synagogue, they entered into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John.

But Simon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever; and anon they tell him of her.

And he came and took her by the hand, and lifted her up; and immediately the fever left her, and she ministered unto them.

And at even, when the sun did set, they brought unto him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with devils.

And all the city was gathered together at the door.

And he healed many that were sick of divers diseases, and cast out many devils; and suffered not the devils to speak, because they knew him.

The public ministry of Jesus is characterized in this first chapter of Mark with a quality that shows the great discernment of this writer of the simplest and most directly expressed of the four Gospels.

Mark says that the people were astonished at his teaching, "for he taught them as one having authority and not as the scribes." Consider that statement for a moment and one realizes the real nature of the authority exercised by Jesus. The scribes were the people who professed to have authority and who possessed it so far as the conventional organization of religion was concerned.

Yet here is an unofficial teacher who comes without the sanction of any organization or school or official, and by the sheer force of his personality, the truth of his words, and the beauty of his actions impresses the people as one who has real authority.

By Sheer Truth.

What an ideal it presents to the Christian ministry for those who would exercise it either in its ordained or in its lay aspect!

In actual life, both in the church and in the world, we are always trying to bolster up things with an authority which is largely artificial, to influence the thought and faith and conduct of people more by outward and psychological forces than by the power of sheer conviction.

This is one reason why in so many quarters today there is a decadence in the sense of authority and a falling away from standards of faith and conduct. We shall not recover lost ground until we come to follow more closely the way of Jesus, placing the supreme authority in right and truth themselves and not in what some may say about them.

All this it is very necessary to grasp as we approach the Master in his dealing with the people. Here in his early ministry we have the record of his power over the sick and those who in our modern day would be spoken of as the insane or mentally unbalanced.

Possibly many of these were not so much insane as nervously deranged. The number of miracles recorded is not very great, and it is significant that they all have some inner suggestion of the larger and deeper mission of Jesus. It does not become us to be dogmatic in our discussion of these intricate questions that concern the power of mind and spirit over matter.

It is literally true that under the very power of science greater miracles of healing are wrought today than were ever possible in the life of the world before. Are not these things manifestations of the power of God?

Under His Influence.

But back of all this question of the consideration of miracles can we not sense the marvelous power and influence of the divine power of Jesus?

Can we conceive of the sick and inflicted coming in contact with him without being quickened and stimulated?

Can we conceive of those whose minds are unbalanced and whose spirits were deranged coming under the influence of his sanity and his goodness and his power to give rest and peace without inevitably having their whole attitude toward life altered?

It is easy to believe what marvelous power Jesus must have exerted when we understand with any reality what Jesus was. It is from this standpoint that we must approach the whole ministry of Jesus, emphasizing the authority and the power and the health-giving inherent in all that he was, in all that he said, and in all that he did.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Hurts or Back Hurts.

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders

FOURTEEN PERSONS ARE SNOWBOUND

Sunday School Party Among Those Trapped in the Mountains.

ENUMCLAW, Wash., Jan. 6.—Canadian Press. — Fourteen persons, including ten members of a Sunday school outing party, apparently were snowbound to-day in the Naches Pass region of the Cascade Mountains. Upon receipt of reports that the supplies of the marooned persons might be running low, state and county officials ordered a relief party to leave here at daybreak with food. Skils and snowshoes were supplied the relief expedition for its 30-mile journey into the mountains.

The Sunday school party went to Silver Springs at Christmas to spend a week. The fall of several feet of snow since that time has made the return journey inadvisable A Tacoma couple and their two children also were reported to be snowbound in the same region.

Movie Fans Injured In Rush To Get Out

NEW YORK, January 6 (Canadian Press). — Twenty-two persons were injured, none seriously, when a piece of plaster about seven feet square fell from the ceiling of a Brooklyn moving picture house last night. There were about 2,500 persons in the place at the time. Police said most of the injuries were suffered in the rush for the exits.

GRANTS REFUSED WARSAW SCHOOL

Inspector's Notice That He Will Recommend No More Causes Debate.

WARSAW, Jan. 6.—A good number turned out at the annual school meeting in Warsaw school on Wednesday afternoon, December 18.

On motion Dr. Munro was appointed chairman, Rev. H. B. Herrington secretary, and Thomas Clements auditor.

Inspector Richard Lees' report of April last was read. The most important part was "Notice is hereby given that after this year (1927) no further grants will be certified for this section, until definite steps are taken toward providing adequate accommodation."

This notice was again sent to the trustees in November.

There was a good deal of discussion over the report, and the trustees are authorized to call a public meeting of rate-payers early in nineteen twenty-eight, for the purpose of discussing the building of a new school house within the next two years.

James Robinson was the retiring trustee; William Hawthorne was the newly elected one. The trustees now are: Clarence Watts, David Rose and William Hawthorne. Joe Miles is again appointed janitor.

W. I. REMEMBERS REFUGE INMATES

Members Take Christmas Cheer to Old People—Lakefield News.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 6.—On Tuesday afternoon about twenty members of the Lakefield branch of the Women's Institute visited the House of Refuge, carrying Christmas cheer. The trip was made by sleigh, and with ideal weather conditions and the trip was decidedly pleasant. Mr. and Mrs. Fry extended a cordial greeting, and the bags of goodies were distributed to each and every one of the inmates.

A social hour was spent with Mrs. John Northey presiding at the piano, providing music for the songs which were sung in chorus. Mr. Jimmie Dunlavey contributed several solos and an energetic step dance which showed that he was only old in years and not in limbs. Mr. Tommy Linton, who gives his age as 86 also nimbly danced a step dance.

Mr. Dunlavey takes a great deal of pleasure out of his singing, and gives a great deal to his fellows, as his voice is sweet and tuneful.

Asked if they were happy the answer was universally given in the affirmative and much credit was given Mr. and Mrs. Fry.

The old people were remembered also by the members of the W.M.S. of Regent Street United Church.

On Tuesday evening the annual Christmas party of the A.Y.P.A. was held. Prefaced by a sleigh drive the young people returned to the Sunday School shortly after nine o'clock where the committee had prepared supper which consisted of hot dogs, Christmas cake, biscuits, fruit and nuts and coffee. The party was quite informal and very jolly and in keeping with the festive season. The room was decorated with greens and the Christmas colors and Christmas bells made it very attractive. The mystery of the cake which kept all present guessing till nearly supper time gave a note of jollity which made everyone feel quite at home.

Extensive alterations are being made in the Lakefield Rink which will be opened as soon as Jack Frost returns for a few days and nights. The ice was almost ready on Monday, but not quite firm enough for skating although a little curling took place on Monday evening. Since Christmas the weather has been growing steadily milder.

The new entrance leads into what was formerly the men's waiting room, which now occupies the space which was used as the main passage. The management feels that these changes will be improvements in Lakefield's "playhouse."

DRESS
By MARY MARSHALL

Bernard of Paris designed this frock of bottle green crepe for a popular French actress, making clever use of tassels.

The frock shown in the sketch was designed by Bernard et Cie for a popular French actress, Mlle. Bretty of the Theatre Francais. It was of bottle green crepe trimmed with stitching and tassels to match. I am showing it because the arrangement of the tassels strikes me as decidedly effective. It is a device that has already been copied.

Another very recent French frock that I would like to have sketched for you was from Premet. It was an evening frock of pale rose crepe combined with yellow and bordered with black taffeta. But a colored sketch would have been necessary to convey to you an impression of the interesting color scheme. Another of Premet's new evening gowns is of pale blue encrusted with pearls with a graceful bit of back drapery of pale pink.

In Paris as in this country the young women who are enthusiastic dancers seldom choose evening gowns of the more striking type. As someone remarked the other day the ultra smart gown has to be "worn" and the girl who thinks first of dancing doesn't want to consider her frock once she has put it on.

There are very few women indeed whose mood is not somewhat influenced by the sort of dress they are wearing. A formal frock tinges us with a sense of formality, a frock that we think unbecoming is apt to put a damper on our spirits whether as a matter of fact it is unbecoming or not. I was told the other day that those whose duty it is to attend to the costuming of screen actresses have to pay close attention to the color of the frocks chosen. Not only do they have to choose colors that photograph satisfactorily, but colors that appeal to the actresses who wear them. An actress never acts her best in a gown of a color that she believes to be unbecoming, even when she knows that the color of the frock will not show in the picture.

By ANNE AUSTIN

Faith took the three bottles of poison out of her handbag and ranged them in a straight line before her on the writing table. Iodine, Veronal, Bichloride of mercury. The fact that she had a choice of three agencies of suicide gave her a curious, sharp thrill of satisfaction. She wondered if other suicides provided themselves so adequately with the means of death. Cherry would laugh at her if she knew, make some laughter-rippled, gibing comment: "Good old Faith! Efficient to the last!" But, oh, that wasn't fair to Cherry.

There was no use being bitter when you faced death Cherry was selfish and wilful and irresponsible, but not hard-hearted. It was Bob who had been insisting that she "give herself to love." Faith, sitting very still, her eyes black and enormous in the chalky whiteness of her face, felt the agony which she had held at bay swooping down upon her. It seemed to her that it was a tangible, visible thing, something as horrible as an octopus, with every vicious, writhing tentacle reaching for her flesh.

With a low, gasping moan she laid her head on the slanting top of the writing table, knocking over her precious bottles without knowing that she did so.

She knew now that this thing that had been lying in wait for her was determined that she should realize her tragedy to its uttermost before she could be free to find peace in death. It would not be cheated. Very well! She would face the truth, or rather, feel the truth in every tortured nerve. Bob loved Cherry, and Cherry loved Bob! So simple! Hadn't she known, deep in her heart, ever since she had married Bob? Had she ever been quite free of doubt and jealousy?

Her heart argued desperately: "But he said he loved me! He said he was cured of his infatuation for Cherry. He despised Cherry because she could not be true to any man. He only tolerated her because she was my sister."

That outside voice jeered at her: "He lost his respect for her, but she was in his blood. He wanted her all the time. He has been in torment because she was in his home, taboo, because she was his wife's sister. And now he doesn't care if she is taboo. He loves her too much, wants her too much, to care about anything but her. You heard him pleading with her not to be a coward, to give herself to love—"

"I know, I know!" Faith moaned.

That homeless voice took up its taunt: "That's not why you want to die! You're going to kill yourself so that they will be sorry. You know they can't go away together if you commit suicide. You know that's the sure way to keep them from marrying and being happy. Don't fool yourself, Faith!"

She sprang to her feet then, her hands clamped to her horror-stricken face. Quite mad for the moment she shrieked her answer to the voice that seemed so real to her: "That's a lie, a lie! I'm doing it because I can't bear to live without Bob!" Then the redmists of madness lifted for an instant and in a slow, amazed voice she whispered: "But—it's true. I did not know it, but it's true."

HAMILTON LADY SAVES SAILORS

Picks Up S.O.S. From Labrador Coast and Gives Alarm.

HEARD NOWHERE ELSE.

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 6.—Relaying to Toronto an S.O.S. call, picked up on her radio, Mrs. Parke, 40 Platt Avenue, gave the first alarm from the sinking coastguard B1, which was in distress yesterday off Hamilton Bay, on the coast of Labrador, and late last night, on the signals of the Morse Code, announced that the crew of 12 had been rescued and were being brought to shore by coastguards G134, G24 and B129.

Appreciative of the interest taken by Mrs. Parke, Lloyds sent a message of thanks to the local lady and it was learned that the word which came from Hamilton was the first to sound the alarm. Through Toronto the message was forwarded to the coast, and while no details have been received at nine o'clock last night, the following message in Morse Code came over the Hamilton set: "We are on our way. Three cruisers. On tow. Lattiude 23 degrees; longitude 20 degrees. Back about midnight."

ST. JAMES' LADIES ELECT OFFICERS

Mrs. A. Wilson is President of Ladies' Aid For 1928.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. James' United Church, held a meeting for the election of officers for the year 1928, in the church parlors yesterday afternoon, Rev. J. H. Dudgeon acting as chairman. The following ladies were elected:

President, Mrs. A. Wilson; 1st vice-president Mrs. F. Pratt; secretary, Mrs. F. B. Elliott; assistant secretary, Mrs. J O. Fife; treasurer, Mrs. H Fry; assistant treasurer, Mrs. J. Bannon.

Rev. Mr. Dudgeon spoke briefly in appreciation of the support given him by the society throughout the past year, and hoped that the ensuing year would be better than ever before, not alone financially, but also in winning more souls for the Master. Prayer by the pastor brought the meeting to a close.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)

FOR SATURDAY, JANUARY 7, 1928.

Until late today menacing aspects dominate, according to astrology, which reads in the stars warning toward caution.

This is held to be an unfavorable sway for banks and bankers, because of loans that cause anxiety in certain parts of the country.

There is a sign presaging much controversy concerning taxes, a new angle of which is to affect the national campaign.

Women now come under a direction of the stars beneficial to their public interests and promising of political favors.

The evening is an auspicious time for plays and players, and should be especially favorable to foreign theatrical companies.

This is a lucky day for lovers and usually promising for the happiness of those who wed while this configuration prevails.

There is a forecast of many new diplomatic moves that may result unfavorably and possibly precipitate war within a decade.

Political surprises, so long foretold, may be expected next month, the seers prophesy.

The conjunction of Jupiter and Uranus the twenty-fifth of this month is most threatening to the welfare of Great Britain.

Mars rising is so aspected as to presage much war influence and the rise of military force in many parts of the world.

Persons whose birthdate it is should avoid whatever distracts attention from serious affairs. Changes will be unlucky in the coming year.

Children born on this day may be nervous and imaginative. They may be exceedingly bright and should be wisely educated.

Hints on Etiquette

1. How young should children be held responsible for writing their own 'thank-you' notes for Christmas gifts?
2. Is it necessary for them to labor over such notes?
3. How can children be taught to appreciate hospitality?

The Answers.

1. As soon as they can write.
2. No. The fact of their writing them is more important than what they say.
3. By being encouraged to write "bread and butter" notes.

CAVAN NEWS.

CAVAN, Jan. 6.—Because of the extremely cold weather and consequently smaller attendance, service was held in the basement of Cavan United Church on Sunday evening.

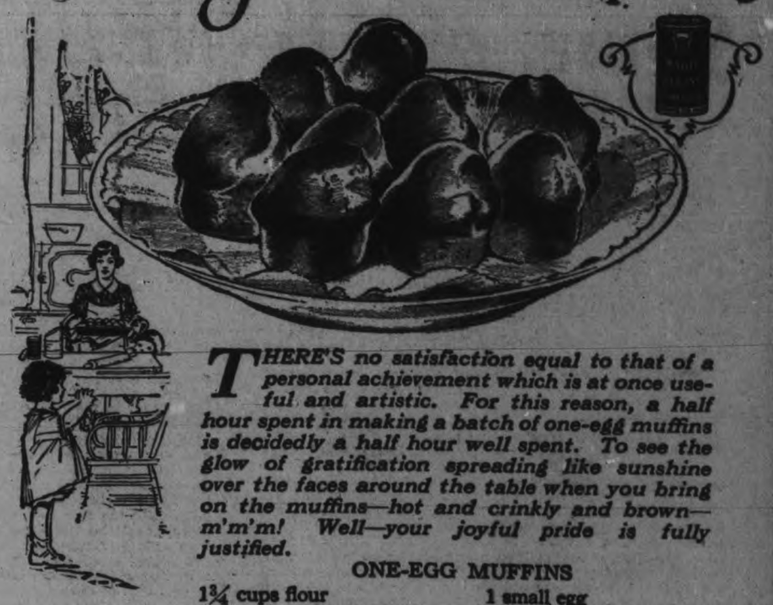
A half hour well spent



THERE'S no satisfaction equal to that of a personal achievement which is at once useful and artistic. For this reason, a half hour spent in making a batch of one-egg muffins is decidedly a half hour well spent. To see the glow of gratification spreading like sunshine over the faces around the table when you bring on the muffins—hot and crinkly and brown—m'm'm! Well—your joyful pride is fully justified.

ONE-EGG MUFFINS

1¾ cups flour
3 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons sugar
1 small egg
¾ cup milk
1½ tablespoons melted butter

Sift flour, baking powder and salt, add sugar. Beat egg thoroughly, add it gradually with milk to dry ingredients and beat hard. At the last moment add melted butter. Drop the batter into hot buttered iron gem pans and bake in a hot oven 25 minutes.

Petes Lose Opening Game of the Senior Series

MARLBOROS DISPLAY TOO MUCH SPEED AND SYSTEM FOR PETES; WIN HANDILY HERE BY 7 TO 2

First Local Senior Fixture Sees Harry Watson's Team Easy Victors.

SCRAPS THROWN IN

Fans Get Two Fistic Combats Along With an Hour's Hockey.

(By F.D.C.)

The Harry Watson-coached Toronto Marlboros out-skated, out-checked and out-combined the Petes in the opening local Senior O.H.A. fixture at Brock Street Rink last night, and the Dukes skated off the ice winners by 7 goals to 2 after a game featured by two fistic combats that dsew long penalties for the battlers.

Marlboros were held pretty well in the first period, although they got the only goal, but they came fast to score two more in the second dash before the pugilistic complex broke loose, and were leading 3 to 0 when McFee finally scored for the Petes, with the latter playing three men against four.

The Dukes came back in the final episode to register four smart goals in a row and it was not until the dying moments of the game that the Blue and White annexed their final counter.

Marlboros were much the better on the night's play and their win was clean cut. Both defensively and on the attack their team work stood out in marked contrast to the slipshod methods of the Petes, who failed to play their positions and at times were as loose as ashes. The Duke forwards checked back consistently, broke fast and were thoroughly unselfish in their passing. Their combination was aided materially by the fact that their wings, particularly Heintzman, were uncovered most of the time and they were able to work in close for shots that gave LeBarr little chance to save. The summary shows that five of their goals were the result of clever passing, and against this effective teamwork the Petes had little to offer except determination and that in itself will not offset combination and individual cleverness.

Harry Watson has in fact rounded out a pretty fair Senior aggregation. Up in front Miller, Heintzman and McPherson were a smart attacking division, and Bruce and Foster did some effective relief work. The defence pair, Nugent and Underwood, were difficult to trick out of position, while Nugent in particular was of much service on the attack. With Eddie Baker, one of the best goalers left in amateur hockey, performing in his usual style in the nets, the Petes found the Duke's rearguard far from being a soft proposition. Heintzman was perhaps the most effective forward for the winners and McFee's failure to cover him closely gave the smart left winger plenty of chance to shine. McPherson was ill and did not display as much stuff as usual, but his back-checking helped.

The Petes were without Red Legon and he was missed. The local forward line wandered out of position too frequently and failed to combine effectively, although they worked their heads off to get somewhere, while the defence, often left to deal with a passing attack without any help from back-checkers, was outguessed frequently, the majority of the successful attacks being engineered from Marlboro's left wing. McFee, Kane and Foley were the most effective attackers and with any luck might have made the score considerably closer. Jack LeBarr made many stops in the net, although he was given little protection.

The teams:

Marlboros

Goal ..... Baker
Defence.....Nugent and Underwood
Right Wing.....McPherson
Left Wing.....Heintzman
Subs. .....Bruce and Foster

Peterborough

Goal ..... LeBarr
Defence.....Rose and Clark
Centre ..... Cripps
Right Wing.....McFee
Left Wing ..... Kane
Subs.....Maudsley and Foley

Referee—M. J. Rodden, Toronto.

Marlboros registered the only score in the first period which opened slowly, with both teams trying long range shots that got them nothing. Heintzman started the fun four minutes after Mayor-elect Denne had faced the puck, when he went up with McPherson, cut in from the side and back-handed a fast one past LeBarr. There was no more scoring in the first twenty minutes, although the Dukes had an edge when they matched teamwork against individual efforts.

Most of the action was crowded into the second period, the first few minutes of which saw the fastest and most even hockey of the night. The Petes turned in some nice plays at this stage and were unlucky that they did not sew up the game on one of them. A little under four minutes from the start, however, a smart Miller to McPherson to Miller play gave the Duke's centre the last pass at the goal mouth for a net counter and Nugent made it 3 to 0 when the Petes let him wander through in soft style for a close-in shot. The checking began to get hectic at this stage and Kane and Red Foster did some hefty bumping that was allowed to go. Then all at once the fireworks went off. First Rose and Foster hooked up for a fast half minute of right and left swings and Referee Rodden gave them each ten minutes in the penalty box to cool off. Bruce dumped Maudsley and he drew two minutes. Then Nugent started a feud with Kane and as the agressor was banished for ten minutes, while Kane got half that sentence. Bruce came back again and the teams were four men aside until Foley was chased for tripping, leaving the Petes with only LeBarr, McFee and Clark on the ice opposing Bruce, Miller, Underwood and Baker. In spite of the one-man handicap, the Petes pressed and McFee was finally rewarded when his fast shot beat Baker cleanly. The period score was 3 to 1 for the Dukes.

The teams opened the last period still four aside, but Foster and Rose were soon back and Kane was out two minutes after the period started, leaving the Marlboros still shy of Nugent, who had five more minutes to serve. Even with a man short, however, the Dukes dominated the play at this stage and in fact scored twice before Nugent returned to the game. Heintzman got both these counters on identically the same play, taking passes from Bruce and Nugent respectively and swinging in for a shot that LeBarr had little hope of blocking. Red Foster, the football player, made it 6 to 1 when he took a close-in pass from Nugent, and Bruce and Miller combined smartly for Marlboros seventh and last marker. Foley closed the gap slightly when he batted in a rebound from a hard shot from McFee which Baker knocked down but could not clear.

The summary follows:

First Period:
1—Marlboros, Heintzman 4.00

Second Period:
2—Marlboros, Miller (M'Pherson) 3.45
3—Marlboros, Nugent 7.15
4—Peterboro, McFee 8.00

Third Period:
5—Marlboros, Heintzman, (Bruce) 5.50
6—Marlboros, Haintzman, (Nugent) 0.35
7—Marlboros, Foster (Nugent)...3.00
9—Peterboro, Foley (McFee).....2.00
8—Marlboros, Bruce (Miller).....6 00

Penalties:
Marlboros—Foster 10 mins, Nugent 10 mins., Bruce, 2 mins.
Peterboro—Rose 12 mins, Kane 5 minus, Clark 4 mins, Foley 2 mins.

MEUSEL SOLD.

OAKLAND, Calif., January 6 (Canadian Press). — Emil "Irish" Meusel, former New York Giant outfielder, and last season with the Toledo American Association Club, was signed yesterday by the Oakland Pacific Coast League team. Meusel hit .357 for Toledo last year and could have returned to that club, but preferred to play on the coast.

RICKEY MAY BUY ROCHESTER CLUB

St. Louis Manager May Transfer Interests to Flower City.

TORONTO, Jan. 6. — The news from New York regarding the International League meeting Wednesday as carried in the early despatches was anything but correct, according to Mr. Lol Solman of the Toronto club on his return yesterday.

There is no intention of reading Rochester out of the circuit, anything but that. Rather than lose the Flower city franchise the league would take over the club and operate it on a syndicate basis. But there is little possibility that Mr. Toole and his associates will have to do anything like that as several prominent baseball men are in the market for the club including Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals, who apparently has the inside track. Rickey has been given until the 19th to complete his plans and if he can show by that time sufficient collateral to ensure the operation of the club for the season he will get the controlling interest. One of the conditions of the sale is that the new owners must erect an up-to-date stand, something that Rochester lacks.

It is understood that the St. Louis club plans disposing of their Syracuse holdings and transferring their interests to Rochester, where the opportunities for expansion are greater than they are at the Saline city. In that event a Utica group may take over Syracuse.

While at the meeting Mr. Solman received an offer from the Newark club for Jacobson, Walter Johnson displaying a disposition to trade Johnny Conlan for the fleet midfielder. Nothing was done in the matter.

GIVES DECISION PLAYER DISPUTE

Calder Rules That Harrington is Property of Boston Club.

ENDS CONTROVERSY

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 6.— (Canadian Press.)— Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey League and high commissioner of the ice game, has ruled that Leland 'Hago' Harrington is the property of the Boston Bruins National League club and not of the New Haven American-Canadan League club, on which he has been playing as a reservist.

The decision ends a controversy over the ownership of Harrington which at one time threatened a "hockey war" between the two leagues when Harrington declined to obey a recall order to Boston. President Calder's decision was communicated to President Charles O. Clapp of the Canadian-American circuit here, who made it public last night.

Harrington was recalled by the Bruins several weeks ago, but refused to report to Boston on the ground that the club did not have a contract with him. President Charles F. Adams of the Bruins pointed out that Harrington had accepted $500 from Boston this year, over and above his New Haven salary, as a bonus to assure his continuance on the Bruins' reserve list.

Morris Podoloff, owner of the New Haven team, stated his belief that Harrington's status had changed since the start of the year and the two owners agreed to place the entire case before President Calder. The National League head ruled that Harrington was Boston property by right of recall.

As an aftermath of the decision, the Bruins' management announced last night that Billy Coutu and Nobby Clark, who were loaned by the Bruins to New Haven, had been sold outright to the Eagles, thereby severing all relations with the New Haven club. Harrington, if he continues to play with Boston, also will be ineligible to represent the Canadian-American League under a new ruling adopted by President Clapp this year.

Seibert Reinstated By League President

MONTREAL, Jan. 6.—"Babe" Siebert, husky left winger and defence man of the Montreal Maroons has been reinstated by President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League following a ten-day suspension for smacking Billy Boucher of Americans with his war club, and was in action last night against the Toronto Maple Leafs in the latter team's first game here this season.

TUNNEY DENIES FIGHT RUMOR

Not Matched to Battle Uzcudum in Wrigley Park Next June.

PRESS COMMENT

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. — Canadian Press. — Smoke from the conflagration Gene Tunney started in the fistic circles, when he announced that he would fight twice in 1928, and already had received one offer of $125,000 more than Tex Rickard would pay for his services yesterday drifted as far west as the Pacific coast.

In a reply to a story in the New York Evening World which declared that Gene's high offer had come from Jack Doyle, Los Angeles promoter, who intended to match the heavyweight king with Pauline Uzcudun for a title defence in the Wrigley ball park there next June, both Tunney and the promoter maintained "there was nothing in it."

Some credence however was lent to the story by the announcement of Al Mayer, manager of the Basque heavyweight, who said that Pauline had been matched to fight George Godfrey, the current "black menace" in Los Angeles either Feb. 14 or 21. Fight followers saw in this declaration an indication that a Pauline victory might lead to a title fight under the direction either of Doyle or a promoter such a Jim Goffreth, Tiajuana sportsman.

From Chicago came the declaration of the Herald and Examiner that definite plans are being formulated by Anton J. German, president of the Cook County Board, for the title match next fall in Soldier Field, where Tunney successfully warded off Jack Dempsey's comeback assault last fall.

Cermack was quoted as declaring he would stage the fight assisted by Jim Mullen, a Chicago promoter, and prominent city officials, in conjunction with the Democratic National Convention, which they hope to bring there in June. A percentage of the fight profits would go into the community chest fund for the benefit of Chicago's poor. Cermack said it was Tunneys belief that the option Tex Rickard holds on his services for 1928 would not bar the match.

The World said that Tunney had been offered a guarantee of $650,000 by the western promoter for the match with Pauline. The paper also quoted him as saying he expected to fight Dempsey again here in September for Rickard. Tom Heeney, New Zealand slugger, would whip Shaikey of Boston, in the elimination match here Jan. 13, and then fall before Dempsey's attack in an outdoor fight in June, Gene predicted.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR GOLF YEAR

Believed Closer Working Relations With British Authorities May be Developed.

CLANS MEET TODAY

NEW YORK, N.Y., Jan. 6.—(Canadian Press.)—Development of closer international working relations with British golf authorities is in prospect for 1928, in the belief of delegates to the annual meeting of the United States Golf Association here. The gathering of royal and ancient clans starts to-day with sessions on green section and concludes with the annual business meeting Saturday. In connection with renewal of competition this year between the United States and Britain for the Walker Cup, international team trophy, it is expected that British officials accompanying the invading team will take advatnage of the opportunity to confer with this country's guiding golf minds. Control of the ball is one of the salient possibilities of such a get-together, likely to occur at Chicago, where the Walker Cup matches are scheduled August 30 and 31.

The United States' Golf Association is slated to elect Melvin A. Taylor, of Chicago, to the presidency for 1928 succeeding William C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburgh, chief executive for the past two years. The new executive committee also will include Bobby Jones, British open and National amateur champion. George V. Rotan, Texas star, already is a representative of the playing element.

Besides the Walker Cup matches, the 1928 competition schedule will be put before the meeting in this form:

National amateur championship, at Brackburn Country Club, West Newton, Mass., Sept. 10-15; National open championship, qualifying rounds in various districts June 11 and finals at Olympic Fields Country Club, Mattison, Ill., June 21-23; Women's National Championship, Virginia Hot Springs Golf and Country Club, September 24-29; National Public Links championship, Cobb's Creek Municipal Course, Philadelphia, July 31 to August 5.

MAROONS WIN FROM LEAFS

Hooley Smith Scores Goal That Puts Team in Second Place.

CANADIENS BEAT DETROIT.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 6.—Hooley Smith scored his first goal since joining the Maroons, and the first of his professional career against a Toronto team. Nels Stewart tallied one and had Dame Fortune been impartial, he would have collected some half dozen. However, these two goals were enough to give the Montrealers a 2 to 1 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs at the Forum last night. The victory was the Maroons' second straight over the Leafs this season by the same score, and yet another of the many they have scored over the Toronto team in the past three years. It enabled the Maroons to hurdle from fourth place in the Canadian section standing to tie with Ottawa in second position, and it dropped Toronto to the fourth rung, one point behind the second place pair.

Canadiens Get Revenge

DETROIT, Jan. 6.—Frenchmen, flying or otherwise, never forget an injury. At least the Montreal Canadiens, playing here last night, performed as if their lives depended upon evening scores for the lone reverse of their season, suffered here way back in November. And they wiped out the stain, too, by taking a 2—1 verdict over the Cougars in the greatest hockey game Olympia patrons ever have or perhaps ever will witness.

Pirates Tie Americans

NEW YORK, Jan. 6—The Pittsburg Pirates and New York Americans battled 70 minutes to a scoreless tie here last night in a National Hockey League contest. Billy Burch scored on a pass from Leo Reise in the third period, but the goal was not allowed when the referees ruled Reise's pass offside. Joe Miller of New York and Roy Worters of Pittsburg, gave brilliant exhibitions of goalkeeping.

SAYS DEMPSEY IS FOUL FIGHTER

Chairman of Illinois State Boxing Commission Tells Board Meeting.

URBANA, Ills., Jan. 6. — Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion, was charged with having displayed "unethical" boxing traits by Paul Prehn, newly appointed chairman of the Illinois State Boxing Commission. Prehn, a guest at a meeting of the Illinois Society of Engineers, was asked to explain the disputed "long count" in the Tunney-Dempsey fight last September.

"Dempsey has been known throughout the game as one of the trickiest fighters," Prehn said. "This matter of a long count is a mighty sensitive subject with me for I know the facts. On the other hand Tunney is one of the cleanest boxers that ever lived. He is an inspiration to American youth."

Prehn said that both Dempsey and Tunney were keenly acquainted with the Illinois boxing rules, especially the rule in question.

"Dempsey is a terrific puncher and a hard fighter," Prehn said, "but he does not know the true meaning of sportsmanship. In my opinion Dempsey never won the Sharkey fight. Sharkey was licking him and Dempsey had repeatedly fouled him in the groin. Sharkey was never out when he went down. Neither was Tunney. After the official count of three Tunney could have gotten up. At six or seven he was wide awake. If Dempsey had been allowed to remain in the near corner, he would have attempted to hit Tunney as he came off the floor, just as he had done in bouts with Firpo and others.

"He had got away with it before and thought he could get away again."

LINDSAY COCKY ABOUT BATTLE HERE TONIGHT

Midgets Can See Nothing But a Second Win Over St. John's.

MAY GET SHOCK

Peterborough Youngsters Determined to Take Fall Out of Visitors.

Although the cocky Lindsay Midgets are coming down to-night for the second Junior O.H.A. game with St. John's supremely confident in their ability to duplicate Tuesday night's victory right here at Brock street rink, the new Peterborough entry in the Junior series are determined to take a fall out of Freddy Martin's fast-going lads.

There is so much jubilation in Lindsay over the showing of the Midgets that some fans up there are already talking about championships.

Lindsay looked like a smart team on their home ice beyond doubt but the Saints hope to-night to show them that all the clever hockey is not played in Scugogville. They admit that they went to pieces half way through the Lindsay battle but they are determined to wipe that out in to-night's clash and to give the Midgets a battle from gong to gong.

There is a great deal of interest being shown in the St. John's team by the local fans, who are anxious to see how they compare with other teams in this section, while the stories from Lindsay of the fastest team the Midgets have ever had, have naturally added to the excitement over the game. Popular prices will prevail for the fixture and it is expected that there will be a real crowd out.

Mac McCarthy of Toronto, has been detailed by the O.H.A. to handle the bell, and the game will start at 8.15 o'clock with the line-up about as follows:

Lindsay:
Goal, McClory.
Defence, Woods, Dick.
Centre, Forbert.
Right wing, Hogan.
Left wing, Spratt.
Subs., Gerster, Begley.

St. Johns:
Goal, Hutchinson or Payne.
Defence, Carroll, Johnston.
Centre, Cuthbertson.
Right wing, Terry Hall.
Left wing, Jarvis.
Subs., Hartley, Jack Hall.

Loughran To Defend His Title To-Night

NEW YORK, N. Y., Jan. 7.—(Canadian Press.) — Tommy Loughran, debonair Philadelphian, will toss his light heavyweight championship into the Madison Square Garden ring for the second time in a month to-night in a 15 roud title test against Leo Lemski, body punching assassin of Aberdeen, Washington.

Tommy's effort to clean up the division as rapidly as possible before launching himself in a campaign for Gene Tunney's heavyweight crown, will bring him within range of Lumski's right hand smashes to the heart only 25 days after his victory over Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo contender, in the same ring.

Although Lomski is considered among the huskiest of present day rib punchers, Tommy has been made a 7 to 5 favorite to retain his laurels.

O.H.A. BULLETIN

Junior Series.

Oshawa at Whitby—W. A. Edger, Bowmanville.

Referees have been appointed for to-morrow's games as follows:

Senior Series.

Peterborough at Varsity (afternoon), Lou E. Marsh, Toronto.

The executive committee of the Ontario Hockey Association held a meeting in the Evening Telegram Building last night to rule on the dispute between Oshawa and Port Hope over the intermediate game played at Oshawa on December 28, and to deal with applications of players for certificates and other business.

President George B McKay, of Toronto, was in the chair, and the following members were present: Immediate Past President William Easson, Stratford; First Vice-president Richard Butler, Lindsay; Second Vice-president Frank Hyde, Woodstock; Treasurer and Past President Sheriff J. F Paxton, Whitby; Percy Bond, Peterborough; George Dudley, Midland; G. M. Burr, Port Colborne; A. H. Schlegel, Preston; George T. Turk, Iroquois Falls; George L. Van Horne, Kingston and Past Presidents William Fry, Dunnville; H. E. Wettlaufer, Kitchener; A. E. Copeland, Toronto, D. L. Darroch, Collingwood, and the secretary, W. A. Hewitt, Toronto.

The meeting was honored by the presence of Dr. Frank Sanderoock, of Calgary, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, and Mr. P. J. Mulqueen, chairman of the Canadian Olympic committee, and also an honorary member of the O.H.A. executive.

It was decided to cancel the intermediate game between Oshawa and Port Hope played on December 28, and only in the event of it affecting the group standing will the game on the revised schedule between the two team at Oshawa on February 2 be played. A misunderstanding existed between the two teams as to whether the December 28th game was an exhibition affair or a regular league fixture. It was shown that the players on both sides were under the impression that the game was not a regular scheduled fixture.

The following players were granted certificates: William Arbour, Barry Sound; Gordon Seiling, Elmira; Cecil Dillon, Owen Sound; Marathon Hefferan, with Listowel, if he applies; William Prentice, Whitby; Lawrie Tuck, David Wardell, Audrey R. Thomas, Morris Murphy and Arthur Clinton, Oakville; Dave Wilson, Southampton; H. Fritz, Stratford; Kenneth McRae Robertson, Stratford; Raymond Schmidt, Kitchener; Arthur Thiffaut, Gerald Brodeur, Jack Bell, Lorne Quantrell and Clayton Snyder, Orillia; Hugh Cameron and Thornton Freeman, Bowmanville.

The following players were refused certificates: Jack McCully, Stratford, and also Walter McLeod, Stratford, if he applies; J J. Bulger, Douglas Symon and R. Schensel, Port Hope, and Samuel Foxworthy, London.

Yankees Corralled Best of Prospects

NEW YORK Jan. 6. Canadian Press. — The New York Yankees, as a result of their latest deal in baseball "ivory," have corralled three-fifths of the outstanding minor league infield prospects of 1927, in the opinion of close observers.

Major league scouts who combed the bushes last season, came back generally with reports that less than half a dozen infielders showed sufficient promise to warrant any heavy bidding for their services.

The most eagerly sought, of course, were the "keystone kids" of the Oakland club of the Pacific coast league—Lyn Larry and Jimmy Reese—whose purchase for an estimated $150,000, was announced on Wednesday by the Yankees for 1929 delivery.

The other prize brought up by the Yankees is Gene Robertson, St. Paul's third baseman and a veteran of considerable major league experience, who has shown all indications of staging a big "comeback." Robertson, in fact, is likely to be a strong candidate for Joe Dugan's post in the Yankee inner corner this Spring.

The two Chicago clubs have obtained the other two outstanding inner workers. The White Sox parted with the equivalent of $12,000 for Chalmer Cissell of the Portland Ore., club, setting a new record for the purchase of an individual minor leaguer. The Cubs landed Freddy Maguire, Toledo second baseman, and another highly tooted performer, who is expected to fill the shoes of "Sparky" Adams in the Chicago infield.

TASCHEREAU JOINS N.A. LIFE BOARD

Premier of Quebec is Appointed Director of Company.

The North American Life Assurance Company announces the appointment of the Hon. Louis Alexandre Taschereau, LL.B., LL.L., M.P.P., to its Board of Directors Mr. Taschereau is a man of much practical experience and will be a valuable addition to the board.

The name Taschereau has occupied a most prominent place in the Province of Quebec since 1726, when Pierre Taschereau arrived there. The founder of the Canadian branch of the family himself became prominent in political affairs of the province. Included in the distinguished line of descendants were Jean Thomas Taschereau, Judge of the Supreme Court.

His Eminence Cardinal Elzear Alexandre Taschereau, Archbishop of Quebec; Judge Jean Taschereau, Sir Henry Taschereau, Chief Justice of the Court of Appeal, and many others.

The Honorable Mr. Taschereau is a son of the late Judge Jean Thomas Taschereau and while he was educated for Law, the greater part of his career has been occupied in political affairs. While engaged in active political affairs. While engaged in active practce of the Law, he took part in many cases of importance, including the Gaynor-Greene extradition case.

Elected in 1900 to the Quebec Legislature for the constituency of Montmorency, he soon made his presence felt and in 1907 was sworn in as Minister of Public Works and Labor. In 1919 he was appointed Attorney-General. Upon the resignation of the Premiership by Sir Lomer Gouin in 1920 he was called upon by the Lieut.-Governor to form a Government, which he did, retaining the portfolio of Attorney-General in addition to the Premiership.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

Charley's Aunt proved to be a great comedy success at the Grand last night and made a distinctive hit amongst those who turned out to see it. The play as presented twenty-seven seasons in London, was written by Brandon-Thomas and the company on its present tour is under the able direction of the widow of the writer, Mrs. Brandon Thomas.

The company can be classed as one of the best that has appeared on the Peterborough stage for some time and was composed of four women and six men. Although it possessed an extensive repertoire, to which it fell back from time to time, its real strength and that which made it so popular with those who saw it was in the play itself.

The setting of the play was at Oxford University in commemmoration week, and the stage decorations revealed a true picture of that famous old school.

Jack Chesney, Charles Wykeham and Lord Fancourt Babberley are three students attending Oxford. They all belong to the well-to-do class and have splendidly furnished rooms and butlers, but like most college boys they are always out of money. Jack and Charles fall in love with Kitty Verdun and Amy Spettigue, who are closely watched by Kitty's guardian, Stephen Spettigue and so as to keep the girls from falling in love he is a sort of a world wanderer

The girls are invited to Jack Chesney's rooms and Charles Wykeham, who has his wealthy aunt, Donna Lucia D'Alvadorez from Brazil, coming to visit him, promised to get her to act as chaperon. On the day of the party the boys, in order to be left alone with the girls, get Lord Fancourt Babberley to entertain the aunt. The girls arrive, but the aunt has not made an appearance so they go and do some shopping. In the meantime a telegram reaches Charles from his aunt saying that she is delayed for several days. As a last resort the boys get Babberley to dress up as an old lady. Then the trouble commences. Spettigue comes in and finds the girls. He insults the aunt but when he finds whom she is supposed to be his attitude immediately changes. Col. Sir Charles Chesney, father of Jack, happens along and tells his son of his financial troubles and Jack tells him of this rich aunt and suggests a marriage between them. Sir Charles and Stephen Spettigue become rivals and all the time Lord Fancourt, who has plenty of wit and is crafty and shrewd, keep the boys on edge for fear the girls might find out who he is.

The aunt, a beautiful woman, and her little adopted niece, arrive unexpectedly and she finds out from Col. Charles about this person who is using her name. She recognizes Sir Charles as an old lover of hers and she tells him her maiden name. After a walk in the garden they fall in love. Stephen Spettigue makes some headway with his little love affair and Lord Fancourt manages to get a written statement from him in which he gives Kitty permission to marry Jack Chesney.

The final act is played in the beautiful surroundings of Spettigue's house. The dinner lubricates the business. Donna Lucia makes herself known when Lord Fancourt is out of the room and when he comes in he is in man's clothing and is immediately recognized by Ela Delahay, the niece of Donna Lucia, as the boy she met while on a Mediterranean trip.

A touch of service is added to the play by Brassett, butler to Jack Chesney, who is loyal to his master even to his last cent.

The play ends with all the couples finding happiness together and Stephen Spettigue not in the best of humor on account of being trapped.

Coming attractions are:

Saturday, January 14—"Aladdin," direct from Royal Alexandra Theatre. Toronto.

Thursday, January 26— F. Stuart Whyte presents "Dick Whittington and His Cat."

Matinee and night, February 1 and 2—"Ben Hur," the greatest picture ever produced.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"THE SOMME."

Another of the war pictures that are enjoying continued popularity is "The Somme," a realistic presentation in pictures of the struggles that took place in that sector of the great conflict. The epilogue which follows the main picture shows the men from the Old Land and the new who went into the Somme, but a great deal of the picture is taken up by the Canadians, with an unforgettable bit in the episode which shows Piper Richardson of the Canadian forces, marching up and down the enemy trenches, blowing a sturdy defiance with the aid of the bagpipes, until the men who have been taking refuge in shell-holes rally once again and rush forward to take the enemy's line.

Little isolated bits of bravery are reproduced here, with the tang of reality about them, as they are actual scenes from the Dominion Government archives. It is the story of war as it is, with its horror of shot and shell, of mud through which men and animals trudge, knee-deep, and in which they sink down to die, cursing with a final breath. It is the picture of small men scurrying ant-like, over broken ground, to dodge into shell-holes for a momentary refuge and jerk out again, to make a few more inches toward the brother men who shoot at them with machine guns from behind masses of barbed wire.

There is something horribly refreshing about the first advance of the tanks as pictured here. The prehistoric monsters, as they must have appeared to the men who knew nothing about them, emerge from a grey mist, and, undeterred by the futile peppering of machine gun fire against their armor-clad sides, make their way with calm deliberation over trenches that crush beneath their tread, smashing the men within them like flies under a hammer.

To the soldiers who went through the Somme battles, this picture will doubtless have a strong appeal. It is filled with interest and with little bits of human interest like the flashing interval where a Scot major brings his men to conflict by aid of a hunting horn. The music that sent men marching to war resounds through the picture, the tread of feet beating the time to "Tipperary" and "The Long, Long Trail" and "Where Do We Go From Here?"

—Jeanette.

Stirling News

STIRLING, Jan. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Ward Badgley of Barrie were visitors with the latter's brother, Mr. John Stiles, Front street, on Thursday last.

Miss Allolea of Lindsay was a guest of Mrs. Nora Wescott last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds, Mrs. Mina Morton and Mrs. Nora Wescott attended the funeral of Mrs. Fox at Madoc last week. The deceased was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Reynolds.

Mr and Mrs. G. B. Airhart and children and Mrs. W. Deacon, Mrs. Loveless and daughter, Marion, of Marmora, were guests of Robert Christie and his sister, Lottie, on New Year's day.

Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 6. — Dr. and Mrs. A. Haig, Bellefille, were visitors in town yesterday.

Miss "Paddy" Henderson, undergraduate of MacDonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Magerrigle last week-end.

The Reverend N. Clarke and Mrs. Wallace returned from Toronto last night. Mrs. Wallace's mother, Mrs. Lockhart, has been seriously ill, but is recovering.

Mrs. Gordon Douglas and Mr. Alex Dunn arrived from Toronto last night to attend the funeral of their mother, Mrs. Charles Dunk, which will be held Saturday afternoon from her late residence, Front Street.

It was the intention of the stewards of St. John's United Church to close the treasurer's books yesterday, but subscriptions have been coming in to such an extent that it was considered expedient to keep them open for at least another day. It is not customary to close the books till April, but the governing body desired to have the church year end at the same time as the calendar year. The secretary could give no complete statement, but said that the church had fully subscribed its allotment for maintenance and extension fund and it was quite probable that the amount would be increased before remitting to the head office.

Tonight the Campbellford hockey team meets Tweed in Tweed for their first game of the season. The fans are anxious to see what form the local boys will show when they make their debut.

There was skating at Davidson's Arena last night in spite of the fact that the interior of the rink is not yet finished and the ice not in proper shape for skating. Another flooding will bring it up to form.

At Covert's Arena a large crowd enjoyed the excellent ice.

Wedding Bells

PICARD—O'MELAY.

SAGINAW, Mich.—A wedding attractive in its simplicity was that of Miss Viola O'Melay, daughter of William J. O'Melay, 1809 North Bond street, and Euclid Joseph Picard, son of Mrs. Maria Picard of Peterboro, Ont., which was solemnized at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, December 29, in the presence of a hundred guests at St. Andrew's church.

The bridal party entered the church as Miss Lela Richter played Mendelssohn's wedding march. Anthony F. Brogger sang "Ave Maria" and "Because".

The bride was attractively attired in a model of poudre blue crepe back satin, trimmed in rhinestones. She wore a hat of the same material with silver lace and rhinestones and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and swansonia tied with showers of silver ribbon.

Miss Grace B. Dwan who attended Miss O'Melay as maid of honor, was dressed in a model of fawn colored crepe, trimmed with gold lace, and wore a small gold hat to match. She carried an arm bouquet of Columbia roses and white Stevia. The bridegroom was attended by Leo J. Stevens of Saginaw.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Hudson party house. Mr. and Mrs. Picard will spend their honeymoon in Toronto and Peterboro and will be at home at 1809 North Bond street after January 15.

FAMOUS LOVE ROMANCES — Lord Nelson and Lady Hamilton (V) — By Nicholas Afonsky

Many of Nelson's biographers deplore the Neapolitan period of his life, which was dominated by his infatuation for Lady Hamilton. For several years he practically lived with the Hamiltons. His wife left him, but old Lord Hamilton always trusted him and died holding Nelsons and Lady Hamilton's hands.

In 1801 Nelson was sent to fight the Danish fleet. Early in the morning a signal was flashed from the commander-in-chief to cease action. Putting his telescope to his blind eye, Nelson gazed at the signal. "I don't see it," he said. "I've a right to be blind sometimes." He went on with the fight and forced the Danes to sign an armistice.

In 1803 he was made commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean fleet. Two years later, when Napoleon was very active in the Mediterranean, Nelson prepared to fight his fleet. Lady Hamilton dreaded having him leave her. They both seem to have felt that it was a last parting. But she urged him to go.

"Brave Emma!" he exclaimed, with tears in his eyes. "If there were more Emmas there would be more Nelsons." He bade her good-bye, knelt for a moment by the bedside of their little daughter Horatia, and then, he says, "I left all which I held dear in this world to go to serve my King and Country."

GIRL'S SKULL WAS FRACTURED

Doctor Reveals Result of Autopsy on Florence Costello.

FOUND DEAD IN RAVINE.

TORONTO Jan. 6.—That 13-year-old Florence Costello, 31 Birdsall Avenue, whose frozen dead body was recovered from the ravine between Castlefield and St. Clement's Avenues after she had been missing almost two weeks, recently, died of a fractured skull, became known yesterday.

This was shown by an autopsy performed by Dr. Frankish at the City Morgue. But whether the child's death was attributed to an accident, or to foul play, is yet an open question. The tragedy will be aired again probably next Tuesday, at the Morgue, when Chief Coroner Crawford will resume the inquest, postponed last Tuesday because of the inability of certain chief witnesses to be present. Meantime, the matter is being investigated by Detective-Sergts. Tuft and Trinnell, of headquarters, at the instigation of Chief Coroner Crawford. As yet, however, their investigation brings forward not the slightest suggestion of foul play.

Miss Costello vanished while on her way home from St. Monica's Separate School, North Toronto. When she failed to reappear within a reasonable period, an extensive search was made by police and citizens. But it was not until three North Toronto girls, while walking through the ravine, came upon the body of the dead girl half-buried in the ice which had formed on the waters of the creek, that the fate of the child was revealed.

Several Theories Advanced

All kinds of rumors followed the disappearance of Miss Costello. Hints of foul play were advanced. It was thought that perhaps the child had been enticed away by some stranger of fell intent, and again that she had been taken ill while wandering about and perished.

The recovery of the body from the ravine led to the supposition that the child had met her death by drowning. This theory, however, was somewhat discounted by the fact that the creek was comparatively dry when the body was picked up. Hence the autopsy.

An inquest was to have been held last Tuesday, but the difficulty of obtaining the necessary witnesses resulted in its postponement. When the result of the post-mortem was made known to him, Chief Coroner Crawford, fearing that the girl might have been slain, immediately got in touch with Inspector of Detectives Guthrie and suggested a police investigation. The investigation by Detectives Tuft and Trinnell was the consequence.

Visitor Called on Priest

The consensus of opinion in police circles, however, regarding the affair, is that the girl's death was accidental, caused, no doubt, by her being seized with a fit, to which she was subject, falling down the slope of the embankment and striking her head at the bottom.

The only indication of anything untoward in connection with the girl's death seems to be the visit of a Cobourg man to Rev. Father Murray, of St. Monica's Parish, a day or two after the girl was reported missing. This man called upon the priest, stating that he knew Father Murray's brother, of Cobourg. Father Murray, however, said that the visitor, who was not too prosperous looking, talked more about the Costello girl than about the priest's relative, asking numerous questions regarding the possible whereabouts of the child.

"I could see," said Father Murray, "that my relationship to Father Murray of Cobourg, was not the real reason for the man's call upon me."

Bowling News

A momentous bowling question was temporarily settled on Tuesday evening when two teams from the Engineering Department of the Canadian General Electric Company met and rather badly defeated two picked teams from the Drafting department. The rivalry between these teams is a matter of long standing, and followers of the game were so anxious to see the teams hook up that Mr Duffus very generously donated his alleys to help bring off the event. The final score was 5-1 for the engineers. The members of the Drafting Department have not definitely decided on their alibi, but it is rumored that a return match will be played in the near future.

CAR BACKFIRES; CRANK KILLS MAN

St. Catharines Motorist Sustains Fatal Injuries While Cranking Auto.

ST. CATHARINES Jan. 6. — A fractured skull from a terrible blow to the mouth by the crank of a motor car resulted in the death of David Joseph Brennan, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Brennan, of 15 McDonald street.

On Tuesday morning the deceased was cranking his car when the motor back fired, the crank striking him in the mouth as it swung back. Several of his teeth were knocked out and others loosened. Mr. Brennan had his teeth attended to, and thought no more of the incident.

On Thursday Mr. Brennan suffered considerable pain from his injuries, and remained at home from his work. In the evening he lay down for a rest and was shortly after found unconscious. Medical aid was summoned but he passed away without regaining consciousness.

He was born in Merriton 29 years ago and had resided in this city for the past 27 years. He was a carpenter by trade. He was a former member of the Canadian Mounted Rifles and was a member of the Holy Name Society.

SPECIAL TRAIN HERE FROM LINDSAY

Midgets Will Have 200 Fans With Them To-night.

The Lindsay team is running a special train to Peterborough for to-night's game with St. John's, at Brock street rink, and Lindsay visitors already in town for the match report that some 200 fans will accompany the Midgets, arriving here at eight o'clock. It will be one of the old time Lindsay-Peterborough battles and promises to attract one of the biggest crowds of the season.

Owing to the fact that the Lindsay and St. John's colors are both red and white the local team has had to make a change for to-night's game and will wear borrowed sweaters.

VETERAN FOUND BADLY POISONED

Frederick McCormach, of Dorchester, Now in New York Hospital.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (Canadian Press).—Frederick McCormack, Dorchester, Mass., today was found unconscious from poisoning on a Brooklyn subway platform. He was taken to a hospital in a serious condition. An unsealed letter in his pocket asked that his aunt, Mrs. William Burke, at Dorchester, be notified. It read, "I am a veteran of the Great War. I served with the Canadian Army. I am without a job, hungry, have no money, and am lonely and blue."

OBITUARY

MRS. WILLIAM WEATHERSTONE

There passed away, while on a visit to her daughter in Meaford, Ontario, an aged and respected resident of this city in the person of Janet Hay Weatherstone. The late Mrs. Weatherstone was born in Lauder, Berwickshire, Scotland, in 1848, and came to Canada in 1864. She settled in Galt, Ont., where she was married to the late William Weatherstone, who predeceased her two years ago.

She leaves to mourn her loss five sons and two daughters, Robert, of Philadelphia, Pa., George H. of Detroit, Mich., and William J., Peter A., and D. Rae of this city; and Mrs. William J. McQuinn of Meaford, Ont. and Mrs. Agnes Graham of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

The remains are expected to arrive in Peterborough on Saturday on the noon train, interment to take place in Little Lake Cemetery, on Monday, January 9, at 2 p.m.

She was a faithful member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, and the service will be conducted by the Rev. William Allan.

MRS. MARY E. COLLINS.

After a life time of ninety-one years, there passed away in St. Joseph's Hospital ,Peterborough, on Wednesday, January 4, 1928, Mrs. Mary E. Collins. She was born in Emily Township, and in the little cemetery by St. Luke's Church, Downeyville, she was laid to rest on Thursday, January 5. Rev. Father Galvin, nephew of deceased, said the funeral mass.

JAMES McLIGGOTT.

One of the oldest residents of Douro passed away this morning in the person of James McLiggott, whose death at the age of eighty-six years, after a brief illness, removes one of the township's pioneers and leading citizens.

The late James McLiggott was born in Port Hope but came to Douro in the early years of his life. He became well known through his activities as councillor and Reeve for many years, also being master of Lock 23, near Lakefield, for eighteen years. He leaves to mourn, four daughters, Mrs. James McManus of Lakefield, Mrs. Michael Barrie of Vancouver, B.C., Teresa, of Peterborough, and Mrs. Patrick McMurray of Douro, at whose home he died, and three sons, James of Auburn, William and John of Peterborough. Funeral announcement will be made later.

Life's Other Side

This isn't a sob story. It's just a picture from life's other side, and it's true.

In a little house on a road leading out of the city about three-quarters of a mile from a central thoroughfare, is a small house where a man and woman live, with their five small children. The man took this place because it has a large piece of ground that he wants to use as a garden for raising vegetables. He is ill and so is his wife. Both need medical attention, which cannot be had without money. He has a factory position that gives him enough to provide absolute necessities in food and little more. There is a considerable sum of rent money owing. The house is filled at most times with the reek of the green wood which burns in the stove and which is cut by the man after his day's work is over.

They do not complain. When shoes for the children were taken to the house, the woman rejected one pair, because enough had been received to do for the time being. "Someone else may need them more," she said. There are three boys and two girls, ranging from two to eight years in age.

Anyone interested may telephone 788W or 2452W.

Newlyweds To Form Domestic Science Class

NEW YORK, January 6 (Canadian Press). — A course in domestic science for newlyweds has been opened in a public school, designed to bring good cooking, economy, and comfort to the household. The course is being sponsored by the Leopold Scheppe Foundation. Wives are to be taught in twenty lessons how to prepare attractive meals and husbands how to economize in the home.

IMMIGRATION WILL INCREASE COUNTRY BECOMES PROSPEROUS

Rt. Hon. L. C. M. Amery Tells in Interview Regarding Immigration Conditions.

ON TOUR OF DOMINION.

Says Will Invariably Show Improvement When Prosperity Is On Upgrade.

VICTORIA, B. C. Jan. 7. — "I am satisfied that as prosperity returns more and more to the mother country and to Canada that immigration from the old land to this Dominion will largely increase," announced the Right Hon. L. C. E. Amery, secretary of state for the dominions, in an interview here yesterday.

"Immigration conditions, between countries," continued Col. Amery, "invariably show improvement when prosperity is on the upgrade, and there should be no exception between Great Britain and Canada, for even if Great Britain is prosperous it is probable that Canada will be still more prosperous and so immigrants will be attracted the more to migrate here."

Col. Amery stressed the point that Government was heartily interested in all sound schemes to attract their settlers to this dominion.

"I cannot say exactly in what way we shall extend the 3000 family scheme until I have been enabled to see what progress in the matter of immigration policies between Great Britain and Canada, has been made during my six months' absence from home. I intend during my tour of the Dominion to go into the matter of immigration policies with the various provincial governments and also of course with the Dominion government at Ottawa. I intend also to visit recent settlers here under the 3000 family scheme. I shall then be in a better position to judge as to what policy in regard to the extension of immigration facilities is the one that we should get together on between the two countries.

Should Visit Governments.

Col. Amey stressed the point that it was very necessary for the ministers of the various empire governments to visit the other governments of the empire and so gain a knowledge of the various conditions on the spot.

"In that way," said Mr. Amery, "we will gain that very important factor, a personal touch. We have benefitted in the past by visits of members of the Canadian government and I feel strongly that in my position of liaison officer between the government of Great Britain and the governments of the Dominions that I should visit the dominions and become personally aware of their problems, for it must not be forgotten the empire is kept going by a community of spirits and ideas."

Discussing the recent trade treaty between Canada and Australia, in which Australia is given considerable preference for dried fruit Col. Amery expressed the hope that in due course the treaty would work out to the mutual benefit of both countries.

"Under modern conditions, it is essential that that we should know each other better and come to understand each other's point of view, ed at first hand and not on paper. If ed at rst hand and not on paper. If that is so, it is obviously the duty of every public man in England to learn what he can of the rest of the empire. Especially so should it be the duty of the man occupying an office such as mine which is directly dealing with the different parts of the Empire. The Dominion ministers have always realized these facts and they have been over to London for conferences. Obviously, all the travelling should not be on one side."

Given Much Thought.

Col. Amery said that much thought was being given to immigration and the extension of the 3,000 family scheme. He explained that one reason immigration from the British Isles had been slow during recent years was that conditions were not of the best there and it is known that during times of depression it is difficult for persons who desire to migrate to raise the money necessary to pay their passage.

"But with more prosperous times here in Canada as well as across the Atlantic there should be an increase in the immigration flow," Col. Amery went on.

"I do not think there is any feeling in Great Britain that the Canadian Government is not doing its part to stimulate immigration and I do not think there has been any apathy on the part of the Canadian government in the Old Land in this respect. The fact is that there have been economic factors at work which have retarded the flow of immigration to this country."

Learn Economic Conditions.

Col. Amery said during his trip across Canada he wanted to learn about all the economic conditions as they affect immigration.

At Toronto he explained he will be met by one of the officials of his own staff of the Overseas Settlement Department.

"In person we will discuss immigration with the Canadian immigration authorities at Ottawa," Mr. Amery continued. "It is more satisfactory to deal with such matters across the table: it is a much more expeditious way than by telegrams and letters."

Regarding the Canadian-Australian trade treaty, Mr. Amery said that he

HOSPICE FIRE TOLL THIRTY

Twelve Children Found Living With Relatives and Others.

EVERYONE ACCOUNTED FOR.

QUEBEC, Jan. 7.— (Canadian Press.) — With all the children accounted for, the toll of young lives taken in the St. Charles Hospice catastrophe of December 14 last remains at thirty, mostly little girls between the ages of five and six years. The last of the twelve children regarding whose whereabouts the Sisters of the Hospice were without information were located yesterday by municipal detectives, according to a report issued to-day. The last dozen of missing children were discovered in the homes of their parents or living with uncles and aunts of people who had given them shelter on the night of the fire.

MARK STREET CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS

Annual Banquet Held By the Young Men of Sunday School.

The annual banquet of Mark Street United Church Young Men's Bible Class was held last night in the Sunday School with the leader, Thomas Hendry, in the chair. Following the dinner, which was served by the ladies of the church, Mr. Hendry made a short speech on the propects for the coming year. Other speakers were the pastor, the Rev. A. E. Thornley; Ward Gamble, superintendent; Kent Throop, secretary, and Len Agnew, assistant superintendent of the Sunday School.

The musical program consisted of a song by Len Agnew; a recitation by Max Peters; an instrumental solo by Mr. Watts of Trinity Sunday School, and community singing. V. H. L. Boorman acted as pianist for the evening.

The election of officers resulted in Max Pomeroy being chosen president; T. Payne, secretary-treasurer and Gordon Agnew and Lionel Pomeroy, membership committee.

Two teams were chosen for a membership campaign.

A vote of thanks to the ladies for the fine meal served was heartily

University Imports Mummies As Bones

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 7.—(United Press.) — By booking mummies as "old bones" Harvard university has saved several thousand dollars in steamship fares. When William G. Morse, Harvard, purchasing agent, negotiated with the Ward Steamship line for the transportation of 100 Yucatan Indian mummies, he learned that the fare for the mummies would be $100 each if they were shipped as "persons." So Morse recorded the mummies in the shipping papers as "old bones" and was granted a reduced rate by the steamship company.

MOTHER TELLS MRS. SNYDER HOPE IS GONE

Mrs. Brown Advises Daughter To Prepare To Die Next Week.

JURY HEARING ON FRIDAY.

Speculation Arises As To Success of Latest Move of Her Counsel.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (Canadian Press).—Speculation arose today as to whether the latest court move by counsel for Mrs. Ruth Snyder would result in stay of her execution in the event Governor Smith refuses clemency. Edgar Hazelton, of Mrs. Snyder's counsel, consented to argue the request for jury trial of the suit over $97,000 insurance on Mrs. Snyder's murdered husband next Friday, the day after her scheduled execution. The request for a jury trial stressed the importance of Mrs. Snyder's presence at the trial. The suit would have no bearing on Henry Judd Gray, sentenced to die with her.

Mrs. Snyder, in her death cell at Sing Sing prison, was told by her mother, Mrs. Josephine Brown, that all hope of a reprieve is gone and to prepare herself for death. Mrs. Brown, on leaving the prison, said "I had to tell her that all hope is gone. I wanted to be the one to do it. I told her that it was useless to cling to faith any longer. I told her to prepare herself. She has been a brave girl, but she knows she must die now."

Warden Lawes of Sing Sing prison was proceeding today with preparations for the double execution. It will be as devoid of sensationalism as he can make it, he said. No telephone or telegraph wires for the use of the press will be installed in the prison. They will be in the village. Twenty-four witnesses have been selected. These will include twenty newspapermen and four physicians.

SUDDEN RISE OF THAMES RIVER CAUSES SCORE OF DROWNINGS

Abnormal Flood Tide Is Met By Heavy Flow From Hills.

PARTS OF LONDON FLOODED.

Hundreds of People Driven From Homes—Children Drowned in Basements.

LONDON, Jan 7. Canadian Press. —The flood deaths in the London district caused by the sudden rising of the Thames early to-day, after an abnormal tide, had reached twenty at noon. The deaths were distributed as follows: Fifteen in the Westminster area, two in Putney, one in Hammersmith, and one in Jurlingham. Crowds gathered along the Victoria embankment at noon to see whether the abnormal high tide would recur.

London was aghast at the most devastating catastrophe which the River Thames has wrought in modern times. The sudden rise of the river which occurred when the waters caused by the rains and the melted Christmas snows, swept down on London and met an abnormal tide. The river receded to normal to-day with the ebb tide.

Fearing a recurrence f the disaster at the next flood tide, engineers labored frantically building temporary barricades where the walls along the embankment collapsed early today. An extensive search of the poorer districts, it was feared might show more victims.

The river swept over its banks for 60 miles from the sea and a night of alarms and tense excitement such as has been unknown for years resulted. Brief reports from the densely populated section below the business section of the city told of the struggle of frightened people to escape from the sudden rush of the water into their homes. A number of the houses were flooded in Limehouse, Rotherhithe Poplar Canning Town, in the neighborhood of the docks.

Many public buildings were thrown open to shelter the sufferers. The police and others assisted in removing the stricken and supplying them with food.

The abnormal tide which caused the mischief began to flow at two o'clock this morning. This followed the recent gale which swept the coast. As the waters from the sea met the waters from the hills disaster resulted. Firemen were busy today pumping out flooded cellars.

Embankment Holds.

The granite wall along Victoria embankment held against the terrific volume of water, preventing a more serious catastrophe in the centre of the city. The water rose to the top of this wall, which is four feet wide, and runs for a mile and a half from the city proper to Westminster street. At some points the waters overflowed but the wall itself held against the rush of the waters.

On the opposite side of the irve matters were much worse. There is no embankment and from Westminster to East streets were quickly flooded. Hundreds of dwellers of the poorer districts were roused either by the police or the sound of the advancing water. They fled in haste and terror from their beds, amid an uproar of shouts and cries of alarm.

The hardest hit district of London was Grosvenor Road from Lambeth footbridge to Vauxhall bridge. Here every house was flooded and it was feared that several bodies might be in the basements, where many famil-

Federal Bank Loans Largest In Years

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 7.—(Canadian Press.) — Although loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve member banks have reached the unprecedented height of $3,810,023,000, President Coolidge does not see any reason for unfavorable comment.

The loans are larger than at any time within the history of the Federal Reserve System and are approximtaely a billion dollars in excess of those reported on January 5, 1927. During the last month they increased by approximately a hundred million dollars and except for a few minor fluctuations, they have increased steadily for the last eighteen months

The president, it was said at the White House yesterday, believes that the increase represents a natural expansion of business in the securities market and sees nothing unfavorable in it.

SNOW PLOW FOR STREETS HERE

Bus Company Has Truck Equipped With Steel Blade.

CITY WILL USE IT.

Provided there is sufficient snow to warrant its use, there will be put into action in or near the city, a modern motor snow plough with many features to recommend it. Now standing in the garage of the Border Transit Coy., Hunter Street W., it has been viewed by many who have commented favorably upon it.

It consists of a large Gotfredson truck equipped with dump body. On the front of the truck there is set a straight blade some six or eight feet long and a foot deep, which can be regulated or set by means of controls situated inside the cab of the truck.

The Transit Company purposes using it on the roads used by its busses, and it will be used on city streets also.

KNOX W.M.S. MEETS.

Delegates Appointed To Attend Meeting of Presbyterial.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Knox church was held on Thursday, Jan. 5, with a good attendance.

The president, Mrs. Watt, presided. The usual devotional exercises were taken by Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. Ego.

Several items of business were discussed and Mrs. Ego, Mrs. Denoon, Miss Hazel Huffman and Mrs. Long were appointed to represent our auxiliary at the Presbyterial to be held in St. Andrew's church. A period of prayer was held and the meeting closed with the Lord's prayer.

Niece of Bernhardt Is Granted Divorce

CHICAGO, Jan. 7 (Canadian Press).—Suzanne Caubet Wilbur, acress and niece of the late Sarah Bernhardt, was granted a divorce in Superior Court here yesterday from Crane Wilbur, actor, whom she charged with cruelty.

The Wilburs were married April 3, 1922, and separated September 3, 1926. She testified that her husband's cruelty began in 1925 when he slapped her.

Mrs. Wilbur said she did not wish alimony, but wanted to resume her maiden name of Caubet. This was granted.

"VICTORY" SIX NEW DODGE CAR IS INTRODUCED

High Speed Car With Low Centre of Gravity Is Presented.

TO SELL AT $1,390 UP.

Standard Four and Senior Six Will Be Retained, It Is Announced.

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—After eighteen months of development work, Dodge Brothers has officially announced the Victory Six, a passenger car containing a number of marked innovations. It is long and low in appearance, capable of sustained high speeds, and is priced from $1390 to $1550: the standard sedan selling at $1455 f.o.b. Toronto.

Plans for 1928 at Dodge Brothers include the continuance of the Standard Four, equipped with 4-wheel brakes and priced at $1165 for the sedan, and the Senior Six, priced at $2100 for the sedan, in addition to the Victor Six. The Graham Brothers truck division, which has just completed the most prosperous year in its history, will continue to build commercial cars and trucks of five capacities: 2-ton, 1½-ton, 1-ton, ¾-ton and ½-ton.

"With this program", said President E. G. Wilmer, "the Dodge dealers are prepared to meet a wide range of the demand for automotive transportation. These three distinct classifications of passenger cars and five separate types of trucks fit into a high percentage of the public's requirements as indicated by the industry's total sales."

Tentative schedules for the year indicate that nearly three-fourths of Dodge Brothers passenger car production will consist of Victory models including a coupe at $1390, a coupe with rumble seat at $1455, a sedan at $1445, de luxe sedan at $1550, brougham at $1445, and a de luxe brougham at $1550.

Grilling tests during which more than 1,000,000 miles were rolled up by engineers in both experimental and actual production models preceded the formal announcement of the Victory. Some of the test cars on durability runs, were kept going on the highways until their speedometers showed over 100,000 miles; speed performances on the Indianapolis track demonstrated that the car was capable of maintaining nearly 70 miles an hour as an average in thousand-mile grinds. For months preliminary to the formal announcement, Victory Six models have been subjected to all sorts and conditions of roadwork in all parts of the United States; their drivers taking them 14,000 feet up mountains and far below sea level on western deserts.

Officials of the Dodge company state that the new car embodies several basic innovations in automotive construction and design. To provide road-holding qualities necessary for high speeds and at the same time to permit the low sweeping body lines dictated by fashion without sacrificing roominess or road clearance, Dodge Brothers is employing a design entirely new to the industry. The body and the chassis frame, in the Victory Six, are a single unit.

Because conventional sills and cross-members are done away with,

BUYING IS DULL ON FARM MARKET

Prices Slightly Lower in the Basket Section This Morning.

Buying was rather dull on the farmers' market this morning, the mild weather giving a languid air to the proceedings. Prices in the basket section were slightly lower with eggs priced from 48c to 55c a dozen, butter at 40 and 42c a pound, and turkeys, also very scarce, were 40 and 45c a pound. Cream was 30c a pint, and honey 50c a five-pound pail of amber quality.

otatoes were quoted at $1.75 a bag; pork at 15 and 18c for front and hind quarters, and beef at 14 and 16c. Spy apples were 70c peck, russets 50c; Peswaukees 40c and pears 60c a peck.

Feather pillows were $4.50 a pair. Knitted flowers at 25c a bunch were conspicuous, and also some good looking rag mats.

BELIEVED WATERWAY PROJECT APPROVED BY ADVISORY BOARD

Members To Re-assemble Today To Formulate Recommendations to Government.

ENDORSE PRINCIPLE.

Certain Departures Declared To Have Been Made From Original Plans.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 7 (Canadian Press).—The National Advisory Committee on the St. Lawrence waterway has not yet concluded its deliberations, and yesterday's sessions were adjourned around 6 p.m. until this morning, when the members will reassemble in an effort to formulate their recommendations to the Government. The conference opened on Thursday when three sessions were held, and it was continued yesterday with Hon. Walter E. Foster, former Premier of New Brunswick, presiding. Two members of the committee, Major General J. W. Stewart of Vancouver and E. D. Martin of Winnipeg, are absent but the others, Thomas Ahearn of Ottawa, Beaudry Leman, Montreal, Dr. W. L. McDougald, Montreal, and Hon. Sir Clifford Sifton, are taking part in the deliberations.

Held in Camera.

The discussions are being held "in camera," and strictest secrecy is being preserved as to the decisions arrived at, but yesterday the report was given wide currency and received with considerable credence that the committee had arrived at an agreement on the feasibility of the waterway project, that they endorsed it in principle and on this basis would make their recommendations to the Government. Certain departures were declared to have been made from the original plans, particularly that a depth of 27 feet would be substituted for the first recommendation of 25 feet in the waterway and 30 feet in the locks. A twelve-year period of construction was also said to be projected as a recommendation instead of the eight years originally planned.

How close the report is to the actual facts could not be determined due to the mantle of privacy which has enveloped the whole conference. Members of the committee would not commit themselves either to affirming or denying the report.

Yesterday the committee met a sub committee of the Cabinet, and following this again went into session among themselves. Nothing was disclosed regarding the nature of the discussion they had with the Ministers.

Matter of Long Standing.

The undertaking of works on the St. Lawrence River for the purpose of making it navigable throughout its entire length to ocean-going steamships, and at the same time combining this with the development of Hydro-Electric power is a matter of long-standing and was first mooted in a reference by the governments of both Canada and the United States to the International Joint Commission under authority of the treaty of 1909. The commission investigated the feasibility of improving navigational facilities on the St. Lawrence and submitted its report in December, 1921. The enquiries had been held up during the war years, and in those years of reconstruction following the war. The recommendation was then made to both governments that a treaty be concluded for a shipway improvement to the river between Montreal and Lake Ontario, subject to the modification that various engineering features of the project should be further probed. In continuation of this, President Coolidge appointed the St. Lawrence River Commission under Secretary of Commerce Hoover in March, 1924, and two months later the Canadian National Advisory Committee on the St. Lawrence Waterway, under the chairmanship of Right Hon. George P. Graham, came into being. A year later instructions were issued by both countries concerned to a joint board of engineers—three from Canada and the same number from the United States—to review and extend the engineering plans as recommended by the International Joint Commission in 1921.

The joint board of engineers undertook an elaborate survey of the lake and river systems, both as to navigation and power, and in November, 1926, filed with each government an exhaustive report upon all the engineering aspects. The two representative bodies differed in certain phases of the matter, the Americans recommending a one-stage power development, and the Canadians a two-stage. The St. Lawrence River Commission, which acted for the United States Government in the same capacity as the National Advisory Committee did for Canada, recommended to President Coolidge that negotiations should be entered into with Canada in an endeavor to arrive at an agreement as to the speedy development of the waterway, and the United States Government accepted the commision's recommendations. Following this Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, in a communication to Premier Mackenzie King, said:

Approve Principle.

"In view of the action already taken by both Governments, it is apprehended that they are in accord on the principle that the project should be undertaken. If this (the United States) Government's conclusion in this respect be correct, there only remains to be effected an understanding as to the methods and means for its earliest accomplishment. This Government is prepared to enter into negotiations with a view to the formulation of a convention so-

DUFFUS STAFF IS ENTERTAINED

J. J. Duffus is Host at Banquet —Refers To Good Work of Year.

OTHER SPEAKERS.

In the Empress Hotel Parlor there gathered last evening a great many of the 67 members of the staff of J. J. Duffus Limited for dinner to which they had been invited by Mr. Duffus as an indication of his appreciation of the splendid spirit of goodwill and co-operation that has been maintained throughout the year 1927. Among those present were members of the office staff, mechanical department, and representatives of the companies whose cars the Duffus firm sells.

Quite informal, the entire program was one greatly enjoyed—the addresses were brief, bright, and interesting, the music was supplied by a console model Kolster radio, of which the Duffus firm holds the local agency, and in all, the guests were made to feel quite at ease.

J. J. Duffus.

"For a considerable length of time I have had under consideration an event such as this, and may I say with the idea of making it an annual affair. The greatest difficulty in the way is to select a date when we would find it possible for all to be able to attend on account of pressure of business, which while an inconvenience is not by any means an undesirable feature.

"I am most happy that we have nearly one hundred per cent. attendance, and I thank you for your kind consideration in this regard. There are various reasons why I am delighted to have you all together on this occasion. The chief and most important being that I might have an opportunity of expressing my warm thanks for your kind and efficient co-operation during 1927 and past years. I say past years, and I say it consistently, for the reason that most of you have been with this organization for a number of years—some since 1911 ,which is 16 years ago, many of you from five to ten years, a few not so long.

"During the past year changes have taken place in some of the departments of our business, which changes I am glad to be able to say have worked out eminently satisfactory.

"It is not necessary for me to mention the change in the cars which we were handling to the famous Willys-Knight, Whippet, and Falcon-Knight line of fine automobiles, of which you will hear more later, particularly in regard to the new features which are being incorporated, and at very much reduced prices.

"It is a matter of major importance that we were able during the past year to execute in our service department upwards of 24,000 service jobs resulting in so many satisfied customers.

"Under the supervision of Mr. Green and the efficient staff of mechanics which we have, I desire to pay tribute to the work of this department by saying that I am convinced that no repair shop anywhere can turn out more satisfactory work and in record time. And I may say the same applies to our service at Millbrook branch.

"With the new equipment which we have recently installed and that which we have under contemplation, it will be our delight to tackle any repair or overhaul work, no matter how small, how large, or how fine the work may require to be, and on all makes of cars and trucks.

"The approval with which our paint jobs have met the public's desires, many of which have been on the finest cars in the city and surround-

CYCLONIC GALE SWEEPS OVER BRITISH ISLES

Enormous Property Damage Done to Whole Country By High Winds.

STEAMERS TOSSED.

Feared Many Lives Lost—Telegraph and Railway Communications Disrupted.

LONDON, Jan. 7 (A.P.). — The British Isles, which, during recent weeks has been the helpless plaything of many weather extremes, yesterday sustained the ravages of an unusual gale of almost cyclonic force which caused enormous damage to the whole country, and it is feared took many lives.

From every part of Britain and Ireland comes tales of damage caused by the ripping of roofs and uprooting of trees and telegraph and telephone poles and the complete demolition of small structures. The wind attained its maximum velocity, estimated at 85 miles an hour, off the Yorkshire coast, and numerous shipping accidents were reported in both the Engliss and Irish Channels.

Communications Disrupted

Many parts of the country that had hardly recovered telegraph, telephone and railway communications from the recent blizzards and extreme cold were again isolated and the extent of the loss of life and damage in the rural sections has not yet been determined.

Many small houses and open markets in the larger cities are known to have been demolished by the wind, which seemed to take everything movable in its path. Most of the casualties so far reported from outlying districts are said to have been caused by crashing walls and roofs and falling trees, although an almost endless tale of minor damage and casualties make their way thruogh broken lines of communication, no big disaster has yet been reported.

NEW TRUSTEE CHOSEN.

Thomas Doupe Succeeds Thomas Brown on S.S. 10 Seymour Board.

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 6.—There was a good attendance at the annual business meeting held at the school house for S.S. No. 10, Seymour. Thomas J. Brown was the retiring trustee, and Thomas Doupe succeeds him, with Messrs. Gordon Shearer and W. C. Inkster remaining on the Board.

Some discussion was caused regarding the matter of the section supporting two teachers at the school, but the majority won out, claiming that one teacher was insufficient where there were over fifty pupils enrolled.

OHIO YOUTH PAYS PENALTY

Floyd Hewitt Dies in the Electric Chair For Double Murder.

CALM TO LAST.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, January 7 (Canadian Press). — Calm and silent to the last, Floyd Hewitt, 17-year-old slayer of Mrs. Fred Brown and her five-year-old son, of Conneaut, went to his death in the electric chair at Ohio Penitentiary yesterday.

Hewitt, the youngest Ohio murderer to pay the supreme penalty by electrocution, was a bedraggled figure as he was led into the death chamber, his long black hair hanging low over his face.

Not a word came from him, nor did he show any sign of emotion after a first startled look when he stepped into the room. The current was turned on at 7.41 p.m., and two minutes later he was pronounced dead.

A Bible, little used heretofore, was Hewitt's companion as he waited in his cell on the threshold of death last night. He spent the few hours before the execution thumbing the leaves, but somewhat disinterestedly.

His complete indifference to the fate that awaited him wavered a little when his mother and father, who are estranged, came to the cell jointly to bid him farewell. The youth soon gained his composure, however.

For his final meal he had chicken, mashed potatoes, salad, and mince pie. He ate heartily, the guards said.

The last attempt to save the young slayer from death failed yesterday afternoon when Governor Donahey declined the appeal of Mrs. H. M. Hewitt, the mother, for commutation.

FOUR BODIES ARE RECOVERED

Divers Locate Remains in Engine Room Compartment of S-4.

CONTINUE INQUIRY.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., January 7 (Canadian Press). — The bodies of four more members of the crew of the submarine S-4 were taken from the engine room compartment of the sunken ship by divers yesterday afternoon.

Two of the bodies were found huddled beneath a tarpaulin close to where one of the three bodies recovered on Wednesday was discovered. The other two, found yesterday, were nearby, and the divers expressed the opinion that the four men were lying together on the floor under the heavy canvas in an effort to keep warm when death overtook them.

BOSTON, Mass., January 7 (Canadian Press). — To save the entire crew of 40 of the sunken submarine S-4 rather than to provide six men in the torpedo room of the vessel with a little air was the first effort of the Navy salvage fleet that gathered off Provincetown on December 17, Lieut.-Commander Edward Ellsberg, who acted as salvage officer in the S-4 operations for two weeks, testified yesterday before the Naval Court of Inquiry investigating the disaster.

The men who retired from the navy after salvaging the S-51 off Block Island in 1926, and returned to the service to aid in S-4 rescue work, occupied the witness stand almost the entire day, and presented a defence of the navy's rescue work, carried on in rough seas and icy temperatures where the S-4 went down.

Answering questions as to why the rescuers did not first attempt to send air to the men known to be alive in the forward compartment of the submarine rather than blow out the ballast tanks, Commander Ellsberg said it was thought wiser to try to save the entire crew rather than relieve six men who were at the time apparently in good condition.

DEMAND RETURN OF SECOND CONFESSION

Hickman's Counsel Makes Formal Demand Upon District Attorney Keyes.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 7. — A demand for possession of a purported second confession by William Edward Hickman concerning the kidnapping and killing of Marian Parker was formally made yesterday by Jerome Walsh, the accused youth's attorney, upon District Attorney Asa Keyes.

Walsh, who was retained by Hickman's mother in Kansas City, declared that he would appeal to the courts if necessary to compel delivery of the document, which is supposed to contain Hickman's motives for the killing and the mutilation of the body of the 12 year old school girl.

The attorney said he understood the second confession had been obtained during the trip to Los Anglese from Pendleton, Ore., near where Hickman was captured, and that Keyes was keeping it secret.

The demand was refused by Harold L. Davis chief deputy district attorney, speaking for Keyes, and Walsh countered with his threat of recourse to the courts so that the documents could be turned over to alienists. Davis refused either to confirm or deny the existence of the second confession. In his first confession on the Pendleton-Los Angeles journey Hickman admitted slaying the girl.

A plea of not guilty by reason of insanity to the indictment charging kidnapping and murder was made by the 19 year old slayer

Davis declared that there was no law that would compel a district attorney to turn over his evidence to the defence and indicated a policy not to permit any evidence in the Hickman case to reach the defence attorneys.

The much-discussed question of whether Hickman had any accomplices in the kidnapping and murder came up again when a railway employee is understood to have told the grand jury that he saw Hickman and another railway worker talking together in a phone booth on the day Marian was taken from school. The informant is reported to have said that the name of "Parker" was mentioned in the conversation.

Hickman appeared to-day to have lost confidence, Jailers said, and worried constantly over the possible punishment for his confessed crimes.

TWO WOMEN LOSE LIVES IN TENEMENT FIRE

Three People and Baby Injured, Blaze Destroy Apartment House.

$25,000 DAMAGE.

One Woman Has Narrow Escape From Death When Clothing Takes Fire.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (Canadian Press).—Two women were burned to death and a twenty-day-old baby, another woman and two firemen were injured when flames destroyed a five-storey tenement building in Upper Madison Avenue yesterday, causing a property damage estimated at $25,000.

The dead were Mrs. Victoria Correa, 30 years old, and her mother, Mrs. Saturnia Martinez, 50 years old, who lived with her daughter. Mrs. Correa's baby had suffered only slight burns on the face when it was taken from the arms of its dead mother by firemen.

Mrs. Bessie Tanber, owner of the building, in whose rooms the fire broke out as she was preparing a meal, received burns. Firemen Thomas Carroll suffered a fractured ankle in a fall when the roof collapsed, and Fireman Quinlan was cut by broken glass.

Clothing Takes Fire

Mrs. Tanber's clothing became ignited when flames shot from the gas stove over which she was working. Her endeavor to smother the blaze with a robe resulted in a spread of the fire to the woodwork and soon it had entered an airshaft and broken out in the other floors. A girl identified only as "Fannie," who was employed by Mrs. Tauber, was missing in the first check-up, but firemen believed she left the building at the first alarm.

English Banks Show Lower Gains For Year

LONDON, Jan. 7 (Canadian Press Cable).—Two of the biggest banks here, namely Barclays Bank and the National Provincial Bank, announce profits for the past year and the usual dividends. In both instances however the net profits are slightly lower than they were a year ago, but this cannot affect the dividends.

Lloyd's Bank also shows a slight reduction in profits for the past year, but the dividend remains unchanged.

The Midland Bank has made a better profit this past year than in the previous year. It is paying the same dividend as before.

Four Men Drowned Motor Boat Wrecked

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 7 (Canadian Press).—Four men were drowned when the motor schooner Noble, out of Vancouver, was wrecked on Hecalante Reef off the west coast of Vancouver Island, according to word received here late yesterday.

Those drowned were: Captain J. Kerr, Chief Engineer H. William, Chief Officer B. Wall, and Cook S. V. Herby. Cliff Deschamps, wireless operator, and Second Engineer F. Bell, were rescued by a lifeboat which reached the schooner some time after it foundered.

London To Aid Government of Iraq In Punishing of Wahhabi Raiders

LONDON, Jan. 7 (Canadian Press Cable).—The decision of the British Government to co-operate with the Government of Iraq, which was placed under the mandatory power of Great Britain by the League of Nations following the Great War, in an undertaking to launch punitive measures against the Wahhabi raiders from Arabia, has occasioned little surprise in well informed quarters in London.

Feisal ed Dowish, leader of the Nedj tride of Mutair, has been causing a great deal of trouble recently by repeated raids on Iraq shepherds, which have resulted in numerous casualties. It is obvious that for some time Iba Saud, King of Hedjas, has been unable to prevent these raids although Feisal ed Dowish is nominally under Ibu Saud's control. The latter, however, has disclaimed any responsibility for the Dowish's raids and the relations between himself and Iraq remain perfectly normal and friendly.

No details are yet known regarding the plans for punitive measures, but it is presumed that a contingent from Iraq will participate in any action taken.

Lindbergh Gets Aeronautic Medal By Unanimous Vote For His Flight

PARIS, Jan. 7. — The International Aeronautical Federation's gold medal for the greatest achievement in aviation in 1927 was unanimously voted to Colonel Charles A. Lindberg for his trans-Atlantis flight, at the semi-annual meeting of the Federation in Paris. Delegates from twenty nations attended.

At the same time it was announced that June 30 had been set for the James Gordon Bennett balloon race, to be held at Detroit, and that Jacques Schneider, founder of the Schneider Cup race, who was present at the meeting, had endorsed a plan to hold the Schneider race biennally, instead of annually as heretofore. This means that the next Schneider race will be held in England in 1929. The British, through their victory at Venice last September, now hold one leg on the cup, which will be awarded outright to the nation winning three out of five races.

After considerable discussion the Federation decided that it could not recognize officially the altitude record of Captain Hawthorne Gray of the United States Army, who lost his life during an attempt, because he failed to land in possession of his instruments, as provided by the rules. But as recognition of the dead officer's feat the Federation homologated Gray's record "with tribute."

The American delegates to the conference were Sidney B. Veit and Barton S. Young, Military Air Attache at Paris. Later the delegates were guests at a dinner given by the Aero Club of France.

TEACHER RECEIVES BOOK FROM CLASS

Mrs. Rae Given Leather-Bound Volume of Shakespeare.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 7.—A pleasing and quite informal, event took place in connection with the Men Organized Class, of the United Church Sunday school, after the regular session on the last Sunday of the year, when the popular and efficient teacher, Mrs. (Dr.) Rae, was presented with a handsome and complete volume of Shakespeare's works, leather-bound, with title in gold lettering.

Mr. L. W. Smith, president of the class, in a few well-chosen words, expressed the appreciation felt of Mrs. Rae's very helpful teaching of the lesson from Sunday to Sunday, her faithfulness in attendance, and her unfailing personal interest in the welfare of its individual members, and the class as a whole, Mr. W. O'Brian offering the gift.

The recipient made suitable reply, the whole event being a complete surprise, though coming, the members felt, as a fitting climax to the year's work together.

The class has recently been increasing its enrollment, and the large attendance each week gives ample proof of the able manner in which the teacher presents the lesson, and the mutual interest taken. New members are welcomed at any session, and visitors are always made welcome.

The annual election of officers will take place following the regular session on Sunday, January 8.

RATEPAYERS HEAR MANY CANDIDATES

Winners and Losers in Marmora Elections Give Addresses.

MARMORA, Jan 6.—A joint meeting of the electors of Marmora village and Marmora township took place in the town hall on Monday evening following the declaration of election results. Charles Jones, clerk of the township, presided. After announcing the number of votes for each councillor at the six various polls in the township, the chairman called upon Reeve T. E. Laycock for a speech. Having expressed his thanks to the electorate Mr. Laycock, a reeve of former years, remarked that it was the first election he had entered wherein he had received the votes of the ladies. He promised to do his best to live up to the confidence placed in him. Hard problems were facing the new council, he declared, but with co-operation, they would be given proper attention.

Reeve G. B. Airhart of Marmora village, thanked the villagers for his return and the people of the township for their moral support. He traced his connection with municipal affairs thirty years back when he had been appointed auditor of the township with the late William Hilton. Since then he had been auditor of the village and secretary of the school board. This will be his ninth year in the reeve's chair and he expressed his pleasure at the arrangement of the joint meeting for his home for so many years had been in Marmora township. He was pleased to note the good feeling attending the elections. "Municipalities of the size of Marmora village and of Marmora and Lake township cannot afford to have divisions," he declared. Referring to Hastings county affairs, he named Mr. S. B. Rollins, of Tweed, as the possible Warden for 1928. He also informed the gathering of two interesting delegations which had been sent out by the county council during the past two years. The first was to Hon. J. S. Martin, asking for the establishment in the county of an agricultural college and inquiring into the possibility of an experimental farm. While not favouring the latter, the Department of Agriculture had suggested the operation of small plots in different sections in the county. In this matter Hastings county had received the co-operation of neighboring counties and some plan will be worked out in this connection.

The other delegation waited upon the Hon. W. Finlayson, discussing a reforestation scheme for the county. The township of Grimesthorpe was under consideration as the place for commencement. In concluding Reeve Airhart tendered the greetings of the season.

Wellington Billings, who secured the largest number of votes of the councillors elected for the township, thanked the electors for placing him at the head of the poll. He did not know he had so many friends as the vote revealed He hoped they would overlook any mistakes he might make in the discharge of his duties.

D. E. Bell, returned as councillor for the village, voiced his appreciation in fitting terms. It was quite a proposition, he said, for a Reeve and four councillors to please one and all. If any felt they were unjustly dealt with, they should come to the council table and express themselves there. He wished all a happy and prosperous New Year.

Councillor Leonard, elected to his first term on the township council, was able to say of his visitations during the campaign, that they had afforded him surprise at the courtesy shown him. The Marmora and Lake ratepayers were the best he had met with in his travels.

Rev. A. B. Caldwell, elected as Public school trustee, thanked his many supporters for the confidence placed in him. There was no more important work in any municipality than the education of the boys and girls. He understood that the work had been splendid in the past and he would endeavour to see its maintenance in the future. He wished all a happy and prosperous New Year.

J. Downard spoke briefly but appreciatively on his election as township councillor.

Gray, newly elected school trustee, in course of a few earnest remarks hoped he would justify the choice of his supporters.

G. E. Goodrich, surviving member of last year's township council, also gave an appropriate speech, bringing out the responsibility of office and pledged his desire to do his duty as a faithful councillor durig the coming year.

L. E. Neal and J. I. McCoy, both defeated in the race for reeveship of the township, spoke briefly.

H. W. Sabine, past clerk of Marmora village, who assisted E. P. Prentice, returning officer for the village, told of the present election being one of the stiffest. He believed that both municipalities would have good councils in the ensuing year. He also strongly advocated the holding of a real school fair in which the scohols of Marmora village and township take part. He aked Reeve Laycock to take an expression of the meeting. A show of hands later favoured the proposal.

Reeve Airhart having explained the war memorial project, Councillor F. S. Johnston, in a characteristic speech, thanked the electors for electing him once more on the village council.

J. P. Marnic, defeated candidate for the reeveship of Marmora village, expressed his gratefulness to those supportihg him and told of his part in getting the Federal government to concur in the proposal for a memorial post office. Though defeated, he would give his assistance in the carrying of the project through. He wished the village council every success during 1928. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

ATLANTIC MILLS, Dept. 32

145 Wellington St. W., Toronto 2, Ont.

ON THE MORNING after the election I visited the workshop of my old friend, John Plane, just to pass the time of day, wish him the compliments of the season, and have a chat about things in general. As I entered his workshop I found him chuckling to himself as if he had been mulling over some good story which he had heard from some of his many cronies with whom he had crossed the threshold of the New Year. After greeting each other with the customary "Good morning!" I asked him if he would mind sharing with me the thoughts or memories which were making him so manifestly merry.

"No, not a bit!" he said. "I've been thinking over the results of this election, and I can't make up my mind whether I should laugh or cry. So, up till the present, I have been compromising in a good chuckle."

Election Echoes.

"Tell me," I said, "what do you think of the personnel of the Board of Education?"

"Oh, no!" he replied, "that's the one thing I am not going to do. Somebody would be sure to get me the wrong way and make so much noise about it that there would be static enough to put every radio in Peterborough out of commission. One fault-finder can set up such a din that you could easily imagine that everybody in the community was engaged in the miserable game of fault-finding. No, my friends are few enough now, in all conscience, without going out of my way to make them less.

"But I am tickled to death to see that sufficient people have been sane long enough to elect a lady. They might have improved upon that by placing her at the top of the poll and in that way made some amends for their blundering ways in failing to elect her when she sought their suffrage at a previous election. Not that I have anything but praise for the man who headed the poll; but I think, from what I know of him, that even he would have been pleased to have come after her if she had been first. She is capable; has lots of good sense; like most of her sex is not afraid to express her mind; and unlike some of the opposite sex is not at all ambigious in expressing it."

The New Mayor.

Having expressed himself regarding the results of the election for a place on the Board of Education, I wondered if I could get him to say anything about the new Mayor and the question of Daylight Saving. So I said, "John, just before I go about my business elsewhere I am wondering if it was only the election of a woman to the Board of Education that was the cause of your merriment?"

"Gosh, no!" he said. "You see it's like this: I have heard it said by some who pretended to know a whole lot more than they were telling that if we elected one man in preference to another for Mayor it would mean that strict economy would be practised. While, on the other hand, the other gentleman might cause the city to spend more than some of our frugal Ontario Scotsmen think should be spent. In the face of such statements and fears, what do we do but reject the man who has promised to take care of our money and elect the man who may spend it more freely than some in our midst think it should be spent. And, if that were not cause enough for my mirth, what do we do but refuse to save daylight. I am afraid that the spirit of a spendthrift has got into the citizens, and it will not surprise me to learn that the Board of Aldermen has decided to establish a ferry for passengers so that the autos can run as fast as they like over the Hunter Street Bridge."

Save the Daylight and Spend the Dollars.

Continuing, he said: "And just before you take your departure let me assure you that it may help my business and business generally to have a man at the head of affairs who is not ignorant of the fact that before even a city can draw worth-while dividends it must make worth-while investments. By all means spend the dollars if you are going to give us something of value for them. It is strange, when you come to think of it, that this neat little place with so much in its favor has never had a real business and industrial boom. Has the reason been that we have been too much afraid to spend the dollars because they were our dollars? That may be the explanation! And it may be that since the daylight is not ours but is a gift from God we don't want to save it. There has always been daylight during the day and what has been is likely to be from henceforth and even for ever more."

A Parting Shot.

With my face turned toward the door and just before I left the workshop of this honest, hard-working, clear-thinking carpenter, he said: "Mr. Preacher, if you see the new Mayor, I hope you will use your influence with him to get him interested in putting Peterborough on the map as a broadcasting centre. If we had been as wide awake as we should have been this would have been done at the very beginning of the broadcasting game. It would pay for itself in more ways than any of us have dreamed of. Then, too, see what you can do to get him interested in a practical way in getting an artificial rink. Then we shall have hockey at the proper time, and the young life will be encouraged to go in for the game even more enthusiastically than they are doing now.

"There are several other things I should like to suggest, but these will be enough to begin with. When once I see how our new Mayor tackles these I shall have a better idea as to whether it will be worth my while going after the other things this city needs to put it where it ought to have been long ago."

Turning to his bench he had this last word to say: "I am truly sorry for those who were not fortunate enough to get sufficient votes to give them a place on one or other of the various boards, and all the more so because I voted for some of them. But then, I suppose that's how it goes all through life! And if they will only have the good sense to laugh, or at least chuckle along with me, they'll get more out of life than a disappointment, help their digestion, and add to their length of days even if we are not to have daylight saving in these parts. Somehow, that's the way I think they will take it, and that was one more reason why I voted for some of them."

As I went about my work I felt that I had got lots to think about. The idea of a broadcasting station makes a strong appeal to my imagination, because the radio is to me one of the most fascinating inventions of the century. As one who sometimes does a little preaching, and who already has had the experience of preaching to an invisible audience, I should welcome the opportunity of doing it more frequently. May the words of honest John Plane reach the ears and fire the imagination of those in our city who are capable of putting this thing across.

—Allan Fairbairn.

Some Things The Minister Sees!

1. Some folks always coming in punctually late.
2. Others always in the same place where they seem to belong.
3. Strangers without any hymn books, and no one offering them any. It makes him feel nervous. How would you feel?
4. When the offering baskets are passed, some folks look at them as if they had never seen them before, and wondered what they were.
5. There are faces that are a benediction to look at, and a few, only a few, that seem to be mourning over the money they lost yesterday.
6. Once in a while a man, now and then a woman, who seems to be asleep; but appearances are deceptive.
7. And many other things he sees from the pulpit; and let us hope that most of the things he sees help him to preach when he rises to give his message.

Crucible of Experience

NO man knows his own strength or valour but by being put to the proof. The pilot is tried in a storm, the soldier in a battle, the rich man knows not how to behave himself in poverty. He that has lived on in popularity and applause knows not how he would bear infamy and reproach. Calamity is the occasion of virtue, and a spur to a great mind. . . . . Nay, many times a calamity turns to our advantage, and great ruins have made way for great glories. Prudence and religion are above accidents and draw good out of everything. Affliction keeps a man in use, and makes him strong, patient and hardy.

Who Can Match It?

THE name of George Muller, of Bristol, was one to conjure with. Time will never be able to reveal all that he accomplished through prayer; and as long as an orphan exists he will be remembered as the friend of fatherless and motherless children.

To one who asked him the secret of his service, he said: "There was a day when I died, utterly died;" and, as he spoke, he bent lower, until he almost touched the floor, "died to George Muller, his opinions, preferences, tastes and will, died to the world its approval or censure, died to the approval or blame even of my brethren and friends, and since then I have studied only to show myself approved unto God." Whosoever will match that will be honored of God even as Muller was.—A. F.

Are You Aware Of This?

HAS it ever entered your mind that in all the ages of the ages there never has been, and never will be, a person just like you? You are unique. Your double does not exist. No two blades of grass, no two stars, no two lives are alike. For each life there is a separate mould. Every life is a fresh thought from God, expressed in terms of our humanity, as we are brought into the world through the gateway of birth. Every precious stone gleams with its own radiance. Every flower, however far away from the haunts of men, distils its own fragrance. There is not, in all this world, another person who can do your work in the same way as you have been equipped for doing it. Have you ever taken long enough to wonder what God's purpose for your life is? When you make the discovery, if you have not already done so, will you be prepared to enter into it in the spirit of Him who, when He saw the cruel cross that purpose included, could say, "Nevertheless not as I will but as Thou wilt?" If you don't there will surely be something missing from the glory that would otherwise have been there.

To me it is a thrilling thought that God has given each of us a particular personality; and that He has also created a particular circle of individuals who can be reached and influenced by that personality as by none other in the wide world. There is not the slightest doubt in my mind but that He shapes and orders each life so as to bring it into contact with its own circle. Just as a hair's breadth of shift in the focus of the field glasses will often enable you to see a vision of beauty which before had been all confused and befogged, so, too, just that grain of variation in your life from every other person's and some one sees Jesus Christ with a clearness and beauty he would discern nowhere else. It is a fact that God will use your life, as He uses no other, to influence certain individuals susceptible to it as to no other. Let this fact become a factor in determining the investment of your life so as to bring the largest possible dividends.—A. F.

POETRY'S PART

JEAN PAUL RICHTER says of poetry: "There are so many tender and holy emotions which, like angels, can never assume the body of an outward act; so many rich and lovely flowers spring up which bear no seed, that it is a happiness poetry was invented, which receives into its limbus all these incorporeal spirits, and the perfume of all these flowers."

BEREAVEMENT

THE first thing I should say to anyone in the dust of a sudden blow is, "Hope on." I am content to say that we should resolve to wait and see what time will do for us. Of course, in a certain sense time does nothing at all. It is what takes place in time that helps us, that soothes the pain, that heals the wound.—W.R.N.

IT is a royal palace and in it sits the king; a deputation presents a petition, and king though he be in name he has evidently little power, as he is forced to comply with their request. These are fierce, ruthless men, and even as we watch we see them laying hands on a peaceable individual and flinging him into a loathsome pit to die a miserable death Who would be a king like this one, unable to put forth a hand to save his best friend?

In a prison there sits a lonely man. As we look closely we recognize the features of him whom the princes sought to destroy. He is no criminal, as his face and demeanour testify, and their malignant behaviour was because he obeyed the law of his God. How was he rescued from that cruel death? Ah! God has many ways of delivering His people. Hark! what is that distant sound? Amid the crash and clang of arms a shout of victory can be heard, even through the massive walls of the prison. The captive's eye lights up; he knew it would be so. Now the tramp of feet is heard; the prison gates burst open and the place is filled with princes and mighty men bearing a message from another king to set the captive free.

The key to the previous Pen Picture of Bible History is to be found in Neb. 2:1-8.

Children's Corner

TELL US A STORY

YOU all remember Guy Fawkes and his plan to blow up King and Parliament. I wonder whether you know that there is a curious remembrance of that which takes place whenever a new Parliament meets? Under the House of Commons there is a range of empty cellars. Guy Fawkes and his friends wanted to rent these, and when asked what for said, "To store firewood."

That seemed harmless enough! But when the plot was discovered, it was found that it was not firewood they were storing—but gunpowder!

And now, whenever a new Parliament assembles, an officer and a troop of the Yeomen of the Guard go with lanterns and search the cellars, and when they report that all is correct, then the business of the House proceeds.

Your heart has its empty vaults, too, and all kinds of evil plots get in. The plotter comes to you as pleasant-spoken and polite as Guy Fawkes with his firewood story.

They all pretend to be as useful as firewood, and they are all as dangerous as gunpowder. You are easily deceived, and you let them in. One day the spark of temptation set fire to them, and disaster follows.

Foolish Regrets

"Would God that we had died." —Numbers 20:3.

THE petulant murmuring of the Israelites, and their faithlessness under the trifling test of thirst, is but an illustration of the fitfulness by which they so often provoked the Lord during their pilgrim days. Despite all that He had done for them, they constantly dishonoured Him by distrusting Him when things seemed to be against them. Such murmuring was indicative of the untamed self-will which was yet their strongest impulse. Their childish dissatisfaction with God's ways is a sinister reflection upon the governing attitude of their hearts towards Him. And what tremendous consequences it brought, both upon themselves and their leader, who was betrayed in the heat of his indignation into an act of presumption, which involved the forfeiture of the crown of his long hope.

An undisciplined spirit is prone to rush to foolish conclusions and to utter rash words under the stress of disappointment which, in itself, may be trifling, or inconvenience which is in reality negligible. Hot-headed men are apt to be singularly blind and unreasoning. Their impetuous exaggeration of speech or action always betrays a lack of true discernment of God's ways. It is only the altogether childish Christian who is ready to desert his allegiance in an angry moment when he is ruffled or thwarted. The child-like believer is content to trust Him if necessary in defiance of his own reasonings. He knows that his ultimate security is nothing less than God's own character, and is content to leave things at that. Of such, indeed, is the Kingdom of Heaven.

—J. Stuart Holden, St. Paul's, Portman Square.

Read It Again

ROBERTSON NICOLL said, it is almost an insult to question whether your friend has read the Bible, but, as a matter of fact, how very few people read the Bible through! There is a way of reading it chapter by chapter, but the Bible does not yield its secrets to any perfunctory method.

I believe in a new fresh reading of the Bible without note or comment, page by page, till the last prayer in the sacred record is sighed out, and the end comes.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The resignation of J. A. McKone, nine years a member of the Board of Education and for two years Chairman of that body, was occasioned by pressure of business, and doubtless to some extent by a feeling on Mr. McKone's part that the Board should not be deprived of the services of E. R. Wilson, Chairman of the Building Committee, who was unsuccessful at the recent election.

Mr. McKone has contributed very valuable service to the Board of Education and thus to the citizens generally during his association with the Board, and has earned general thanks.

In making way for Mr. Wilson, who has been appointed by the Board to fill the vacancy, Mr. McKone undoubtedly feels that the Chairman of the Building Committee will be needed in connection with the completion of the new Collegiate Institute, and the return of Mr. Wilson is welcome to the members, who appreciate the value of his practical knowledge and keen interest.

The re-election of E. B. Fowler as Chairman was an expected tribute to the good work done by him last year, and an appreciation of the fact that he has shown a very great desire to provide Peterborough with the best educational facilities.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The annual report of F. M. DelaFosse, Librarian of the Peterborough Public Library, is most satisfactory in the evidence it gives that the facilities of the institution have been taken advantage of by the public to a greater extent than ever.

Mr. DelaFosse is able to report that every branch of the Library has been splendidly patronized, the reading rooms unusually well filled, and the reference room well used by students from the Normal School, Collegiate Institute and Public Schools.

The total circulation shows an increase over last year, a larger selection of books than in any previous year has been available to the citizens, and while volumes of fiction have as usual been most in demand, it is gratifying to notify that books of biography, religion, travel, history, etc., have been much in use.

Altogether the circulation of books totalled 78,068 volumes in the adult department, and 36,401 in the juvenile section, figures which give some idea of the extent to which the Public Library is being used by the people of Peterborough.

The more use made of the Library the better from a cultural standpoint, and the report of the Librarian should therefore be a source of satisfaction.

THE NEW GUIDE BOOK.

The 1928 edition of the Trent Waterway Development Association's descriptive guide book of the waterway, just issued from The Examiner presses, is the most ambitious and complete publication covering this subject that has ever been prepared.

Splendidly illustrated, it is replete with information about every section of the Trent Waterway, contains all the necessary details in regard to fishing and hunting regulations and traffic rules, includes a very comprehensive map of the whole district, indexed so as to be of the greatest service, and practically every summer resort and tourist headquarters along the waterway is advertised.

No one who appreciates the charm of beautiful lakes and rivers and of attractive scenery and the thrill of life in the open could possibly read this most interesting guide book without feeling the urge to see some of this country for himself, and the wide circulation of the booklet will undoubtedly attract many new visitors to this part of Ontario next summer.

The Trent Waterway Development Association deserves great credit for the pains taken in preparing this most comprehensive guide book.

GRAVY FOR THE WINNERS.

"We won, didn't we? Don't the winners deserve the gravy?"

The speaker is the new Mayor of Newburyport, Mass., whose wholesale dismissals of civic employees have won him notoriety over the length and breadth of the continent.

Newburyport's Mayor is the very essence of patronage.

The winners are getting the "gravy," and those who opposed the ex-sailor are being thrown out of a job.

His may be an exaggerated case of party politics and the spoils system in civic matters, but it calls attention to the methods followed in this country as compared with the municipal system over the border.

The political beliefs of the civic employees in Peterborough had nothing to do with their appointments, and has nothing to do with their hold on their jobs.

A change in the mayoralty brings no dread to them; they are safe no matter what the politics of the Mayor may be so long as their work is well done.

Surely that is a more desirable condition of affairs than the winners-get-the-gravy policy followed in many United States cities.

BETTER FILMS.

The movies have entered so much into the life of the people that anything that concerns change is as much a matter of public concern as the advent of a new Ford model.

There is a definite indication that the movie industry is entering on a new phase.

The ascendancy of Hollywood is now being seriously challenged. Germany and Great Britain are embarking upon movie production upon a scale beyond their previous efforts which were brought to a sudden halt by the Great War, leaving the United States with a clear field and no competition.

Since then the United States has flooded the universe with films mostly financed by gentlemen who were formerly in the ready-made clothing business. They had only two main subjects to work upon—sex and crime.

Germany has brought a new art to the screen. Their films convey the story to the audience by the power of suggestion. There is a beauty and originality about German films which reach heights that Hollywood never dreamed of.

More British film companies have been established within the past three months than have ever been in existence before. Some of the films produced by British companies within the last six months are equal to the best, although minus the extravagant settings of the Hollywood-made article which requires "stunt" scenes to overcome the vacuity of the story.

United States companies, however, will not show any British films. So deeply have they been able to dig themselves in through their war-time monopoly, and so anxious are they to keep a strangle hold upon the industry, that they adopt this selfish policy.

However, provided they have merit, the British film will break down the barrier, just as the Germans have done. Class will always tell, and the cloud no bigger than a man's hand which the U. S. magnates have seen in the sky is spurring them on to new efforts; efforts which mean getting away from the machine-made films of sex and crime and the production of worth-while pictures that will really entertain and enlighten the masses.

Films like "Ben Hur" are a credit to the United States (although it was really made in Italy), and "Metropolis" is a German masterpiece that shook Hollywood to the ground. Competition is the life of trade, and the entrance of Great Britain and Germany into the movie market is going to have a great and upward bearing on a form of entertainment which reaches more people every day than any other form of recreation on earth.

Such improvement will bring back those who have become "fed up" on the movies, and gain the support of a class which has always held aloof.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

THE FUTURE OF CANADA.

(From The New Outlook, Toronto.)

A professor in the University of Sydney, N. S. W., has ventured a prediction that Canada, in the year 2000, will have a population of 179,000,000, and he sees the centre of world white population moving northward and westward. A Canadian reviewer rejoices over the prospect, observing that "it is written in the stars that Canada is one day to be great, populous and rich."

Well, this is some prophecy, but it is within the bounds of possibilities. If we take into account the accelerating rate of progress which Canada has made within the last quarter of a century, he would be a bold man to try to fix the limit of her attainment three-quarters of a century hence. Canada is the youngest of the great nations of the world, and to her the eyes of the world are now turned. She has room and means of sustenance for the support of millions in the overcrowded centres of population in Europe, not to speak of lands in the East from which a reasonable proportion might some day be admitted. Her rich prairies might themselves sustain a large proportion of Professor Taylor's estimated population seventy-five years hence, and at the rate at which our great cities are growing at the present time, it is impossible to forecast what the population of some of these will be in a much shorter period of time. The mineral resources of Canada, as yet only partially discovered, are the envy of many of the onlooking peoples of the earth; while the wealth of her forests, her rivers and lakes and engirdling oceans, her undeveloped water powers, her growing industries and expanding commerce are bound in the near future to attract to her shores the tides of immigration now flowing elsewhere.

But, after all, there is something more to be desired than numbers and wealth and material resources, however much these may contribute to national greatness. As our St. John, N. B., contemporary, The Telegraph-Journal, in commenting on Professor Taylor's prophecy, well says:

"It is human to desire the numbers and the wealth; but quality and contentment, soundness of growth, a balanced civilization, are much more to be desired than numbers. And, while 2000 is an interesting milestone to contemplate, what will be then depends much upon what sort of foundation we lay now, and what is accomplished in the lifetime of the young folk of today. In their hands lies the destiny and the character and the value of the Canada of teeming millions that is to come.

"We shall not lack numbers. It is ideas and ideals, the true measurement of values, the enlightened pursuit of justified happiness, the exaltation of service, and such intangibles, that makes for national greatness. The better we build as we go along the more satisfaction we shall get out of life, and the better qualified will the Canadians of the year 2000 be to act as trustees of the vast wealth and power that will surely lie in their hands."

Mr. Charles M. Schwab, the steel magnate, in addressing the students of Penn State College, said: "Right now I would gladly exchange positions with any of you boys, because I see in the next twenty-five years the greatest industrial development the world has ever known. What a chance you young fellows have!" May we not go much farther, and holding up before the youth of our land the moral and spiritual possibilities in connection with the development of a new nation on the earth, which may become a pathfinder on the highways of greatness for the other nations of the world, say to them: What a chance you young men and women have in these opening years of the twentieth century, to make Canada a land to be loved and a praise in all the earth! Certainly the young of today have before them opportunities such as never faced any former generation. How will they meet them?

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Somehow it is difficult to believe that The Toronto Telegram is satisfied with the election of Sam McBride as Mayor.

The machinery of justice does not always move slowly. Thus a St. Catharines bandit who attempted a hold-up Thursday morning was arrested, tried, convicted and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary all in the one day.

This week the people elected five Aldermen, and on Monday the Council will proceed to select two more. And these will be appointed, it is expected, according to the vote of the electorate.

Mayor-elect Denne's first official act was to face the puck at a hockey match. He'll be on surer footing when he gets into the Council Chamber.

A Hungarian prima donna was slapped three times by the tenor of the opera in which she was singing. Most of us have heard prima donnas who inspired a similar feeling.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, January 7. — Less than 3,000 cattle were shipped to the Union Stock Yards this week, and this supply not in excess of the demand developed a competition which advanced prices 25 cents a cwt. above those of last week. There were not many heavy steers in and the best of these were not finished. About a load and a half of these sold at $11.25 a cwt., a price on quality almost equal to the best of the season. Other good handyweights and near heavies went from $9.50 to $10.70 a cwt.

Any handyweight butchers measuring up to medium sold from $8.50 to $9.00 a cwt. and light shop butchers, of which there were a few, went at $7.50 a cwt. Butchers' cows were quite steady and firm, with choice $7.75 to $8.50; good, $7.0 0to $7.50; mediums, $6 00 to $6.50; and commons, $4.50 to $5.00 a cwt. Bulls were also steady and an extra choice one sold for $8.00 a cwt. Four loads of Western stockers were in, and these brought $6.60 to $7.25 a cwt. There is no evidence that there is much change in sight for beef cattle in the next few months, and any weakness in this market will only come from heavy runs.

Calves stiffened slightly in prices this week, and all the real good calves brought 15c to 15½c a pound. Just good calves were 14c to 14½, and mediums 13c to 13½c a pound. A few common and light calves brought 9c to 12c a pound.

Lambs made two advances of 50c a cwt. this week, and ended at 14c a pound for ewes and wethers, and bucks 11c to 11½c. Cull lambs are heavily discounted. Choice sheep are selling up to 7 cents a pound.

Most of this week's hogs have gone to outsiders at higher prices than those bid by the packers, although they admit paying a little higher than the bid of $8.28 a cwt. selects f.o.b. Buffalo weakened on Wednesday, but the sellers look for this market to work higher.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, January 7 (Canadian Press). — Owing to it being a holiday in most European countries yesterday with the United Kingdom standing aside, the export trade in Canadian grain here was of a very limited character.

The trade in coarse grains in the domestic market was quiet owing to it being a holiday throughout the Province of Quebec. The undertone was firm.

The millfeed market was fairly active and prices were firm. The movement of standard grades of rolled oats was small and values were unchanged.

A feature of the egg trade was the weaker feeling that developed for strictly fresh stock, and prices scored a decline of one to three cents per dozen. This was attributed to the increased supplies coming forward, and the prospects for a larger production in the near futurer. The demand was limited. The receipts were 309 cases.

Little business was done in potatoes, but the undertone was steady. Car lots of Prince Edward Island Green Mountains were quoted at $1.15 per bag of 90 pounds; Prince Edward Island White potatoes at $1.05 per bag of 90 pounds; New Brunswick White potatoes at 95c per bag of 90 pounds in bulk; and New

MEETING THE UNEXPECTED.

Our wish is often the parent of our high hopes. We frequently expect more than we have a right to hope for, but we still continue to "mice and men" plans, then we weep when they do not work.

When we stop to think, we know that the not-looked-for sudden change, or the thing that is not provided against, is quite liable to happen, but we optimistically go right on until the unwanted, unexpected happens, then we lose our grip.

If everything is coming your way, this situation will not always last. If things are going against you, this condition will continue—if you hold to your courage and keep intelligently and industriously trying.

And here is the trouble: We do not learn how to meet unexpected troubles, and yet we know that changes are certain and that all situations are kaleidoscopic.

The most dangerous time in your success is when you feel sure that you are safe from the unexpected.

Prepare for the unexpected, then, if it does happen, it will not be "unexpected."

A very attractive and well-attended tea was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. G. A. Gillespie, 477 Homewood Avenue, under the auspices of the W.C.T.U. It was held in the form of a birthday tea to commemorate the hundredth anniversary of the birth of the late Mrs. Letitia Youman, also the birth of Madame Willard, the mother of the world-renowned Franes Willard and the most influential temperance workers that Canada had ever seen. Mrs. Gillespie received the guests, assisted by Mrs. A. Throop, the president of the local W.C.T.U. The tea was in charge of Mrs. C. R. Banks. The table was very pretty with a large Cluny cloth centred with a cut-glass vase holding paper-white narcissus and green fern, silver candlesticks and tapering red candles. Mrs. J. H. Rowe and Mrs. E. Manning poured tea. Assistants in the tea room were Mesdames R. J. McWilliams, W. Stevens, E. Wand, and R. G. Allan. During the afternoon a very enjoyable program was rendered. Mrs. L. Ingram accompanied by Miss E. Webber gave two pleasing solos, and Miss Alma Blanchard accompanied by Miss Adeline Batten delighted the guests with two vocal sols. Miss Stella Shearer rendered a number of piano selections which were also greatly enjoyed. The proceeds amounted to a considerable sum of money.

DRESS
By MARY MARSHALL

These rings were recently seen on the fingers of women noted for good taste and smartness. On the figure a square aquamarine worn with pendant to match. A large turquoise set in platinum and diamonds with an emerald at either side. In the center below a large cut crystal ring to match the cut crystal necklace recently launched by Chanel of Paris, and below at the right a ring with butterfly wing set under glass and mounted in silver. These are said to bring good luck and are much worn at present in Paris.

For some reason women haven't been especially interested in rings within the past few years. It has been the more old-fashioned sort of woman who has gone about with fingers laden with diamonds and emeralds and rubies and sapphires. The younger women have preferred a single striking ring usually of the less expensive sort.

The newest fashion is to wear your finger rings like your earrings in pairs. You may even wear two rings, one on each hand, exactly alike, and wear only one earring. Some of the jewelers are showing sets consisting of two earrings, one for each ear, two identical finger rings, one for each hand, and a necklace or pendant brooch.

Fine pieces of jewelry are being used more and more for wedding presents this season—and there is precedent for such choice in the gifts recently chosen by the king and queen of England. When a daughter of Lord Dawson who is Physician-in-Ordinary to the king and Prince of Wales was married in London the other day the king and queen sent a brooch of diamonds, rubies and enamel with the initials of the senders on the back.

A favorite bit of jewelry with fashionable Parisians at present consists of pairs of round, button-like pins made of small diamonds set in platinum—or crystals set in silver if you prefer. These pins may be worn, one on each shoulder of an evening dress.

Semi-precious stones are as you know coming in for a great deal of attention at present. Among these are topazes and amethysts. Jade, too, sponsored by Jean Patou, has come once more to the fore. It is considered especially smart for wear with afternoon gowns of black.

SAINT and SINNER
By ANNE AUSTIN

It came to Faith then, even in the agony of realization, that it would be a fine thing for a person who was facing death to face the truth about herself. The absolute truth. But how could one know the truth about oneself?

"What am I, what is the real 'me,' under these cloaks of illusion?" she moaned to herself. "If I could deceive myself as I have just been doing, as to my motive for suicide, have I always deceived myself? Here is one truth about myself, which I am almost too horrified to face: I want to die because I know that by so doing I can keep Cherry and Bob apart forever. What other shameful truths about myself have I hidden away from my own eyes, because I could not bear to face them? But I will know the truth!"

She did not remember having gotten into bed, but she lay there, the thin hotel blanket drawn up over her dress to her chin. She was shivering violently, but she did not know it. She was not interested in her body now; only in her soul. She had a vision of herself with her soul in her hands, which were ruthlessly tearing off layer after layer of rose-colored chiffon.

And as she tore them off and flung them aside her fevered brain labeled those rose-colored wrappings which had protected her soul: "Patience, goodness, sweetness, unselfishness, loyalty, efficiency, loving-kindness. All illusions; I haven't these virtues, but I had to think I possessed them in order to go on living. I was always in competition with Cherry. I wrapped my soul in these illusions of virtue because they made me look nobler and finer than Cherry, who never needed illusions. She has always been frankly herself, whether good or bad. But—what is left to me? Oh, what is left?"

It seemed to her that she could actually see a small, naked, throbbing thing in her hands, though her hands lay under the covers, clenched and icy-cold.

"The truth is—please God, let me face it!—the truth is that I have been jealous and envious of Cherry all my life. Did I love Bob because Cherry had loved him first? Did I show myself to him as a fine, noble, self-sacrificing girl because that was the exact opposite of Cherry, who had disgusted him? Do I love Bob really? But, oh, I do! I do!"

She lay for a long time in a sort of stupor of pain, her brain clouded with fever, though she did not yet know that she was ill, physically as well as spiritually.

"Here is another truth," she told herself at last. "And that is: no one can go on living who has faced the absolute truth about himself. My soul can't stand a day of this nakedness to which I've stripped it. But if I kill myself, I will keep them apart, and then my soul could never rest, wherever it might be. What is the answer? How can I die so that they will think my death was an accident? Oh, how does a person commit suicide without it's looking like suicide? Surely there's a way if I could only think!"

FOURTH PETERBORO' TROOP.

The meeting of the Fourth Peterborough Troop opened last Thursday with flagbreak and then inspection. A game was played, followed by two ten-minute instruction periods, and another game.

The scoutmaster than drew on the blackboard some of the conventional signs for first-class map reading, which were soon learned.

An artificial campfire was made. The council fire opened with the singing of "Oh Canada," followed by a few lively songs.

Mr. Corbett presented the registration certificates to the troop.

The money for the registration is used to help the scouts in out-of-the-way places. This year a new man has been put on in Toronto to go about visiting these scoutmasters that do not hear very much about scouting.

The registration certificate is a colored, three-page folder, giving the scout law and promise, the scout's history and address, and is signed by the chief scout for Canada, the chief commissioner, and the Provincial commissioner.

B. Taylor then read a short story from "Scouting for Boys." The meeting closed with the singing of "God Save the King," the lowering of the flag, and thirty seconds' scout silence.

The Owls are leading with 192½ points; the Kangaroos second with 189 points, and the Crows third with 185 points.

A court of honor was held after the meeting to discuss the problems of the troop. Ronald Asquith was nominated troop librarian. A hockey practice was held on Monday to pick the troop team.

HOROSCOPE
The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)
SUNDAY, JANUARY 8, 1928.

Astrologers read the planetary signs for today as rather unfavorable the early part of the morning.

Rebellion against old, established lines of thought is likely to be strong under this planetary government.

Churches may confront discouraging financial problems, but they have the assurance that a trend of religious thought will mark the year.

In the evening the rule of the stars is favorable to music and to ritualistic church services, which may not be well attended during the usual hours.

Religious wars in far countries are to disturb British rule and to precipitate serious troubles.

Better understanding of the young and a less pessimistic attitude toward their changed ideals and activities are forecast.

The seers predict a middle of the road tendency in thought, making for more conservative policies for the young and more radical tendencies for the old.

Better understandings are to be reached between persons who hold extremes of life standards, astrologers prognosticate. Capital and labor science and mysticism will reach common grounds.

Liberal views will be accepted in many quarters where religious creeds have been strict, if the stars are to be trusted and brotherly love will have a more general acceptance than formerly.

Great changes in the government of Great Britain are presaged by the stars.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year in which new friends and new interest gain dominance.

Children born on this day probably will have inventive and resourceful minds. The subjects of this sign may have reverses, but they prosper in the end.

FOR MONDAY, JANUARY 9, 1928.

Again threatening aspects are read in the skies by astrologers who warn inhabitants of Earth to be wise in all their human relations.

Many distorted ideas will be entertained by people who think superficially, for there is likely to be interest in radical theories under this government of the stars.

The seers point out that the new generation just maturing belongs to an era of globe-encircling achievements which is out of harmony with oldtime ideas, because the young belong to a higher plane and are subject to new forces.

Conflict between those accustomed to think locally and provincially, and those who think in terms of the universe is inevitable, it is pointed out.

Practical and material ambitions are well directed under this rule, which encourages dealings in real estate and return to the land.

In the new year the forces of nature probably will be hostile to many things that concern humanity, for fires, floods, earthquakes and cyclones will be more widespread even than they have been in the past.

Although the stars seem to presage a feeling of unrest and uncertainty, because of the national political campaign, business will be slightly affected, it is foretold.

Art is to flourish in 1928, when it will be applied more generally than ever before to common, useful things.

Politics will arouse critics to futile agitation in the coming year, when women will initiate reform movements.

Increase in pleasure-seeking at a time when there is much suffering from poverty in the cities will be marked, astrologers declare.

Desire to dodge facing facts that are unpleasant will continue to distinguish all classes of Americans, the seers foretell.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a fairly fortunate year, but they should avoid all forms of speculation.

Children born on this day probably will be honest, industrious and ambitious. Real estate, forestry and horticulture should be lucky.

PARTY AT GROVE MUCH ENJOYED
Children and Grown-ups Guests of Rev. and Mrs. A. W. MacKenzie.

LAKEFIELD NEWS.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 6.—Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Mackenzie entertained about forty friends at the tea hour at "The Grove" on Wednesday last and a delightful time was spent. It was a party which had no age limits, and children and grown-ups enjoyed it equally. There was a Christmas tree for the three little granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie, "Paddy," Betty, and "Cubby" Lampman, and a number of their young friends, and the little ones were filled with the delightful anticipation that a Christmas tree always inspires in the very young. When the gifts had been distributed, children and adults joined in some of the games which are always associated with Christmas parties, games with musical accompaniment and others for which there was singing of quaint ditties, dear to children and grown-ups because of the memories which they conjure up. The tree and the games took place in the spacious reading room of the school, and afternoon tea was served in the drawing-room. This was one of the jolly Christmas parties for which "The Grove" has long been famous, and Wednesday's party proved no exception to its predecessors in enjoyment.

A miscellaneous shower was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Webster on Reid Street on Thursday night by some of the ladies of the Regent Street United Church in honor of Miss Madge Nugent of Peterborough and formerly of Lakefield, who will be a bride of January. A very pleasant time was spent by all the ladies. Mrs. Darling was in charge.

During the Christmas season the store windows were most attractive in Lakefield, a friendly rivalry appeared to exist and the windows fairly invited one to step inside each place of business and make a purchase. Probably never before were there such a large number of attractively dressed windows.

LYCEUM SOCIETY CELEBRATES 28TH ANNIVERSARY TO-MORROW
Was Started as Total Abstinence Society Jan. 8, 1900.

THEN HOLY NAME SOCIETY.

Pledge of Holy Name Society is Still Basis of Membership in Organization.

On Sunday, January 8th, the organization that is now known as St. Alphonsus Lyceum Society will celebrate the twenty-eighth anniversary of its foundation. Through successive changes that have transformed it in turn from the original Total Abstinence Society of Peterborough, an organization that for many years had the proud boast of being the largest of its kind in America, and won a continent-wide contest and banner for this distinction at a great convention in Dubuque, Iowa, on to the formation of the Holy Name Society, a title which it still holds in conjunction with its present name, it has done much good in the community which it has served in various ways.

The picturesque days of its youth were those in which, as the old T.A.S., it battled against the demon of drink, in times when the open bar was met with in almost every block. This title of "T.A.S." brought the usual collection of wise cracks which changed it to "Take all Schooners," "Toughs and Soaks Society" and "Take a Sip," but the old T.A.S. did a noble work in reclaiming many a hardened drunkard, and in helping to brighten many a home.

On Sunday, January 7th, 1900, Rev. Father Murphy, a member of the Paulist Order, of New York, delivered a sermon in St. Peter's Cathedral which acted as the trumpet blast for the organization which took place the following evening. The temperance pledge was worded: "For the love of God and the good of my own soul, in the name of Jesus Christ and for the best interests of my home, I promise to avoid the use of intoxicating drinks."

On the following evening, Monday, January 8th, 1900, a gathering which was reported as being "perhaps the largest, most enthusiastic and most representative gathering of Catholic men that ever met in Peterborough," took place in the Catholic clubrooms, with the meeting opened by the late Ven. Archdeacon Casey and Rev. Father F. J. O'Sullivan, now of Port Hope, in the chair. Rev. Dr. O'Brien, now Bishop of Peterborough, gave a stirring address on the evils of intemperance, and officers were elected, with Dr. Moher as the president, Mr. T. J. Doris as the first vice-president and Mr. M. J. Hanrahan as the second vice-president. Rev. Father O'Sullivan was appointed as spiritual adviser. Seventy-five members were enrolled.

Five months later, in May, Father O'Sullivan was succeeded as spiritual director by Rev. Dr. O'Brien, who entered heart and soul into the work, and, using the driving force of a powerful personality, allied with the energy in furthering any project for which he who now is the Bishop has ever been noted, made the society one of the outstanding branches of the Temperance Association of America. Commodious clubrooms were opened in the building owned by the Toronto Savings and Loan company at 435 George street, where, on three upper floors, were established a reception room and library, card, billiard and pool rooms, an assembly hall where an auxiliary Ladies' Literary Society gave monthly programs, and a gymnasium. A feature which linked up splendidly with the work was the commencement of a savings account by the members in one of the local banks, which sent an employee weekly to receive the money and give receipts, after the bank's closing hours.

On Tuesday, January 11th, 1910 the Grand Opera House was packed by a crowd which assembled to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the foundation of the T.A.S., a society with a membership at that time of over nine hundred men. Among the speakers of the evening and included in the list of those sitting on the stage were Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Rev. W. J. McColl, then rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, the late Bishop O'Connor, Rev. John O'Brien, then of North Bay, Rev. Father McGuire of Downeyville and Rev. Father Meehan of Belleville, Alderman Joseph Duffus, then president of the society, His Worship Mayor Morrow, His Honour Judge Huycke, Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., ex-Mayor H. Rush, the late W. H. Denham, J. H. McClellan and James Kendry, also T. F. Matthews and D. O'Connell, now Judge O'Connell of Toronto. During the evening, the presentation of a purse of gold was made to Rev. Dr. O'Brien.

In 1917, with the advent of the late Ontario Temperance Act, the name of the organization was changed to the Holy Name Society and three years ago, changed again to St. Alphonsus Lyceum Society, with the Holy Name pledge as the basis of its activities. About fifteen years ago, the present splendid building on Simcoe street was purchased, where, on three floors, there is a fine assembly hall, library and reading rooms, pool, billiard and card rooms, gymnasium and recreation hall, with hot and cold baths and all facilities for serving refreshments at the various social functions which take place there from time to time. The aim of the present society is to make these rooms an educational and recreational center, and the membership is about four hundred and fifty. The present officers are: V. J. McElderry, president, James Drain, secretary, and D. Holland, treasurer. Board of Directors: William C. Bennett, F. R. J. MacPherson, M. J. Roche, J. T. O'Connell, P. Milloy, A. Doherty. Trustee Board: W. C. Bennett (chairman), M. J. Roche, F. R. J. MacPherson, Mrs. M. L. McCarthy is the librarian and M. English the caretaker.

The Toronto Globe, carrying a magazine section article with regard to the T.A.S. at the time of its tenth anniversary in 1910, quoted the words of Dr. Samuel Johnson: "Abstinence is as easy to me as temperance would be difficult," and suggested those words as an explanation of the effectiveness of total abstinence in dealing with the evils of the drink habit.

In Seoul, capital of Korea, a large bell is tolled at about 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. daily; only between these hours are women allowed on the streets.

Recitation—Mary Baker.
Recitation—George Elliott.
Exercise—"The Christmas Story."
Music—"Silent Night."
Christmas Tree.
National Anthem.

Before the closing number, Kenneth Jakins, on behalf of the pupils and teacher thanked those who had so kindly assisted them in preparation. Miss Cameron also expressed her thanks to the pupils for their beautiful gift.

S. S. No. 18, CAVAN

MILLBROOK, Jan. 7.—The annual school concert for S.S. No. 18, Cavan (The Marsh), of which Miss Florence Fallis is the popular and efficient teacher, was held immediately before the holidays, and was quite successful.

The decorations were of a Christmas character, and the gaily-trimmed tree, with its load of parcels, was an outstanding feature. The program showed much careful training on the part of the teacher, and included the following numbers:

Class Yell and Song of Welcome by the school.
Recitation, "Save a Little Christmas," by Harold Morton.

Chorus, "Santa Claus," by the School.
Recitation, "Santa's Mistake" by Maud Smith.
Recitation, "Shingled Belles," by Alvin Porter.
Song, "Floyd Collins" by the pupils.
Dialogue, "School Days."

The distribution of gifts from the tree, after the arrival of Santa Claus, was a happy climax to the proceedings, and the cause of much pleasurable excitement among the pupils, the teacher being the recipient of many personal tokens of affection from her scholars.

The singing of the National Anthem brought a successful gathering to a close.

S.S. No. 1, DOURO

DOURO, Jan. 7.—A concert of unusual excellence was held in S.S. No. 1, Douro, on Thursday evening. By several who attended it was pronounced the best amateur performance they had ever witnessed. Much credit is due the teacher Mr. Edgar Boland, for the work required to put on such a concert. The school was packed to the door, some few being unable to gain admittance and quite a substantial sum was added to the school funds. Mr. Percy Davidson carried out the duties of chairman in a pleasant manner. The children's drills and choruses were admirably performed. Special mention must be made of Misses Lizzie Fitzgerald, Clotilde Boland and Annie Whibbs and Messrs. Harry Fitzgerald and Edgar Boland. Following is the program.

Part 1.

Popular Selections: Mr. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Foley.
Chorus, School: 1, Hello Everybody, Glad to See You Here; 2, Hurrah for Christmas Time; 3, Girls' Drill.

Jingle Bells—All.

BENSFORT UNITED CHURCH

The annual Christmas concert of Bensfort United Church Sunday school was held in the Union Sunday school hall at Bensfort.

The program which was supplied almost entirely by the young folks of the community was of exceptionally good quality and great credit is given to those who took part and made the evening's entertainment so successful.

The gaily decorated tree, with every branch bearing its load of parcels and many others being piled around its base, brought a Christmas atmosphere that spoke of good will and good cheer, with a feeling of great happiness to the Yuletide season.

The chairman of the evening was Rev. Poley, who spoke a few appropriate words of welcome to the many parents and interested friends who had gathered for the happy occasion, and the following program was creditably carried out:

Opening Chorus: "Peace on Earth," by the Sunday School young folks; Mrs. James Lang accompanying the songs and choruses.
Motion Song: Lakeview School.
Recitation: Melville Patton.
Recitation: Murine Fisher.
Dialogue: "Strike in Santa Claus' Land."
Orchestra Selection.
Recitation: Bruce Fisher.
Recitation: Allin Dawson.
Dialogue: "Minister's Mistake." This dialogue caused much laughter from the audience, and the Minister's Mistake was soon discovered.
Chorus: Bensfort schools.
Recitation: Eleanor Morrison.
Recitation: Gordon Moncrief.
Chorus: Boys of the Sunday school.
Orchestra selection.
Solo: Gladys Sanderson.
Recitation: Helen Howson.
Recitation: Clifford Patton.
Recitation: Betty Perrin.
Orchestra.
Girls' Drill: "Looking Backward." Eight girls took part in this drill, namely—Misses Ethel Perrin, Jean Pue, Effie Perrin, Ruby McAllister, Viola Nurse, Velma Nurse, Lottie Perrin and Nettie Thompson.

Each had a false face on the back of her head and a white sun bonnet over the false face, which brought great applause from the audience. The young ladies deserve great credit the way they mastered their drill.

Pantomime: Lakeview school.
Recitation: Lewis Sanderson.
Recitation: Roy Armour.
Dialogue: Squaring it With the Boss.

The above dialogue was well put on by the artists, namely, Viola Nurse, Velma Nurse, Ruby McAllister, Kingsland Wood. It was an interesting number and caused much laughter from the audience.

Duet by Jim Wood and Cliff. Emberson.

A Minstrel Show—which was an entirely different number from the rest, was composed of five young men, namely, Jim Wood, Cliff. Emberson, John Harvey, Arthur Andrews and Willand Wood, under the direction of Mrs. Harry Nicholson. Their song, entitled, "The Cornfield Medley," was sung in typical southern fashion, and they wore old southern hats, made of paper bags. The boys were good imitators of the colored race, and their song was much enjoyed.

Chorus—The arrival of Dear Old Santy (Mr. McAllister), who, with assistants, were busily engaged unloading the Christmas tree.

BIRDSALLS SCHOOL

BIRDSALLS, Jan. 7.—On Thursday evening a concert and Christmas tree was given in the Birdsalls Public School.

The programme, which was put on by the pupils and young people of the section, under the leadership of the teacher, Miss Wilma Humphries, consisted of recitations, choruses, drills and dialogues.

Music was supplied by Mrs. R. B. Lobb, Misses Elizabeth Davidson and Blanche Post, and Master Everitt Elmhirst on organ, autoharp, guitar and harmonica.

A pleasing number was the awarding of general efficiency prizes donated by a resident of the section. The winners were IV., Ethel Mortlock; III., Helen Bray; II., Everitt Elmhirst, I., Annie McColl; Primer, Mary Birdsall and Edith Mortlock (equal).

Mr. Gilbert Elmhirst made an excellent chairman.

There was a good attendance, the receipts being thirty-one dollars and a half. All children were admitted free.

WOOLER UNITED CHURCH

WOOLER, Jan. 7.—On Christmas Eve (Saturday) the members of the United church Sunday school presented one of th finest programs which has been played for years. The pageant, "The Hour Before Christmas," was well acted by J. J. Way, Santa Claus; Mrs. Neal, Mrs. Santa; Frances Terrill, Spirit of Christmas; Marie Forbes, Italian; Bernice Stacey, Vera Tackaberry, Japanese; Eileen Ellis, Iceland; Helen Tackaberry, Holland; Bernice Sharpe, Austrian and groups of younger children in costumes, dancing around old Santa, while he is asleep. Following this a—

Motherhood!

Peterboro, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was very beneficial to me. I had become all rundown, tired, weak and miserable, had no appetite and my nerves were all upset. I saw the 'Prescription' advertised as being helpful to prospective mothers so I decided to try it. It built me up, quieted my nerves, gave me an appetite and I got along fine the remainder of the time—was able to do all my own work. I had comparatively no suffering, and my baby was very strong and healthy."—Mrs. Lottie Muncy, 301 Townsend St.

Brunswick Green Mountains at $1 60 per bag of 90 pounds in bulk, ex-track.

A steady feeling prevailed in the market for imported beans, but the demand was quiet. Car lots of choice white hand-picked were offered at $2.65 per bushel, ex-track, while broken lots sold at $2.75 per bushel, ex-store.

An easier feeling prevailed in the butter market, and prices for car lots were shaded another ¼c per lb. The demand continued dull. The receipts were 91 packages.

A feature of the cheese trade was the renewed demand from buyers in the United States, and some business was done in Western October make at 19¼c per pound, and Western current receipts at 19c per pound for No. 1 white and colored. The receipts were 78 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Ills., January 7 (Canadian Press). — Led by corn, all grain rallied somewhat yesterday from Thursday's setback. Scantiness of rural offerings of corn, together with smallness of corn receipts west and south-west, as well as indications of a fair volume of export business in corn, was largely responsible.

Closing quotations both on corn and wheat were firm. Corn finished ⅝c to ¾c to 1c net higher, wheat ¼c to ⅝c to ½c up, oats at ⅛c decline to ⅝c to ½c advance, and provisions varying from 2 cents setback to 10 cents gain.

Considerable buying of corn yesterday against sales of wheat helped at times to lift the corn market and to act as a drag on wheat. Meanwhile Missouri River points received but 18 cars of corn yesterday against 138 cars a year ago, and commission houses became persistent buyers of future deliveries here. Speculators who sold early found themselves forced to switch later to the buying side. One exporter alone admitted having disposed of 40,000 bushels for trans-Atlantic shipment, and Kansas City reported that some corn business with Europe was being booked right along.

Complaints of lack of rain needed for the Argentine corn crop were received and the spot trading basis here was firm. In some quarters a good deal of significance was attached to word that central Illinois feeders were inquiring of Omaha for corn. Furthermore, it was pointed out, although the prevailing weather is favorable for the movement of corn the receipts and offerings in foreign positions are much smaller than have been looked for as a rule.

Wheat and oats reflected corn strength. Uneasiness over the crop prospect for domestic winter wheat had some bullish influence, too, on wheat values, reports at hand suggesting that snow protection west and south-west was inadequate during the recent cold wave and that dry conditions were not fully relieved. Besides wheat receipts at Winnipeg yesterday, 595 cars, were much smaller than a week ago or a year back.

Despite lower quotations on hogs, the provision market averaged higher. Cheapness of lard as compared to substitutes was a stimulating factor.

Chicago Cattle.

CHICAGO, Jan. 7. — (Canadian Press.)— Cattle receipts 5,000; light steer and heifer yearlings steady to 25 lower; vealers 50 to 75 lower; best fed steers 17.25; yearlings 14.50; most light steers 12.00 to 13.50; shipper kinds 13.75 to 15.75; vealers 12.50 to 13.50 mostly.

Hog receipts 50,000; top 8.45; practical top 8.35; bulk good and choice 210 to 300 pounds 8.15 to 8.35; 160 to 200 pounds mostly 7.90 to 8.25; 130 to 150 pounds 7.50 to 8.00; bulk pigs 7.25 to 7.50; best strong weights up to 7.75; light weights down to 7.00; bulk packing shows 7.00 to 7.25.

CAMPBELLFORD WINS OPENING GAME AT TWEED

Play in Opening Game Ranges From One End of Rink to Other.

FINAL SCORE 6-1.

Soft Ice Rather Mars Play in First Match of Trent Valley League.

TWEED, Jan. 7.—Before a thousand spectators, the local sextette went down to defeat last night to the tune of six to one at the hands of the Campbellford players. The new rink afforded ample accommodation for the spectators, and there was sufficient room for almost as many more. The soft weather made it heavy going for the players, but the game was fast from finish to start. In the last period both teams momentarily seemed to be stalling for time, but the referee jingled his bell, pointed his finger and the game went on at its former furious pace.

Though the number of penalties seems rather large, they did not seem to be intentional. In many cases, the infringements of the rules was directly caused by the heavy ice. The rubber simply would not "run," and the two particularly soft spots on the ice were the scenes of many a misplay. Good sportsmanship was predominant throughout the entire play from the opening with the National Anthem to the cheers which followed the final gong.

To pick a star player from the Tweed aggregation would have been a difficult undertaking. Every player seemed to be playing as well as the next one, and their brand of hockey was certainly of a very high calibre. For Campbellford, Horkins was the outstanding player. Of the six goals scored by his team, he gets credit for three. The other three go to Blue, Ibey and Cowell. The first goal of the game was scored by Quinn for Tweed. He is a fast skater and has the knack of taking the rubber with him. His initial goal put the Campbellford team on their toes and made them take the bit in their teeth as the proverbial ounce of prevention lest there be more to follow.

At times the game took on an aspect not unlike rugby, when the opposing teams exchange "boots." A shot from one defence line would be returned by the corresponding players. Then a concentrated and well-timed rush would bring the spectators to their toes, only to allow them to sink back as a brilliant check by one or other of the players would break up the combination and send the puck up the ice from whence it had come. More than once, a swarm of players around the nets made a goal look like a certainty, but on only one such occasion was there a score made.

The teams and officials for the game:

Tweed—B. Houston, centre; G. Geraldi, r. wing; Max Geraldi, l. wing; A. Geraldi, l. defence; R. Quinn, r. defence; F. Bayliss, goal; subs, Hansford, J. L. Minorgan; sub. goaltender, Thompson.

Referee—Ross Burtt of Trenton.

Time-keepers—Dr. S. L. O'Hara and H. Myles.

Penalty timekeeper—H. Rollins.

Goal umpires—Charles Holmes and James Breen.

The puck was faced by Recve Rolands, and the play began with an invasion of the visitors' territory which was soon forced back to the Tweed lines. After an offside another rush on the Campbellford goal kept Fox busy for a minute or so until the situation was reversed and the play centred around the Tweed goal, where Horkins had the distinction of drawing a penalty for tripping, the first of the game. Cowell made a nice try which was unsuccessful, and the puck came back to the Campbellford goal, where Fox made two nice saves in quick succession.

George Geraldi drew a penalty just as Horkins was given his freedom. Almost as soon as the play started, Horkins drew a second penalty.

Quinn Scores First.

For the next minute the game was fast until the referee caught an offside. Cowell tried a long shot and missed the nets. Tweed rushed the puck into the visitors' territory, and Quinn scored the first goal just as Horkins came back on the ice. The Tweed supporters cheered lustily when their team drew first blood. Then Max Geraldi got hit with the puck, and there was a delay of 20 seconds before he was able to continue the game.

Bayliss saved a nice shot on the Tweed goal, and a moment later Fox did the same thing for the visitors. Then there was a hot time around the Tweed goal, and it was impossible for a spectator to see what was going on, but in the end Horkins got credit for the first goal for Campbellford, and the one that tied the score. In the next minute or so, Blue drew a one-minute penalty for a trip. Blute tried a long shot after a snappy check, and before the play ended, Blue was back on again.

For a minute the situation for Campbellford was very grave. Only Ted Blute stood between a Tweed rush and the goal they sought. His sure check undoubtedly saved a vicious shot which might easily have been a goal. McArthur drew a penalty for tripping. Seeing his opportunity, Blute took a shot at the Tweed net, but Bayliss saved and Blue scored on the rebound. Campbellford 2, Tweed 1.

McArthur got his liberty and an offside followed the face-off at centre ice. Blue lost his balance and swung his stick in midair. It connected with a Tweed player's head, and Blue got three minutes for slugging. Blute set a furious pace till he was subdued by Cowell. When the bell rang for the first period, Blue of Campbellford was still in the penalty box, and the score was two to one in favor of Campbellford. The time lost was twenty seconds when Geraldi got hit with the puck. Penalties, Campbellford 5, Tweed 1.

Second Period.

The second period began with a rush on the Tweed goal, followed by the same thing in the Campbellford territory. Cowell tried a long shot from about centre ice, and Quinn drew one minute for a trip. Horkins took charge of the puck, proved himself the original Artful Dodger, and after passing the entire Tweed team scored the third goal for the visitors. Ingram, Campbellford, drew a minute on the bench for some crooked work, and Quinn was allowed on again. A shot at the Campbellford goal landed the puck in Fox's pads. Fox made a nice save on a long range attempt, and Ingram came on again. A minute later Max Geraldi got three minutes for bodying a player into the boards.

Horkins made a brilliant rush into Tweed territory but missed his shot and Blute recovered some distance out and took a chance on a long range variety. Quinn collected three minutes in the box for tripping Blue and as soon as the game resumed, Bayliss made a neat save for Tweed. Blute tried another long shot and missed. Horkins got it on the rebound and also missed. In the excitement he won a two minute penalty for tripping. Ibey tried a long shot and Tweed rushed. Ingram checked them neatly and after a brilliant rush, failed to score. Horkins managed to dash out of the penalty box just as Ibey kicked the puck and the play stopped.

Tweed took a long shot that failed to get by Fox. Their second, third and fourth shots from closer range also failed to get caught in the meshes. A beautiful combination which carried Tweed well into the Campbellford territory almost won them another score. The puck went just high enough to clear the net and strike the boards behind it. A melee around the Campbellford goal looked pretty much like a score, but Blute managed to break clear and make his way to centre ice. Blute just missed a nice shot from the Tweed defence line. Time was called just as Horkins got under way in one of his famous rushes.

The end of the second period saw the score three to one for Campbellford with no time off during the period and with only two penalties for the visitors and three for Tweed.

Third Period.

The final period began with a fine exhibition of hockey. Cowell missed a long shot on the Tweed goal, and in a moment had the puck again and had tried another which also missed. Tweed rallied with an exceptionally fine three man combiantion which looked like business till Ibey sailed in. In his zeal to break it up he got two minutes for slugging Cowell saved the next rush and missed another of his famous shots from the defense line. Fox made a neat save when Tweed retaliated. Ibey got back on the ice again and tried another long range shot. A. Geraldi retaliated in kind. Ingram recovered the puck, made a beautiful rush, shot and missed. When nearing the Tweed net he got two minutes for retaliating in a little slugging match. Ibey was the next man to try to rush, but Bayliss blocked his shot nicely. Fox made a nice save a moment later when Tweed took a shot in his direction, and Ingram came back on. Horkins took a flier from about centre ice and Ibey scored on the rebound.

Campbellford invaded the Tweed domain with a fast combination and Blute missed an open shot. An offside followed at the Tweed defence line and as if to even the favour, the same thing happened almost at once at the Campbellford line. Horkins interrupted the next Tweed combination and his short shot was stopped by Bayliss. Max Geraldi managed to break his stick somewhere in the Campbellford territory and Ingram caught a long shot at the defense line. He got away to a brilliatn rush, but an offside spoiled his fun.

Horkins tried to take the Tweed goalie by storm, but Bayliss was right on his job and made a nice save. A minute later Horkins managed to work into the Tweed lines and got one in behind Bayliss. This brought the score up to five to one for Campbellford and time almost up. Cowell rushed and scored. Six to one for the visitors. Fox saved a long shot for his net as the bell rang, ending the last period and the game.

In the last period there was no time lost and Campbellford drew two penalties while Tweed drew none. In this period, Campbellford scored three goals and the local team failed to score.

As soon as the bell ended the game, the Campbellford players congregated about centre ice and cheered for their opponents. Tweed responded generously and in a manner true to the good sportsmanship they had exhibited during the entire play.

The game in a nut shell:

Goals for Campbellford—Horkins 2, Blue 1, Ibey 1, Cowell 1—6.	252
Goals for Tweed—Quinn 1	838
Total penalties—For Campbellford nine (9). Total 17 minutes.	499
	534
	742
	746

Tweed four (4). Total 9 minutes.

By players—For Campbellford, Horkins 6 minutes, Blue 4 minutes, Ingram 3 minutes, Ibey 2 minutes, and McArthur 2 minutes. Total 17 minutes. For Tweed, Quinn 4 minutes, M. Geraldi 3 minutes and G. Geraldi 2 minutes. Total 9 minutes.

propriate to this subject and should be grateful to be informed of the view entetrained on this subject by your Government."

The reply of Premier Mackenzie King indicated that the matter had not reached the finality with regard to the Canadian Government as it had in the United States. The Prime Minister, while agreeing that Canada was seized of the importance of the scheme, pointed out that while the report of the joint board of engineers was unanimous in some respects, it indicated differences of opinion on important phases of the development proposed. There were appendices to the report in course of preparation embodying certain alternative schemes and the Prime Minister believed that these would be of essential value in arriving at a conclusion. He informed Mr. Kellogg that the National Advisory Committee would not be in a position to make any recommendation until all the findings of the joint engineering board, including the appendices, were available.

"Upon receipt of the report of the National Advisory Committee and upon consideration of other factors involved, the Government of Canada will be able to determine its policy on the question," Premier King wrote, "and will have pleasure in discussing further with the Government of the United States at as early a date as possible the whole situation."

Report Completed.

The report and the appendices — seven in number — are now completed. The appendices embody several illustrative plans, and it is consideration of the whole that is now being given by the present conference of the National Advisory Board.

With regard to the report proper, the American section of the joint engineering board recommended a single stage scheme with an 85 foot head, at the bottom of Barnhart Island, which would develop 2,730,300 horse power; the Canadans recommended a double stage scheme with 61 foot head at the lower installation at Long Sault Island, and 17 foot head at the upper installation on Ogden Island, near Morrisburg. The capacity of the double stage development was 2,619,000 h.p.

As to costs, the U.S. scheme proposed expenditure of $394,000,000, and the Canadian $423,600,000. Extending the project to embrace works to the head of the lakes, the American plan provided for a cost of $553,200,000, and the Canadian $582,800,000. The Canadian figures included the entire cost of the Welland ship canal, amounting to $114,500,000. The estimated cost for improving the river for navigation alone was $167,720,000 under either scheme. These costs as estimated were without interest during construction.

The proposed waterway was to have a depth of 25 feet. From Lake Ontario to Montreal there would be 25 miles of restricted canal navigation, making necessary nine locks and eight bridges. The locks would be 859 feet long, 80 feet wide and 30 feet deep, and the estimated traffic capacity 24,000,000 tons. The cost of improving the Great Lakes connecting channels was estimated at $44,700,000, and the time to complete all works, eight years.

The recommendations of the National Advisory Board would not commit the government to anything, and the final say in the matter would be had by Parliament. Since it would involve an expenditure of public money, the House of Commons would be required to pass on any contemplated measure and it is certain that a protracted debate would ensue.

With regard to the control of the St. Lawrence waterway and its allied power developments, it is understood that this is a point of prime importance now being given consideration by the Advisory committee. Joint control over the entire project would concede to the United States as authority over a proposition which, geographically speaking is overwhelmingly Canadian, equal to that enjoyed by Canada. Joint control over that portion of the development which is internationally owned, with Canadan control over the portion that is purely Canadian, has, it is understood, been considered as an alternative, but whether this would be acceptable to the United States is not known.

"VICTORY" SIX NEW DODGE CAR

the center of gravity is closer to the road and the over-all height of the car is about at the ordinary man's hatbrim. The low center of gravity and union of the chassis and body are said to have a marked stablizing effect, reducing side sway and adding greatly to riding comfort. The frame of the Victory Six chassis is so deep that no splash shields are necessary, thus eliminating a source of noise.

Further structural distinctiveness has been obtained by a noval type of body design, which might be described as a steel shell welded inside an outer steel shell to form a double wall with an air space between. What automotive engineers graphically and untechnically describe as "tin-panning" in all steel body construction effectually has been suppressed by perforations and other sound-deadening devices; leaving, they assert, strength, lightness, appearance, and absence of rattles as a net gain.

The engine developed exclusively for the Victory Six is an L-head, medium duty type, with bore of 3 3-8 inches and stroke of 3 7-8 inches. Pistons are aluminum alloy. Seven bearings support the crankshaft, which turns approximately 1,285 r. p. m. at 25 miles an hour and about 3,350 r. p. m. at 65 miles an hour. Because of rigid support and careful balancing of the 52 pound crankshaft, no counterweights or other vibration dampeners are used. Gearshift position are S.A.E. standard; namely, lever to left and back for low and to right and back for high.

Four-wheel Lockheed hydraulic footbrakes expand internally against a drum 12 inches in diameter. The parking brake contracts on the propeller shaft.

The entire passenger car production of Dodge Brothers, in all three models, will be supplied in wide varieties of color combinations.

OBITUARY

JAMES McLIGGOTT.

The funeral of the late James McLiggott will take place on Monday morning, January 9, 1928, from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Patrick McMurray, Douro, at 9 o'clock, proceeding to St. Joseph's Church, and thence to St. Joseph's Cemetery for interment.

GEORGE HENRY HENDY

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 7. — The funeral service of the late George Henry Hendy was held from his late residence, River Road, Campbellford, yesterday afternoon to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, were interment was made. The host of friends present and the many beautiful floral tributes bore mute testimony to the high esteem in which the deceased was held throughout the community. Deceased was a life-long resident of this vicinity and has followed his profession of dairy farming and stock raising during his entire lifetime. He was in his forty-fifth year and is survived by his widow and three children, all living at home. He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. John MacMullen and Mrs. Elsee Stillman, and one brother, Fred Hendy.

The service at the house was conducted by the Rev. James Grier, who was assisted at the grave by the Rev. N. Clarke Wallace. The pall bearers were Messrs. G. A. Hay, W. Rodgers, T. S. Baker, W. S. Wiggins, Cyril Slogget and Earle Sloggett.

Among those who came from a distance to attend the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. James Leonard, Niagara Falls, Ont.; Harry McMullen, Bowmanville; Mrs. Harry Bertrand and son, Roy, Toronto, and Mr. Don MaMullen, Toronto. The sympathy of a multitude of friends is extended to Mrs. Hendy and family during their bereavement.

had not found any particular hostility towards the pact in Australia. But he went on to explain that in Australia he had found quantities of dried fruits there being boxed in crates made of Oregon lumber. He thought it would be a more satisfatcory arrangement if British Columbia lumber were used in Australia and Australian dried fruits were being consumed here instead of dried fruits from California.

HOCKEY NOTES

MADOC, Jan. 6.—An exhibition game was played on the rink here on Monday evening between Havelock and Madoc Senior teams. A pretty fast game was played from start to finish, and victory rested with the visiting team with a score of 3-2.

On Monday afternoon the Madoc Hockey Boys (a scratch team), journeyed to Cooper for the first (unofficial) game of the season. Some good practise was indulged in and the score was 5-4 in favor of Madoc team.

ST. JOHN'S LOSES SECOND GAME TO LINDSAY

LINDSAY MIDGETS TAKE SECOND GAME OF SERIES FROM ST JOHN'S WINNING HARD FOUGHT GAME 4-2

Junior Game on Sticky Ice is a Battle From Bell to Bell.

BOTH WORK HARD.

Lindsay Wins Verdict By Scoring Two Goals in First Period.

(By F.D.C.)

The St. John's team failed last night at Brock Street Ring to check the parade of Peterborough losses which has now extended over five successive nights, but they gave the Lindsay Midgets a terrific argument in a hard fought game on sticky ice, which Fred Martin's team finally won by 4 goals to 2.

On the night's play there was little to choose between the two teams. The Midgets had the edge in the first period when their margin of victory was made possible by the scoring of two goals, but the Saints came back in determined fashion and really deserved a better fate than to merly split goals with th invaders in the second and third sessions.

The ice conditions, due to the mild weather were not to the liking of either team, but in spite of the tough going the players maintained a level pace throughout, and there was plenty of action at all stages; the fairly big crowd, which included a Lindsay delegation, finding the battle decidedly interesting.

The Midgets led by 2 to 0 at the end of the first period; it was 3 to 1 at the close of the second, and each team scored a marker in the final dash.

While Lindsay did not look so good as they did at home on Tuesday night, they showed plenty of speed and good shooting ability, and they back-checked consistently all the way. Their passing, too, in spite of the sticky ice, was better than that of the Saints.

But the losers battled every inch of the journey and there was nobody more glad to hear the final bell than those Red and White sweatered lads from Lindsay

One unusual feature of the closely-fought tussle was that there was nothing clean-cut about any of the goals scored. Each team hung up a counter on a shot that was deflected into the net, one of Lindsay's goals was registered by a player who was many feet offside, and one of the Pete's markers was batted in from a wild scramble in front of the Lindsay citadel.

It was hard going with the checking close, but in spite of the conditions, the penalty list was light, both the teams being satisfied to work for goals and forget the get-the-man stuff.

The defence pair for Lindsay, Woods and Rich, turned in a fine card, both in checking and rushing, while there was little to choose on the forward line, the regulars, Forbert, Hogan and Spratt being uniformly good. McClory handled himself well in the nets.

For the St. John's crew, Frank Carroll's speedy rushes made him an outstanding figure He made dash after dash, and had tough luck in not converting several of these fine plays into goals. His defence man, Johnston, also rushed nicely. All five of the attacking division worked their heads off to turn the tide. Jarvis was handicapped by a sore hip but gave his best, and Cuthbertson, playing his first O.H.A. game, gave a fine account of himself at centre; while Terry Hall worked like a beaver and unlimbered a shot from the right boards that should have scored more than the one counter he got. both Hartley and J. Hall were of material assistantce Hutchinson was beaten by one sloppy shot, but he stopped plenty during the evening, some at point blank range.

The teams:

Lindsay

Goal ..... McClory
Defence ..... Woods and Rich
Centre ..... Forbert
Right wing ..... Hogan
Subs ..... Gerster, Strickland

Peterborough

Goal ..... Hutchinson
Defence ..... Carroll.
Defence ..... Carroll and Johnston
Centre ..... Cuthbertson
Right wing ..... T. Hall
Left wing ..... Jarvis
Subs ..... J. Hall, Hartley

Referee—Mac McCarthy, Toronto

Lindsay got away to a good start in the first period when they seemed to be breaking faster than the Saints. They staged several dangerous attacks right off the reel, and finally after four minutes' playing, Woods started a rush from his own blue line and slid a shot past Hutchinson as he reached the Peterborough defence.

Carroll's rushes featured the next few minutes, the Saints' left defence man leading attack arter attack. Lindsay checked closely, however, and their defence was hard to beat at this stage. St. John's, too, were checking well, and the game was an even argument until the period was nearly over, when Forbert rounded the Peterborough net and slapped in a rebound for Lindsay's second goal. He was ahead of the play, but Referee McCarthy missed the offside, and the score counted That made it 2 to 0, and there was no further score in the period.

The Saints fought back desperately in the second session, and did the bulk of the attacking, but they had little luck in their raids, battling for fifteen minutes before they finally succeeded in breaking into the scoring column. Jake Hall did the trick when he batted the puck in from a mix-up in front of the Lindsay net.

And then after all the hard going to get a goal, Lindsay came back in two minutes with a sloppy marker when Spratt let go a slow one from outside the defence that found its way into the net. The score at the end of the period was 3 to 1 for the visitors.

The Midgets landed another easy one after one minute's play in the last session, when Hogan, left uncovered on the right boards, was allowed to waltz in unchecked to score.

That goal, however, ended their scoring efforts for the night and the Saints, subbing frequently, and with Hartley showing to good advantage on the forward line, carried the battle to them.

Terry Hall rocked McClory several times with hard drives from the boards, and Cuthbertson once split the Lindsay defence and was in on top of McClory only to miss. At the other end of the rink Hutchinson made some fine saves in this period, and it began to look as if the scoring was over for the evening when Terry Hall drove one from the side that carromed off a Lindsay player into the net.

That was the last marker of the game, and for the fifth night in succession this week a Peterborough team left the ice beaten.

Sharkey Training For Heeney Bout

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 7.—(Associated Press.)— Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight contender, will wind up his training on Tuesday and will leave for New York on Wednesday next week for his bout with Tom Heeney, of Australia. Johnny Buckley, the Boston boxer's manager, said yesterday.

Buckley said that he had not received any order from the New York State Athletic Commission for Sharkey to appear before it on Tuesday next for an examination of the injured hand which caused a postponement of the bout last year, but added that Sharkey would submit to the examination on his arrival in New York next Wednesday afternoon.

Sharkey yesterday added Tom Kirby and Elzear Rioux to his squad of sparring partners. He weighed 195 pounds yesterday, one pound under his weight against Dempsey, and hopes to be able to enter the ring at 193.

WILSHIRE COUNTY CLUB, LOS SANGELES, Calif., Jan. 7 (Canadian Press).—With nearly half the field of 128 starters yet to be heard from, Ed. Dudley, youthful professional of Hollywood, held the lead in the first round of the $10,000 Los Angeles open golf tournament yesterday. He travelled the first 18 of the 78-hole course in 72, one above par.

Harry Cooper of Los Angeles, 1926 winner and a favored repeater, completed his round in 73, while Nutt Martin, Reno, toured the course in 75.

George Von Elm, former amateur title-holder, was grouped with several others at the 65 station.

ENTRIES SET NEW RECORD

112 Horses Entered For 1928 Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree.

MANY VETERANS.

LIVERPOOL, Eng., Jan. 7. Canadian Press Cable. — With the winners of the last two races entered, and more than a dozen of the first class Grand National veterans included, the entries for the 1928 Grand National to be run at Aintree on March 30th, set a new record both in quality and quantity. They total 112, the largest number in the 89 years of the most difficult steeplechase in the world.

Mrs. M. Partridge's Sprig, last year's winner, and A. G. Schwartz's Jack Horner, 1926 winner, are both prominent starters for this year's race. The field should provide a record one. Last year 37 started and seven finished, and the first four finishing are again cornered—Sprig Boy ril Third, Bright's Boy and Drinmond.

Other entrants with previous experience of the more than four mile course of the National are Thrown in, Dwarf of the Forest, Silver Somme, White Park, Grakle, Grecian Wave, Ballystockart and Mount Enna.

The race marks the ending of the winter national hunt season. The flat racing season starts March 25 with the meeting at Lincoln, and the great spring handicap, the Lincolnshire will be run March 26.

Further entries for the National are Trump Card, Ruddy Glow, Melleray's Dell, Kwango, Spinney Hill, The Gouling, Ramant, Clash Morgan, Keep Cool, Golden Street, Jackanapes, Uncas Second, Herbert's Choice, Manser's Pride, Snapper, Drury Lane Second, Soldier's Joy, Santabell, Irina, De Combat, Fatima, Sunnywood, Lordi, Common Side, Carfax Scraptoft, Shangolin, Postino, Rathmore, Geryones, Darracq Gloringo, Bad Lynch, Beggar's End, Spear o' War, Little Clifter, Eagle's Tail, May King, Rathory, Daydawn Pongo, Gay Dog Second, Tipperary Tim, Sanspeche, Apple Pie, L'Aiglon Second, Seti the First, Ruddyman, Dash o' White Taguel, Far Flight, Rusterline, Shaunor, Sandy Hook, Great Span, Rossieny, Hawker. HAGO HARRINGTON BANNED FOR YEAR Cannot Play For American-Canadian League Club Until Next Year.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 7.— (Canadian Press.) — Leland (Hago) Harrington cannot play this year with the Providence club of the Canadian-American League to whom he was sold Thursday by the Boston Bruins after President Frank Calder of the National League ruled that he was the property of the Bruins and not of the New Haven Canadian-American Club.

President Charles C. Clapp of the Canadian-American circuit yesterday defined Harrington's status under a rule adopted a week ago by which no Canadian-American player who has been recalled to a National League team can return to the Canadian-American loop in the same season. The edict was designed to prevent too much swapping and general shuffling of players

Harrintgon can rejoin the Providence club next year, but he must be sold or farmed out to another league for the rest of this season, President Clapp said. Harrington was recalled from New Haven by the Bruins several weeks ago, but declined to obey the order and an argument over his possession culminated in President Calder's decision and the player's sale.

INSIDE SPORTIN' DOPE

By A WISE CRACKER

Mister Sporting Editor:

As usual, I am writing this on Thurs., and so far this week ain't been exactly a success from a local hockey viewpoint. 3 times in 3 nights has the Peterborough colors been dropped in the dust, and here's hoping there'll be better luck in the 3 battles what is left to be played this week.

That game Wed. night was a heartbreaker. I was there and seen it for myself, but even at that I can't dope out yet how them Whitby lads ever copped the verdict. This young Mister Clark who played gool for them deserves a big piece of the verdict, but the local lads practically beat themselves by penalties. The young Petes was short-handed for 22 mins. of the game, and most of the sentences was because the youngsters was thinking more about bumping some 1 than they was about sinking the old washer into the net. The main idea about hockey is to score gools, and you gotta get them out on the ice. It can't be done from the sidelines, even if a lotta refereeing is done from the pews.

I just heard that the Varsity management don't want to leggo of Mister Legon. The red-head wants to play for his home town, and the Petes need him like Peterborough needs a new City Hall, but Varsity is very coy about giving him a release so he can perform in a Peterborough unie. Anyway, the lads hafta meet Marlboros without Mister Legon, and that ain't exactly good news.

Getting away from hookey for a moment, Mac, the ball fans was probably interested to see the old Central League organized again. The loop was missed last year, and if it can be put on its feet again Peterborough followers of the game will be happier than the fellow in the holiday line-up which got inside just before the door was slammed tight at 6 o'clock. The Petes made 1 grand showing last season, but the fans got tired waiting round all summer for some action, and they'll welcome the Central back again like you welcome a announcement from your mother-in-law that she can't possibly stay another day.

The U. S. has named Eveleth as the fall guys for the Varsity grads. That is, the Eveleth team will represent Uncle Sam in the Olympic serious. Well, the lads will have a nice trip anyway, and what Mister Porter and his pals show them of hookey won't do them no harm.

Well, Mac, it's pretty near time to get my iron for the day, so you'll hafta excuse me.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

GEHRIG SIGNS NEW CONTRACT

Star First Baseman To Play With Yanks For Three Years.

SALARY NOT REVEALED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., January 7 (Canadian Press). — Lou Gehrig, the home run twin of Babe Ruth, has signed a three-year contract with the New York Yankees, Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the club, made known yesterday. The salary arrangement for the New York first baseman was not revealed.

Last season, it was understood that Gehrig received a salary of about $8,000. For the greater part of the campaign and in fact up to the final month, he battled on about equal terms with Ruth for home run honors. Ruth signed a three-year contract with the Yankees at $70,000 per season, before the 1927 drive.

"We never disclose what salary arrangements are made,' 'Col. Ruppert declared. "We have signed Gehrig for three years, and that's about all that can be said."

Reports were current that Gehrig had turned down a five year contract and that after lengthy dickerings, had compromised for a three-year contract after satisfactory adjustment of the salary question was made.

During his first full year with the Yankees in 1925, Gehrig connected for 21 home runs. In the following season he accounted for 16 four-baggers, but enjoyed his best campaign last year, when he turned out 47 circuit smashes, which was 13 short of Ruth's record crop.

A word from the publisher . . . about advertising

The products you see consistently advertised in this paper are worthy of your confidence.

It takes two things to make a consistent advertiser. One is a strong conviction that he has a product that will hold its place in public favor despite competition. The other is actual proof of that . . . the increasing popularity of his product.

If his product will not stand the test of comparison he would simply be throwing his advertising investment away. If the buying public rejects his product after it has been offered in advertising he has thrown his advertising investment away.

That's why the manufacturer who advertises his merchandise consistently is very sure of his quality . . . and why you may be sure of it, too.

Read the advertising here in your newspaper . . it will guide you to the buying of worthy merchandise

LIBRARY REPORT SHOWS PROGRESS

Many Books Have Been Presented During Year and Others Purchased.

The following annual report of F. M. DelaFosse, Librarian, of Peterborough Public Library, contains much information of interest to the general public, and for this reason it is published in detail. In its various paragraphs is found much to indicate a year of progress in the history of the Peterborough Public library.

GENTLEMEN:

I beg to present to you herewith my Report on the work accomplished in the Library during the past year.

The year has proved a satisfactory one in every respect. We have been enabled to present borrowers with a larger selection of books than in any previous year, having been helped thereto very materially by generous donations from the libraries of private citizens. Most of the volumes thus received have been of sterling value. We are indebted to the generosity of the late Mr. Cluxton for a gift of 154 books, of which only 19 were fiction, and these the work of such well-known authors as Dumas and Lytton. The others comprise a complete set of Johnson's lives of the Poets, and a set of Voyages and Travels, 28 volumes, published by the English publisher Phillips, in 1809.

We are indebted also to Mr. and Mrs. Penrose, late of Peterborough, for many valuable books. Altogether we have received 1971 books during the year. This figure includes, of course, those purchased for the Children's Department. The different classes purchased are appended herewith:

Grand Total—1971.

In 1926 there were 564 books added to the Children's Department and 1010 to the Adult. These figures include books received from all sources.

Five hundred and seventy-four books have had to be retired during the year. By far the majority of these, in both the Adult and Juvenile sections, were works of fiction; 414 books were withdrawn from the Adult Library and 160 from the Juvenile.

In the Repair department, 1533 books were mended and 37 copies of Magazines were bound.

Six hundred and five new borrowers took out tickets at the Library; of these 357 were women and 268 were men.

In the Juvenile library, 302 girls and 278 boys took out tickets, making a total of 580.

Every branch of the Library has been well patronized; the Reading Rooms have been unusually well-filled and the Reference Room has certainly been well used, especially by Normal School students and pupils from the Collegiate Institute and Public schools.

A considerable amount of improvement has been made and repairs executed both inside and outside the Library. One feature that needs emphasizing is that the bound copies of newspapers are now housed in a commodious and fitting manner, and have been arranged in such a way as to be easily accessible by those who wish to consult them.

The circulation figures for the past year are given herewith, together with those of 1926 for purposes of comparison.

The attendance in the Children's Reading Room during the year was 12,093.

The Story Hour average was 43.

I would like to add that Miss Bridge has proved in every way a worthy successor to Miss Hood, as Children's Librarian and I feel sure that the Members of the Board may have every confidence that in her hands the Children's Departmet will continue to be a success.

The circulation figures in the Adult Department are given for the years 1925, 1926 and 1927.

It gives me pleasure to say that the work of the entire staff has been satisfactory.

In conclusion, I beg to take this opportunity of thanking you on their behalf and my own, for the kindness and consideration accorded to us throughout the year.

CAMPBELLFORD FIRE LOSS LOW

Only $1,900 Damage Done By Fires During Past Year.

TWENTY-NINE CALLS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 7. — The annual report of the Campbellford fire department shows that there were twenty nine calls during the year, and the two fires caused a total damage estimated at nineteen hundred dollars. During the year the only new equipment purchased was six hundred feet of hose.

This report shows a marked decrease from that of the previous year, when the loss was estimated at $7085.00. The efficient operation of the department is one of the things on which the town prides itself and apparently the firemen are about as efficient as could reasonably be expected. While they are paid a very small salary each year, they may be considered practically volunteers since the salary is very small and each of the men is otherwise occupied. It is their sworn duty, however, to leave whatever occupation they are following when the fire alarm sounds and report at once either to the fire hall or the scene of the fire.

Marmora

MARMORA, Jan. 7.—Miss Hilda Phillips spent a few days last week visiting friends at Harold.

Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Caldwell visited Belleville on Thursday.

Misses Clara and Iva Phillips visited their uncle, Mr. Sam Phillips, of Madoc township, for a few days last week.

Mrs. C. Armstrong and Miss Marjorie Henderson of Glanmire were week end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Lavender.

Miss Mildred Heath of Stirling spent a few days last week with Mrs. Henry Warren.

Mr. W. D. Donnelly spent Monday in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Fern Melvaer and family of Deloro left on Tuesday for their new home in Toronto.

Mr. Frank Grant left on Wednesday morning for Detroit.

Mr. M. Mellon has recovered from his recent illness.

Mr. Gordon Gray returned to Queen's on Tuesday after spending the holiday with friends in this district.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

"ALADDIN"

Old Country Pantomime, Contains an Abundance of Features

All-Canada Tours will present "Aladdin," an Old Country pantomime complete in all details, with principals, dancers' production, scenic effects, spectacles and innumerable costumes, direct from London, at the Grand Theatre here next Saturday.

Rich in comedy, in dancing features, in humor of a topical type, and in many things that will delight the heart of childhood, "Aladdin" is a thoroughly up-to-date pantomime in every respect. Dave Lee, the leading comedian, who will play the Widow Twankey, enjoys a high reputation as a pantomime artist of long experience. Bertha Russell, who will be the proncipal "boy," is an artiste of grace and piquant personality. Lillian Barnes, who will appear as Pekoe, has won high ecomiums in England and at the Antipodes in revue, in musical comedy and in pantomime alike. Harry Gilmore, as the Widow Twankey's cat, Florence Cameron as the Princess So-Shi, Molly Moltano and Fred Wolgast, with Phyllis Retford in charge of the ballet, constitute a sea of principals of unusual strength.

The Twelve English Rosebuds are dancers of exceptional grace and precision, whose work will prove one of the outstanding features of the show. The Brothers Lorenzi are two artists who have won a name for themselves in English pantomime. The Four Wards are a vocal quartette who enjoy a widespread popularity.

The snappy dialogue, wholehearted comedy, fine spectacular effects, colorful scenery and costumes and general liveliness of the entire entertainment, should assure a highly successful visit here.

AT THE CAPITOL.

COLLEEN MOORE'S "HER WILD OAT"

Colleen Moore, vivacious First National star, comes to the Capitol Theatre here next week in her latest John McCormick comedy - drama, "Her Wild Oat."

An all-star cast supports Miss Moore in this picture. Marshall Neilan, famous director, who made some of the star's outstanding hits, directed "Her Wild Oat," adding innumerable comedy touches for which he is so renowned.

"Her Wild Oat" shows Miss Moore as a little lunch wagon owner who takes her life's savings and spends every cent on one week of luxury and thrills at an exclusive seacoast resort. Her hoped-for splash in society is only a ripple, however, and she is persuaded by a newspaper reporter friend to obtain recognition by impersonating a duchess. After a day of worried glory, the pseudo duchess is exposed, and Colleen's troubles begin all over again.

Coronado Beach, one of the world's playgrounds for the wealthy, was used as the location for the making of the exterior scenes, while an usually large building program was instituted at the First National Studios to provide the settings representing portions of New York.

Larry Kent, who left the medical college of the University of California to enter motion pictures, plays the chief supporting role with Gwen Lee, Hallam Cooley, Fritzi Ridgway and others in important parts.

Gerald Duffy wrote the script.

According to advance reports, "Her Wild Oat" is up to the usual exceptionally high Colleen Moore standard. Her role as a lunch-wagon proprietress and a titled member of ultra-society afford her many unique opportunities to provide arch merriment.

AT THE REGENT.

RAY ROCKETT GIVES HIS COMEDY 'RECIPE'

Ray Rockett, brother of Al Rockett, with whom he produced the masterful epic, "Abraham Lincoln," is at home in the realms of light comedy drama, as he has demonstrated on many occasions since his association with First National Pictures.

A glittering example was "The Perfect Sap," with Ben Lyon and Pauline Starke, adapted from a highly entertaining stage play, "Not Herbert."

Repeats Success.

Now he has repeated his success with "See You in Jail," which he produced for First National with Jack Mulhall in the featured role. Joseph Henabery directed the picture, which comes to the Regent Theatre Monday.

Ray Rocket believes in comedy, but prefers that sort which depends upon the situation rather than on simple "gags" for its appeal.

"I have no argument with 'slapstick'," he says, "but personally, I like to see a picture built up by incidents that are in themselves humorous, each one piling upon its predecessor until the denouement comes with a surprise and a decided 'kick.'

ELEVEN BOILS ON HER ARM AT ONE TIME

Mrs. S. Petuh, Fisher Home, Alta., writes:—"I was troubled with boils and had eleven of them on my arm at one time.

"I tried all kinds of medicine, but got no relief.

"I took two bottles of

and have never been troubled since."

B.B.B. banishes boils and all other blood disorders; manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WARSAW U.F.O. HOLDS AT HOME

Hunter Catches Pig and Collie in Traps Set For Foxes.

WARSAW NEWS.

WARSAW, Jan. 7.—The "At Home" given by the U.F.O. on Wednesday evening was quite a success. Dr. Munro's orchestra, with a pianist from Peterboro, supplied the music. Square dances were much in vogue, and there was one Charleston.

Paul Payne is one of the most experienced hunters in this district. He has gotten every kind of wild animal to be found here, and sometimes a rare one. At one time he caught a rare lynx, seldom seen so far east, which he presented to a museum.

Recently he decided to trap some foxes which were disturbing the peace of his poultry yard. His traps seldom fail to act, but they take whatever comes along, and his foxes this time turned out to be a neighbor's collie dog and his own pig.

About noon on Saturday, Harold Payne saw a large fox crossing the road near their lane. Despite the rain, he and four others armed themselves, took dogs, and tried to capture reynard, but without success.

There is one case of scarlet fever in the village, but the boy and family were promptly quarantined. Fortunately for the household, a trained nurse happened to be visiting in the home.

Mrs. Paul Payne is visiting her son, Cephas Payne.

Mr. A. F. Choate and Mr. H. G. E. Choate were in Toronto, a couple of days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weller returned home on Wednesday.

District Churches

MADOC CHURCHES

MADOC, Jan. 7.—The New Year's services in Trinity United church of Madoc were unusually well attended. The morning hour of worship was filled with appropriate hymns and the subject chosen by Rev. G. W. Rivers was, "Resolutions and Resolution," taking as a text Phillipians 3:13—"This one thing I do," stressing the importance of a right choice and a right aim in life.

In the evening the ten minutes' song service was much enjoyed. The subject was, "The Golden Door of Opportunity," taking Joshua 3:14—"Ye have not passed this way heretofore."

A solo in the morning by Mr. Raymond Rivers, and a duet in the evening by Miss Norma Fair and Mr. R. Rivers, added much to the musical part of the services.

In the Sunday school the New Year's lesson and the promotions of the different classes were the order of the day.

At St. Peter's Presbyterian church the regular Sunday school session at 9.45 was well attended. The subject for the morning service was, "On the Road to To-morrow." The evening song service and special hymns was enjoyed, and the series of Famous Women of the Bible was continued. Rev. Mr. Marshal choosing, "Mary Magdalene and her noble service."

FAMOUS LOVE ROMANCES — Lord Nelson and Lady Hamilton (VI) — By Nicholas Afonsky

Just before the battle of Trafalgar, which established Nelson's reputation for all time, he wrote a cheerful letter to his "dearest beloved Emma." Then he went on deck and caused signals to be flown from his ship carrying his famous message to his fleet: "England expects that every man will do his duty."

His ship, the Victory, was soon in the thick of the fight. At the height of the battle Nelson suddenly fell forward. "They have done for me at last," he said. "My backbone is shot through." He drew his handkerchief over his face so that his sailors would not know it was he that had been wounded, as he was carried below.

A few hours later, in the suffocating hold of the ship, Nelson died—but not until he was assured that the English were triumphant. Almost his last words were messages to Lady Hamilton and Horatia. "Take care of my dear Lady Hamilton," he cried. Then, just before he died, "Thank God I have done my duty."

Lady Hamilton soon got into financial difficulties, in spite of the big income she had from Hamilton and Nelson. She had many adventures. Once she was arrested for debt. England, so generous in praise of its hero, forgot the woman he had loved, whom he had, in a codicil to his will, bequeathed to the care of his country.

EXPANSION

Owing to the increase in our business, we found it necessary to build an addition to our factory and install therein a ten-ton hoist, also a granite surfacing machine that prepares the stone for the polishing mill. We will also add a sand blast machine. These additions to our plant will give us one of the best equipped Monumental manufacturing shops in Ontario, and will enable us to handle, with a great saving of time and labor, all orders entrusted to us at prices that defy competition.

KIWANIS LADIES' NIGHT

Ladies' Night of the Kiwanis Club, held at the Empress Hotel last evening, to mark the ceremony of installation of officers for the year, was marked by a carnival atmosphere. With the snapping of gaily colored crackers that enclosed equally brightly-tinted paper caps, the tooting of tiny wooden whistles that formed the favors of the evening, to the sound of a sax and whistle trio composed of Harry Boyle, Frank Stinson and Harry Huffman and the clink of the fines in the dishpan that Walter Kidd commandeered when somebody stole his fine plate, and in which Charlie Elliott dropped twenty-five coppers with deliberation and clamor, during an attempted speech by Herb McCannan, the Kiwanians and their ladies, to the number of about eighty, made merry during the dinner hour, which was followed by the more serious programme of installation of officers and a wind-up with the usual dancing interval, to music supplied by the Melody King's four-piece orchestra.

The decorations were particularly colorful and breezy last evening. Big, many-hued ballons were attached to the walls and pillars, the tables were centred by red roses and small flags, the Union Jack and the Canadian ensign, placed in tiny standards, were at each plate the gift of the booster of the evening, John J. Turner. Ev Taylor acted as booster for cards, which also formed a portion of the after-dinner program, and were played at tables placed in the grill room.

Mark Bredin came in late and took his place as sergeant at arms, replacing Walter Kidd, and incidentally paying a fine for his tardiness. The community singing was led by Herb McCannan, with Martin Chenhall at the piano. Musical numbers that were heartily encored were provided by Charles Coleman, singing comic songs, his "laughing" encore being a knockout, and Frank Clarke, whose banjo solos brought an accompaniment of tapping feet to the swinging rhythm and whose selections included his famous "Watermelon growin' on de vine." Another addition to the music of the evening, and one that brought down the house and roused a great deal of enthusiasm and merriment among the listeners was the mouth organ trio, composed of Isaac MacNabb, Herb McCannan and John Turner, with a temperamental director in Verne Morphet. The manner in which this energetic trio rendered "Nelly Gray" and other classical bits of a like nature was a revelation to their hearers. Equally amusing and exceptionally noisy was the impromptu Glee Club of Kiwanis members attired in Tuxedos, who gathered about the head table and aroused mixed feelings in their audience by their rendition, strictly according to individual preference, of "Bring Back My Bonnie to Me." The gentlemen in this discordant aggregation were Joseph John, Carl Browne, Frank Stinson, John Turner, Jack Heron, Harry Huffman, Frank Dawson, John Meyers, Isaac MacNabb, Jack Marshall, Charlie Cook, Verne Morpet, G. F. Liddle, Jack McKone, A. J. Reynolds and Coleman Blewett. They were not encored.

A trio of gentlemen who declared that they had not been fined during the past year, Jack Dewart, Walter Kidd and G. F. Liddle, were "crowned" as angels by Jack Marshall, and then a quartette, Tom Mark, Charlie Lapp, W. Merrell and Frank Dawson, who were described as representing the "truth" in regard to lack of fines during the year, were summoned and taxed two bits apiece. Frank Dawson and Jack Craig were fined for being elected to the Board of Education and John Turner paid a levy for making a pun during his two minute speech. With John Allen in the chair, the member having the largest family, Carl McLean, imposed fines on the tow bachelors, Isaac McNabb and Charlie Elliott.

Prizes from the booster of the dinner, John Turner, were won by Mrs. Ev Taylor, Mrs. Jack McKone and Mrs. Coleman Blewett.

A serious questionaire, designed to reveal the amount of information as to Kiwanis inner workings, as possessed by the members, was handed around and the answers to the various questions written down.

With Past President Jack Marshall as Master of Ceremonies, assisted by Past Presidents Jack McKone, Charlie Cook and Jack Craig, the ceremony of installation of new officers was then carried out.

Speaking of the reputation for community service won by the Kiwanis Club of this city, and of the privilege conferred on the members by inclusion on its roll, Past President Marshall said that the society aimed to secure men as officers who stood four-square with the world, who were outstanding in the community and who lived up to the principles of the organization.

"I feel that we are going to instal to-day," he said, "a president who ranks higher than any we have had before, one who has won his spurs by the work he has done."

Accompanied by a few brief words by the retiring president, Mr. John was then presented with the president's pin by Isaac McNabb, and the ceremony was greeted by three cheers and a tiger.

In reply, President John spoke of his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him and of the confidence placed in him.

"The Kiwanis Club has attained a high place in Peterborough," he said, and during my year in office it shall be my constant aim to live up to its traditions. With this honor comes a sense of deep responsibility, but, with a loyal membership, and a faithful board of officers and directors, with the assistance of those who have brought the ship safely into harbor after another year of effort, with these forces working in harmony and unity, let us press on to greater endeavor, carrying the standard of Kiwanis during 1928 to fresh records of accomplishment and achievement."

Referring to the dignity and honor with which the office of president had been invested during the year by the retiring officer, Isaac McNabb, Past President Marshall asked President John to present the Past President's pin, the newly-elected head of the club doing this with a brief reference to the manner in which Mr. McNabb had given of his time and talents freely and willingly during the twelvemonth just ended, these things being done "that others might live in greater peace and contentment. May success in the future be yours and with the gratitude of the Kiwanis Club I now present you with this Past President's emblem."

In reply, Past President McNabb spoke of the natural regret with which he relinquished the gavel of office and alluded to the loyal cooperation given him by the members throughout the past year and the harmonious and friendly relations which had prevailed. He spoke of the manner in which Mrs. John Allen, as wife of the vice-president, had carried out the duties of first lady of the club, and concluded by presenting Mrs. Allen and Mrs. J. John with handsome bouquets of red roses.

In turn, the several officers were then installed. Past President Jack McKone doing the honors for Vice-President John Turner, Past President Craig officiating for the District Trustee, Harry Huffman, and Past President Charlie Cook making the address, in his own inimitable fashion, to Treasurer Harry Boyle. Partially humorous and also serious in vein were these addresses to the various office-holders, all of whom responded in suitable terms.

John Turner submitted a beautifully-typed report, done on heavy blue paper and tied with a dainty white ribbon, purporting to be signed by Mayor Denne and to be written by the Institute of Research, claiming that he was not strong enough to bear up under the strain of the duties of vice-president, but this was disregarded. Harry Huffman, to prove just how clever he was, was blindfolded and subjected to a test exposing his acquaintance with various types of wood, an episode that included a surprised and indignant grey kitten in its unfolding, but he came through with flying colors, and finally, the officers were declared duly installed, when the directors were summoned and inducted into office, by Past President McNabb. Directors present were Jack Dewart, Ev Taylor, William Merrell and Verne Morphet. The absent directors were Dr. Frank Neal, A. J. Reynolds and Mark Bredin. In his address to the directors, Past President McNabb asked particularly for the quality of initiative in carrying out their ideas.

The service of installation concluded with a very impressive and sincere dedicatory prayer by Rev. Douglas Paterson, asking for guidance and inspiration during the coming year.

The gavel was then turned over to President John, who expressed his thanks to the various officers for their assistance in carrying out the ceremony. John Turner then voiced the desires of the ladies, in expressing their appreciation of the efforts of Past President McNabb, and their wish to present him with a tangible token of their esteem. This was done, in the form of a miniature "Hope Chest" for the bachelor ex-president, who cordially acknowledged the interest of the ladies in his welfare.

A program of dancing and card games concluded the entertainment of the evening. Prizes for cards were won by Mrs. W. Oke and John Allen, the consolation prize going to John R. Heron.

Visitors last night were Mr. and Mrs. B. Ottewell, with Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Paterson, Mr. and Mrs. J. McArthur of Renfrew, with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Marshall, Mrs. Doll, Senior, of Toronto, with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Turner, and Miss Adeline Doris, with Mr. and Mrs. William Merrell.

SUDDEN RISE OF THAMES

ies lived. The toll included four children who were trapped while asleep in the basement kitchen of a house on Grosvenor Road. Three women were drowned in basements in the Hammersmith and Putney districts. Thomas Haggison, a nightwatchman at the Tate gallery, was another victim.

The underground railway power houses were flooded and only a restricted train service was possible, which delayed London's settling down to work this morning.

Many Narrow Escapes.

Thrilling and tragic stories of narrow escapes were received from all districts running from the Thames estuary to Teddington where the Thames lock system begins. The basements and ground floors in thousands of houses were flooded by the sudden rush of waters which swept over the Thames banks. The most pathetic story was the drowning of four sisters named Harding. They were daughters of a workman whose eight children were trapped by the rush of water. Harding heroically saved four of his children but the others were drowned before he could reach them. Maddened with grief and temporarily out of his mind he watched the police and the firemen take the bodies to the mortuary.

More Floods Possible.

The port of London authorities issued a warning this afternoon that a repetition of to-day's devasting Thames flood is possible during the next few days The tides will be of increasing height until Tuesday and as storms are forecast and as flood conditions from Christmas snow prevail in the Thames valley the danger to London continues. The danger was past for to-day when the ebb tide began at 1.35 p.m. The river was then a foot above normal. The next high tide is at 2.18 o'clock tomorrow morning.

ing country, reflects great credit on this department.

"The same applies to our Exide battery and service, of which I have heard many favorable comments. Also our upholstering work, top repairs, cushions, side curtains, slip covers and so forth.

"'Snappy Service' Filling Station is a new venture on our part that has not as yet had a fair trial, owing to interruptions in our building program and our recent fire, yet I believe our customers are well satisfied with the service rendered, which will shortly be materially improved.

"Our accessory, tire and parts department is complete in every detail, and judging from the increase in business during the year speaks for itself, and with the advent of the famous Sieberling tire is due for greater increase during the present year.

Recreation Academy.
"During the year, as you know, our Recreation Academy underwent extensive changes which entailed very much work causing considerable inconvenience to all our other efforts, but now that it is completed, fully equipped, and going, it is a great satisfaction to all of us, and I am pleased to be able to state that it seems to be meeting with the general appreciation of the many splendid people who are enjoying the very healthful, fascinating pleasure and exercise.

"Yesterday we were honored with a visit from Mr. Tothill, the official representative of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company of Canada, bowling alley manufacturers, who said that he has visited every centre from Moncton, Nova Scotia, to Vancouver, B.C., and stated that Peterborough has the finest, best equipped and ventilated recreation academy in all Canada. He further stated that it was unique in lay-out and appointments, and for these reasons would be universally used in their national and international advertising. Instructions have been given to the Roy Studio to furnish them with both interior and exterior photographs.

Accounting Department.
"Our accounting department, which is always of outstanding importance in every large business, was never more efficient or satisfactory than it is at the present time, thanks to the young ladies who have honored us with their presence here this evening.

"Now that we are all set, equipped, and ready to go into a new year's business, I am going to ask your kind co-operation, even in a greater measure than in the past, believing that it will work out to our mutual advantage and increased satisfaction to our many customers who after all are the mainstay of any business.

"Remember that satisfaction to the customer is of first importance. It is essential to our success and your employment.

"Customers should be considered as partners in any business; consequently, my request is that you treat them as such. Always be considerate, courteous, kind, patient, obliging, and efficient—remembering that your attitude should be that the customer is "always right." If you do this, we will always have a beaten path to our doors, and you will have steady employment."

L. J. Walsh.
Mr. Walsh, who is sales promotion manager of Canada for the Willys-Overland Motor Company, was an interesting personality met at the dinner last evening. He was called upon for an address, and in responding, stated that he would try to give some idea in the advancement in manufacture, and sales promotion of the Whippet car since it was placed on the market.

He stated that the Whippet has established many endurance records, and went on to enlarge upon the nature of these records, the facts that they had established regarding fuel consumption, mileage, etc. His address, brief as it was, was illustrated with moving pictures of the plant in which the Whippet car is made, and he concluded by urging a closer co-operation between manufacturer, dealer, and staff.

H. T. Terry.
The district representative for the Willys-Knight Company, H. T. Terry, was an interested member of the gathering, and he, too, was called upon. He voiced his appreciation of the hospitality of Mr. Duffus, and hoped that the genuine spirit of co-operation that had existed in the past would continue, and that the Duffus firm and its staff might enjoy a more prosperous year in 1928 than ever in its history.

S. L. Allen.
Mr. Allen, who is the district representative for Whippet cars, enlarged upon the possibilities of the car of his choice, dwelt upon its many fine features, and spoke of the cut in prices, made possible by several contributing factors—increased sales being one of them. He concluded by expressing his best wishes for a prosperous year in the life of J. J. Duffus Company, Limited.

Other members of the staff voiced appreciation of the hospitality of Mr. Duffus before the gathering dispersed.

Nickel Dominates Active Toronto Trading

TORONTO, Jan. 7. — (Canadian Press.)—International Nickel was the dominating stock in the hectic Toronto sotck exchange this morning. It touched 92 7-8 and at the close of 91 was still 1⅝ better than yesterday. Christie Brown had the richest gain in a generally firm list, 7½ points at 107. All five Canadian Canners issues were listed to-day and the active leader was the new second preferred. It closed at 34¾. The old common gained three at 135, but the old preferred lost two at 10. Canadan Oil and Dominion Stores with four point gains were other features.

Crop Prospects Poor; Wheat Prices Rise

CHICAGO, Jan. 7 (Canadian Press).—Wheat values averaged a little higher early today, influenced by unfavorable advices regarding domestic Winter crop prospects. It was also reported that considerable wheat is to be loaded out of storage here for European shipment from New Orleans. Starting unchanged to ½c higher, wheat scored slight general gains. Corn and oats were easy, corn opening at a shade decline to ¼c advance, but lated receding to below yesterday's finish. Provisions tended upward.

Opening prices were Wheat, March 130⅛, May 131½. Corn, March 87⅝, May 90⅞. Oats, March 63⅛, May 55¼.

Howey Gold's Gains Features Mine Market

TORONTO, Jan. 7 (Canadian Press).—A climb of sixteen points in Howey Gold at 181 was the feature of trading on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning. Howey was the active leader of the list. Crown Reserve gained three at 64 and Mining Corporation was another firm spot, advancing 15 at 4.50. Sudbury Basin at 13.80 was twenty cents higher. The general list, however, showed little change in lighter trading. Bidgood eased two points at 115 and Amity Copper, Laval Quebec, and Noranda were slightly lower.

FAIR BOARD TO SEE HON. MR. MARTIN

His Worship Mayor Denne, president of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, has arranged an appointment with Hon. Mr. Martin, Minister of Agriculture, in Toronto, on Thursday next, whereby he will receive a deputation from the Exhibition Board to discuss with them certain important matters pertaining to the Peterborough Fair.

President Denne is anxious that a large representation of directors be in attendance at this conference with the Minister, and he would like all those who can make the trip to see him during the week so that special rates can be obtained.

SCOTT MALCOLM DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

The special attraction offered by the Women's Music Club at their concert, held last evening in the hall of the Conservatory of Music, was the visit to the city for the occasion of Scott Malcolm of Toronto, whose pianoforte playing was received with much interest and appreciation by his audience.

Mr. Malcolm's program, of an ambitious character, ranged from the works of the modern composers to those of Beethoven and Schumann. He exemplified, in his rendition of varied selections, an exceptionally fine technical ability and a marvellous memory, his offerings being played throughout, without the use of a score. His manner was pleasing and unaffected, and he had a manifest earnest appreciation of the demands of differing types of music. An impression of youth added to the interest of his work.

Mr. Malcolm made his own annotations throughout his program, giving a descriptive idea of the character of the selections. His first group included a Bach-Burmeister arrangement, "Rondo Gavotte," also two numbers by Beethoven, "Andante in F," which he said was considered as Beethoven's most beautiful composition, and the "German Dance," discovered after the master's death. The Beethoven selections demonstrated a beautiful appealing melody in the "Andante," and a wonderful degree of technical proficiency in the "Dance."

A very difficult and exacting number was Chopin's Sonate in B Minor, opus 58, with the Allegro Maestose, the Scherzo, the Largo and the Finale beautifully interpreted.

Schumann's "Etude Symphonique" was a splendid piece of work, with the opening rich, heavy chords strongly marked, merging later into a staccato, crisp treble with a prominent bass.

Several of the moderns had their place in the last group of piano numbers, including Ravel's "Jeux d'Eau," sparkling, dainty, light, Rachmaninoff's "Serenade," a Russian interpretation of a Spanish dance, and the lovely, familiar Kreisler - Rachmaninoff number, "Liebesfreud (Love's Joy). An encore of odd, humorous calibre was descriptive in type, entitled "A Rush Hour in Hong Kong," simulating the busy throng in a Chinese thoroughfare, and written by Chassin, a pupil of Hoffman.

With accompaniments played by Miss Mary Agnes Logan, Miss Daisy Murray sang in excellent voice two attractive numbers: "The Seraglio's Garden" and "Ritorna Vincitor" from "Aida."

Obituary

MRS. T. J. COLLINS.
The death occurred at half past eleven o'clock last night, at her residence at 474 Park street, of Agnes Collins, wife of Thomas J. Collins and daughter of Mr. Patrick V. Delaire and the late Mrs. Delaire. The deceased, who was a native of the city and had resided here all her life, had been ill for some years past and her death was not unexpeteed. She was an affectionate wife and mother, an exemplary member of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral, and possessed a host of friends in the city, who remember her as a genial and wholesome personality, resigned in recent years to the disabilities of a lingering and painful illness.

Survivors are her father, her husband, five small children, one brother, Mr. A. J. Delaire of Rochester, N.Y., and four sisters, Mrs. N. E. Phelan of Peterborough, Mrs. C. Lacombe and Miss Geraldine Delaire, of Syracuse, N.Y., and Miss Corinne, at home.

The funeral will take place at nine o'clock on Monday morning from St. Peter's Cathedral to St. Peter's cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM.
SOWDEN. — In loving memory of Clifford Sowden, who died January 7th, 1920.
Not dead to those who love him,
Not lost, but gone before,
He lives with us in memory,
And will for evermore.

Salvation Army Aids in Relief Work For Flood Sufferers.

DANGER NOT PASSED.

Press in Controversy as to What Body Responsible For Disaster.

LONDON, Jan. 9 (A.P.)—The surging waters of the angry Thames seriously menaced Westminster again yesterday afternoon at high tide, but the vigilance of an army of workmen averted serious damage.

Sufficient water seeped through the sandbag barrier at the break in the river wall in front of the Tate Gallery to reach the curb, but prompt reinforcements prevented a repetition of Saturday's disaster when art treasures to the value of millions of pounds sterling were ruined. The Tate Gallery is the national gallery of British art.

The Salvation Army Band, which played all the afternoon at the corner of the Tate Gallery to collect funds for the flood sufferers, conducted a thanksgiving service when it was announced by officials that the danger for the day had been safely met and another threatening situation would not make its appearance before high tide early this morning. The army has a large barracks near the scene which has been the relief centre for flood victims since the first break in the river spread terror in the heart of London and caused the death of fourteen persons. No additional deaths had been reported yesterday.

Aid in Work

Salvation Army women have been serving hot food and drinks day and night to the thousands of men fighting the encroaching waters and have also been caring for the distressed families driven from their basement homes by the muddy torrent.

The flooded area of Westminster was roped off yesterday to guard against disaster should the sandbag barrier fail to hold, but hundreds of thousands of people of all classes approached as near as possible and the Westminster and Vauxhall bridges were black with humanity watching the heroic efforts of the workmen to keep the Thames to its course. A slight and favorable wind materially aided in accomplishing this result

Uneasiness Felt

The port of London authority has issued a warning that all tides will increase until Tuesday, therefore great uneasiness exists in all quarters until that day is safely passed. The weather bureau reported the Thames slightly falling at the locks immediately above London and predicted no higher marks along the London waterfront from that source. A possible storm in the North Sea that would aggravate the tide and unfavorable winds, however, was feared.

In Controversy

A hot controversy is raging in the London newspapers as to what body is responsible for the disaster which cost so many lives and such enormous damage and suffering among the tenement dwellers. The Thames Conservancy Board has disclaimed responsibility. The London County Council members likewise declare that body is not responsible for that section of the Embankment wall which gave way. Frank Briant and J. M. Erskine, respectively members of the Commons from North Lambert and Westminster, expect to raise the question in Parliament today.

Pictures Destroyed

LONDON, Jan. 9 (Canadian Press) —The havoc wrought by the inundation of Tate Gallery, which, situated on the Thames Embankment, does for modern British art what the National Gallery in Trafalgar Square does for the art of past ages, will be among the regrettable episodes of the Thames overflow.

The basement of the building contains eight galleries of framed pictures, mostly water colors, the modern foreign gallery, and thousands of unframed pictures and drawings. The building, which was opened in 1897 and enlarged in 1899, was extended in 1910 by the addition of the Turner wing, presented by Sir Joseph Duveen. In this wing is the Turner Bequest, consisting of 100 finished paintings, 182 unfinished paintings and more than 19,000 drawings and sketches bequeathed by the great painter, J. M. W. Turner, who died in 1851. There is also a loan collection of Rowlandson drawings.

The whole basement was suddenly flooded, and the water was ten feet deep in the rooms. Throughout Saturday, firemen were pumping, and the entire staff in rubber wading clothes were busily engaged in salvaging the pictures. It is impossible to estimate the extent of the damage, but a great number have been irretrievably ruined.

Tide Subsides Again

LONDON, Jan. 9 (Canadian Press).—As the tides ebbed and flowed without recurrence of disaster, London today dared to hope the anger of the Thames had subsided. The army of workmen who fought to

Bids Farewell To Canadian Cardinal

ROME, Italy, Jan. 9 (Canadian Press Cable, via Reuter's).—Pope Pius Saturday gave a farewell audience to Cardinal Raymond Rouleau, who is returning to Quebec. He entrusted the new Cardinal to convey his fatherly good wishes and apostolic benediction to the Pope's beloved children in Canada," who he said, were so dear to his heart.

At the last moment in bidding farewell to Cardinal Rouleau, who is Archbishop of Quebec, and who recently received the red hat, the Pope concluded: "Au Revoir a Bientot."

POULTRY COOPS BEING PLACED

Preparations Made For Opening of Poultry Show To-mororw.

BIRDS IN TO-NIGHT.

The Market Hall is the scene of much activity, as George Paxman, superintendent of the Poultry Show (which starts to-morrow), and his staff of helpers, started Saturday afternoon to place the coops in position for the reception of the birds.

It is expected a large number of birds will arrive to-night on the evening trains. The remainder will be in to-morrow morning, and the judging will start to-morrow (Tuesday) afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The show will continue from then on until Thursday night. Provisions have been made to have the hall well lighted and well heated, and everything is being done to accommodate the large crowds which will be expected, not only from the city, but from the farming community as well.

ROTARIANS ARE ENTERTAINED BY JACK PRIMEAU

Enjoyable Session is Featured By Clever Stories and Monologue.

PREMIER COMING.

Hon. G. H. Ferguson is Likely To Address Club Next Week.

Rotarian Jack Primeau provided the entertainment at to-day's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club and the session was one of the brightest and most enjoyable in some time.

Rotarian Primeau, who incidentally was warmly congratulated upon the arrival in his family of another little stranger is widely known for his ability as an entertainer, and he was in his best vein to-day, as he told half a dozen witty stories in inimitable fashion and then delivered a negro monologue in which he portrayed the sermon delivered by a darkey parson to a suspicious congregation.

An encore was insisted upon and Rotarian Primeau told his fellow-Rotarians about the adventure of the three travellers, the book salesman and the bandit, a travesty that was thoroughly appreciated.

President Killaly called the attention of the club members to the meeting of the Toronto Club on Friday night, when the president of Rotary International will give an address.

It is expected that at next week's meeting of the Peterborough club, which will likely be held on Tuesday, that Premier G. Howard Ferguson will be the speaker.

Board Will Resume Sessions On Tuesday

OTTAWA, Jan. 9. Canadian Press. — With its work still incomplete, the National Committee on St. Lawrence Waterways adjourned over the week-end. Business engagements make it impossible for the members of the committee to get together to-day but the conference will be resumed on Tuesday. Hon. Walter Foster, chairman of the committee, will remain in Ottawa. It is now suggested that the recommendations of the committee may not be made public before parliament meets.

WOULD FOLLOW AMERICAN PLAN

Overseas Settlement Committee Would Populate Canadian West With Soldiers.

TRAINING FOR PART.

LONDON, January 9 (Canadian Press). — A plan, formulated after that of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, and other American revolutionary chiefs in 1783, to populate the great West with members of the disbanded revolutionary army, is the latest proposal of the Overseas Settlement Committee on the departure on Saturday of E. T. Crutchley, financial adviser of the committee.

The Overseas Committee discloses that hundreds of soldiers on their last few months of service arre being trained at Chialedon, Wiltshire, in modern methods of farming, and will be sent to Canada in May to till and cultivate large areas of fertile land. They will be considered Army Reservists, and for the next five years are guaranteed constant work. The soldiers will not be scattered at random, but will be grouped in fifties at Calgary, Prince Albert, Regina, Toronto, Edmonton, Saskatoon, and Winnipeg. None, however, will be send to British Columbia, where the mild Pacific Coast climate already has attracted a vast number of settlers.

Mr. Crutchley will meet Lieut.-Col. L. C. Amery, Secretary of State for the Dominions, regarding development of the proposal. The War Office is co-operating to fulfill the new plans.

The use of ex-soldiers as settlers is expected to obviate the greatest difficulty besetting overseas settlement—that of finding physically fit candidates. There are plenty of applicants, but few are physically fit to withstand the hard work. A recent report revealed that out of 300 applicants only 37 attained the required physical standard.

Two Prisoners Killed In Break For Liberty

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 9.—(Canadian Press.)—An alleged attempt to escape from an officer who was taking three men to jail yesterday led to the death of two of the prisoners, the probable fatal injury of the officer. The third prisoner is being held and will be charged with manslaughter if the officer's injuries prove fatal.

The dead: Earl O'Brien, 55, London, William Baker, 32, London.

Marshal Sherman Beathard is suffering a fractured skull and severe body injuries.

Beathard arrested O'Brien, Baker and William Sheley, on a charge of intoxication and was taking them to jail. Witnesses said the officer was driving the trio in his automobile when Seeley struck him on the head with an iron bar. The machine crashed into a Pennsylvania passenger train, killing two of the men and seriously injuring Beathard.

The Weather

A year ago this morning people on their way to work were to be seen protecting their noses and ears from the biting cold that prevailed. It was 16 degrees below zero. This morning it was but one degree below the freezing point. Yesterday the temperature was up to 50 degrees, and did not go below 30. It may not be generally known, but exactly 50 years ago we had an exceptionally mild winter. The winter of 1877-78 in this district, and practically in all parts of Ontario, and Canada generally, was the most open winter ever known. Old residents have told me that plowing was possible, and in some cases was actually done, in Smith township, in December January, February and March. This does not mean continuously, but at intervals, during these winter months. On Christmas day of 1877, there was an excursion down the river by one of Calcutt's line of steamers, and no later than Saturday I met a man who said he was one of the excursionists, and he remembered the occasion well. An old diary which I had a look over says Dec. 28 was "like a summer day." There is a record of a cricket match being played on Dec. 28th. Apparently, this was in Brantford. Some snow fell after the New Year, and there was some sleighing (the first) on Jan. 4. The snow did not stay long, and wheels were in use during most of the so-called winter. I have a promise from Mr. F. H. Dobbin that he will write a little story of this remarkable winter from his own personal remembrance, and from his storehouse of historical data of which he has an abundant supply.—W. P.

Because of the prevailing superstition regarding the number 13, all No. 13 berths on sleeping cars of an English railroad will be numbered 14-A.

WHEN THAMES OVERFLOWED ITS BANKS

Old London from Canning Town in the east to Hammersmith in the west, for a large distance on both sides of the Thames was under water when the river overflowed its banks. Intense suffering was entailed in the crowded poorer sections in the east end, while many famous buildings suc has the Tower of London and Lambeth Palace were inundated. In the above photo a section of the flooded area is shown. In the foreground is tower bridge leading to the Tower of London where soldiers were mustered to guard the crown jewels. Beyond the bend in the river is the Victoria embankment over which the water poured like a waterfall.

WAR'S ALARMS ARE RECALLED

Custodians of Public Buildings Called Out When Flood Threatened.

PAINTINGS CAN BE SAVED.

LONDON, January 9 (Canadian Press).—Saturday's flood in London brought vivid memories of war experiences to many men holding responsible positions in connection with public buildings. For example, Charles Aitken, director of the Tate Gallery, was roused in the night at his suburban home and warned that the art building of which he is custodian, was being endangered by the flood, just as he and others were roused when hostile aircraft approached London in the war.

Earlier estimates of damage done at the Tate Gallery seem to have been exaggerated. The works of J. Turner (1775-1851) most affected by water are merely sketchy outlines. A dozen Landseer paintings in the Tate Gallery have been badly damaged by the flood, but the modern method of drying pictures is already proving efficient on the affected works of the noted English painter of dogs. Landseer was born in 1802 and died in 1873.

MRS. BROWN COLLAPSES.

Mother of Ruth Snyder Overcome in Warden's Office at Sing Sing.

OSSINING, N.Y., January 9 (Canadian Press). — Mrs. Josephine Brown, aged mother of Mrs. Ruth Snyder, collapsed in the office of Warden Lawes at Sing Sing Prison to-day while she was waiting to be admitted to the death house to visit her daughter. She was quickly revived. Mrs. Brown's collapse was attributed to general nervous strain, steadily increasing as Thursday night approaches, the night when Mrs. Snyder and Henry Judd Gray are to be electrocuted for the murder of the woman's husband.

Children Sleep Through Wreck

PONTARDAWE, Wales, Jan. 9. —Canadian Press. — Three sound sleepers live in this little Glamorganshire village in a house that had been smashed to pieces. They are children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jenkins. When a 10 ton boulder speeding down a 150 foot hill crashed into the house, and bounded through the bathroom and kitchen the three children continued to dream. They did not awake until their parents and seevn other children rushed in expecting to find them dead. The house was completely wrecked. No one was hurt.

Four Skiers Killed In Snow Avalanches

BREGENZ, Austria, Jan. 9.—(Canadian Press.) — Two avalanches in the Vorariberg district, former Austrian crown land, have resulted in the death of four skiers.

The first, on the Euerser See, buried three skiers, Hermann Craemer, an engineer, his wife, Clara, and Hans Rein, a business man. The second occurred near Cabag Ulmer, where three skiers were buried, and two of them rescued.

The third, Joseph Gregel, a merchant of Meran, was killed and his body had not been recovered last night.

TWO EXECUTED FOR KILLINGS

Pennsylvania Men Pay Penalty For Murder This Morning.

BOTH SEEM BRAVE.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Jan. 9. — Canadian Press. — Raymond Winter of Alleghany county, and William Meyers, of Philadephia, paid the death penalty for murder to-day at the Rockview penitentiary.

Winter preceded Meyer to the chair Both carried pictures of their relatives into the death cells and held them until strapped in the electric chair. Both seemed brave in the face of death and Winter protested his innocence until the last.

Winter was executed for the slaying of Helen and Alex. Sabo, two children found with fractured skulls in a creek. The killing of William Slook, a Philadelphia policeman, sent Meyers to the chair.

Around the City

The city had a clean record so far as Sunday fires were concerned. The fire brigade enjoyed a week end of uninterrupted calm.

J. Kennett, 15 Hilliard street, who is very a adept craftsman in work involving fine penmanship, has just completed the lettering on a small brass plate which will be placed on a pulpit desk given some time ago by the Kiwanis Club to the chapel of the Boys' Farm at Bowmanville. The lettering, done in plain style, and finely engraved, is on a surface four by three and one half inches in diameter and is inscribed "The gift of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club, 1927."

At a meeting of the Brotherhood, held in the auditorium of St. James' church on Sunday afternoon, W. R. Morris gave a very interesting talk on his recent trip to Europe, which was enjoyed very much by the splendid body of men present.

TWO KILLED IN TROLLEY CRASH

Car Fails To Make Turn at Bottom of Steep Hill.

AT BALLSTON, N.Y.

BALLSTON, N.Y., Jan. 9 (Canadian Press).—Two persons were killed and three seriously injured early to-day when a trolley car failed to make a right angle turn, crashed into a tree, and continued into the ditch. The car was entering the village of Ballston from Schenectady and, coming down a steep grade, failed to make the turn.

21ST HONORS OLD COMRADES

Memorial Will Be Unveiled To-morrow Evening at Armouries.

PUBLIC SERVICE.

On Tuesday evening, January 10th, at 8 o'clock at the Armouries, there will be unveiled the memorial to the Officers, N.C.O.'s and Men of the famous 21st Battalion who fell in the Great War. Every ex-21st man resident in Peterborough will attend to pay his homage to his comrades he left "over there." From the East, from Cornwall and Ottawa, and from Hamilton in the West will come contingents of 21st men. From Kingston, Belleville, Brighton, Trenton, Cobourg, and from every town along the front they will come to pay their respects to their departed comrades.

The bereaved relatives of those of the 21st who died are earnestly invited to be present, and special seats near the platform will be reserved for them.

Every ex-service man, and the public in general are invited to attend.

Entrance to the Armouries will be by way of the Murray Street entrance only.

The singing will be accompanied by the 57th Band, while All Saints Choir will lead. The Machine Gun Pipe Band will play the Lament "Flowers of the Forest."

The 2-st Battalion Clubs takes this opportunity of thanking the 57th Chapter of the I.O.D.E. for their valued help and co-operation.

Stanley Lowe and Harry C. Huffman To Fill Vacancies

Runners-up in 1928 Race Named To-day To Succeed J. O. Fife and Mayor Denne in Council Seats—Former Mayors Give Addresses at Inaugural.

STANDING COMMITTEES FORMED; CHAIRMEN RE-APPOINTED TO OFFICE

Ald. Phelan Heads Finance, Ald. Stocker Works, Ald. Green Parks, Ald. Cotton Fire, Ald. Macdonald Legal, Ald. Ackerman Property and Ald. McIntyre Manufacturers.

Peterborough's 1928 Council got off to a flying start at the inaugural meeting this morning. Stanley A. Lowe and Harry C. Huffman were appointed to the two vacancies on the aldermanic board caused by the resignations of Aldermen J. O. Fife and R. Denne. The two appointees were the sixth and seventh choice of the electorate of this city at the recent municipal elections.

Ex-Mayors Dr. W. T. Holloway, J. J. Turner and W. H. Bradburn M.P.P., were present and delivered short addresses to the new Council, in which they asked consideration of this year's Council of some of the needs of this city.

Various committees and their chairmen were appointed after the inaugural meeting, when the Council was in committee of the whole with His Worship Mayor Denne in the chair. The chairmen and committees appointed were:

Board of Works—Alderman W. Stocker (candles), and the whole Council.

Fire, Water and Light—Alderman R. S. Cotton (chairman) and Aldermen Greene, Phelan, McIntyre, Stocker, Macdonald and Lowe.

Manufacturers' — Ald. McIntyre (chairman) and Aldermen Stocker, Phelan, Cotton, Macdonald and Hamilton.

Finance.—Ald. N. Phelan (chairman), and the whole Council.

Property—Ald. C. H. Ackerman (chairman) and Alderman Huffman, McIntyre, Phelan, Greene, and Stocker

Legal and Reception—Ald. Macdonald (chairman) and Alderman McIntyre, Hamilton, Ackerman, Phelan, and Cotton.

Railways and Parks—Ald. J. M. Green (chairman) and Aldermen Hamilton, Lowe, Cotton, McIntyre, Phelan and Stocker.

Claims Committee— Ald. Macdonald (chairman), S. R. Armstrong, Frank Adams.

Mayor Denne is a member of all committees.

Former Mayors Speak

When the Council met three chairs were vacant as the new men had not been appointed and Alderman-elect Ackerman was out of the city. His Worship Mayor Denne called upon ex-Mayor Holloway to address the new Council. Dr. Holloway wished the new Council every success during 1928 and thanked Mayor Denne and the members of the old Council for their co-operation with him during his two years in office. He spoke favorably of the two-year term for aldermen and thought that the large number of candidates on the ballot at the recent municipal elections spoke well for the Council, as the electors were taking an interest in the affairs of the city.

"The City of Peterborough has the fourth lowest power rate of any city in the province and this is why Peterborough was not as active as some of the other municipalities in the Eastern Ontario Power Association. Mayor Denne is sincere and has at heart everything that is in

LABOR WANTS MANY CHANGES

Legislative Program Includes Curtailment of Senate Veto Powers.

LAID BEFORE CABINET.

OTTAWA, Jan. 9. — Canadian Press. — The legislative program of Canadian Labor was laid before the government to-day. Through Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, P. M. Draper, secretary of the organization and members of the accompanying Labor delegation, the government was appraised of the subjects upon which Labor requests legislative action: Curtailment of the veto power of the Senate, re-enactment of the Technical Education Act, which expires at the end of next March, amendments to the immigration act, application of the eight hour day provisions of the Washington conference in so far as the government is able to do so; amendments to the British North American Act, and also to the criminal code, were among the requests of the delegation.

Consideration by the government of the program of Labor legislation presented to the Cabinet, was promised by Premier Mackenzie King. The Prime Minister complimented Mr. Moore on the "splendid manner in which the Trades and Labor Congress had cooperated in the past with the government," and declared that one could not but be filled with admiration at the way in which the delegation had presented its program. The representations made would be helpful. He expressed his appreciation to the congress for the part it played in maintaining good relations in industry.

FLOOD PASSES

Thames Rises Within Two Feet of Barricade This Afternoon.

LONDON, January 9 (Canadian Press).—Another Thames flood passed this afternoon without damage. Crowds again lined the Embankment and bridges to watch the river. The water rose to within two feet of the top of the sand bag barricade in the Grosvenor Road district.

EXPLORERS BATTLE DEATH AMONG LABRADOR REEFS

Schooner Ariel, Driven By Gale Towards Treacherous Shoals.

FIGHT STORM 26 DAYS.

Adventurers Have Narrow Escape in Struggle With Angry Seas.

PROVINCEOWN, Mass., Jan. 9. — The first accurate account of the perils encountered by the six explorers on the schooner Ariel in the uncharted, gale-ridden waters near Cape Chidley has been brought back to civilization by Captain Richard Parmenter, thirty-three, who commanded the vessel which bore the Austin ornithological expedition off Labrador and in Hudson Strait.

Battle Sea 26 Days.

Contrary to garbled reports, Captain Parmenter said, the scientific programme had been completed and the company homeward bound while the Ariel encountered the worst Arctic storm in thirty-seven years.

In danger of being dashed to bits on reefs, the Ariel was beached deliberately on a desolate island, the commander said, and the crew was marooned twenty-four hours, facing the prospect of trying to row 200 miles in a tiny skiff for help.

By skilful seamanship, however, the Ariel was refloated and— crippled as she was—fought terrific weather for twenty-six days to reach port in Battle Harbor, 750 miles away.

Catpain Parmenter's own story follows:

"We sailed from Port Burwell August 19, encountered a terrific storm and beat into a cove near the eastern entrance to Grenfell Strait.

"The best anchor we had was let go at twenty fathoms, but we dragged nearly across the little bay in the driving gale very quickly.

"The motor was started, the vessel moved back to the lee of the land and was anchored in three fathoms with thirty fathoms of chain (all the chain we had). Within half an hour she had dragged again and the operation had to be repeated. Time after time we dragged and fought our way back across the bay. Then two anchors were put down.

"Trouble with the ignition developed and the wind increased to a force I never had seen before. The water of the bay was beaten to a white froth.

Anchors Let Go.

"About 4 o'clock, when we all had assembled in the galley for something hot, both anchors suddenly let go together. I succeeded in getting one aboard and the other at the hawser pipe when the motor quit cold. I was obliged to put the helm hard up to clear a small promontory where the stern struck twice as the vessel was blown by in the gale.

"We were driving straight for the maze of breaking reefs at the entrance to the cove. I know that if we got in among those reefs none of us would be alive an hour later, so I put the vessel on a shelf of rock at the mouth of the cove as gently as I could.

"The ship keeled to port and in her lee we launched our dinghy. The mate carried a line ashore and we saw the tide was dropping. Fearing the Ariel would break up at the next high water, if the gale continued, I landed a month's provisions and we pitched a tent.

"Our two boats, a sixteen foot dory and a little flat-bottomed skiff, were hauled 100 yards above high water mark, for if we could not refloat the Ariel they were our only hope of rescue.

"As night came on the wind increased. A pretty clear picture of how hard it was blowing is given by the fact that our heavy sixteen-foot dory was picked up, blown over a hill without touching it and then dropped and smashed. I shall never forget the sight of that dory flying through the darkened sky and dashing itself and our hopes to bits. Temperature was thirty-five degrees and there was a driving sleet.

Vessel Is Damaged.

"At midnight the mate and I returned to the Ariel.

"We had run out stern lines to some rocks to prevent our being driven further up at the next high water.

"We passed a bad night on the cabin floor, inclined at 30 degrees, listening to the vessel's timbers creak from the terrific strain of the wind on the masts. The deck beams buckled so a space large enough to put one's hand through appeared at the top of the main transverse bulkhead. Several times we scrambled up the companionway, fearing the vessel was going to collapse like an eggshell. I debated cutting away the masts, but as our motor was out of order I did not dare risk leaving us without motive power.

"Fortunately the gale died as suddenly as it had come and morning dawned clear and warm, with only a gentle breeze, and the tide brought the Ariel upright. We immediately set to work to free her bilges of gasoline, get the galley stove going and have a hot meal.

Would Establish Air Base At Churchill

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 9. Canadian Press. — The establishment of an air base at Chuchill, Man., on the icy shores of Hudson Bay, is contemplated by the Royal Canadian air force, and it is said here indications are that it will be completed by the early spring. Present reports are that two airplanes will be placed at the new base to undertake similar work to those now being used at the Nottingham Island base in Hudson's Straits.

Since the establishment of the base at Nottingham Island, much valuable data concerning ice floes and other information of importance to navigation has been secured. Another base at Churchill would prove of great value, it is felt.

MORE BIRTHS DURING YEAR

Deaths Also Show Increase in Campbellford During 1927.

FEW MARRIAGES.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 9.—The vital statistics for Campbellford for the past year show an increase in the number of births and deaths and a decrease in the number of marriages. The figures for 1927 are: Births 70, marriages 18, deaths 51. Those for the year 1926 are: Births 65, marriages 31, and deaths 31.

WILL TAKE CHARGE OF TWO DESTROYERS

Commander Charles Beard, Senior Officer of Vessels, Loaned Dominion.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 9 (Canadian Press).—Commander Charles Heard has been appointed senior officer in charge of the two British destroyers being loaned the Dominion; pending the completion of two new vessels. Commander Heard left Saturday for England, where he will supervise the re-conditioning of the two destroyers under loan and will have complete charge when they are completed.

Officials of the naval branch, Department of National Defence, state delivery of the two destroyers is not expected until the end of March or until early the following month. The vessels are at present at Portsmouth and are to be re-conditioned during the spring cruise of the Atlantic fleet of the British Navy. The Canadian naval detachment from Halifax sent to England to man the vessels is to be allocated to the floor while the boats are being repaired.

A.Y.P.A. PRESENTS PLAY AT OMEMEE

"Clarence" Well Acted By Young People of Omemee Branch.

OMEMEE, Jan. 9.—In spite of below zero weather, on New Year's night Coronation Hall was well filled to enjoy the annual entertainment under A.Y.P.A. auspices. This year a comedy in four acts entitled "Clarence," by Booth Tarkington was the main feature of the programme, and in the selection of the characters a careful choice had been made, so that each was well fitted for the part. Special mention should be made of the two junior characters of the cast, Miss Lenore Jamieson and George Dickson, who starred in their first public appearance in dramatic work.

The story centres around a returned soldier who has no medals, no shoulder bars or great accomplishments to his credit. He is just an ordinary soldier, who somewhat philosophically fits into an agitated family group. The part was ably taken by Horace Hill. The cast of characters was as follows:

Mrs. Martyn: Mrs. E. Jamieson.
Mr. Wheeler: N. Burgomaster.
Mrs. Wheeler: Ethel Stephenson.
Bobby Wheeler: George Dickson.
Cora Wheeler: Lenore Jamieson.
Violet Pinney: Marion Dickson.
Clarence: Horace Hill.
Della: Mabel Rowan.
Dinwiddie: Jesse Chatten.
Hubert Stene: Harry Burgess.

The Hawaiian Glee Club, of Peterborough supplied the musical part of the program, and were very generous in their numbers which were heartily applauded and responded to by several encores.

At the conclusion of the program the cast of characters and the Glee Club were entertained at the home of Miss Irene Clemett.

The proceeds of the evening amounted to about $155.

Aged Lady Injured Struck By Street Car

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 9 (Canadian Press).—Mrs. William Little, aged 61 years, was fatally injured Saturday night when struck by a street car on Somerset Street, near her home. There were no eye-witnesses and it is not known how the accident occurred. The trolley motorman was first aware of the fatality when he left his car to adjust the car-fender, which automatically dropped as it struck the aged woman.

She died of a fractured skull while being rushed to hospital.

Few Radical Changes Noticed By Public in New Designs.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (United Press) The motor world has unveiled its 1928 creations and introduced them to the public as the greatest values in automobile history.

With the opening of the National Automobile show at Grand Central Palace here, the nation's motor car kings formally began a campaign of selling which promised to shatter endless records of completion.

No doubt existed as to where the competition would be hottest. It will be in the small car field, which, in the last week, has become the battleground of a long-awaited price war between four of America's greatest motor magnates.

Expect Price Slashing

Automobile men from all over the country were virtually unanimous Saturday in the prediction that before the end of 1928 the price-slashing feud would exceed in its sensation developments anything the industry has ever known.

The new year, they agreed, will be truly a memorable one for the small-salaried motorist.

Three Challengers

For almost three decades the man with a limited pocketbook waited for some one to challenge the supremacy of Ford. Then, in one sudden rush, there came not one challenger, but three. The fireworks have started, and more than a few of the thousands who attended the opening of the show Saturday predicted a long, grim war, with possible fatalities, for the four powerful competitors—Ford, Chevrolet, Whippet and Star.

Meanwhile, however, the immense crowds of manufacturers, dealers and motorists who gathered here contented themselves with their first inspection of the new models on display.

Change in Size

Generally speaking, the 1928 buyer of an automobile will get a smaller car in the high-priced class and a larger one in the low-priced group. The tendency, in other words, is toward making the wheelbase in inverse ratio to the price. Thus, the cars that once were big and unwieldy in traffice are becoming easier to handle, while the small ones are gaining a more imposing appearance.

As for the bodies, there were few radical changes, but the influence of the younger school of designers is readily apparent. In such simple items as lamps, doorhandles, bumpers and radiators there is a noticeable breaking away from the conventional year-in-year-out types. Some designs show the European influence.

WILL LEAVE FOR PANAMA TO-DAY

U. S. Good Will Flier To Visit Colombia and Venezuela.

GOOD FLYING WEATHER.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica Jan 9. — Canadian Press. — Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh plans to leave for Panama at two oclock this afternoon, but he did not know last night just where he would land.

A landing field has been in course of preparation at Panama City but the fier told the correspondents he was not sure that it was usable. An alternative field is handy on American soil in the canal zone. The trip to Panama will take between three and four hours.

The noted flier has decided to go to Colombia and Venezeula on this trip.

The lone eagle told correspondents his trip from Managua to San Jose yesterday was the best of his Central American tour as regards weather conditions respite a little rain at San Carlos and some cross winds. The most difficult hop, he said, was from Guatemala City to Belize, in British Hondurus.

INVENTOR ADAPTS DIESEL TO PLANE

Elmer A. Sperry Succeeds in Perfecting Engines of of This Type.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(Canadian Press).—Elmer A. Sperry, inventor of the gyroscope compass, announces that he has perfected an airplane engine on the Diesel principle. He said within a year he expected to have a motor of a thousand horsepower weighing two pounds per horsepower and consuming crude oil instead of gasoline, with a higher power development per gallon at one-fifth the fuel cost.

Adoption of the Diesel principle to aircraft, considered one of the surest steps to huge airliners, has been the problem of aeronautical engineering through the world. The Diesel motor differs from the ordinary gasoline engine in that there is no spark and that crude oil is used in place of gasoline, thus eliminating the fire hazard.

Art Neglected And Sold By English Is Treated Well In U.S., Says Expert

LONDON, January 9. — Sir Robert Witt, chairman of the National Art Collections Fund, following his return from the United States, regretfully assured English art lovers to-day that exported English art was finding better homes there than in England.

"Everywhere in the United States, from east to west and through the great middle west—a world of populous cities in itself —old friends greet one on every wall. But they are no longer neglected, unseen, dirty, ill-framed, as they have been here in so many cases—though not in the best houses. They seem to have found friends in this new world who value them even beyond the often fantastic prices which have been paid, and this, for most part, not to these same prices or only to circumstance is ascribable pride of possession, though both may sometimes have weight, but in growing measure to a recognition of an increasing need for beauty in a world of machinery and to that extraordinary, almost superstitious, admiration for the old which seems of necessity to come to birth in any new country.

"Two great traditions already are in the making. First, that works of art and love of them are necessary unto salvation, spiritual and mental. Second, that position and wealth have their responsibilities toward art, not so much, in deed, in terms—as in earlier years of Europe—of patronage of living painters (which will come later), but by securing the best of the oil paintings and presenting or bequeathing them to a city or State as the most perfect form of thanksgiving and leavetaking."

Among collections, both public and private, Witt found quality taking the place of quantity as a supreme test of art.

"In the case of private collections," he continued, "sons now are disposing of the evidences of blunders and inexperience of their fathers and replacing them by the best they have been able to find in their happy hunting throughout Europe."

CHILD SCALDED BADLY ON KNEE

Murray Stover, of Campbellford, Falls Into Pail in Father's Bakeshop.

SEVERE BURNS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 9.—Murray, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Stover, Canrobert street, is suffering from a severely scalded left knee as the result of an accident on Saturday morning. While playing in his father's bakery he fell into a bucket of boiling hot water. Medical aid was summoned, but it will be some time before the little chap is around again. Murray is a little more than three years of age. The accident happened shortly before nine o'clock Saturday morning.

THREE RUSSIANS SENTENCED TO DIE

Fifteen Were Convicted of Espionage By Revolutionary Tribunal.

LENINGRAD, Jan. 9. — Canadian Press — Fifteen Russian inhabitants of the teritory adjacent to the Russo Finnish frontier were convicted of espionage yesterday by the revolutionary tribunal, and three of them sentenced to death.

The defendants were charged with crossing the frontier and returning after they had communicated secret military information to counter-revolutionaries abroad and acted as messengers of the counter-revolutionaries in hiding in Russia.

Dunsford

DUNSFORD, Jan. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Thurston spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bell of Lindsay.

Mr. Delmar Robertson has returned to Pontiac, Michigan, having spent the past two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Carmichael, also her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Maiers, of Lindsay, spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Maiers.

Mrs. Melborne Thurston spent a few days last week with her mother, Mrs. Cole, of Toronto.

Messrs. Alex Kennedy and Gerald Detman of Kinmount spent a few days with Mr. Ernest Burgess.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Graham and little son, Earl, of Lindsay, spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. T. W. Thurston.

Mr. Sam Brien of Toronto spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brien.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Tompson spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russel, of Lindsay.

Mr. Burwell Kennedy of Woodbridge spent the past week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Kennedy.

Miss Isabel Devitt of Toronto spent the past week with her mother, Mrs. C. Devitt.

Mr. Harry Puffer of Lindsay was a business visitor to Dunsford on Friday last.

Miss Iva Robertson of Lindsay spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson.

Mr. Ronald Devitt of Bowmanville spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. Campbell Devitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Thurston spent a few days last week with their daughter, Mrs. Fred Wollard of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bell entertained a number of their friends at their home on Monday.

Mrs. N. N. Thurston and daughter are spending a couple of weeks with sister at Windsor, Ontario.

Mr. Laverne Mitchel of Detroit spent the past two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mitchel, of the Scotch Line.

Friends of Miss Mabel Padgett are pleased to hear she is recovering from her illness.

FIVE SEEKING WARDENSHIP

Keen Contest Likely Before United Counties Honor is Awarded.

ALL FROM EASTERN PART.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 9.—Now that the municipal elections are a thing of the past for another year the county politics are beginning to excite their full share of interest. In the opinion of many, the wardenship for 1928 belongs to this section of the United Counties, and it was understood that Deputy Reeve Davidson was going out strong for it. Dr. Hess of Hastings was also in the field but the village elections did not prove favorable to his plans.

But with one opponent thus automatically removed, another has cropped up to take his place. William S. Grills has announced his intention of contesting the honors and has already done a certain amount of electioneering on his own behalf. Both Mr. Grills and Mr. Davidson enjoy the popularity which is so essential to candidates for such positions. They will prove strong opponents each for the other and the chance of a warden being elected on the first or even second ballot is practically nil.

Nor are these two the only candidates for the chair. Reeve Nelson of Percy is in the field, as are also Reeve Frank Elliot of Murray and Reeve Jibb of Hamilton. The elected warden must have the majority of the entire Council, and, with five men to choose from and always the possibility of more showing up any time, the election for this year is likely to be a complicated and lengthy affair.

Springville

SPRINGVILLE, Jan. 7.—Miss Mildred Brown was the guest on Wednesday of Miss Jean Fairbairn.

Mr. and Mrs. William Whitfield visited on Friday with Mr. and Mrs. H. Cathcart, Cavan.

Rev. A. H. and Mrs. McConnachie were guests for tea on Friday of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Staples and family were the guests for Christmas Sunday at the home of Mrs. Staples' mother, Mrs. Armstrong.

Mr. Albert Jones spent Christmas visiting friends at the home of Mr. J. Morton.

Miss Jean Fairbairn entertained a number of friends at a social evening at her home last Wednesday.

Miss Alma Blanchard of Peterboro is spending a few days at the home of her sister, Mrs. George Whitfield.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Staples and family were the guests on Monday of Mr. Staples' father, Mr. Joe Staples.

On Thursday, December 29, a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Percy Seymore, Cavan.

This exceptionally mild winter weather was emphasized last week by the appearance of several caterpillars on the veranda of Mrs. George Patton's house, Crawford's Grove, and Mrs. Sweeting of Springville reports that when the snow that covered one of her flower beds disappeared a pansy was found in full bloom.

Although on New Year's Sunday there was an extreme change in the weather with the thermometer registering in the zero regions, the attendance at the morning service at Springville United church was good with several visitors from other parts: Mrs. George Hewitt, Mrs. E. Deyelle, Mrs. O. Gibbs, Miss Alma Blanchard and Mr. Oren Robertson.

Mr. and Mrs. William Whitfield were the guests on Sunday at the home of their son, Mr. George Whitfield.

Marmora

MARMORA, Jan. 6.—Miss Beatrice Simmons of Wellington has been spending holidays with her uncle, Mr. William Simmons.

Miss Jean Reynolds entertained the Sunnyside Club with a bridge party at her home on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Crawford and family spent the week end with relatives in Kingston.

House-Cleaning Hard Work?

Yes—of course it is. Everything worth while comes as the result of effort. But housecleaning can be made much easier and the results of labor so expended much more satisfactory if you use Gillex for all cleaning purposes around the house, as well as for dish-washing and laundry work. Gillex dissolves grease—that's the secret of its efficiency. It has no grit, no odor, no sediment. It is a true "servant in the house." Try it once and you'll want to use it always.

Newcomer To North Gets Big Impressions

With an experience of over thirty years behind me reviewing an itinerary that has taken me to every important mining camp in the west since the days of the Rossland boom —from Alaska to Mazatlan, and from the Pacific to Colorado—I have no hesitation in saying that during a recent three-weeks' trip to the mining districts of Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec I saw the most extensive and the most highly mineralized area of my experience. It may seem presumptious for a tenderfoot in this great north country to volunteer his impressions, and yet sometimes a new-comer gathers a more comprehensive and brilliantly hued picture of its possibilities than he who has grown up with kaleidoscopic development.

May I say at the outset that the hospitality I experienced in every direction was of a brand never exceeded in my travels. Mining men are ever cosmopolitan. Everywhere I met men who had been in the west and where I did not meet them I found others who opened wide their doors to me merely because I told them where I was from.

And in parenthesis let me add that in this pioneer country of governmental control of liquor, I saw but one man under the influence, and he, one who should have known better. What conditions would be across the line under prohibition, I well know. There is more drinking in the United States mining camps even now, and in the absence of intense activity than in Ontario and Quebec, where everything is under high pressure.

No More Privations.

As I sat in Pullman cars, looking out over the vast expanse of frozen lakes and snow, I thought of the deprivations and physical discomforts that must have been the lot of those who pioneered. This is no country for the tenderfoot and yet like the desert country of the great southwest it is kind to one who knows how to woo it. The great requisite of the men who search for hidden treasures beyond the Height of Land is 'guts," to use a vulgar colloquism, and the men who first tread 'hees trails, and those who blaze still more as the map creeps ever northward, surely have that in abundance.

Nowhere in my experience can men be found who are closer students of geological conditions. Many a prospector I met knows far more geology than many a touted mining engineer. That is largely due to the educational efforts of the Ontario Department of Mines, one of the finest—perhaps the finest—of its kind in the world. A feature of its efforts is a series of winter lectures at mining centres and far-away camps, delivered by a learned enthusiast, lived from one end of the mining area to the other.

Tours Northern Mines.

It would be useless to even commence a description of the mines I had the privilege of visiting — the Hollinger, greatest of the Western Hemisphere, third in point of tonnage in the world; McIntyre, giving promise of being as great and now developing from the deepest shaft in Porcupine, at 4,150 feet; Conlaurum, where, in my opinion, another major producer is in the making; Dome, where I thought I saw a great ore body in the greenstones, but the existence of which I understand has been officially denied; Lake Shore, Kirkland Lake Gold, Wright-Hargreaves, Tough Oakes, all on the great Kirkland Lake "Break," one of the richest, continuous two and one-quarter miles ever mined by man; Bidgood, six miles further east, where similar conditions exist and where high values have been found; Noranda, Amulet, Granada and others at Rouyn, the new copper camp just across the Quebec line, where a modern smelter costing many millions of dollars has been erected in record time. I venture to say that this is the first time in the history of copper-mining that a smelter has been built upon a mine developed to the almost surficial depth of three hundred feet.

Big Impressions.

Only big impressions can be set forth in an article of this length, so let me say that the vision conjured up by my visit is a Canada moving ever swiftly forward to manifest destiny as the greatest diversified metal-producing area on the face of God's earth. Within a few years I expect to see the Dominion second among all nations as a producer of gold. Within five years she will be producing between 400,000,000 and 500,000,000 pounds of copper each year; her production of lead, now running around 300,000,000 pounds a year, will be doubled by new output from Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, Sudbury and Manitoba; her output of zinc, now over 150,000,000 pounds, will soar to twice that figure as the mills in the same new districts swing into action, while she will remain unassailably supreme in production of nickel.

The present speculative activity is now the talk of the mining world and Toronto is undisputedly the mining centre of the North American continent. I have often been asked how long this activity will last. In the light of visual evidence gained on my recent trip, supplemented by intimate knowledge of mining conditions in between, I have no hesitation in saying that it will last till long after most mature men who are taking part in it have passed to other climes. Naturally there will be soft spots; here and there a mine will "fizzle out", but, as counterbalance, every now and then new strikes will be made in the vast uncharted northern country as the prospector pushed onward in his search. Great fortunes will be made—some may be lost—but win or lose, every dollar placed in a prospect or a mine is a contribution to the development of a great country that will ever continue to pour its wealth in to the lap of Toronto and other cities of the Dominion.

Need of Speculation.

Now and then a voice arises to warn the public against speculation in mines. Let me say that without speculation this great heritage of Canada will never be developed to the full. Take away the incentive to quick wealth from the prospector and the promoter, and none will brave the discomforts that they cheerfully face now. No man can be paid salary enough to send him forth. Speculation conquered the West, just as it will conquer the New West, which lies up North.

And, in conclusion, let me express the hope that Canada will remain sane, with her feet firmly planted on solid ground. Let her not take a leaf from the legislative books of forty-two states across the international line, where vicious, asinine "blue-sky" laws have practically placed the promoter among the criminal class and left the mining industry prostrate. Let her maintain her reputation for swift, unerring, impersonal administration of criminal laws, and thus deal with the dishonest in the only way that will stamp dishonesty out and deter others from dishonest acts. Encouragement of the prospector and of every legitimate promoter of mines is a duty Canada owes to herself and one that will repay her in billionfold.

Madoc

MADOC, Jan. 7.—University and Normal school students left on Tuesday to resume their studies at college and school. Among them were:

Miss Lilian Rivers to Toronto University; Mr. Raymond Rivers to Albert College, Belleville; Miss Eleanor Cochrane to Ontario College of Education; Misses Margaret Nickle Kate Ross and Ruby Peterson to Toronto Normal school; Messrs. A. Ashley, C. Smith and J. O'Connell to Queen's University, Kingston.

Prof. Harold Cross, who has spent the holidays as a guest of his mother in town, returns to his work this week.

Mr. Robert Burnside left for Toronto on Tuesday.

Miss Sallie Blair returns to complete her course at O.A.C., Guelph.

Miss Helen Kyte has returned to her home in Wiarton.

Miss Marie Marin had the misfortune to fracture her collar bone while out sleigh-riding during the holidays.

THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

One of the most important matters that the City Council will have to consider during the year will be the question of a full-time Medical Health Department for Peterborough.

The action of the Ontario Government in desiring to close the local Laboratory, has brought this question to a head, and it cannot be shelved indefinitely.

There seems no question of the value to a community of such a department; the surprise expressed by Hon. Dr. Godfrey, Minister of Health, at Peterborough's failure to establish a full-time department is being shared by other people who have studied the problem and who realize that it is false economy to be niggardly in building up protection for the public health against disease.

The whole question should be closely investigated by this year's Council, and an effort made to establish a definite policy.

It is obvious that any arrangements made with the Provincial Government in regard to the maintenance of the Laboratory will be but temporary, and that if nothing is done to establish a full-time Health Department, which would, of course, take over this work with its other duties, Government assistance may be speedily terminated.

PERMITLESS DRIVERS.

The condition referred to by The Examiner the other day of 5,000 Ottawa motorists who are without the necessary drivers' permits has been commented upon by other newspapers, which voice a demand for a strict enforcement of the law.

This regulation requiring all operators of motor vehicles to have a permit is obviously without any real force unless it is enforced.

So long as they do not think they will get into trouble there are plenty of people who will not go to the bother and expense of securing a license.

Similarly with radio licenses.

The country is full of unlicensed receiving sets, the owners of which will not secure the necessary authorization unless they are made to see that failure to do so means additional expense.

In the case of the radio the matter is not so serious, save that revenue is being lost.

Receiving sets do not run around the street killing people, even if they do sometimes inspire murderous thoughts.

But there is something rotten in the state of Denmark if there are large numbers of motor drivers who have no permits, and the condition cannot be allowed to be continued.

MORE HOCKEY FACILITIES.

It is pointed out by a citizen who is interested in hockey that teams in smaller cities and towns are handicapped in competition with those from the larger centres, not only because they have not the advantage of artificial ice arenas to play their games, but also because there are not the facilities provided for the training of young boys from which the material for senior teams must come.

There is much force in this contention, and while artificial ice rinks are an expensive proposition and perhaps out of the question in smaller communities, The Examiner feels that so far as hockey rinks for young players are concerned more might be done by municipal councils in Peterborough and elsewhere.

It should be possible without a great deal of additional expense to utilize the present free skating rinks to much more advantage as breeding grounds for hockey players, and the city fathers would do well to look into the matter and see if it is not feasible to make these places of more value in that way.

In Toronto, for example, there are scores of well-lighted and well-equipped civic hockey cushions where young boys are encouraged to play.

OUT OF POLITICS.

Throughout Canada, more and more men of judgment and influence are veering around to the idea that immigration should be taken out of politics, says The Financial Post. One of the recent recruits to the idea, who seldom misses an opportunity now to urge an independent handling of immigration activities, is Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Prime Minister of Ontario.

We have passed through a period of platitudinous discussion of immigration. "The problem of population is the key to all our other problems." "What we need is men and money." These have been the texts of so many addresses and editorials that long-suffering newspaper reporters go, by turns, white with despair and red with color when the subject is mentioned. Yet public opinion has never waxed enthusiastic over the thought of a vigorous immigration policy, is not enthusiastic even today. The man who asks for more people also lets it be known that he did not want the country over-run with a lot of foreigners. There is a middle ground between the policy of the open door and the policy of maintaining at all costs our racial integrities—whatever they are. It is towards the finding of this middle ground that the attention of many of our public men is now directed.

With so many cross-influences affecting the matter, it would seem to be highly desirable to take immigration out of politics. The appointment of a body of informed citizens to act as an immigration board, to define policies and to co-ordinate the activities of governmental and voluntary bodies and to direct the movement of particular immigrants to the areas where they are needed and can best be absorbed is highly desirable.

The Financial Post has long asked for this step to be taken and now believes that public opinion in Canada is ready to support the Government in making such a move.

IS THE CLIMATE CHANGING?

For some years it has been the opinion of persons long resident in Canada that the winters are gradually becoming less severe, with a greater inclination to short periods of low temperature, followed by thaws, than used to be the case and with the snowfall being smaller than was formerly noticeable. Even in the lifetime of many still alive, a marked change seems to have come over the winter seasons. It is now unusual for zero weather to prevail for any extended period of time and the old days of the snowbanks over which it was difficult to see appear to have passed. Old-timers who have remarked upon this altered condition of affairs are frequently scoffed at. But now there is given to the world the opinion of a leading astronomical authority, Sir Robert Ball, Astronomer-Royal of Ireland, which would seem to bear out the contentions which are made.

It is the opinion of Sir Robert, as recently expressed, that the world is now at the peak of what he calls a very moderate glacial period, one of the results of which in the northern hemisphere is that the summer is now seven days longer than the winter. As he points out, however, this is the astronomical season, measured from one equinox to another. But in the southern hemisphere the situation is the reverse, winter having become the longer of the two seasons. In other words, while the northern hemisphere is becoming warmer, the southern hemisphere is becoming colder and a continuation of this condition will mean perceptible relief for Canadians from many of the trying and unpleasant accompaniments of winter. The polar ice is actually decreasing, rather than increasing, and the effect of this is being felt, slowly but perceptibly, in the Province of Ontario where snow no longer accumulates as once it did, a heavy snowfall is commonly followed by a thaw, and the periods of sub-zero temperatures are notoriously shorter than formerly was the case.

The Niagara Falls Review gives this further explanation of Sir Robert's interesting conclusions:

"Under present conditions, even the Arctic Circle thaws out, to the extent that the winter's accumulations are balanced by the summer melting, and there is probably a little melting to the good. In the course of progressive glaciation of thousands of years ago the ice-cap became so thick and heavy that it began to shift and spread of its own immense weight. This is the movement which we recall under the name of the Glacial Epoch, when the huge sheet of ice from the north plowed slowly southward, cutting down hills, filling valleys and destroying everything in its path.

"It seems that we are now at the end of that period, and are approaching a new epoch of gradually increasing temperature, which may continue for some thousands of years. This will mean a continuous pushing of agriculture and civilization towards the north. The progress will be slow, but we have many reasons for believing that it will be sure. There is, however, one climatic peculiarity that may delay this welcome change, and that is the 'lag' of the seasons. We know that the seasons 'lag' behind the sun. The coldest weather is not at Christmas, but in January and February, while March has a very disreputable character as a month of storms. The peak of the summer is not in June, but in July and August. Then again, consider the equinoxes. At the spring equinox, in March, the weather is often wintry, with little signs of growth, while at the September equinox, when the sun is in the same place, the weather is hot and growth is active. Yet if we went by the sun, the weather at the equinoxes should be the same. The absorption of heat by the ground is largely responsible for this."

There will be few Canadians who will register strenuous objection should Sir Robert Ball's predictions prove true and should succeeding winters exhibit a tendency to become less and less severe. Slow though the change may be in its operation, it will be greatly appreciated by dwellers in this country. And not the least appreciative will be those engaged in agriculture, to which the advent and length of winter constitutes a formidable barrier. It is quite possible that, if what Sir Robert says is true, the limit of profitable farming in Canada will be gradually extended northward until much territory that is now held to be unfit for agriculture will come under cultivation. Through the introduction of hardier species of wheat, much progress in this direction already has been made. Grain is now grown in districts where a few years ago its cultivation would never have been even considered. And as the Polar ice field retreats and the winter seasons become milder and yet milder, it is more than probable that a surprising extension of the grain-growing area will be brought about with a great increase in the agricultural production of the country and a corresponding increase in the national wealth.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Just as a check, how are those New Year resolutions getting along?

Judging from the hockey score, the young idea at Varsity really learns to shoot.

The Kingston Whig-Standard has an editorial on "Football and Life" which strikes us as particularly appropriate, seeing that football is the nearest approach to life that Kingston enjoys.

It should be the ambition of every civic body to make 1928 mean something for Peterborough.

Just one thing after another. Soon after the new auto markers are purchased the radio permit expires.

Farmers kick because the snow is cleared off the Provincial highways and motorists because it isn't. In some ways Hon. Geo. S. Henry hasn't such a fine job after all.

The new Trent Waterway guide book is a pleasant reminder that summer isn't really so far away.

Mr. Amery says immigrants will come to Canada as prosperity here increases, but other people claim we cannot really prosper until we get more population. The vicious circle again.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, January 9 (Canadian Press). — There was some demand from the United Kingdom for Canadian Western oats here on Saturday, but as the prices bid were below working basis no business resulted. The trade in cash grain locally was also slow, and prices were unchanged.

Little business was done in spring and winter wheat grades of flour, but the undertone was steady.

The millfeed market was moderately active, and prices were firm. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was quiet and steady. Outside of some business that was transacted with United States buyers in Western October cheese and current receipts of No. 1 white and colored at 19c to 19¼c, the market was quiet. The receipts were 243 boxes.

An easier feeling again prevailed in the butter trade, but there was no further change in prices. The demand was quiet and little business was transacted. The receipts were 81 packages.

The egg market was without any new feature to note, prices being unchanged with a small trade passing. The receipts were 1,215 cases.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, January 9 (Canadian Press). — Wheat and corn showed an upward tendency much of the time on Saturday, whereas oats and rye were inclined to sag. Complaints from the west and south-west in regard to the crop outlook for domestic winter wheat attracted general notice. Meanwhile, primary receipts of corn showed a material falling-off compared with a week ago.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular, ⅛c to ¼c net lower to ½c advance, corn finished ⅛c to ⅜c up, oats ⅛c to ⅜c off, and provisions varying from 12c decline to a rise of 7c.

About half the area sown to winter wheat west of the Missouri River was reported as being in an unsatisfactory condition owing to widespread dry weather. Some buying here was based on this circumstance. Houses with connections north-west, though, were selling here, presumably spreading against purchases at Winnipeg.

Another bearish factor here was the apparent slackness of export demand for North American wheat except announcement that considerable wheat is to be loaded out of storage in Chicago for European shipment from New Orleans.

Indications of better demand for flour helped at times to give firmness to the wheat market. Some authorities, however, said export business in flour is not expected to awaken before January 10 to 15. Meanwhile, United States Department of Agriculture advices said European buyers were purchasing larger quantities of Argentine wheat, which is of excellent quality, and that this was restricting the demand for Canadian wheat, much of which is of inferior quality this season. Taken as a whole the wheat outlook on Saturday apparently pointed to larger world shipments.

Corn buying on Saturday received some stimulus from assertions that the United States Government report as to domestic corn acreage would aid the bulls, on the other hand cables reported beneficial rains in parts of the Argentine corn belt. The trade looks for a fair increase of the United States corn visible supply total to be shown in Monday's statement. Oats were subjected to speculative selling. It was said, however, that eastern stocks of oats are low.

For the most part provisions were firmer, sympathizing with an upward turn of the hog market.

STERLING EXCHANGE.

MONTREAL, January 9 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as:

Demand—$4.87 11-16.
Cables—$4.83 3-16.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

"HAPPY NEW YEAR"

Dear Mr. Editor:

While musing over the compliment we all pay at this season, "Happy New Year," and what was really meant by it, probably most all of us would be ready with an immediate answer, upon reflection we would probably suggest health, prosperity, enjoyment and freedom from sorrow, etc. Undoubtedly these things were good, but would they necessarily bring happiness? There are some who possess all these things, but were not in the least happy. These good things could all help towards happiness, but they could not bring it unaided. If we look at the list closely we would see that there were things which were centred on self, and that probably was their weak spot, for no person could be happy by getting merely what they wanted. One's happiness is being bound up with the happiness of others. In an unhappy "family" every member of the family was usually unhappy because the other was unhappy and it is the same with any community. Hence your editorial, "The Proper Note," is food for reflection. As the happiness of the individual was bound with much more than we are apt to think with the progress of the community. Looking forward one could feel confident if they were to be happy we must remember others and their happiness, not merely of our own friends, but of all whom we come into contact. We all sprang from the same stock and each and every one of us has something to do for mankind. We should all therefore take a pride and joy in our work, regarding it as service for our fellow beings. And may this be a golden year of opportunity for our City.

It doesn't take a minute to speak a word of grace—
And yet it brings the sunshine
To another's face.
Just some appreciation—a little word of praise;
A "Thank You" kindly spoken,
May brighten someone's days.
It doesn't take a minute to leave a smile behind—
And make some sad folks happier
To know the world is kind.

Yours truly,
J. ABRAHAM

A Thought

LIVING LONGER AND LIVING HAPPIER.

In the last twenty-five years the death rate in this country has dropped off 25 per cent and of course much of this is due to the special and scientific care of babies and children, but even the older grown are living longer.

Yet the alarmists are trying to make us believe that this is a day and age of diluted children and diseased adults.

We are today the healthiest lot of humans since Socrates wore one suspender.

We are living longer and having more advantages while we live, and this should make us happier and healthier.

Thanks to common sense, religion, science, golf, cars, physicians, pretty nurses, and dependable druggists.

Wise and Otherwise

Nature adjusts things pretty evenly. The wife is generally willing to make allowances in about the same proportion the husband is willing to give them.

When sportsmen got to slaughtering too many pigeons, clay pigeons were invented. But nobody ever thinks of inventing a clay pedestrian.

Don't criticize the lowly black sheep. He is only a poor fellow of the flock who doesn't know anyway to go but wrong.

Sophistication is that process by which a girl gets her modesty equipped with shock absorbers.

Be consistent. The fellow who stays out all night and sleeps all day should not expect to find his place in the sun.

It is always fair weather when good fellows get together, but there is apt to be a storm when they get home.

Ennismore

ENNISMORE, Jan. 9.—The annual bazaar, held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week in the Parish Hall, was a decided success. The weather was very favorable, and large crowds were present and patronized the bountiful supper served each evening. Decorations of the various booths were of paper novelties and streamers, presenting a very pretty appearance.

Mrs. Herb Hennessy acted as general convenor for the bazaar, and convenors for the supper arrangements were Mrs. M. McAuliffe, Mrs. R. Hickson, Mrs. D. Cavanagh, Mrs. D. Hickson, and Mrs. J. Killen. The fancy booth was supervised by Miss Veronica Gannon, assisted by the Misses Rita and Agnes Cavanagh and Theresa Doran. Messrs. James Gifford and Joseph Kennedy and Misses Mary Twomey and Mary Killen were in charge of the refreshment booth.

Excellent music was supplied and a few hours' dancing brought the entertainment to a close each evening.

The last four months of the year are wrongly named. September, October, November and December mean the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth months of the year, whereas they are the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth.

PEANUT EUCHRE MUCH ENJOYED

Novel Competition Staged by A.Y.P.A. at Apsley Hall.

APSLEY NEWS

APSLEY, Jan. 9.—The A.Y.P.A. had something novel in the way of entertainment on Saturday in the Parish Hall, when Mrs. R. T. Shewen introduced a peanut progressive euchre game which was greatly enjoyed, twenty-eight persons taking part. Seven tables were occupied, and play lasted two hours. The gentlemen's prize was won by Bert Lean, the ladies' by Phyllis Spence, while John Coones had the distinction of being awarded the booby prize.

An impressive watchnight service was held in St. George's Church on New Year's Eve, commencing at 11:30 p.m. and concluding at 12:15 a.m. Twenty-five people braved the stormy zero weather to attend the service.

The movement to form an agricultural society for Apsley is meeting with general approval, and already nearly half of the required number of signatures has been secured. A public meeting will be held in the Parish Hall on Thursday evening to discuss the matter when it is expected that the objective of sixty members will be obtained.

JUNIOR A.Y.P.A. IS ORGANIZED

Seventeen Members Enrolled for New Branch of Young People's Association.

OFFICERS ELECTED

MARMORA, Jan. 9.—St. Paul's A. Y. P. A. Junior Branch was organized on Wednesday evening at a meeting held in the Masonic Hall, presided over by the Rev. A. B. Caldwell. Boys and girls of ages ranging from 10 to 15 years are admitted into membership. The following officers were duly elected: Honorary President, W. J. Cottrell; President, Roy Smith; Vice-President, Homer Rewitt; Secretary, Manley Fmmorey; Treasurer, Mary Lumsden. Convenors of Committees are: Missionary, George Lummiss; Social, Muriel Leonard; Visiting and Lookout, Beatrice Caldwell.

Meetings, varying in character, will be held on Wednesday evening of each week until further notice. The next meeting will be in the form of a social, when it is expected that the membership now standing at seventeen will be considerably increased.

BRIDE AND GROOM GIVEN FURNITURE

Presentation Made To Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd White of Percy Township.

WARKWORTH, Jan. 9.—A jolly evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Partridge of Percy Township when about 100 of their friends and neighbours gathered together to present Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd White (nee Miss Nellie Partridge) with a beautiful living room suite, accompanied by a suitable address, read by Mr. Alec Merrill, while the presentation was made by Miss Gladys Davey and Mr. Alex Lockhart. Mr. White made a very fitting reply and invited all to visit them in their new home near Roseneath, after which they all sang, "For They're a Jolly Good Couple."

Mr. Herb. Nelson, Reeve of Percy, was then called upon and spoke very highly of the esteem in which the young couple are held. Councillor Partridge, father of the bride, also made a few brief remarks.

Lunch was then served by the ladies and all enjoyed the light fantastic until the "wee sma'" hours. Music was furnished by Mr. William Potter, violin, and Miss Wellwood, guitar.

The address follows:

"To Nellie and Lloyd:

"In regard to your matrimonial adventure which we felt we must commemorate in some way, we feel that our appreciation of your friendship may be best shown, by asking you to accept this living room suite on behalf of this community, and hope that it may bring with it long life and happiness, and that the greatest of your troubles may be, a bunch of little ones.

"Sailing down the stream of life
In your little 'Love Canoe'
May you have a pleasant journey
But there's more than room for two.
May your cheeks retain their blushes
And your heart be just as gay
As when that little boy did whisper,
'Nellie—will you marry me'?"

"Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbours."

Havelock

HAVELOCK, Jan. 7.—Miss Majorie Post entertained a number of friends at progressive five hundred on Thursday evening. Six tables of cards were played. Miss Margaret Clarke of Toronto and Mr. Frank Buchanan of Detroit won the honor prizes, the consolation awards going to Miss M. Jones and Mr. L. Jack. Dancing was also enjoyed and a dainty lunch was served.

Mr. Albert Wilson of Saskatoon is the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. Bert Wannamaker.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McCutcheon of Toronto are spending a few days with relatives in town.

DRESS
By MARY MARSHALL

The characteristic backward floating effect is produced by this yellow chiffon frock embroidered in rhinestones.

The new floating silhouette that is so characteristic of women's evening dress this winter would be hard to describe. Even a sketch hardly does it justice—you have to see it in motion to appreciate the real effect produced by the skirt draperies longer at the back than at the front that flutter or float behind you as you walk.

The history of costume ought really to be kept by means of motion pictures. We can only guess how Queen Elizabeth looked in her stiff wide petticoats and her prodigious starched neck ruffs. Just the effect that she and other women of her time produced on the beholder as they swayed along cannot be shown in any sketch or painting. And no statue can give us a really adequate notion of the actual appearance of the draped costume of classic Greece. On the narrow limits of the stage we can hardly get an idea of the characteristic movement of each of the various types of historical costume. It is only when they are brought before us in the broad open spaces of the movies that they live before our eyes as they really were.

So if future students of costume are to get any idea of the evening mode as it was in 1928 they will have to go back to motion pictures for their sources.

To carry a bouquet of real flowers at a dance seems to be one of the smart tricks of the season. At a recent ball in Washington the Princess Elizabeth de Ligne—whose father is Ambassador from Belgium—carried a charming nosegay of small pink rose buds, which went charmingly with her pink frock tied with a sash of blue velvet.

The Mascot

BAILIEBORO, Jan 7. — The Bailieboro Tuxis Boys put on their play entitled "The Mascot" in Centreville Sunday school hall on Friday evening.

There was an excellent crowd present and the play was a huge success throughout. Rev. H. W. Foley acted as chairman, introducing the characters of the play and outlining the play briefly. Mr. Foley also briefly outlined the great work which the Bailieboro Tuxis Boys are accomplishing.

Miss Viola White presided at the piano during the evening and won hearty applause at the conclusion of each number. Miss White's assistance added greatly to the success of the play.

Ken McDonald of Peterboro also added greatly to the program by rendering several comic numbers between the acts.

The play in itself consisted of three acts and was a typical college scene throughout, full of fun and laughter, with plenty of college yells and choruses to make it more lively.

The play was arranged in a boy's study room at Clinton college. Howard Harrison, "the Mascot" (Joe Barnard), was the mascot of the college football team and a general favorite with the college boys. Fred Hunter, captain of the football team (Archie Deyell), was a general leader in the college athletics. Reginald De Quency, a fat boy who was fond of eating and who kept the audience in continuous laughter, was capably acted by Arnold Brown. Robert Pinkney, a Southern hick, who later turned out to be a born football player (Aylmer Dawson). Vance Mason, leader of the glee club (Keith Barnard). Charlie Evans, a glee club man (Stanley Johnston). Deacon Jones, a college professor (Herb Dean), were other members of the cast. Other glee club men, Melville Wood, Charlie Barnard. The theme of the play showed how a boy could sacrifice to save his football team and a fellow student from disgrace.

A reading, given by Melville Wood, and a duet by F. and K. Barnard were also heartily applauded.

At the conclusion of the play the boys presented their pianist with a beautiful bouquet of roses, as a slight token of the high esteem in which she was held by all the boys.

This performance was the first of its kind that the boys, who have only recently organized, have ever attempted to carry out, and they are planning to produce the play again within the near future.

SAINT and SINNER
By ANNE AUSTIN

Faith lost all sense of time as she lay there shivering and burning on her hard bed in the Denham House. The fever which she did not know she had made her doze occasionally, but she was invariably aroused by the urgency of her problem. How could she commit suicide and make her death appear accidental, so that no reproach could come upon Bob and Cheryl?

"If I were at home," she thought once, "I could go into the kitchen late tonight, on the pretense that I was hungry. I could prepare to make myself a pot of cocoa, turn on a gas burner without lighting the gas, go on with mixing the cocoa and sugar and setting out my cup and saucer, while the gas poured out into the room. And I'd be dead by the time Bob smelled the gas. But I'm not at home. They're looking for me now. Fay and Junior must have been scared out of their wits when they discovered I was gone. I wonder whether Rhoda got Hope safely home or not. But of course Fay phoned Bob. But he won't know I heard him and Cherry talking. I wonder what he's thinking. Probably they all think I went crazy suddenly."

It must have been nearly eight o'clock when, in a lucid interval, she crawled painfully out of bed, crept to the dresser, smoothed her tumbled hair with the little pocket comb she always carried in her handbag, and pulled on the felt hat which George had brought her. But before she could draw on Selma Pruitt's coat she was lost again, stood staring at her reflected image in the mirror without recognition.

She was brought back to partial consciousness by the ringing of the telephone bell. "I won't answer it," she nodded to her reflection in the mirror. "It might be George and I don't want to talk to him. Or it might be Bob and I can't see him yet. He mustn't know there's anything wrong. It will have to be an accident, an accident. But how?"

A hand tried the door, startling Faith to rigid attention. Then there came a knock. "The chambermaid," Faith told herself, smiling cunningly. "She'll think I'm out.

There was the sound of a key poking at the lock from the outside. Her own key, which she had left in the lock, moved slightly, but was not dislodged. Faith wanted to clap her hands and laugh at the futility of that other key. She listened intently, her head cocked toward the door, as footsteps retreated down the hall. Then her eyes, roving gloatingly about her refuge, fell upon the three bottles of poison which she had left in plain sight upon the writing table. Running to the table she gathered them up in her icy, shaking fingers and looked wildly about for a means of destroying their contents. They must not be found. Her death must look like an accident—She was in the bathroom, emptying the contents of the three sinister bottles into the basin when she heard a loud pounding upon the door of her room.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HOLDS CONCERT

Visiting Artistes Give Program at Millbrook United Anniversary.

MUCH ENJOYED.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 9.—The annual entertainment, under the auspices of the United Church Sunday school, was given in the Town Hall on Monday evening, January 2, the programme presented by Miss Pearl Newton, reader, and Mrs. Ethel Grainger, contralto soloist, both of Toronto, being one of the best in every respect that has been heard locally in a considerable period of time.

This was not Miss Newton's initial appearance here, as she won high esteem of her ability as an elocutionist when she was the leading artist on the programme for a similar anniversary occasion four years ago.

Miss Newton's heavier selections are exceptionally well rendered, and hold the unwavering attention of her audience, while her impersonation of voice and manner when featuring children's sayings and doings is true to life and full of humor. Two numbers, "Jimmy Jones and the Teacher," and "Just Before Billy Goes to Bed," given on Monday evening, were outstanding examples of her inimitable talent in this respect.

Mrs. Grainger, who possesses a rich contralto voice, and has a clear enunciation that adds greatly to the pleasure her listeners experience when she is singing, was heard for the first time in this community and undoubtedly scored a success. Her rendition of "Face to Face," the one sacred selection she included in her programme on Monday evening, touched the audience closely, the decided hush giving evidence of the spiritual uplift keenly felt, as did also the tears which unconsciously dimmed many eyes.

The patriotic note was appropriately emphasized by Mrs. Grainger's opening solo, "There is a Land," and again in Miss Newton's concluding number, when, after a realistic recital of "The Red Girl's Test," in full Indian costume, she gave as encore, "Canadian Born" (adapted) by Pauline Johnston.

"A Tale of Long Ago" was another number that won the audience completely, Miss Newton reciting the old grandfather's story, while Miss Elson played softly a piano accompaniment, and Mrs. Grainger (unseen) sang, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and "Home Sweet Home," as the narrative proceeded, and these selections found a place in its telling. "Nobody Knows but Mother," was the appropriate encore.

Insistent applause greeted every appearance of the two artists, and more than once appeal was made for an additional encore. Besides the numbers already mentioned, Miss Newton's selections included, "Mrs. Brown's Change and Rest" (Nellie McClung; "Bridget O'Brian and the Musikers;" "Fred's Little Mistake;" "Aren't Men Funny?" Mrs. Grainger's solos were "Mate O'Mine;" "My Ain Folk," "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny;" "The Garden of Your Heart," "Smilin' Through," "The Barefoot Trail," "Apples in Lilac Time," the list having her encores included also.

Mr. W. Fred Fallis, superintendent of the Sunday School, was chairman, and Miss Ella Elson accompanist. An opening piano duet was by Miss Estelle Hetherington and Miss Elson.

It is safe to predict that a warm welcome awaits Miss Newton and Mrs. Grainger when they make a return visit for a concert engagement here.

Bailieboro

BAILIEBORO, Jan. 9.—A number of the young people of the young people's league, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Bateman on Tuesday evening and presented Miss Kathleen Bateman with a beautiful camera and a number of articles for a ladies' manicuring set, previous to her taking her departure for Toronto, where she expects to take a position.

Miss Esther Lang read an appropriative address, while the presentation was made by Miss Marie Barnard. Miss Bateman thanked the friends in a few well-chosen words.

The remainder of the evening was most pleasantly spent in playing games, music, etc.

Miss Bateman left on Wednesday for Toronto, where she will take a position.

The local school board has leased the field south of the school for a playground for the school children. The Tuxis boys have been granted the privilege of building a skating rink in the field.

The location is an exceptionally good one and very central. A meeting was called on Tuesday evening to plan for the erection of the open air rink. About thirty of the Tuxis boys were present, and Thursday afternoon was chosen to commence to build the rink.

It has long been the desire of the younger element of the community to have a rink in the village, and it looks as if the long-hoped for rink will soon be in operation.

Not only are the young folks intensely interested in the skating rink, but also the older people of the community.

In most cases a woman's profile is more beautiful seen from the left.

Astrologers read this as an unfortunate day, since the planetary aspects encourage deception and intrigue.

In the early morning hours business enterprises should benefit and new ventures should be fairly lucky.

It is better today to begin what has been previously planned than to outline anything.

Banks and bankers may have perplexities owing to startling and sensational disclosures of political irregularities.

The law courts will be crowded at this time when there will be an urge toward all sorts of litigation.

Women and children will be still in danger from criminals who will have the temptation to molest them, astrologers declare.

If the seers are to be believed the feminine mind should be safeguarded as well as the feminine person, for liberation of thought is the cause of many serious troubles.

This is not a lucky wedding day, for there is an aspect indicating frequent quarrels.

Marriage is subject to many bitter discussions under this direction of the stars, but public opinion will uphold strict safeguarding of family ties and there will be a swinging back to old standards, it is prophesied.

France continues subject to the most menacing rule of the stars which presages an era of blood and war, according to foreign prognostications.

To those who possess foresight the year 1928 presents prospects of world upheavals that menace the entire white race.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of hard work in which they will be moderately successful.

Children born on this day probably will possess vision and enthusiasm. The subjects of this sign are likely to have some rare talent that materializes into supreme success only after many ups and downs.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

At the Masses at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday, a portion of the service was taken up by the renewal of Holy Name pledges by the men of the parish, commemorating the twenty-eighth anniversary, which took place yesterday, of the foundation in the city of what is known now as St. Alphonsus' Lyceum Society, an outgrowth of the Holy Name Society and the still older Total Abstinence Society of the Cathedral. The pledge of loyalty to the Sacred Name of Jesus and of abstinence from perjury, blasphemy, profanity and obscene speech was repeated by the men at the three Masses, standing with right hands upraised.

Rev. P. Costello read a pastoral letter from His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, referring to the Separate school question and asking for united prayers for the success of the final appeal which is now being made to the Privy Council in England.

It was announced that a shrine to the Little Flower, St. Therese of Lisieux, whose canonization took place a few years ago and whose memory has been consecrated by the many miracles attained through her intercession, will be erected in the Cathedral, on the right of the high altar, and will be dedicated to the sanctification of the youth of the parish and also of the entire diocese of Peterborough. A triduum in preparation for the blessing and dedication of the shrine, to take place at the Cathedral next Sunday evening, will commence on Thursday and at the first Mass next Sunday, the children of the parish will receive Holy Communion in a body.

Speaking of the Feast of the Holy Family, Rev. Father Costello said that the family, which forms one of the units of the social structure known as society, is rapidly falling to decay, and children in their 'teens are constantly in rebellion against the commands of their parents. He spoke of the men and women who do not appear to realize the nature of their duties and their obligations to Almighty God and their children, and advocated the following of the examples of the Holy Family, as exemplified in the lives of St. Joseph, who labored assiduously for the welfare of those placed in his care of the Blessed Virgin Mary, who constitutes a model for all womankind, and of the child Jesus, living with and subject to the commands of His parents, during many years of His life on earth.

The home should be a sanctuary where the family might gather together, "instead of the mothers being found in theatres, the children on the streets and the fathers away from home."

Hints on Etiquette

1. How long in advance are bal invitations issued?
2. How soon should they be answered?
3. How does one answer a formal ball invitation?

The Answers.

1. A fortnight at least. Three weeks or a month is better.
2. Immediately.
3. Write a note of acceptance in the third person, as, "Miss Agnes Smith accepts with pleasure, etc."

CHRISTMAS CONCERTS

MARK STREET S. S.

One of the most successful Sunday School entertainments of the Mark Street United Church Sunday School was held on Friday, December 20th. Sharp at eight o'clock A. W. Gamble, superintendent of the Sunday School, opened the entertainment, which began with the singing of the Doxology and "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" by the members of the school. The pastor, Rev. A. E. Thornley, led in prayer . The church was filled and the members and teachers of the school excelled themselves in the numbers given. Santa Claus arrived on the scene, and talked with the boys and girls and distributed the gifts from a well laden Christmas tree. Following numbers were given:

Mr. Cunningham's Class—"Choice of Trades."
Recitation—Alice Lang.
Mr. Agnew's Class—"Teacher's Pet,"
Recitation—Muriel White.
Miss Alberta Throop's Class—Doll Drill.
Mr. E. Forbes' Class—"Ald-Fashioned School."
Mrs. Hill's Class—"Spirit of Christmas."
Recitation—Freddie Agnew.
Primary Class—"Shine Out, O Blessed Star."
Instrumental—Miss Bernie Doxsee.
Mr. Robb's Class—"The evil that men do live after them."
Mrs. Holden's Class—"Christmas Crown."
Miss Wilson's Class—"Christmas Star."

After the program and distributing gifts and candy, the concert closed by the singing of the National Anthem and the benediction by the Rev. A. E. Thornley.

ROCKCROFT SCHOOL.

ROCKCROFT, Jan. 9.—The annual Christmas concert and closing exercises of the Rockcroft Public School were held on Thursday, December 22. Mr. Michael Pluard occupied the chair. The following is the program presented by the pupils, about twenty-five in number, under the able supervision of Miss Magahay, the teacher:

Song by the school; chairman's address; recitation, Marjorie Finley; song, "The Pal That I Loved," by Josie and Pauline Pluard; dialogue, "Uncle Hiram's Cold"; song, Josie Pluard and Charlie Allen; "Farm for Sale," a humorous dialogue with an unexpected termination; song, Charlie Allen; school chorus, "Angels From the Realms of Glory"; recitation, Pauline Pluard; recitation, Bernard Pluard; school chorus, "On Our Way to School"; a very comical monologue was ably recited by Wilma Finley to the great delight of the audience; recitation, Herbert Pluard; handkerchief drill by the boys, accompanied by Mr. Pluard on the violin; school chorus, "Now the Merry Bells are Ringing"; recitation, Viola Mooney; recitation, Jackie Pluard, a tot of six years; recitation, Mildred Finley; several accordion selections by Mr. George Hutchinson; violin selections by Mr. Michael Pluard; a step-dance by Wilma Finley and Freda Irwin, followed by a waltz, terminated the program, and elicited much praise from the audience.

The gaily decorated tree, decorated both by dainty trinkets made by the younger children and by presents, which filled each child with expectancy was dispoiled and the gifts distributed to the eager children by Mr. Pluard.

A vote of thanks was tendered Miss Magahay for her kind attention to the children, through which it is possible to have these much-needed social gatherings.

Refreshments, provided by the parents, were served, and a silver collection taken up, which was presented Miss Magahay.

"FAIRVIEW" SCHOOL

The annual concert of Fairview School, S.S. No. 14, Cavan, was held on Thursday evening with practically all the parents, and a number of friends in attendance. Mr. R. O. Larmer ably acted as chairman.

The school room was prettily decorated for the occasion with red and green streamers at the windows, wreaths, Christmas bells and a tree glittering with tinsel and laden with gifts.

The pupils taking part in the program acted well. A phonograph which was lent to the school for the occasion was played while the people were gathering. Between items on the program, Mr. Rusk ably filled in the space by playing on his violin. The program consisted of the following tems:

Chairman's address.
Chorus by the school: "God Rest You, Merry Gentlemen," with violin accompaniment by Mr. J. Rusk.
Recitation by Anna Rowland.
Dialogue: "Harry's Pockets" by Martha Earl and Isaac Larmer.
Recitation by Allan Earl.
Recitation by Arnold Bonner.
Monologue by Martha Earl.
Dialogue: "When Women Have Their Rights," by Margaret Larmer, Johnston Rowland and Gerald Larmer
Recitation by Wilma Armstrong.
A mouth organ selection by Alan Brown.
Recitation by Dorothy Hood.
Monologue by Johnston Rowland.
Song by Anna and Sadie Rowland, Vera Armstrong and Johnston Rowland, with violin accompaniment by Mr. J. Rusk.
Recitation by Vera Armstrong.
Dialogue: "Uncle Joe's Will" by nine pupils.
Recitation by Phyllis Larmer.
Recitation by Alan Brown.
A small play entitled, "Christmas Offerings by Children from Other Lands," by six girls.
Arrival of Santa Claus.
Chorus by the school with violin accompaniment by Mr. J. Rusk.

The arrival of Santa Claus (Willis Hall) caused much happy laughter and exciting anticipation among the children and the distribution of gifts from the tree was for them at least, the outstanding event of the evening. Everybody was remembered. The teacher, Miss Dorothy E. Hall, received gifts from each pupil, and she in turn gave each pupil a present and a bag of nuts and candies.

In addition to this prizes were awarded to Murray Belch, Margaret Larmer, Jean Belch and Anna Rowland for general efficiency during the term. These were Miss Hall's personal gifts.

A hearty vote of thanks to the teacher and pupils was moved by Mr. T. W. Belch, and seconded by Mr. George Berry for the excellent program which they put on, after which the teacher made a suitable reply.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the happy evening to a close.

S. S. No. 4, DOURO

DOURO, Jan. 9.—A very pleasant time was spent on Wednesday evet ning by parents and friends, when a successful Christmas concert was held in S.S. No. 4, Douro. The decorations were carried out in the appropriate colours of red and green. The children were trained under the leadership of their teacher, Miss Mary E. Tobin. Mr. William Hayes acted as chairman for the evening in his usual pleasant manner.

The programme for the evening was as follows:

Welcome: Agnes Hayes.

She Gained Weight With McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets

You remember of course—not so long ago she was a regular scarecrow—skinny is a mild word for the way she looked.

Just look at her now—if ever a woman had a perfect figure she has it—she is the envy of half the girls in town.

It's nothing to get excited about—all she did was to take on weight—filled out the hollows in face, neck and chest—any skinny, weak, run down woman can do the same and gain a clean, clear complexion at the same time.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets or 2 one dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

SPRINGVILLE UNITED CHURCH

SPRINGVILLE, Jan. 7.—Morning service was held in Springville United Church on New Year's Sunday, with the Rev. A. H. McConnachie in charge.

The Scripture lesson was read from Psalm 90. The study of the Lord's Prayer was continued. This prayer is made up of three petitions for the Glory of God and three for our own personal needs, making a total of six petitions in the Lord's Prayer. It is a mould into which our own petitions may be cast. The first three were briefly reviewed and the new text, "Give us this day our daily bread," was studied.

"All through the Lord's Prayer we are reminded of the spirit of unselfishness in Our Father, not My Father, and now, again, Give us, not me, our daily bread.

"God considers the human needs. By the word 'bread' he means all that is necessary for the body. By this petition in the prayer given us as a model for our prayers we learn the lesson of dependance upon God—as dependents we must pray," said the speaker.

"God answers our prayer in an indirect manner by giving us our health and strength to earn our 'daily bread.' In cases where health and strength are deprived, another way is always provided. We should always be kind and considerate of our fellow-men. Each day should be filled with Christ-like deeds, and in the New Year God will never forget us if we pray with faith."

Miss Alma Blanchard, of Peterborough, sang beautifully "The Gift."

The text was taken from I. Corinthians, the 16th chapter and the 9th verse: "For a great door and effectual is opened unto me, and there are many adversaries."

"The beginning of the New Year is the customary time for making vows or resolutions. Many of these become a source of distress as time goes on and we find we are not fulfilling them. The question then arises in our mind, 'Is it not better to make no vows than to vow and not pray?'

"If we were to fail of ambition, life would become on a low level. It is better therefore to make vows if we are fully determined, with God's help to live up to them. If we fail we must acknowledge defeat. We are only baffled to fight better—fallen to rise again. It is cowardly to be afraid to resolve—great ideas are behind resolutions.

"The New Year presents to us a great open door of opportunity. Within, we do not know what we may find. There are many adversaries, temptations and hindrances, but the great door is still open, unsoiled.

"The old year has borne our record to God. It is now with Him—sealed. We have no way of changing it but we will hear of it again at the great day of reckoning.

"The disappointments, bafflements and despondencies of the old year ahead. The years teach us. Wisdom is learned by experience. The greatest men and women that ever lived have had their black days when the face of God was hidden from their view.

"Let the past suffice for these and let us reach forward in the future to the New Year that is opening like the opening of some great door. God delights in satisfying our craving for change and variety. Nothing is new to God but millions of things are still unknown to mankind. To provide variety in our year God has given us seasons when the weather changes, always giving us something new. Our desire for discovery is partially satisfied by the scientists who are constantly bringing new things to light, but the greatest joy of discovery can be found in the gems of Holy writ. In these the spirit of the seeker will find fresh, rich, deep experiences of the Christian life.

"Every day is a fresh beginning for those with the open mind if the heart is touched by God and man. The New Year presents a new progressive outlook. The spirit of Christ is the spirit of progress. In the good providence of God things are wonderfully proportioned into years, hours, minutes, etc. We are given a heavenly plan for an earthly life. We are to play the great game of life and live to the noblest purpose.

"Paul had no fear for himself and his future. He saw a great door opening in Ephesus and Asia Minor and was determined to go in and redeem the times and occupy until Christ should come.

"Have we settled our own affairs—are we right with God? If so, we have no more anxiety about ourselves and are open to the call to service of the church, city, community, and nations to bring aid to the masses. Our brothermen need our help—many are seeking for light more than daily bread. The church can help, let us serve God through the church and give spiritual expression to our lives. There are many adversaries. The great spiritual enemy is lack of ambition.

"Life is work. These are our twin stars.

"There are so many creeds, so many paths that wind and wind, but let our aim be, to fight worldliness, attain a spiritual mind, and do all in our power for the betterment of mankind in the New Year that is opening its doors or us."

OMEMEE UNITED CHURCH.

OMEMEE, Jan. 7.—Rev. E. W. Rowland exchanged pulpits with the Rev. F. H. Howard of Millbrook on Sunday, and the Omemee congregation had the pleasure of enjoying two splendid addresses appropriate to the season. In the morning the text chosen was found in St. John 3:16: 'For God so loved the world that He gave His only Begotten Son, etc." The choir rendered an anthem, "Our Father Through the Coming Year."

In the evening Mr. Howard used as his subject "The paradox of Christian life". The choir were assisted in song by Mrs. Fred Bradley of Brighton, who rendered in her usual pleasing manner "The Holy City."

On Sunday evening next, a song service will be held at the regular hour of worship.

Had a Severe Cold Coughed Incessantly

DOGS WORRY SHEEP

Thomas J. Brown, of Trent River, Suffers Severe Loss.

TRENT RIVER—Jan. 9., Thomas J. Brown, has lost some valuable sheep recently. They were chased and worried by dogs; this is not the first time dogs have done the mischief as one night, a short time ago, Mr. Brown was called by neighbours who live near the land where these sheep run, and the dogs were spotted, and shot at, one ran away howling. This wooded, rough land owned by Mr. Brown is an ideal runway for sheep. On Friday, December 30th, the sheep broke from their pen and went to the field and the same night at a late hour the dogs were at their fiendish work. Out of a flock of eighteen, four have never been found, and it is supposed they ran to the river in desperation. Of the remaining fourteen, two were badly torn. One of them had to be killed.

Downeyville

DOWNEYVILLE, Jan. 9.—A very enjoyable social was held here in the hall on Monday evening under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League, when the hall was crowded to the doors. Progressive euchre was played till 11.30, when a dainty lunch was served by the ladies and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. The dinner orchestra from Lindsay, furnished excellent music. The prizes for cards were won by Miss Ada O'Neill, and Mr. Daniel Flynn. A large crowd was present from the surrounding districts and a very enjoyable time spent by all.

Congratulations are being extended to Martin Carroll Sr., on being elected Reeve of Emily by acclamation, for the third year in succession.

EXPLORERS BATTLE

"Then we turned to prepare for the effort of our lives at the afternoon high water. The vessel was lying with her stern jammed down behind some rocks, which finished any chance of backing her off.

"While waiting I got the motor going again.

Bounce Ship Free.

"At 3.30 p.m. the tide was almost high, and we strained at the windlass bars until we nearly broke the bits. The tide came to the full and began to drop. It looked as though we were stuck for at least another twelve hours .

"Then it occurred to me that if we could heave the vessel down and give here more than her normal displacement she would have some positive buoyancy, just as a rubber ball bounces a little bit clear of water for an instant if you submerge it and let it go.

"By means of the masthead line we drew the vessel down as far as we dared. I let the heaving tackle go with a run. The vessel lurched upright. We did this five or six times and the keel slipped free of the ledge. Our bow was afloat.

"In less time than it takes to tell, we had spun the boat on her keel and I started the motor full speed ahead.

"With a bumping and thumping, sometimes stopping for a second and then going ahead with a rush, we got our vessel clear.

"We had a dinner that night that I don't believe any of us will ever forget. And I would like to express my admiration for the behavior of all hands during that anxious business. It was all taken as part of the game, and they made a joke of it. I could not imagine five better shipmates.

100-Foot Swells Seen.

"Then we proceeded down the coast. The weather turned bad. The vessel leaked, two planks were stove, a frame was cracked, the foremast was split, and the motor kept catching . It took us twenty-six days to make the 750 miles to Battle Harbor. On the last day, as we drove into Battle Harbor on the first of a bad north-east gale ,the sea was breaking in ten fathoms and the huge swells were running 100 feet or more up the cliffs.

"A return to the United States with the vessel in her present condition was out of the question, so it was decided to winter her at Battle Harbor and then proceed to St. John's for repairs, before returning to Labrador next summer.

"Contrary to reports this misadventure did not halt work of the expedition. The scientific program was completed before the storm and further work was carried on up until the time we reached Battle Harbor and left the vessel."

WORKMEN LABOR

stem the rush of the waters after the reign of terror, destruction, and death on Saturday, continued on the alert, however. Precautions will be continued until after the high tides of tomorrow.

The Air Ministry warned of a probable renewal of the gale which brought the abnormal tide and flood of last week. The upper Thames has fallen somewhat but it is still swollen and therefore no protective measure will be neglected.

At three o'clock this morning the tide came and went without destruction. Thousands of those who dwell by the rivedside went to bed then, their vigil against the rush of waters ended for another twelve hours.

There was no sleep, however, for those who labored to prevent a fresh catastrophe. All night long they work, strengthening the rampart of sand bags and clay along Grosvenor Road and in front of Tate Gallery.

Others who regarded the flooding of London as a spectacle were present when the tide swept in. Groups of people in evening dress, who had come from the night clubs and dances, lined Victoria Embankment. The river, however, did not rise to dangerous heights, the dark waters lapping the banks smoothly, harmlessly, and unruffled.

MRS. THOMAS BRECKENRIDGE.

The death occurred on Sunday, January 8, at Nicholls Hospital, of Mrs. Thomas Breckenridge, of Indian River. Left to mourn her loss are her sorrowing husband and two daughters, Mrs. William Talen of Mona Mills, Ont., and Miss Myrtle at home.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, Indian River, on Wednesday, January 11, at two o'clock. Interment will be at Fife's Cemetery.

PATRICK KENNEDY.

The death occurred this morning of Patrick Kennedy, of 552 Armour Road . Mr. Kennedy was a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters, and leaves to mourn his loss his sorrowing wife, one daughter Vivian, one son Herbert, one brother John of Douro, and one sister Katherine of this city.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday morning in the Immaculate Conception Church, with interment in St. Peter's Cemetery.

FRED McGOVERN.

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 9.— The sad news reachd Trent River on Friday evening of the death of Fred McGovern, at Oshawa, after a nine days' illness of pneumonia. His widow (nee Mary Lawson), eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Lawson, Trent River, and three children, survive. On receieving a message the previous day, Mr. and Mrs. Lawson and Miss Rose left for Oshawa to be their daughter in her great trial.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGovern's marriage a few years ago was the first performed in Trent River church by Rev. E. O. Seymour, a former pastor. Great sympathy is extended to the grief stricken widow and her little family, also to the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Lawson, in their sorrow. The funeral ahs not been arranged.

F. C. FREELAND.

Frederick C. Freeland died at 1.10 o'clock this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Sydnor J. Tucker, 109 Seabreeze avenue. He passed his sixty-third birthday last Saturday.

The deceased was born near London, England, and came to Buffalo, N.Y., early in life. He came to Florida about two years ago.

He leaves the widow, two daughters, Mrs. Tucker and Miss Vera Freeland, of Palm Beach, and one son, Frederick D., of Toronto, Can. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The above death notice, taken from a Miami paper, refers to a former Peterborough citizen. While in Peterborough the late Mr. Freeland was a member of the staff of Grafton and Company, and friends and acquaintances here will regret to learn of his death.

MRS. CHARLES DUNK.

The funeral of the late Charlotte E. Clemenger, wife of Charles E. Dunk, was held from her late residence, Front street at two o'clock on Saturday aftenoon. At the house, the service was conducted by the Rev. James Grier and the Rev. Mr. Shaw of Menie. Deceased was born in Menie township, and came to Campbellford as the wife of the late James Dunn. She was in her 66th year and had been suffering with heart condition for some time previous to her death. She is survived by her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Gordon Douglas of Toronto, and a son, A. S. Dunn, also of Toronto, two sisters, Mrs. McConnell and Mrs. Spencer of Havelock Henry Clemenger a brther, Cordova, and a second brother in San Barnadino, Calif.

YOUNG PEOPLE STUDY SONGS

Miss Daisy Murray Takes Up Music of Southern States.

GOOD PROGRAM.

SPRINGVILLE, Jan. 9.—An extremely interesting and successful meeting of the Springville-Fairmount Literary Society took place on Friday night, with about seventy-five persons present. A large number of these came early to enjoy a social half-hour playing games. Indoor tennis was one of the new games in readiness for the evening's sport, and provided a jolly time for those who were being initiated to its possibilities.

At the regular hour the meeting was called to order by the president. The treasurer's report following, announcing that fees had been paid by 32 members.

Time was given for discussion of new or old business. Several suggestions were made that received applause. The organization of a Men's Club and a contest to secure new members were proposed.

It was also announced that next week the game of carpet bowling will be installed for use.

The president then called upon Miss Daisy Murray to conduct the program for the rest of the meeting.

Miss Murray announced her subject as being the Study of American Folk Songs.

Folk Songs are an expression of the feelings of people rather than of an individual. They were composed to bring comfort, heal sorrows and create good feelings toward one's fellow-man. They are the song-spirit of the people, reflecting their environment. For instance, the songs composed by people of the north are rugged while southern songs show grace and languor. This was illustrated by a solo by Miss Alma Blanchard, "Home, Sweet Home."

The authorship of this beautiful folk song "Home, Sweet Home" was never really known. The words were composed by John Howard Payne. It was first sung in America by a Mrs. Holman.

The next number on the program was a violin selection by Mr. Harry McArthur.

Folk songs are inseparable from the life of America. After the Civil War, many negro songs were composed. The origin of Negro Spirituals was explained, and the first few lines of "Deep River" were read.

Stephen Foster sympathized with the lot of the black men. He loved to listen to the singing of the negroes. He finally became the victim of drink which brought a sudden ending to his life and career. At the age of 16 years he wrote "Open Thy Lattice, Love," for which he received $10,000. Later, he wrote "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Old Folks at Home." The reason for the choice of the Swanee River as the setting for "Old Folks at Home" was explained.

Daniel Emmet, another prominent folk song writer, was a negro, a smith and a jack of all trades. At sixteen he wrote "Old Dan Tucker." He travelled in circus bands and in 1859 became a member of the Minstrels. As a result of an urgent request for a new song he wrote "I Wish I was in Dixie," and received $500 for the copyright. He followed the stage until he became too old and his performances too much out of date. He then retired and spent the remainder of his life in a shanty. After his death, as his body was being lowered into the grave the band played "Dixie."

The short biography of Emmet was followed by a solo by Miss Daisy Murray, "Dixie." In response to an ancore she sang one of Foster's songs, "My Old Kentucky Home." All present showed their delight in the evening's program by heartily joining in the singing of the last verse of "My Old Kentucky Home."

Mr. H. McArthur brought the musical program to a conclusion by another violin selection, which was much appreciated.

Miss Murray announced her intention of continuing with the study of folk songs of other countries at future meetings.

An interesting dialogue by four of the Fairmount young people followed. The cast consisted of Mr. Fred McIndoo, father; Miss Rose Dumbell, mother; Mr. H. McArthur and Miss Myrtle Hooten, two grown-up children.

The seeting for the play was a home scene, with father sitting in comfort reading the paper; mother knitting on a nearly completed sock, and daughter with her embroidery. The son, coming in with the mail, hands it to his father, mentioning that there is a letter for him from Montreal. Many are the conjectures as to the sender of this letter from a city from which mail is seldom received in the family. Finally it is opened and father casually announces that it is a cheque for $100,000, and lays the letter down to continue his reading of the paped. He finds this impossible, however, as his family are eagerly planning, where they shall now live, what they shall wear and how they shall conduct themselves. Father is an unsympathetic listener, and says they shall not leave Springville with his consent and the best he can do for them is to set them up with a grocery store and garage. He is accused of being stingy, and his wife threatens to leave him on the farm and take her children to Boston, where they can live and have opportunities befitting wealthy people. Father at last becomes interested enough to re-read the contents of the letter and finds that his $100,000 cheque is nothing but a patent medicine advertisement. He now feels that his eyes have been opened in regard to the feeling of his family towards him. All, however, finally settle back to normal and apologize for their hasty remarks. Mother says she has found out that it would never be a good thing for them to suddenly become wealthy.

Mr. Johnston moved a hearty vote of thanks to all who took part in the evening's entertainment and the feeling was proven unanimous in the usual fashion. He also moved that the meeting adjourn, but although the program was ended, all seemed loath to have the singing cease, so community singing was carried on for some time. Old songs, such as "Bells of St. Mary's," "Tipperary," Peggy O'Neil," "The Long, Long Trail,' and many otherss made the room ring with song.

Mr. F. McIndoo, convener of the debating evening, took this opportunity to announce the subject and names of debaters for the debate on January 13. The affirmative, "Resolved, that invention has done more to further the progress of civilization than legislation,' is to be upheld by Mr. C. Seymour and Mr. B. Herron, while Miss Jean Fairbairn and Miss Ezma Johnston are to support the negative.

Several new names were added to the membership roll during the course of the evening.

IN POLICE COURT.

CAMPBELLFORD, January 7.—The case of the King vs. Leonard, which had been laid over until to-day was heard in the Police Court yesterday before Magistrate Floyd. Leonard was charged under Section 83 of the Liquor Control Act, with keeping and consuming native wine on premises other than his residence. W. F. Kerr, Cobourg, appeared for the Crown, and N. A. MacColl of town, for the defence.

When the Court assembled for the hearing, Leonard pleaded not guilty to the charge, through the medium of his counsel. Crown Attorney Kerr then addressed the Magistrate, saying that it would appear that this was the original charge brought against Leonard. He further understood that at the last hearing there had not been a copy of the regulations in the Court, and that the original charge had been left over until to-day on that account, and also due to the fact that an important witness was not present to give evidence. The charge on which Leonard had been prosecuted was in connection with beer and not native wine. On this charge, Leonard had been fined and had lodged an appeal. The Crown was willing to withdraw this second charge, said Mr. Kerr, if Leonard would agree to withdraw his notice of appeal on or before the twentieth day of this month. He understood that the defendant had expressed his willingness to do so. The attorney further stated that he did not think it justice to impose two fines for such an offence, and neither did he think it proper that one case should be appealed and the second proceeded with.

Mr. MacColl, asked by the Crown, stated that his client was quite willing to accept the proposition.

"What about the costs for to-day?" asked Magistrate Floyd.

"They will have to be paid by the prosecution, Your Honor," Mr. Kerr replied, and continued his case by asking Leonard to sign an agreement to withdraw his appeal and meet the other terms set forth by the specified time, January 20th.

Leonard signed the agreement, and the second charge, really the original charge, has been withdrawn.

PETES WHITEWASHED 10 TO NIL BY UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO IN SECOND GAME OF SENIOR SERIES

Score Scarcely Represents Play —Varsity Gets Best of the Breaks.

PEPPERY IN SPOTS

Petes Determined to Beat Students When They Visit Peterborough.

(By. F. D. C.)

Eddie Wright's Petes dropped their second game in the O.H.A. race and ran the list of Peterborough hockey defeats for the week to six on Saturday afternoon when they hooked up with the University of Toronto team in Varsity Arena and were beaten 10 goals to 0.

The lopsided score makes the Petes look worse than they really were and is not an accurate indication of the play.

The students deserved to win by a good margin but their goal total should never have reached double figures nor should the Petes have been unrepresented in the scoring column.

Two of the Varsity goals were soft ones on long shots that eluded Hall in the first period and another was batted in by Ray Rose, who repeated his exploit of the Oshawa game here by converting a student rebound into a score against his own team.

On the other hand the Petes were robbed on several occasions by circus stops by Murray Snyder, the football star, who played a stellar game in the Varsity nets.

They played their best hockey in the second period when, discarding the six-man defence tactics they had followed in the first period, they opened up the play and carried the attack to the students. At this stage of the game they had a big share of the activities and were unlucky not to have scored, while Varsity on the other hand were aided by Dame Fortune in getting the presentation goal on Rose's play and another marker almost equally as juicy when Rose and Foley entagled in going after a lone Blue raider and the puck carrier went in alone to score.

Varsity's superior condition in the last period enabled the students to sweep through for four more goals while the Peterborough attacks carried less punch as the players tired and Snyder's stone walling could not be beaten.

The students have to visit Peterborough twice during the season and the Petes are determined that if practice and hard work will do the trick they will throw Manager Pearson's blue-clad outfit for a total loss in these engagements. The winners had a chip on their shoulders all the way on Saturday but found the Petes able to match them in that department and the result was a game that was decidedly peppery in spots despite the Varsity goal margin.

The Varsity team looks to have been well drilled, has a good deal of speed and team work and the students show the results of long and faithful practice. The outfit is not as clever nor as polished as the Grads by any means, however, and the Petes hope to take their measure before the group race is over.

Snyder, in goal, starred on Saturday with big Jess Carrick the best of the defence pair. His partner, Kirkpatrick, is a hot-headed individual who found himself in several jams and three times in the penalty box. Harley, the regular right winger, was outstanding on the forward line although he had little on the others.

For the Petes Eddie Williams, playing his first game of the season, seemed to be the most successful puck-carrier while Cripps, after doing little in the first period, came along nicely in the latter stages. Kane, McFee and Foley all worked hard throughout. Rose, on the defence, rushed more than usual but could not get through for a counter, and Clark was equally unsuccessful. Bert Hall played goal the first period but it was not his day and after he had been beaten by a couple of long shots he was replaced at the end of the first period by Jack Lebarr, who performed nicely for the balance of the game.

The line up:

Varsity.

Goal—Snyder.

Right wing—McFee.
Left wing—Kane.
Subs—Williams, Foley.
Referee—Lou E. Marsh.

The game opened slowly with the Petes falling back into a six-man defense at their own blue line, and Varsity cautious at the start. The Students soon got their attack under way and Carrick pulled the defense out of position and gave Harley a perfect pass for the first goal in two minutes. Despite their steady attacks that marker was about all they should have had in the first period. The second was scored by Stewart, who was allowed to stroll in behind after a loose puck and circle the Peterborough net for a goal. Then Carrick and Devins scored in succession on shots from the blue line, putting the Students four to the good.

Kirkpatrick went on a rampage at this stage and bumped Kane to get a penalty and was no sooner back on the ice than he was chased again, followed by McMullen. The Petes failed to take advantage of the opening, however. Their best chances to score in the period when on a smart round-the-net play by Williams and a rush by McFee who split the defence only to have the puck roll away from him.

In the second period the Petes changed their tactics and made the going much more even by switching to the offensive. The result was a much better battle and Snyder was called upon frequently. Varsity, however were not to be denied and Harley went in alone to score their fifth goal in 12.20. A little over four minutes after Rose went to clear a rebound from Kirkpatrick's shot and knocked the puck into the net for the final score of the period.

It only took twelve seconds for the Students to score in the last session. A quick passing run and a fast side shot by Carrick did the trick. The game slowed up and it was just so so hockey for the next ten or eleven minutes when Varsity finally scored when McMullen passed out from the corner to Kirkpatrick in front of the net. Pretty individual efforts by McMullen and Harley, both of whom beat the Peterborough defence cleanly, were responsible for Varsity's last two counters.

WINS FROM UPPER CANADA

McLean Scores Winning Tally for Visitors in Hockey Tussle.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Resuming the old-time rivalry that has extended into many branches of sport, Lower Canada College met and defeated the visiting Upper Canada hockey team, 1-0, in a game played Saturday. A goal by McLean, defence man of Lower Canada, in the early part of the third period proved to be the deciding counter of the game after the two squads had battled through two scoreless periods of hockey. Line-up:

Upper Canada— Goal, Baker; defence, Carr, Dewar; centre, Cherry; wings, Anderson, Clarke; subs, Edwards, Blair, Kealy.

Lower Canada— Goal, Somerville; defence, Gatehouse, McLean; centre, Sutherland; wings, Racey, Mickles; subs, Johnson, Carsley, Thomas, Burpee.

Referee—Redvers Mackenzie.

First Period—

VIVE LES CANADIENS!

It is a pity that every young hockey player in the Province could not have seen the Canadien-Maple Leaf game in Toronto on Saturday night. Not because it was notable as a contest—on the contrary, it was a walk-away for Canadiens—but because of the superlative exhibition of hockey finesse and technique that was given by the Flying Frenchmen. No wonder these red-clad speed demons are leading the race, and no wonder either that there are packed arenas wherever they play. At the present moment the Canadiens are the cleverest and most colourful hockey team in the world, and over an experience of years' association with hockey, the writer can recall no such demonstration of all that is the smartest and best in Canada's national winter game as was given by Howie Morenz and his associates on Saturday night.

There have been great teams in the past, both east and west, the Ottawa Senators, the Canadiens themselves when Pitrie, Lalonde and Laviolette were in their prime; there are great teams today in the powerful Maroons, the hard-hitting Boston crew, the speedy New York Rangers and the clever Detroit Cougars, but it is doubtful whether such a convincing exhibition of speed, stick-handling ability, hard shooting, unselfish team-work and perfect cohesion and co-operation as made the Toronto Maple Leafs look like a second-rate intermediate team has been given before.

It was wonder hockey that utterly upset the theory that combination was impossible under the patchwork rules of the National Hockey League.

The way the Canadiens engineered their plays was a revelation of what can be done with speedy and clever players working as a unit. The Flying Frenchmen came from nowhere to take passes that were apparently fired at random across the ice, short passes, long passes, passes going through the defence and passes right at the mouth of the net that made a clever goaler like John Ross Roach look like a novice. Their team-work was the acme of unselfishness. Speed one was prepared for, stick-handling of extraordinary cleverness could be expected, but the manner in which the players forgot self and worked only to put a teammate in a sure scoring position was an eye-opener. It was super hockey at its cleverest and best that the Canadiens showed on Saturday night, their third game in four nights by the way, a supreme demonstration of the possibilities in Canada's national game when brains and speed work together.

When the Flying Frenchmen are playing professional hockey is indeed the fastest sport in the world—and about the first to admit it, one would imagine, would be Conny Smythe and his Toronto Leafs, who, no weaklings in themselves, were made to look like inexperienced amateurs by the speed and finish of the Canadien tactics.

The scoring of their first goal was a typical Canadien. Gardiner, sterling defence man, had broken away for a fast rush, and by the cleverest of stick-handling had circled the left side of the Leafs' defence and was closing in on the net, with Roach almost at his mercy. The excited crowd had scarcely time to wonder whether the clever Toronto goalie could foil the attack by one of his impossible stops when Gardiner, instead of shooting, slid the rubber across in front of the net, and there was Howie Morenz, the greatest forward in the game today, who, a second before apparently out of the play, had dashed in at top speed to take the pass. Roach rushed out to save, but a deft manipulation of Morenz's stick and a quick side movement took the goalie completely out of the play, and Morenz calmly slid the rubber into the net. A perfect goal if there ever was one, engineered on a perfect and unselfish play by two of the game's finest exponents.

Vive Les Canadiens! They may burn themselves out in the N.H.L.'s marathon schedule, but right now they are playing the brand that lovers of the game have always dreamed of, and my hat is off to them for giving me an hour's lesson in hockey at its cleverest and brightest.

15 Teams Compete Chicago's Bike Race

CHICAGO, Ills., Jan. 9 (Canadian Press).—Chicago's 19th international six-day bicycle race began last night, with fifteen teams competing for the $5,000 first prize, 18 Americans and 12 European riders making up the field.

Always one of the favorites, Reggie McNamara, six-day bike champion, is paired with Charles Winter, while Winter's old partner, Freddie Spencer, is teamed with Bobby Walthour, Jr. McNamara has accumulated a record of thirteen victories in six-day races in the years he has been pedalling around the wooden saucer, more than twice as many as any other rider. Twice since he reached the 13-mark he has failed to break the jinx.

PILES GO QUICK

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile Sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.

GRADS DEFEATED BY BOSTON TEAM

Marks Second Reverse in 47 Starts for Famous Canadian Sextette.

BOSTON, Mass., January 9 (Canadian Press). — The Toronto Varsity Grads, Canada's 1928 Olympic team, went down to defeat 1 to 0 here on Saturday night before the University Club of Boston in the second and final encounter of their two-game series.

The defeat marked the second reverse in 47 starts for the famous Canadian sextette, their only other setback being handed out by the Fort William club in the Allan Cup series last year.

Previous decision to score the University Club-Grad series here on a total goal basis was ruled out by the Grads management, thereby evening the counters at 1-all. The Grads were victorious 2 to 1 on Friday night.

Clark Hodder, stellar left wing of the Boston club, was the lone scorer of the evening, while some exhausting hard work by the entire University Club first string team and a great deal of truly remarkable goaltending by little Ted Learned in the Boston cage barely held the game safe from a terrific four and five man attack in the final period.

Hodder's goal came on a brilliant exhibition of stick handling five minutes after the second period opened.

Picking up the puck at centre ice, he eluded Hugh Plaxton, cut sharply to the right lane, reversed at the outer defence zone, and fired right through Frank Fisher's legs. Brick Mueller couldn't see the disc until it was past him in the right hand corner.

The score changed a slow game into a wildly rugged encounter in which half a dozen players were dumped with enough force to require time out for minor repairs.

The desperate final Toronto attack provided some hair-raising hockey. Both teams were worn to the point of exhaustion, but in the scramble of tumbling players Red Porter, Hugh Plaxton, Louis Hudson, and Dave Trottier stood out as iron men.

Time after time they bore down on the Boston net after chasing back into their own defence zone to pick up the long defensive wallops which the Boston players resorted to in the final minutes.

Several times the attack got through the last defence, but Learned rose to the occasion each time. The disc was rolled, kicked, and swung 17 drives out of the way, while Owen, Hardy, and Mullowney checked as many more drives on the blue line.

The nearest Toronto came to a score was late in the second period when Frank Sullivan skated across the cage front and poked one out that Learned stopped with his chest. In the ensuing scramble, Learned stopped three more in almost as many seconds. The mixup finally ended with Burt, Plaxton, Everett, Hardy and Learned piled on top of each other in the goal.

The line-up:

Toronto Grads.		University Club
	Goal
Mueller		Learned
	Defence
Fisher		Mullowney
Porter		Hardy
	Centre
H. Plaxton		Owen
	Wing
Hudson		Hadder
Trottier		Everett

Toronto spares—F. Sullivan, Delahey, B. Plaxton.

University Club spares — Berkeley, Ferguson, Marshall.

Referees—Bill Stewart and Stan. Burgoyne.

Summary—

First period—No scoring. Penalties, Fisher.

Second period—1, University Club, Hodder, 5.02. Penalties, H. Plaxton.

Third period—No scoring. Penalties, H. Plaxton, Everett, Hardy, and Owen.

QUEEN'S DEFEAT CLARKSON TEAM

Victors Play Airtight Defensive Work in Basketball Tussle.

POTSDAM, N.Y., Jan. 9 (Canadian Press).—Queen's University basketball team romped away with Clarkson on the local court here Saturday night 49 to 21. The visitors scored first and led throughout, tally at half time being 25 to 6. The defensive work of the visitors was airtight and their passwork faultless. The locals were held to shorts from centre court. On the few fouls called, the Quints broke even with five each, but the locals missed a number of tries.

Every man on the Canadian aggregation proved a point getter. For the engineers Rapp and Stewart did most of the scoring. Clarkson used eleven men in the course of the evening. Queen's kept their original five on the floor, one of the best working combinations seen here in some time.

MAROONS WIN BRUIN TUSSLE

Make It Two Straight by Taking 4-1 Victory From Boston Club.

MANY PENALTIES

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 9. Canadian Press. — The revamped Montreal Maroons made it two straight by taking a 4 to 1 victory over the Boston Bruins at the Foum Saturday night. The struggle was a typical Maroon-Boston battle with penalties playing a large part in the game. Seventeen penalties, including a major, to Siebert, Maroon defenceman were handed out by the officials; the local team earned nine while the Bruins were chased to the timbers eight times.

Siebert's major came for an alleged attack on Shore in the dying moments of the third period. These two had been staging a private joust throughout the game and as a result Shore had drawn four minors and Siebert three. Once they were on the verge of exchanging blows, when both were chased for two minutes apiece. Near the end of the game Siebert rushed with the puck towards the Boston net. At the visiting defence he encountered Shore, who halted the local defenceman's dash, following the resultant melee. Refeee O'Leary waved Siebert off for a minor, but Cooper Smeaton, referee in chief of the Natonal hockey league, who was also officiating, rushed up and increased Siebert's penalty to a major.

Despite the fact that the penalties were numerous, the fans found plenty to enthuse over. The vast majority of the 12,000 present were highly pleased with the victory of their favorites. The hockey, while at times rather ragged was brilliant in spots and speed, despite the rugged body checking indulged in by both teams, predominated.

The rearranged Montreal line up which proved successful against the Toronto Leafs last Thursday, was used against the Bruins and it went even better against the Hub team than it did against the Leafs. Siebert and Dutton formed an almost impenetrable bulwark in front of the veteran benedict, who was in fine fettle. Besides starring of the defence, both local defence men carreid much of the Maroons' offensive, their fast breaking proving an impetus to the Montreal attack. The changed forward line with Smith at centre, Stewart at left wing, and Phillips at right, did a lot of backchecking besides proving a continual worry to Winkler in the Boston net; Smith in particular is worthy of special mention The high priced star was seldom relieved and did not draw one penalty. He scored one goal and led many dangerous attacks on the Boston net, besides making good use of his famed sweeping check around centre ice in breaking up promising Bruin rallies.

Two of the Montreal goals were scored by subs Oatman and Ward each beating Winkler. Dutton and Smith were the other Maroon scorers. Oliver counted the only Boston goal in the second period, it coming at a time when both Oatman and Ward were serving penalties. The regular Boston forward line, with the exception of Oliver, failed to show much during the game. They tried hard but could not fathom the locals' defensive tactics. Gainor, sub centre, was the only one who had much luck in getting close to Benedict, but he could not beat the Montreal guardian.

Dutton opened the scoring before the game was two minutes old, a fast drive from just outside the defence eluding Winkler. Ten minutes later Oatman beat the Boston goalie in a soft side shot, the disc just squeezing in between the goalie and the Boston post. The only goal of the hectic second period which looked like a penalty parade, was scored by Oliver. In the third session Smith scored when he split the Boston defence, worked his way in on top of Winkler and then gave the goalie no chance on a hard low shot. Boston were short handed at the time. With less than ten minutes to go a fast combination attack, Stewart to Ward, cracked the Bruin defence, and the substitute right winger slapped a hard drive into the net. The teams:

Montreal.	Position.	Boston.
Benedict	goal	Winkler
Siebert	defence	Shore
Dutton	defence	Hitchman
Smith	centre	Frederickson
Stewart	wing	Galbraith
Phillips	wing	Oliver
Oatman	sub	Gainor

NEW YORKERS LOSE 4-1 TILT TO SENATORS

Americans Unable to Cope With Heavy Bombardment of World's Champions.

WEAKENED IN FIRST

Defenses on Both Teams Play Air - Tight Game.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 9.— (Canadian Press.)—The brand new goal-getting punch that hour upon hour of shooting practice has brought to the Ottawa Senators, earned them a decisive 4 to 1 victory over the New York Americans in a National Hockey League tussle here Saturday night. Against the boring in tactics and heavy bombardment of the world's champions, something had to give, and after the opening period when the New York defence appeared to weaken badly, the Senator sharpshooters had the visitors' goalie many times at their mercy. Joe Miller, net guardian for the star-spangled banner clan, absorbed a withering bombardment of pucks throughout the last two frames.

But for the losers it can be said that lady luck appeared to have completely deserted them at crucial moments. One after the Ottawa net-tender had been tricked from his cage and he lay sprawling on the ice, almost every member of the Gotham team batted the disc toward the unattended goal mouth only to see it ricochet off the goal post or miss the open net altogether.

For the some 4,500 fans in attendance the opening period provided thrills aplenty. Billy Burch, "Red" Green and Leo Reise, standing out in the offensives of the Americans, gave the Ottawa goalie many anxious moments by their goalward thrusts. The Senators were also travelling at top speed and rocked the New York cage from many angles. But both defenses were air-tight and the scoring column remained unsullied until thirty seconds from the period end when Alex Smith, Ottawa relief rear guard, romped the length of the ice alone to send the puck into an upper corner of the American net.

The title holders lengthened their goal lead in the last minutes of the middle period when "Punch" Broadbent barged in close to Goalie Miller to accept a pass out from Hec Kilrea who had drawn the visitors' defence men into the corner of the arena. The blonde Kilrea further glorified himself by netting the other two Ottawa goals in the final period. He scored the first on a pass from Smith and batted in the second as the puck bounded out from a previous shot.

The lone goal that saved the Americans from a shut-out came just a minute and five seconds from the end of the game when Reise dashed back of his own goal cage and drove a short shot between the Ottawa netman's legs. The line-up:

Americans— Goal, Miller; defence, Reise, Conacher; centre, Burch; wings, R. Green, McKinnon; subs, B. Boucher, Simpson, Bouchard, Rothschild, Himes.

Ottawa — Goal, Connell; defence, G. Boucher, Clancy; centre, Nighbor; wings, Kilrea, Broadbent; subs, Finnigan, Denneny, A. Smith, Grosvenor, Chouinard.

Referees—Billy Bell and R. Hewitson.

Summary.

Detroit Blanks Pittsburgh 2-0

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 9 (Canadian Press).—Speedy and deceptive Detroit Cougars blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates here Saturday night 2 to 0, in a National League Hockey game in which Hay, Detroit left wing, did all the scoring. Hay put across both goals in the first period, the first on a pass from Aurie in 3.09 minutes and the second unassisted in 4.23. After which the home aggregation held the invaders to even terms or a little better.

The last time the two teams met at Detroit, they battle to a 3—3 deadlock.

SOME CURLING COMMANDMENTS

An Edmonton "fans" sends this one:

1. Thou shalt have no other game before me, for I am the roarin' game which was in the beginning (even in the stone age), is now and ever shall be.

2. Come not unto the ice with the old house broom. Thou canst not quicken the pace of a dying rock with a last year's broom.

3. Thou shalt learn thy turns both the out and the in, for the skip will not hold him guiltless who throweth a wrong turn.

4. Play not a running shot when thou art asked for a guard, lest thou raise thine own shot, so sending tehy skip in the air; such play getteth his goat, queereth his game, causeth him to swallow his gum and to revile thee openly.

5. Thou shalt harken diligently to the defeated skip when his voice is lifted up in lamentations against the punk ice, and thou shalt not turn thy face from him when he blameth the third man. Even so shalt thou secure a listener against the day of thine own defeat.

6. Thou shalt not strew straws from thy broom in the path of thine own or thine adversaries' rock. Nor shalt thou spit in front of them, causing them to become pork, for even as pork is an abomination to the Jews, so also is the hog in sight of the skip.

7. Thou shalt have no discourse with thine adversary while his foot is in the hack, and his hand is on rock, but if thou wilt, thou canst pray for him.

8. Thou shalt not push or kick a rock into the house from behind stealthily, for the opposing skip will know of a surety and his anger will be kindled against thee, and he will rise up in righteous indignation over thee and smite thee, even with the edge of the broom handle, and thust thee hence from the sight of the curlers, and the days of thy curling will be ended, for this is an unpardonable sin.

9. Thou shalt not covet thy opponents' rock, nor his broom, nor his lead player. Neither shalt thou flick from him his third man, who in his mainstay and wall of defense in the day of battle.

10. And when thou comest to the last end and hast won the game and hast still a rock to play, and thou playest with great deliberation, and thy rock gambols down the ice, sailing jauntily round the guard and through the port, and wicketh the shot rock, and thou comest down the ice in fear and trembling, and art hailed by the enemy as a good sport and curler, and by mine own side with grians and murmurings, and findest thou hast peddled the game away, thou shalt receive the preferred hand of thine adversary and wring it, even if in thy heart thou shouldt wish it were his neck.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THE PROFITS OF THE YEAR.

Count up the profits of the year,
Now, as the old year ends,
Not only dollars that came near,
But friends.
Your house is richer the amount
Of kindness you recall;
Oh, when you count life's profits, count
Them all.

Charge off the losses of the year,
Now, as the old year dies;
Forget some hatred or some fear
Unwise.

The house is poorer that lets live
Some foolish quarrel yet;
But only those who first forgive
Forget.

Take off a balance for the year,
Now, as the old year goes:
The faith more sure, the friends more dear,
One knows.
Your house no greater wealth may hold,
May have no larger store,
And yet be richer, not with gold,
But more.

HEAVY SCORING ENGLISH LEAGUE

Tranmere Rovers Set Record for Northern Section of Third Division.

HOTSPURS WIN

LONDON, England, Jan. 9 (Canadian Press Cable).—Heavy scoring marked a number of the soccer matches in English and Scottish leagues on Saturday. The biggest bag was secured by Tranmere Rovers against Durham City, when twelve goals were secured, the former club getting eleven. This is a record for the Northern Section of the English Third Division. In the same division Darlington beat Lincoln City by nine goals to two. In the Scottish League Dunfermline Athletic lost out to Partick Thistle by one goal to seven, while Hamilton Academicals defeated Bo'ness by seven goals to nil. In the First Division of the English League Tottenham Hotspurs and Newcastle United got seven goals between them, the Spurs netting five. Bolton Wanderers won from Blackburn Rovers by six to one, while Huddersfield Town trimmed West Ham United by five goals to one.

Sheffield United trounced the Arsenal by six goals to four. In the Second Division of the English League West Bromwich Albion got six tallies against Grimsby Town.

Everton maintained their position at the head of the English League by beating Middlesbrough. Dean put the leaders ahead after eight minutes of play. He scored again in the second half after Peacock had equalized for Middlesbrough. The shot was a difficult one from an angle. Irvine also scored for Everton. McClelland, inside right for Middlesbrough, and Nelson, inside left for Everton came to blows during the match, which was watched by 45,000 people, and amidst great excitement were chased from the grounds by the referee.

The predicament London found itself in Saturday owing to the floods doubtless explained the poor crowd of 4,000 which watched the Spurs and Newcastle United perform at White Hart Lane. Osborne put the home team ahead with a beautiful backheel shot after twenty-six minutes of play. He scored twice more before the interval and once after. Dimmock also registered for the Spurs. The United's tallies came from McKay and Hudspeth. The latter's goal came from a penalty shot.

Sheffield United made a dramatic start against the Arsenal, running in four goals in fourteen minutes through Johnson, twice; Partridge and Gillespie. The Arsenal fought back gamely and got a brace of goals through Hoard and Brain. After the turn round Johnson got another couple, while Brain and Hoard added to their first innings score.

Forty thousand turned out at Aston to see the Villa team bow to Liverpool after a closely contested game. Chester scored for the Villa after three minutes of play. Then Edmed equalized twelve minutes later. Chester, Edmed and Reid (Liverpool) all scored before the interval. After half time Capewell (Villa), and Hopkins (Liverpool) scored. Hopkins turned in one of the finest games in his career.

Bolton Wanderers had five regulars absent owing to injuries or illness. Notwithstanding this and also the fact they were playing on the Blackburn Rovers own grounds the Wanderers had their opponents three down at half time through the efforts of Gibson, who netted twice, and Jack. Smith and Jack added to the Wanderers' score, while Mitchell got the Rovers' solitary tally.

West Ham United started off finely against Huddersfield Town. Watson scored for them in eight minutes, Yews made it two for the United. Then Huddersfield came into action and before the interval Jackson had scored twice and Brown once for them. Brown scored twice for Huddersfield after the rest.

Cardiff City gave a poor display at home against the Wednesday, only getting a draw. Seed scored for the Sheffield team, while Ferguson for Cardiff scored. Both points came in the second half.

Amos and Vernon scored the two goals by which Bury blanked Burnley.

Portsmouth did well to get a draw with Derby County at Derby. Scorers were: for Derby, Stephenson, twice; for Portsmouth, Baines and Davies.

Others scorers in the First Division were:

Manchester United, Hanson; Leicester City, Lockhead and Barry.

Chelsea gave a flash of its early season form when they beat Blackpool on the northern club's own grounds. The game was even until after the interval, Browell and Tremelling have scored for Blackpool and Andy Wilson and Thompson for Chelsea. Wilding and Brown added another two for the Pensioners.

Manchester City accomplished the unexpected by beating Port Vale on the latter's own grounds. All the scoring was done after the interval, by Hicks and Roberts for the city, and by Gillespie for Port Vale.

It was a gala day at Southampton as that club opened a new grandstand. W. Pickford, senior vice president of the Football Association, did the honors. Southampton played well up to the interval, but were beaten afterwards by Leeds United, White, twice, and Wainstcott and Ketley got goals for Leeds, while Murphy scored for Southampton.

Scorers in the Fulham-Swansea Town match were: Fulham: Elliott, McKenna, Craig; Swansea: Fowler and Lewis.

Southend put up a gallant fight against Millwall, the leaders in the Southern Section of the Third Division, but many promising offensives were spoiled by poor work near the goal. Cock scored for Millwall before the interval.

For Darlington Lees scored twice, Ruddy twice, and McGiffen before the interval. Then Lincoln completed a couple. After the rest, Ruddy, Gregg, Lees and Cochrane completed the Darlington total.

Waring scored six of Tranmere's goals. The others came from Jones, Nicholson (through his own goal), Gartment and Littlehales, two. Raine saved Durham from being blanked.

Scorers in Scottish First Division games were: Clyde, Hood and Borland; Hearts: J. Johnstone and Kerr; Dundee: O'Hare and McNab; St. Mirren: Rankin, Dunfermline, Innes; Partick Thistle: Salisbury (three times), Gibson (twice), McDougall and Boardman. Falkirk: Morrison. Celtic: McCrory (three times). Hamilton Academicals: Dick (four times), Tolland (twice). Hibernians: McCall and Ritchie. Motherwell: Keenan and Cameron. Kilmarnock: Cunningham (twice). Aberdeen: Bruce. Queen's Park: McAlpine. Airdrieonians, McKenna. Rangers: Marshall and Cunningham. Cowdenbeath, Connaby and Flannigan.

CANADIENS BEAT LEAFS NINE-ONE

League Leaders Show Toronto Fans How Hockey Should Be Played.

OTHER N.H.L. SCORES.

TORONTO, Jan. 9.— While Canadiens had been admitted to be the most colorful club in the National Hockey League in recent years and the one club that plays hockey as it should be played by those who prefer the game unadulterated by any of the fancy trimmings that have been added to make the pastime more of a spectacle to the more or less untutored fans in the American cities in the league, it was not until Saturday evening that Toronto followers of the game realized what a wonderful club the Habitants have gathered together. Speed is one of the primary essentials of a hockey club and in their 9 to 1 victory over the Maple Leafs the group leaders, who are making a run-away race of the four-month schedule, showed speed to burn and they burnt it with reckless abandon.

DETROIT BEATS PIRATES.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 9.—The speedy and deceptive Detroit Cougars blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates here Saturday night 2 to 0 in a National League hockey game in which Hay, Detroit left wing, did all the scoring. Hay put across both goals in the first period, the first on a pass from Aurie in 3.09 minutes and the second unassisted in 14.33, after which the home aggregation held the invaders to even terms or a little better.

The last time the two teams met at Detroit they battled to a 3-3 deadlock.

RANGERS SWAMP HAWKS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Lester Patrick's New York Ranger boys read the papers of how Canadiens, the leaders in the international group, had made 9 goals in a game with Toronto's withering Maple Leafs on Saturday night and they went out in their game with the Chicago Black Hawks at the Garden Arena last night to duplicate the stunt. They didn't quite make it. They stopped at five but that was plenty to beat the Chicago Black Hawks, tail-enders of the American division. The score was 5 to 0.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

ENGLISH PANTOMIME, 'ALADDIN,' WILL BE SEEN HERE SOON.

Those who recall the pantomimes of their early days in the Old Country will be interested to learn that a real Old Country pantomime, thoroughly up-to-date, yet distinguished by all the old-time characteristics that have made English pantomime a unique entertainment the world over, will be presented at the Grand Theatre on Saturday.

"Aladdin" is coming direct from London with the original principals and the original production. It depicts the age-old legend of the wonderful lamp. Dave Lee, the leading comedian, who will portray the Widow Twankey, is famous throughout the British Isles for such roles, having played them in all the leading pantomimes in all the prominent centres for years. He has just completed an extensive tour of Australia and South Africa, and in the latter country he played Mother Goose in a pantomime of that name. This will be his first visit to Canada.

Miss Lillian Barnes, who will play Pekoe, is noted as a pantomime 'boy' everywhere in England, and has also played successfully in the same type of entertainment in Australia. She has a fine stage presence and a splendid contralto voice. She has appeared in leading roles in revues and musical comedies in London and the provinces, and is a very popular favorite.

There will be a special English ballet under the direction of Miss Phyllis Retford, sister of Ella Retford, the well-known vaudeville comedienne and dancer. Miss Retford is herself an authority on stage dancing of all kinds. Dancing and singing will be outstanding features of "Aladdin" as well as spectacular effects and real pantomime comedy. In all, there are eleven scenes with as many changes in costumes, and some brilliant color effects.

"Aladdin" opened its tour of the Dominion at Brockville on September 12, and went to Montreal for its premiere in Canada on September 19. The entire Canadian tour is under the direction of B. E. Lang, of O'Neill and Lang, All-Canada Tours.

AT THE REGENT.

ALL PAY AND NO WORK TAKES JOY TO JOBLESS MOB

All work and no play may very well make Jack a dull boy, but all pay and no work—ah! that's quite a different matter indeed!

Getting paid for doing nothing is no every day public occurrence, but strange things happen where the movies are made.

The fact is that a sizeable aggregation of down-and-out humans recently had that good fortune in the city of Los Angeles.

It all occurred during the filming of Ray Rockett's production, "See You in Jail," the First National picture, now playing at the Regent Theatre.

Despite the well-advertised prosperity of Los Angeles, there is always the flotsam and jetsam of humanity, usually minus work and money, that is cast up on the not-always smiling shores of life.

A Breathing Space.

They congregate in Pershing Square, a little breathing space in the teeming city. The grass, trees and benches lure the mendicants, the temporarily out-of-work, the transients of all sorts. They read want-ads, talk incessantly and sometimes merely sit and dream—of who knows what?

Every mother's son of them, one morning at nine o'clock, received the surprise of his life; a chance to earn seven dollars and a half merely to continue doing nothing naturally. Many of them were asked to remain on their benches peacefully dozing, just as they were found by Director Joseph Henabery.

Alice Day worked with Jack Mulhall in these episodes and there were just a few women among the temporary extras, all of whom gladly accepted the chance to earn the money. Oddly enough, a few men who were obviously in need of money, flatly refused the offer to act and walked away, disgusted at being disturbed in their siestas!

In recent years the Canadian game of lacrosse has made big strides in England. It is now played not only by men, but also by many of the English girls' schools.

These two should wear the Maple Leaf worthily at the Olympics. At left Joe Wright, Jr., sterling single culler, whose achievements on the water last season were outstanding. The stalwart Argonaut youngster proved himself to be a worthy son of a gallant sire by his aquatic performances at Philadelphia, Royal Henley and Canadian Henley, and there is little doubt that he will add to his laurels the coming year, not only on this continent, but in the old country. At right is shown a close-up of Cyril Coaffee, formerly of Winnipeg, but now of the Illinois A. C. Chicago, who won the Canadian championships at 100 and 220 yards at Varsity, and who won the invitation hundred yard race, one of the big feature events at the C.N.E. games. Coaffee was given 9 4-5 seconds for the hundred on both occasions and he faced a head wind both times. At Varsity two watches caught him in 9 3-5 seconds. The feature of his race at the C.N.E. games was the ease with which he defeated De Hart Hubbard of Cincinnati and Chester Bowman of Newark. Hubbard was on the United States Olympic team and Bowman is the hope of the United States in the sprints for the next Olympic. Coaffee came from behind at 60 yards and beat them three yards going away.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

To-day's Bedtime Story

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE COLD ICICLE.

(Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Whew! My goodness! How cold I am!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily one day as he hopped over the snow-covered fields toward the woods, where he hoped to find an adventure. "This surely is winter all right!"

The rabbit gentleman drew his fur coat more closely about him and hopped faster, for that made him warmer. But still he shivered with the cold as he looked around for something to happen. For when things happened to him, Uncle Wiggily had adventures.

"Dear me! How cold I am!" said Mr. Longears again.

"Well, if you are cold in that nice, fur coat you wear, what about me?" suddenly asked a voice close to the rabbit gentleman. Uncle Wiggily jumped so quickly that he nearly lost one of his rubbers in the snow. Then he looked around, but he saw no one.

"It must have been an echo," he murmured.

"I am not an echo," went on the voice. "But I am very cold!"

"Dear me! That was some one speaking," said Uncle Wiggily. "I wonder who it could be? I hope it isn't the Fox or the Bob Cat.

Uncle Wiggily saw a long slender icicle.

"No, I am neither of those bad chaps," went on the voice. "But when I hear you speak of being cold it makes me laugh. Or I would laugh if I wasn't frozen. You cold! Ha! Ha! Look at me!"

"Where are you?" asked the rabbit.

"Hanging on the edge of this stump just behind you," answered the voice. Looking around, Uncle Wiggily saw a long, slender icicle clinging to the edge of a big, black stump. In the last rain some water had gathered in a hollow on top of the stump. Some of the water ran over the edge and, dripping down, was frozen into an icicle.

"Ho,so you are cold, are you?" asked the rabbit, who did not feel quite as chilly now that he had hopped about. "Well, no wonder you are an icicle, and icicles must be cold."

"You think so, do you?" asked the sliver of frozen water. "Well, let me tell you it isn't any fun! I wish I had a nice, fur coat like yours. I wish I could be warm for once in my life."

"Nothing is easier," chuckled Uncle Wiggily, blowing his warm breath on his frosty paws. "I'll take you home to my hollow stump bungalow and put you near the fire. There you will soon be as warm as toast."

"Please do!" begged the icicle. "I don't remember ever having been warm in all my life. And you were talking about being cold! Very silly, I call it!"

"You shall have your wish," said the rabbit gentleman. Very carefully he broke the cold icicle off the edge of the stump. Putting the cold chap, with his funny, lumpy face in his pocket, Uncle Wiggily hopped back over the fields and through the woods until he reached his hollow stump bungalow.

"What have you there?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, as Mr. Longears began pulling something from his pocket.

"This is a cold icicle who wants to get warm," said the rabbit. "I'll stand him up in the chimney corner near the fire."

"Thank you, so much!" murmured the icicle.

Uncle Wiggily's little bunny children crowded about him, begging for a story of his adventures.

"But nothing really happened me to-day, my dears," said the rabbit. "I found a cold icicle and brought him home with me to get warm."

"Oh, let us see the icicle!" begged the little bunnies. But when they looked in the chimney corner where the icicle had been stood, he was gone. He wasn't there any more.

"Oh, Daddicums, you are teasing us!" laughed Jingle.

"You didn't bring any icicle home at all!" said Jangle, who was Jingle's sister. "Go on now, Daddicums! Tell us a real story, please!"

"Oh, but I did bring home an icicle," said Mr. Longears. "He was a long, thin fellow, and so cold that I took pity on him and brought him home in my pocket to warm him. I don't see where he went."

"Maybe he climbed up the chimney," said Tumble, who was a little rabbit boy always falling down. So down he fell this time and while he was on the floor he looked up the chimney. "But I can't see any icicle," said Tumble. And then, all of a sudden, Baby Bunty gave a loud scream.

'Y' GYM. CLASSES BEGIN CAMPAIGN

Babies' Clinic Leads at Present in the Race For New Members.

A large poster on the bulletin board of the Y.W.C.A. is attracting much attention. The poster illustrates a trip to Healthland. On one side are lined up airplanes, representing the various gymnasium classes, ready to carry passengers across to Healthland.

Last week each gymnasium class appointed the pilot for its ship and each new member brought in will enable the class plane to move one mile on its cross water flight. Eager competition has already started and several new passengers are lined up ready for the hop-off to-day at four o'clock. The Babies' class already has five passengers, the Juniors three, ladies' class two, and dancing classes one. Reports from time to time will indicate position of the planes in the race. The pilots of the planes are: Intermediate School Girls, Helen Cole; Elementary Business Girls, Marjories Long; Ladies' Classes, Mrs. A. Robinson; Senior Business Girls, Gertrude Gimblett; Babies' Gymansium and Rhythmetic, Evelyn Hill and Mary Kingsbury; Esthetic Dancing Classes, Mary Dunlop; Senior School Girls, Viola Harvey; Junior School Girls, Marion Harvey.

Especially attractive little dodgers and registration forms bear the slogan, "Passengers All Aboard, Airplane Trip to Healthland, via Y.W.C.A. Gymnasium," and each member of the classes is enthusiastically making known this opportunity for healthy exercises, basketball, folk and esthetic dancing, good times, fun and friends, to as many as possible. Posters are also on display in store windows and the Young Women's Christian Association hopes that many new members will this month start on the quest for health through gymnasium activities.

Best Remedy for Kidneys and Bladder

British Columbia Man Used Dodd's Kidney Pills

"I have been using Dodd's Kidney Pills for Rheumatism and Bladder trouble," writes Mr. W. E. Howey, R.R. 1, Langley Prairie, B.C. "I had tried a good many medicines but with little results. I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, taking three boxes altogether. Before taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I was hardly able to walk, but now I am quite well. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best remedy for all Kidney trouble." Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely and simply a Kidney remedy. They tone up and strengthen weak kidneys so that they can do their work of straining the impurities from the blood.

FAMOUS LOVE ROMANCES — POCAHONTAS AND CAPTAIN JOHN SMITH (I) — By Nicholas Afonsky

One day, over three hundred years ago, the little Princess Matoaka, daughter of the Indian chief Powhatan, was playing in the "long house" of her father's tribe on the banks of the James River, Virginia, when the deerskin curtains that formed the doorway at one end parted, and an Indian runner entered.

Little Matoaka was called Pocahontas—meaning tomboy in her own language—because of her love of rough play. She rushed up to the runner, her brother, who made his way to the Indian braves seated about the fire with Chief Powhatan. They knew the runner must bring news of the strange white men who were settling nearby.

Braves and squaws pressed forward to hear the runner's story. "The white captain is caught!" he cried. Then he told the story of his capture. Two hundred Indians, hidden in the woods, had watched Captain John Smith, from Jamestown, the new settlement, as he landed with an Indian guide from a boat in the river.

When Smith had advanced into the woods the ambushed Indians, at a signal, had begun shooting arrows at him. Smith, thrusting his Indian guide in front of him, slowly retreated toward his boat. But he slipped in a bog, and the Indians got him. What should they do with him? "Kill him!" cried many voices.

TWO HANGED AT VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, Jan. 9 (Canadian Press).—The double execution of Kenneth H. Bailey and Yuichi Yaoki took place at Oakalla Jail here today. Bailey was hanged for the murder of Charles Drury at Trail, B.C., in June, and Yaoki for the murder of a Japanese woman in Vancouver last fall.

The men mounted the scaffold at 6.50 a.m. and at 8.5 the hangman sprung the trap. Both men were pronounced dead nine minutes later. The condemned men met death bravely. Bailey, first to reach the scaffold, laughed cheerfully at some remark made by the guard and as the black cap was pulled over his head called out: "So long Yaoki. So long Boys." Yaoki was accompanied by a Japanese Mission priest who prayed in Japanese. Bailey was not accompanied by a clergyman.

While the executioner was preparing Yaoki, Bailey became impatient and called twice "Let her go." The trap was sprung just as he called out the second time.

STANLEY LOWE

the interest of the City of Peterborough," said Dr. Holloway.

Ex-Mayor J. J. Turner congratulated the newly-elected members and said he was proud that the Westclox by-law had carried for it is industries that Peterborough needs, for they are the backbone of the community. He expressed pleasure at the action of last year's council in erecting a memorial gate at Nicholls Oval and hoped that more would be erected this year, as the public is in sympathy with this project and desirous that it be carried further. He mentioned making part of Jackson Park into a zoological garden where wild animals can be kept in the proper cages. "An arch should be erected at the corner of Charlotte Street and Monaghan Road saying that this is the Gateway to the Kawartha Lakes," said Mr. Turner.

Ex-Mayor W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., said he hoped that during the year the Council would see fit to erect a suitable monument to the soldiers of Peterborough who were killed overseas. "I mentioned this matter three years ago at the armistice service in the Capitol Theatre. I was told then the matter was under way but nothing as yet has been done towards this worthy cause," said Mr. Bradburn.

For Mr. Bradburn's and the public's information, Mayor Denne said that before July, 1928, one of the best manuments in the country would be erected in Peterborough to her fallen heroes, as he was the chairman of the finance committee for that fund, and rapid progress was being made.

While in committee, Alderman Cotton said that the big question that the Council had to deal with immediately would be the one day in seven for the members of the Fire Department.

Mayor Denne announced that the Mayor's dinner will not be held on the night of a Council meeting this year.

Alderman Macdonald, Greene, Phelan, Cotton, and Stocker all served last year as chairmen of the committees of which they were appointed heads of today.

Mayor Denne's address to the Council was as follows:

"It is with a feeling of gratification that I take my place this morning as Mayor of Peterborough. I was born in this city and have lived here all my life, and I feel deeply the confidence which my fellow citizens have expressed in me by electing me to this position. My father took a deep interest in the public affairs of the city. He was a member of this Council for several years, was a member and chairman of the Board of Education, and president of the Little Lake Cemetery Company, and was serving the city as Collector of Taxes when he was called away. My brother Harry was elected Mayor in the first year of the century and filled this chair for two years. It is, therefore, perhaps not surprising that I should take an interest in the City's affairs, as I certainly do and have done. I feel the responsibility of this position as keenly as I do the honor it brings, and I wish to ask you, and also the citizens generally, for hearty co-operation during the year in an endeavor to advance the interests of Peterborough in every way.

"There are several very important subjects that require consideration, and some of them call for prompt attention.

Full Time M.O.H.

"The branch of the Provincial Laboratory is to be continued here, and one of the promises made to the Provincial Minister of Health in this connection was that the Council would immediately take up the question of employing a full-time Medical Officer of Health. The school authorities and other interested bodies will have to be consulted, and while taking such measures as may be deemed advisable to preserve and improve the health of the community the effect of any such measures on the taxes must be kept in view and the expenses kept down as low as possible.

"Attention must be given to the sewage disposal works. I wish to ask the members of the Board of Works, and especially the chairman, to at once enquire into the present condition of the plant, and if further action is required to have a report on it brought before the Council as soon as possible.

Gas Plant for Sale

"Another important subject requiring immediate attention is contained in a letter received from the chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario toward the close of last year. The chairman points out that the Central Ontario Power Association recommended that the Commission should dispose of all properties except electrical utilities included in the Central Ontario system, and asks that the question of the purchase of the gas plant by this city be considered at as early a date as possible, and if the city is not interested they intend to see if they can dispose of it to other interests. An answer to this request should be given promptly."

"The Central Ontario Power Association has had before it the subject of the purchase of the generating stations and transmission lines by the municipalities, but a decision on this question has been deferred to give the Commission time to dispose of the properties other than the electrical system. In the meantime the Government has been requested to depreciate the capital account of the system because of the inclusion in the original purchase of these extraneous properties and the high price paid. The subject of the power supply and its cost is an important one to this city and should receive close study.

"The future growth of Peterborough depends upon its industrial expansion, and no opportunity should be lost to add to the number of important industries that are in the city. I shall be glad to assist the chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee in any way that I can in this matter.

Paving Program

"Last year the construction of paving was authorized on Park Street from Brock Street to McDonnel Street, on McDonnel Street from Reid Street to Park Street, and on Aylmer Street from Charlotte Street to the Canadian Pacific Railway. These pavements are to be of concrete. The necessary action should be taken to have the work begun as early in the spring as the weather will permit.

"It will be well for the committees to take steps at once to have the estimates prepared as soon as it can be done. When the appropriations are made the Council and the committees will know what work can be done, and, besides, the Collector of Taxes has been authorized to mail the tax bills to the ratepayers and this will take more time in his office than when the bills were delivered.

"The subject of regularations for the parking of motor cars requires further attention.

"Other matters will come before the Council during the year, and I feel certain that every member of the Council will use his best judgment on every subject with the one object in view of administering all the affairs of the city in the best interests of the citizens."

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
In reading the paper on Friday I noticed my name connected with Mr. and Mrs. Howard, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Scott, concerning gossip, stating I took great pleasure in apologizing for statements said to be made by me. Some little time ago I took back a statement—not statements—which I made to the said people themselves, not to others, or through gossip.
I wish the public to know that if there is gossip it is not done by me, and that I did not put those letters in the paper. Signed.

CANADA'S DEBT HAS DECREASED

Country's Income and Expenditure Both Higher This Year.

MARGIN LARGER.

OTTAWA, Jan. 9. — (Canadian Press.)—The statement of public debt, revenue and expenditure shows a decrease in the debt during the first nine months of the current fiscal year of sixty-six million dollars. During the preceding fiscal year the debt was reduced by forty-six million dollars in the nine-month period. Revenue from all sources, including the post office, customs duties, and taxes, are all higher during the nine months ended Dec. 31 than they were in the same period in 1926. Expenditures in most government departments have increased also, though in the month of December, 1927, the departments spent slightly less than in December, 1926.

BILLBOARDS SOLD TO TORONTO FIRM

Hodgson and Willison Dispose of Business in This City.

The firm of Hodgson & Willison, owners of billboards in the city, has sold out its business to a Toronto concern ,which is taking over the plant this month. Since the death of the late F. A. Hodgson, six years ago, Mrs. Hodgson, with her partner, Charles Willison, has carried on the business very successfully, holding the unique position of being the only woman in Canada, and the second woman on the continent of America, to engage in this business. Mrs. Hodgson has also sold her home at the corner of Charlotte and Rubidge Streets.

DEATH.

BATE.—At Toronto, on Sunday, Jan. 8, Walter Bate (formerly of Peterborough), aged 56.
Funeral from his late residence, 2726 Danforth Avenue, Toronto, on Wednesday, Jan. 11, at 2.30 p.m. Interment at Toronto.

IN MEMORIAM.

LOWES.—In loving memory of my dear husband, William Lowes, who passed away January 8th, 1926.

"It is lonesome without you, dear Will,
And sad the weary way,
For life to me is not the same
Since you were called away."

"However long my life may last,
Whatever land I view,
Whatever joys or griefs be mine,
I will always think of you, dear Will."

—Sadly missed by loving Wife.

LOWES.—In loving memory of our dear father, William Lowes, who died January 8th, 1926.

"Oh how we miss him, words cannot tell,
His bright, happy face we all loved so well;
The sweetest of memories are all that are left
Of a dear loving father gone to his rest."

—Ever remembered by Son and Daughter.

Obituary

WILLIAM EASON.

Following a brief illness there passed away at his late residence, 670 Reid street, on Sunday evening, Jan. 8th, William Eason, a former Otonabee farmer, but for the past twenty-two years, a resident of Peterborough. He was in his 74th year. His death marks the passing of a consistent attendant at St. Andrew's church.
Left to mourn are his sorrowing widow, one son, William R., residing at home,and one daughter, Mrs.Donald P. Dickson, of this city.
The funeral will take place from the family residence, 670 Reid street, on Tuesday, January 10. The service, at 3 p.m., will be in charge of the Rev. J. W. Gordon. Interment will be in the Little Lake cemetery.

PATRICK McCALLUM

e MARMORA, Jan. 9. — A fall on the ice in the backyard of his residence in Marmora village on New Year's Eve hastened the end of Marmora's oldest resident, Patrick McCallum. This highly esteemed citizen passed away at his residence at midnight on Thursday at the advanced age of ninety-one. The deceased was a lifelong resident of the community having been born in Marmora Township, the son of James and Mary McCallum, his mother's maiden name being Hughes. He had lived in the village for the past eight years, occupying property to the west of Crowe River. The greater part of his life, however, was spent in Marmora Township on the farm adjacent to Marmora C.N.R. station, which is now occupied by Pierre Murphy. When a young man, Mr. McCallum married Annie Shannon of Wapoose, Prince Edward County. There are no children of the marriage, but adopted children survive to remember the kindly atmosphere of the home afforded them before they made their own elsewhere.
The deceased may be considered the oldest worshipper of the Sacred Heart congregation, although advancing years had kept him away from his beloved church of late. In politics, he was a Liberal. Though not known to have had any special hobby in life, he may be classed as a lover of horses, since he always kept a team of the best when following the agricultural pursuit. He was also very fond of entertaining folk at his home. Old and young alike were always welcome and if there was the least partiality shown, it was the younger generation who benefitted. He is survived by his widow and one sister, Mrs. Dave Flynn Sr., of Marmora. A brother John predeceased him some years ago.
Patrick McCallum's name is listed in the Directory of the County of Hastings for 1860-1861 in the list of residents of Marmora Township to read thus: McCallum, Patrick A., yeoman, 7th Concession, Part Lot 1. He appears to have been the last survivor of the 241 named in the list.

MR. JUSTICE CURRAN.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 9 (Canadian Press).—Mr. Justice J. P. Curran, of the Court of the King's Bench, died in hospital here to-day, following a minor operation.

MRS. W. A. ANDERSON.

KEENE, January 9.—A deep gloom was cast over the entire community on Sunday, January 1st, when it was learned that Mrs. Anderson, wife of W. A. Anderson, M.P.P., had passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital, following a serious operation. Practically the whole community attended the funeral at Keene on Thursday afternoon to pay a last tribute to one who was a friend to everybody. The large auditorium of the United Church, Keene, of which Mrs. Anderson was a member, was filled to capacity, about seven hundred being present.
Rev. John Archibald had charge of the services, assisted at the church by Rev. Rufus Garrett of Hiawatha, and at the graveside by Rev. R. F. Stillman ,of Norwood.
A quartette at the church service sang "Hold Thou My Hand."
Some of those present from a distance were F. D. Kerr, K.C., Peterborough, Mr. G. A. Brethen, of Norwood, and Mr. F. G. Sandy, M.P.P., of Omemee.
At the close of the address, Mr. Archibald paid a fine tribute to his friend, Mrs. Anderson, part of it being as follows:
"As was said from this pulpit on Sunday morning, there is no parting we have felt so intensely for years as a church and community as the parting with our friend, Mrs. William Anderson. She will be greatly missed, for she was held in universal esteem. 'True-hearted, whole-hearted, faithful and loyal' may well be said of her.
"She possessed in a great measure a keen intellect, broad, charitable outlook, and deep spirited insight. She had a keen sense of humor, arising out of her sane, Christian grasp of life and things. She had almost a genius for adaptability, 'fitting in' in situations where others would have failed.
"As a community worker she was especially interested in education and the temperance cause. Some of us know how her whole soul was poured out in the campaign against the liquor traffic.
"No service was counted a sacrifice which in any way helped to increase the strength and the spiritual usefulness of our community life. She was heart and soul identified with the public interests, municipal and political, of her partner in life, a fine comradeship existing between them for nearly twenty-five years.
"Hers was a radiant personality, quiet and unassuming in manner, and yet fearless when some noble cause was at stake. She was kindly and helpful in the performance of all her duties, and won the deep respect of the whole community, and endeared herself to all her friends in the church.
"The interests of the church always lay close to her heart—president of the Women's Missionary Society, Bible Class teacher of exceptional ability and consecration, a generous supporter of home and foreign missions ,and of all good causes, a devoted wife, her passing makes life poorer for a wide circle of friends, and leaves a blank not easily filled.
"For the past few years I got to know something of her genuine worth, of her dependability, of her wisdom when her counsel was needed. I repeat the words, her passing leaves a blank not easily filled.
"Her beautiful life and fine personality will be treasured by many who knew her as a good Christian lady. For that was the secret of her victorious life. She was a humble follower of the Man of Nazareth."
Besides a sorrowing husband, she leaves to mourn her loss her mother, Mrs. Coon, two sisters Ethel and Mrs. Uncal ,and two brothers Henry and John.
The pall-bearers were: Ambrose Doris, C. Nelson, James Gray, Walter MacFarlane, S. M. Comrie, and William Drummond.

Wheat Values Drop As Shipments Increase

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (Canadian Press).—With world shipments increasing, wheat values tended downward early today after an irregular start. Trade lacked volume and it took but little selling to bring about setbacks. Opening at ⅛ to ¼ cent decline to ¼ cent advance, wheat later underwent a sag all around. Corn and oats were also easier, corn starting unchanged to ¼ to ⅜ cent lower and subsequently showing a moderate general drop.
Opening prices were: Wheat, March 130, May 131⅝. Corn, March 87⅝, May 90⅞. Oats, March 54, May 55⅛.

Nickel and Christie Make Rapid Changes

TORONTO, Jan. 9. — Canadian Press. — A strong upturn in nickel, and Christie-Brown, followed by a severe reaction, and a spectacular gain by Canadian oil were features of the extremely busy session of the Toronto stock exchange this morning. Christie made a new high of 112½, then sagged to 106½ at noon, fractionally below Saturday's close. Nickel touched 92¾ and closed around 90¾, a net loss of half a point. Canadian oil climbed eight at 57. The firm features of an uncertain list were Zimmerknit at 25, Page-Hersey common and preferred, and Massey-Harris at 41½, all of which gained from ¾ to 1¾ points. Weaker issues included new Canadian Canners, which lost fractionally on removal to the listed section on withdrawal of the old stock. Bell Telephone and Brazilian lost one to two points. British American oil firmed fractionally but other oils eased.

Call Money Goes Up; Causing Heaviness

NEW YORK, Jan. . — (Canadian Press.)—Price movements lacked uniformity in to-day's stock market. Standard Industrials were inclined to heaviness, particularly after the call money rate was marked up from 4 to 4½ per cent, but aggressive bullish operations were conducted in a small assortment of foods and specialties. Trading failed to measure up to the terrific pace of last week.
Higher call money rates followed the calling of about $25,000,000 in loans which was expected in view of the sharp deficit in reserve shown in last Saturday's clearing house statement. Otherwise, there was little in the day's news to influence the price movement.
United States' Steel common was reactionary despite the predictions of a substantial increase in tonnage in the December figures to be published at noon to-morrow. Yellow Truck was bid up more than two points but all other motors were reactionary. The announcement of an increase in Hudson Motor prices caused some surprise, following as it did a series of price reductions on the models of other manufacturers.

Mine Trend Uncertain; Trading Heavy Today

TORONTO, January 9 (Canadian Press). — The trend on the standard Mining Exchange continued uncertain to-day, despite an increase in trading that boosted total transactionsover the million share mark. Sudbury was a firm leader gaining 45 at 14.25, while the largest recession was Hollinger's 15 point loss at 17.85. Jackson Manion recorded 2½ at 32½ and McIntyre gained 15 at 27.65, while Kirkland Lake, Aconda, Columbus Kirkland, and Crown Reserve gained from one to two points. Hollinger was accompanied lower by Howey, which lost one at 180 after touching 191. Treadwell eased 15 at 25.75, and Teck Hughes, Kirkland, Hunton, Dome, and Bidgood had moderate losses.

CABINET MINISTERS BUSY AT PRESENT

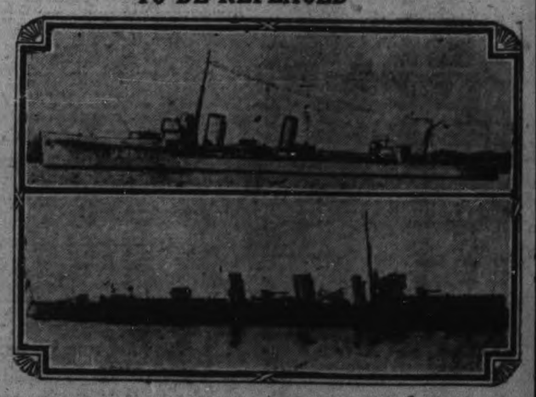
Hear Delegations and Do Departmental Work Besides Holding Councils.

OTTAWA, Jan. 9. — Canadian Pess. — Cabinet ministers' days are becoming crowded with pre-sessional work. To-day the cabinet meets two delegations one representing the Trades and Labor congress and one representing the retail merchants.
Premier King is having interviews with Premiers Maclean of British Columbia and Premier Brownlee of Alberta, as well as several private citizens. The cabinet will meet sometime during the afternoon and throughout the day the ministers will try to catch some time for their departmental work.

BIRTH.

DALLIN. — To Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Dallin, (nee Florence Saunders) at Nicholls Hospital, Jan 7, 1928, a son—percival Norman.

TO BE REPLACED



The government will seek authority at the coming session of parliament for the building of two new modern destroyers to replace the Patriot and Patrician. In the meantime arrangements have been made with the British admiralty to obtain two destroyers to carry on the work of the Patriot and Patrician which are to be signed out of the Canadian navy. ABOVE is shown a vessel of the type of the Patriot and Patrician. They have a displacement of 1,004 tons, and are 265 feet in length, and carry 3-4 inch guns, 1-2 pounds pom-pom, 1 machine gun and 4-21 inch tubes in pairs. The ship carries a crew of 82 and travels at a speed of 35 knots an hour. BELOW is shown a vessel of the type of the Torbay and Toreador, which will replace the Patriot and Patrician.

GENERAL HUGHES ADDRESSES ST. PAUL'S MEN'S CLUB BANQUET ON PENITENTIARIES OF CANADA

Gives Brief Account of Penitentiary Work Throughout the Dominion.

MUSICAL PROGRAM.

City Council and Various Other Civic Bodies Represented in Assembly.

The St. Paul's Men's Club is noted for its splendidly conducted and entirely interesting monthly meetings. That is one reason why the club has grown and improved. The executive of the club is capable of arranging for and putting over "big nights" in a "big" way, and this fact was never better illustrated than last evening, when over one hundred and fifty members and friends of the club gathered at the church to enjoy a well-balanced programme of entertainment and splendid speaking. Certainly the large turnout must have been a source of keen satisfaction to President Harold Dodds and his committee who had taken advantage of the visit to Peterborough of General W. S. Hughes, D.S.O., and prevailed upon him, successfully, to address the club.

Guests of Club.

The City Council and various other civic bodies were well represented in the assembly, but notable among the guests were some thirty-five members of the 21st Battalion, all pleased to meet their former officer, General Hughes. Their presence was felt in the community singing and other phases of the evening, and the St. Paul's men were proud indeed to play hosts to the veterans. In connection with the singing, Messrs. Harold Fallis and H. Snelgrove proved able leaders, and the result was that those present were enabled "to heed the tea kettle—though up to its neck in hot water, yet it singeth," as the inscription on the front of the songbook read.

Chairman Dodds.

President Harold Dodds was master of ceremonies, and he answered the call of his duties most satisfactorily. He it was who extended a welcome to the veterans and other guests, making especial mention of one veteran from Lakefield. He regretted that Miss Greta LeBarr, soloist, had been unable to appear on the program, and called upon H. Snelgrove. That gentleman contributed two very fine vocal numbers, accompanied by Mr. Chenhall. Mrs. Hazel Davidson McClelland, elocutionist, was all that could be desired in two numbers of particularly appropriate nature—"Peace Night," a tale of old London and a bright little half-minute encore.

Introduced the Speaker.

To Lt.-Col. W. Gordon Hall, V.D., fell the honor of introducing General Hughes. He did so in most pleasing manner, brief and humorous. He made reference to the presence of the veterans and concluded by calling upon General Hughes, who received welcoming applause, on rising.

General Hughes.

General Hughes' opening remarks were reminiscent of war time days. He recalled many incidents in connection with the 21st Battalion, of the trials of officers and men, of the sailing from Kingston and of the life "across the pond." "When one looks back, there are many things which one likes to recall and some things that are not pleasant to think of. However, there has always been one thing about the men of the 21st—they boosted and are still boosting for their battalion," declared the General.

In announcing the subject of his address proper, "Penitentiary Work in Canada," the speaker announced that he would first give a brief resume of the penitentiaries in the Dominion, which are in charge of the Federal Government. Since the subject had many phases, each of which might well occupy a full evening, he could only touch briefly upon them, explaining, among other things, the differences between the status of a jail and the status of a penitentiary, the length of term which determines whether a prisoner is confined in one or the other and the part of the various governments in their maintenance.

The speaker then launched into an account of the location and details of the various prisons scattered throughout the Dominion. On the banks of the Fraser, where the old parliament buildings once stood, there now stands a penitentiary, the governor's residence is now that of the warden and the buildings have been rebuilt to answer their new purpose.

Coming further east one reviews the Edmonton Penitentiary, now closed since the mere handful of prisoners, ninety-six in all, have been taken to Prince Albert Penitentiary, which is in a class by itself. It has been built in the last few years and is modern in every respect. Said the General, "I've seen most of the prisons in various countries and there's nothing in the world can come up to the Prince Albert Institution. The penitentiary in Manitoba was opened in 1874 and is growing under efficient organization.

"The institution with which On-

SEEK LAW CHANGES.

City Will Be Represented at Meeting To Prepare Legislation to be Asked of Parliament.

At last night's meeting of the City Council the clearing of the decks for the year's business begun at the inaugural meeting yesterday morning, was completed. Appointments were made to various civic bodies and other routine business for the first of the year was transacted.

By-laws were passed as follows:

2755—To appoint a member of the committee for the distribution of the charitable funds under the will of the late Almira Grover Foley. Sheriff F. J. A. Hall was re-appointed.

2756—Fixing the assessment of the Western Clock Company Limited.

2757—To appoint two members of the Peterborough Public Library Board William Stevens, whose term expires Feb. 1, has moved outside the city and ex-Ald. Joseph Crowe was appointed for three years. Ald. James Hamilton has had to resign from the board because of his election to the Council, and ex-Mayor Dr. W. T. Holloway was appointed to complete his term, which expires in 1929.

2758—To authorize the execution of an agreement between the city and His Majesty the King, as represented by the Minister of Health, regarding the Provincial Labratory in the city.

2759—To appoint the staff of the Peterborough branch of the Provincial Public Health Labratory. Dr. C. B. Waite is director at a salary of $1,000 and Henry C. Kelsey, technician at $1,200.

2760—To appoint members of the Local Board of Health. Alderman Hancock, ex-Mayor Turner, and Dr. J. M. O'Brien were the members in 1927 and Ald. Ackerman, ex-Mayor Turner, and A. J. Reynolds were appointed for 1928.

Will Seek Assistance.

When the by-law for the agreement with the province was up for consideration Mayor Denne declared his opinion that the city should not have to bear a large part of the expense of the Provincial Labratory

MYSTERIOUS MR. X WILL HAVE HOT TIME

The Mystery Man is at the Peterborough Poultry Show To-night, Get Him If You Can.

Do you want a goose or $2.50 in cash to-night.

A turkey or $5.00 to-morrow night, or a turkey, or $5.00 the night after. If so just be on hand at the Market Hall, where the Poultry Association Exhibition is going on, and try your hand at capturing the elusive Mystery Man, the Mysterious Mr. X. All you have to do is to say you are the Mysterious Mr. X of The Peterboro Examiner, and produce a copy of the day's Examiner, and you will win the prize.

The Poultry Show this year is to be a dandy—more entries and better quality—an educational event that means as much to the consumer as the producer. Come along to-night, again to-morrow night, and the next one as well.

Open afternoons and evenings.

Smith Declines To Announce Decision

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. — Governor Smith yesterday declined to announce his decision on the application for a stay of execution for Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray. They are under sentence to die in the electric chair Thursday night for the murder of the woman's husband.

Plainly worried over the condition of his wife who was operated on for appendicitis last Sunday the Governor spent most of the day in his hotel suite, visiting Mrs. Smith at St. Vincent's Hospital in the afternoon, and keeping in close touch with the hospital by telephone all day.

His concern was apparent in his definite refual to discuss the Snyder-Gray case. "I'll talk about that when I'm good and ready," he said, "but there will be no decision to-day. I don't want to be asked about it again."

Meanwhile Warden Lawes at Sing Sing Prison had changed Mrs. Snyder's cell and posted extra guards over her, following the disclosure that her mother, Mrs. Josephine Brown, had smuggled messages from the prison to be published in a newspaper as her last message to the public.

Rats From Wharves Sweep Over London

LONDON, January 10 (Canadian Press). — A plague of rats was sweeping London to-day in the wake of the flood of last Saturday. Driven from wharves, warehouses, and basements in the low lying parts of the city, small rats, lean rats, tawny rats, and brawny rats, in families by tens and dozens, scurried about in search of new homes.

Never before has London been so rat-ridden, said William Dalton, official rat catcher, beetle destroyer, and vermin exterminator, who, with a staff of expert Pied Pipers, is working day and night to drive the invaders from the city.

MOTOR LEAGUE HEAD IS INVITED

C. L. Burton Asked To Attend Banquet of Local Branch.

PLANS BEING MADE.

At a recent meeting of the executive of the Peterborough Automobile Club a committee was appointed to complete preliminary arrangements for a proposed annual meeting. That committee held a meeting on Monday afternoon and conducted considerable business. It has been a busy one since its formation, having made plans for the annual meeting.

Among other things decided upon at the meeting Monday an invitation is to be sent to C. L. Burton, president of the Ontario Motor League, and W. G. Robertson, secretary, to attend the annual meeting of the local club. It will be in banquet form and will be held in the Empress Hotel the latter part of February or the fore part of March.

Peterborough citizens will remember Mr. Burton as having visited this city in 1926 as Vice-president of the Toronto Board of Trade, on which occasion he addressed the annual meeting of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Burton has a very pleasing personality. At the time of his visit here he was greatly pleased with the city and was accorded a warm welcome by the citizens in attendance at the meeting which he addressed. Mr. Burton is general manager of the Robert Simpson Company and takes a keen interest in all public affairs, particularly Chambers of Commerce. Latterly his interests have centred in the Ontario Motor League.

SURPRISE VISITORS FIND FAMILY DEAD

Coal Gas Causes Fatalities in Cottage in Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 10. — (Canadian Press.) — Neighbors who burst into the cottage of Anton Dworozyk last night for a surprise party and shower, found Jeannie, twenty-three year old wife, and her two small children dead from coal gas. Dworzyk, a young war veteran, was still alive, but doctors said he could not live.

POPE'S LETTER REMOVES HOPE OF NEGOTIATING

Conversations Between Anglican and Roman Leaders Not Likely to be Resumed.

RE-STATES POSITION.

Return of Dissenters to Rome Can Be Only Basis of Union, He Says.

ROME, January 10 (Canadian Press). — Pope Pius to-day issued an encyclical which is taken here to remove all hopes concerning the possibility of the resumption of the famous "Malines conversations" of recent years, which sought to find a means of re-uniting the Anglicans with Rome. The late Cardinal Mercier, Archbishop of Malines, Lord Halifax of England and other prelates and laymen took part in these conversations.

The Pontiff, in his encyclical, said that the union of Christians can only come by the return of the dissenting to the original Church of Rome.

In the document, which is the first encyclical of the New Year, the Pontiff re-stated the church's age-long stand upon the question, emphasizing that while it is good to cultivate charity among Christians, it should not be done to the detriment of the faith upon which that very charity is founded.

BOYS SEND IN FALSE ALARM

Three Youths Admit Causing Firemen Useless Run Last Night.

DURING CROWD PERIOD.

A few minutes after ten last night, just as the streets were crowded with people coming from the theatres, the Fire Department received a false alarm from the box near the B. F. Ackerman factory.

Detective Carey was in the neighborhood when the alarm was sent in, and he caught three boys, who owned up to sending in the call that brought the whole brigade out.

Chief Newhall told The Examiner this morning that the Fire Department had been bothered with too many false alarms recently, and that his department would co-operate with the Fire Chief in finding the miscreants and bringing them before the magistrate.

PLANE WRECK FOUND IN FIELD

Three Men Missing Since Sunday Discovered To-day, Killed.

FOG CAUSED ACCIDENT.

CANAJOGARIE, N.Y., January 10 (Canadian Press). — The wreckage of an airplane, which has been missing since Sunday, and the bodies of its three passengers, were found in a field near here to-day. Indications were that the plane crashed in the fog that had enshrouded the countryside. The victims of the accident were Lieut. George Benedict, Curtiss Field flier, Raymond Benreis, Buffalo, pilot, and Captain Edward Pauley, of Albany, aviator.

The fog was so thick throughout Sunday and yesterday that, although the aircraft crashed to earth within a hundred yards of a farmhouse, no one in the vicinity knew of the disaster until searchers located the bodies and wreckage when the mists were dispelled to-day. The bodies of two of the men were buried under the wreckage, while that of the third occupant of the plane was found about forty feet away.

WARSAW PERSONALS.

WARSAW, Jan. 10. — Mr. and Mrs. Asling (nee Vera Calvert) spent a few holidays with Mrs. Asling's relatives near Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman (nee Florence Thompson) and their four children spent the holiday with Mrs. Richard Thompson.

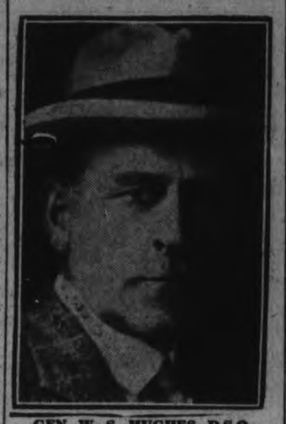
Penny Postage Is 88 Years Old

To-day is the eighty-eighth anniversary of penny postage in Great Britain. It was some time later before it was introduced in Canada.

The date of its starting in Britain was January 10, 1840.

CANADA'S INCREASING INTERESTS ON CONTINENT MAKE LEGATION IN PARIS NECESSARY, SAYS KING

ADDRESSED MEN.



GEN. W. S. HUGHES, D.S.O., Who was the speaker at the meeting of the Men of St. Paul's last night.

Premier Says Matter Has Been Considered For Some Months.

BOUND BY TRADITIONS.

Two Governments in Accord as to Value of Increasing Rank of Representatives.

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (Canadian Press) —In the course of an interview today, Premier King said:

"The advisability of providing for the exchange of Ministers between Canada and France has been receiving consideration by the two Governments for some time. The question has recently been discussed formally. The Hon. Raoul Dandurand, representing the Canadian Government after official presentation by the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs and the British Ambassador in Paris to the Minister of Foreign Affairs of France, reviewed the situation with M. Briand.

"It was found that the two Governments were in entire agreement as to the opportuneess of the exchange of Ministers. The Canadian Government considers that in view of the historic tradition which binds the two countries and of the increasing importance of the political as well as the trade interests of Canada in France and the Continent of Europe generally, it is desirable to extend the scope of the work hitherto carried on by the Commissioner General of Canada in Paris by establishing a legation. The Government of France holds a corresponding view as to the establishment of a French Legation in Canada.

"The Canadian Government will be asked to make provision for the establishment of a Canadian Legation at an early date. The recommendation of the appointment of a Canadian Minister will be made subsequently."

PARIS, Jan. 10.—(Canadian Press.) —France and Canada have definitely decided to change the present status of international representation to the establishment of legations in the respective capitals. The French cabinet to-day approved the plan to appoint a minister to Ottawa.

It is quite likely that Baron De Vitrolles, present Consul-General to Canada, will be the first minister to Ottawa. Baron De Vitrolles has been in Canada several years with headquarters in Montreal. The office of Consul General probably will be continued in that city. No announcement has been made as to any appointments yet.

It is supposed in Paris that the Hon. Philippe Roy, Canada's High Commissioner in Paris for many years, will become minister plenipotentiary for Canada here.

No Legation in Japan.

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (Canadian Press) —The Department of External Affairs to-day denied a report that Canada contemplated the establishment of a Legation at Tokio.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY ACTIVE

Secretary - Treasurer's Report Shows Much Done in Past Year.

ANNUAL MEETING JAN. 20.

The executive committee of the Peterborough Horticultural Society met last evening in the council room of the Chamber of Commerce, President Charles Lacheur, as chairman, conducting the business.

It was the unanimous decision of the meeting that the annual meeting be held in the evening of January 20, speakers to be present to address the members on various aspects of floriculture.

It was shown by the treasurer's statement, read by the secretary-treasurer, that the finances of the society were in good shape and that the society had had a good year, not only financially but in work accomplished in beautifying the city and in increasing the interest of the citizens in their home surroundings.

Among other items of business was the popular appointment of S. T. Harris as a delegate to the annual convention of the Ontario Horticultural Association which is to be held in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, on February 9 and 10.

Chairman Lacheur briefly expressed his appreciation of the support and co-operation accorded him during his presidential year and he suggested that at the annual meeting, the members be given an opportunity to suggest activities from which an attractive and useful program may formulated for the coming year.

Among those present at the meeting, in addition to the chairman, were Wilfred Derry, S. T. Harris, H. L. Beal, G. Land, and W. H. Young.

ARMOURIES OPEN TO ALL TO-NIGHT

Unveiling of 21st Battalion Tablet is Event of First Importance.

Something of the price of war is shown in the long list of members of the 21st Battalion "killed in action," printed in to-day's Examiner. These are the men whose memory will be honored by the unveiling of a memorial to-night.

The ceremony takes place at the Armouries at 8 o'clock, with many members of the 21st Battalion in attendance and with officers of the unit officiating. The memorial is the first to any unit to be erected in Peterborough, although there are many tablets bearing the names of individuals.

All ex-service men are specially invited to attend, and the public is invited to participate in the ceremony. Special seats will be reserved for relatives of those to whose memory the tablet is erected.

This is an event in the life of the city. Peterborough gave many men to fight gallantly with the renowned 21st, and cheered when they marched away. To-night the opportunity is given to pay respects to those who did not return again to the cheering city.

More than one-sixth of all the working women in the United States live in the State of New York.

PLANE CRASHES DURING LESSON

Student Pilot and Instructor Badly Hurt at Grafton, Mass.

PILOT LOST CONTROL.

GRAFTON, Mass., January 10 (Canadian Press). — George Knowlton, of West Upton, and Captain Stickney, Hartford, Conn., employed as a pilot by the New England Aircraft Company, were seriously injured to-day when the plane which was being used by Captain Stickney to teach Knowlton how to drive, crashed into a stone wall near Whittall Field. The cause of the accident was unknown, but according to employees working near the hangar, something apparently went wrong with the machine before it crashed to the ground. The pilot seemed to lose and then gain control, onlookers said. The machine was flying low when it crashed to earth.

STEAMERS CARRY ARMED SOLDIERS

Pirates Make Precautions Necessary in Chinese Waters.

SINGAPORE STRAITS SETTLEMENT, Jan. 10 (Canadian Press).— Because of pirate attacks in Chinese waters, steamers sailing from Singapore to China now carry armed troops. The steamship Jutsang left for Honk Kong with two thousand Chinese deck passengers and ten Regal Artillery gunners fully armed.

MAGNATE PLANS PLANE TRIP TO CENTRAL BRAZIL

Ford Would Inspect Rubber Plantation Which He Intends to Work.

ON TABAJOS RIVER.

Now Working on Development of a Diesel Engine For Aeroplanes.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Jan. 10 (Canadian Press).—Henry Ford announced yesterday that he is planning an aeroplane trip to Brazil to inspect a rubber plantation which his company will develop as a private enterprise.

His son, Edsel Ford, said the plantation is about 800 miles from Para up the Tabajos River, a branch of the Amazon.

Ford's announcement was made during an interview in which he was asked if he were a billionaire. He waved the question aside, saying "I don't know about that." Pressed to state the amount of his fortune, the magnate shook his head again, saying "I don't know and I don't give a damn."

He said that he is working on the development of a Diesel engine for airplanes, because he realizes the great future of aviation and the importance of the perfection of the Diesel engine for their motive power.

Edsel Ford explained that the Diesel aeroplane engine is at present planned only on paper, but that a "sample" engine is to be built and tested shortly. This engine, he said, would weigh about a pound and a half per horsepower. His father explained that the goal he is working for along this line is a 1,000 horsepower engine weighing about a pound per horsepower.

Aviation Enthusiast

The elder Ford declared himself an aviation enthusiast, but said he did not believe the plane would supplant the automobile, adding that each would have its place. When trans-Atlantic flying is established, he said, he would make his trips to Europe by aeroplane. He mentioned the flight he made with Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh last year, and added that he had "handled the stick" for a little while aloft in one of his dual-control all-metal monoplanes.

Edsel Ford said that he, too, is an aviation enthusiast and that he intends to become a full-fledged pilot some day. He said he would take up flying now if he had time.

Asked about business prospects, the elder Ford said: "I don't see anything wrong with the prospects for 1928. I don't see anything wrong with anything and there is no reason why prosperity should not continue. "Retire? I retire every night. As to retiring from business, I haven't concentrated on that yet."

PRIZES AWARDED.

D. Wallace, of Campbellford, Among Those Winning Dairy Trophies.

KINGSTON, Ont., January 10. — A pleasing feature of the convention of the Dairymen's Association of Eastern Ontario was the presentation of a handsome challenge cup by the the donor, T. A. Thompson, Almonte, secretary of the association, to Thomas Edwards, cheesemaker, at Clayton factory, Lanark County, for his record during the season.

G. H. Wood, another Lanark cheesemaker, was also the recipient of a silver "tryer," a cheesemaker's tool, for the excellence of his work.

The winners of the special prizes awarded by the association in the different classes and other prizes awarded by manufacturing firms were: 1st, R. McLaughlin, Belleville; 2nd, D. Wallace, Campbellford; 3rd, E. N. Spencer, Eldorado.

City Sends Greetings Other Municipalities

It's not only the private citizens who send Christmas and New Year's greetings. Last night the City Council heard read a communication as follows:

"The Mayor and Aldermen of the City of St. Catharines wish the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Peterborough the compliments of the season."

Art Treasures In Tate Gallery Fared Better Than Expected From Flood Waters

LONDON, January 10 (Associated Press). — Art treasures in the Tate Gallery, the national museum of art which was overflowed in the flood last week, fared better against water ravages than was feared for a time. It became known yesterday that most of the priceless collections escaped with surprisingly little apparent injury.

Water colors and chalked drawings in the collection of 19,000 works by J. M. W. Turner dried out with little less of brilliancy, and it is hoped that thousands of slight memoranda made in pencil by the famous artist will not be materially affected.

Drawings and caricatures by Thomas Rowlandson, and productions of Alfred Stevens and many modern masters, also received prompt and careful treatment by experts, and appear likely to be saved without great injury.

In regard to oil paintings, it is still too early for expert opinion because until they are thoroughly dried, it will be impossible to estimate what repairs may be required. Only a few paintings, and those not of the highest importance, show signs of irreparable damage. William Blake's picture of Admiral Nelson seems to be the only rare work in need of extensive restoration. A few canvasses by Landseer and other moderns are in similar plight, but Whistler's frescoes in the refreshment room were scarcely affected by the flood.

RESCUE TEAMS LOCATE BODIES OF 21 MINERS

Blast Blamed on the Heavy Accumulation of Coal Dust.

SEVERAL INJURED.

Officials Not Certain Whether Missing Men Killed By Blast.

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., Jan. 10—Members of the mine rescue teams which penetrated mine number 13, of the Peabody Coal Company near here yesterday, where an explosion occurred at 7.40 a.m., unofficially reported discovery of 21 bodies yesterday afternoon.

For three hours after the explosion, more than 100 men were unaccounted for, by by noon they had straggled to the surface. Several required medical attention.

Officials in charge of rescue work were not sure last night whether the missing men mere killed by the blast or had been able to seek a portion of the mine favored by clear air.

24 Reported Missing

WEST FRANKFORT, Ills., Jan. 10. —Twenty-two miners were known to have been killed and twenty-four were missing four hours after an explosion yesterday in the Industrial Coal Company's Mine No. 18, near here.

Of approximately 100 men in the section of the mine where the explosion occurred all but 24 had been accounted for. Fire broke out after the explosion and made rescue work difficult. A rescue team from Benton entered the mine yesterday morning.

Miners from the explosion area who made their way to the surface, said they believed those who remained in the mine could not have lived in the gas-laden air, and their only hope was to have reached another portion of the mine.

HICKMAN WANTS TO MAKE CHANGE

Would Repudiate Parts of Confession Referring to Motive.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—(Canadian Press).—Officials of the county jail where William Hickman is confined yesterday expressed the belief that the youth desires to repudiate those parts of the confessions made by him which relate to his motive in slaying little Marian Parker. This belief was supported by the statement of Hickman's Los Angeles attorney, Richard Cantillon.

Cantillon, who interviewed his young client at length yesterday, said at least part of this questioning related to Hickman's motive in the slaying.

"I begged him to tell me why he did this atrocious thing", Cantillon said. "He told me he did not know, that he had searched his brain, and could find no reason or motive."

"Laziest Man" Dies In Ireland

BELFAST, Ireland, Jan. 10.—(Canadian Press).—George Thompson, who long had the reputation of being the laziest man in the world, died at Lurgan, County Armagh, Saturday. George took to bed in early manhood and declined to leave it for 30 years until his mother, who supported him, was forced to enter the workhouse. He accompanied her. The authorities said he couldn't loaf there, but he stayed until his death.

LINDY REACHES PANAMA CITY

Field Where He Lands is Named in His Honor.

BIG CROWD PRESENT.

PANAMA CITY, January 10 (Canadian Press). — Another triumph awaited the goodwill ambassador from the United States, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, when he landed here yesterday on the field named in his honor, Campo Lindbergh.

He came sailing through space from the direction of Balboa, and settled down to earth at 1.51 in the afternoon. It had taken him a little more than four hours to span the distance between San Jose, Costa Rica, and the capital of Panama—310 miles.

The flying field was well thronged with spectators who immediately made a rush for the Spirit of St. Louis, which taxied swiftly to the grandstand, where President Chiari and numerous high officials of the Government, Colonel Harry Burgess, acting-Governor of the Canal Zone, and Brigadier-General William S. Graves, Commandant of the United States Army, awaited him.

President Chiari took the youthful aviator cordially by the hand, saying to him: "Colonel Lindbergh, with your ability of shortening distances, you are establishing a basis of fraternity and are bringing together all the American countries on a basis of real understanding."

The President then conferred upon him the National Medal.

OLD MASTERS

"You are old, Father William," the young man cried,
"And life must be hastening away;
You are cheerful and love to converse upon death:
Now tell me the reason, I pray."

"I am cheerful, young man," Father William replied:
"Let the cause thy attention engage:
In the days of my youth I remembered my God,
And He hath not forgotten my age."
—Robert Southey: Lines from "The Old Man's Comforts."

LINDBERGH OFF AGAIN.

Hops Off This Morning From Costa Rica To Panama.

SANJOSE, Costa Rica, Jan. 10—(Canadian Press).—Col. Charles Lindbergh hopped off on the last lap of his Central American tour at 8.45 a.m., Central standard time. His goal was Panama, airline distance of 310 miles.

Col. Lindbergh, who met with enthusiasm everywhere in Costa Rica, was on the field early preparing for the hop.

NEW INQUIRY ORDERED INTO OIL SCANDAL

Senate Approves Resolution To Probe Continental Trading Company of Canada.

DISCUSS TARIFF.

Re-trial of Fall-Sinclair Conspiracy Case Postponed Until April 2nd.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Jan. 10. — Canadian Press. — A new Senate inquiry into a phase of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve lease was ordered yesterday coincident with an order for postponement until April 2 of the retrial of the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy case growing out of that transaction.

Without discussion the Senate approved a resolution of Senator Morris, Republican Nebraska, directing the Senate public lands committee to investigate the extinct Continental Trading Company, Limited, of Canada.

Harry F. Sinclair, lessor of the reserve, was one of the backers of the company, and it has been charged by the government that M. T. Everhart, son-in-law of Albert B. Hall, received $230,500 in Liberty bonds from the company, of which $90,000 went to Fall, who as secretary of the interior, negotiated the Teapot Dome lease.

Chairman Nye of the public Lands committee announced last night that Smoot, Republican, Utah, who quoted President Coolidge in defending the high rates of the present act against the attacks from farm bloc Republicans and the incessant jibes of the Democrats, who listened with obvious joy to the Republicans quarrelling over the tariff.

A vote on the McMaster resolution finally went over until to-day as Senators Smoot and McMaster became entangled in a lengthy argument growing from an accusation of the South Dakotan that Senator Smoot was interested in high tariff because of his interests in sugar factories.

Senator Smoot replied he did have 400 shares in a South Dakota sugar factory, which he offered to sell McMaster for $1.30 a share, but the South Dakota senator declined with the remark that the people of his state wanted Mr. Smoot to remain in business there.

Regardless of the vote on the McMaster resolution the Senate is powerless to act in actually revising rates until after the House, which has the sole right under the constitution to initiate such legislation does so. The resolution was described as a "threat and an attack in the dark" by Senator Smoot who is chairman of the Finance Committee which handles tariff legislation.

W.M.S. OFFICERS.

Omemee United Church Ladies Hold Annual Election.

OMEMEE, Jan. 9.—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Trinity United Church was held in the Sunday school room on Thursday afternoon. There were twenty-two members and visitors present. The date was advanced one week in order that the treasurer would be able to have the schedule filled out, and sent to head office before the end of the year.

The President, Mrs. E. W. Rowland presided and conducted the devotional exercises.

The devotional leaflet, "Respect for Other Folk," was read by Mrs. J. Widdiss after which Mrs. William Brandon gave an excellent synopsis of the 4th chapter of the Study book, "New Paths for Old Purposes."

A short business session was held, during which Mrs. J. Shield and Miss Lillian Race were appointed as delegates, along with the president, Mrs. Rowland, to attend the Presbyterial to be held in St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, on January 17th and 18th.

Mrs. H. Lamb and Mrs. J. Shield were appointed to forward three quilts to a needy mission.

Mrs. William Earle very kindly invited the Society to her home for the February meeting, which was accepted.

The treasurer, Mrs. J. Shield was then called upon for the financial report for the nine months from April 1st, 1927 to Dec. 31st, 1927. This report was very encouraging. The allocation for the society for this length of time was $320.00, and the total amount raised by the society and Mission Band was $413.50. This amount was made up as follows: membership fees, $22.00; Mission Band, $72.75; Thank-offering, $46.90; Bazaar, $211.17; other sources, $2.65; systematic giving, $32.77; Expense Fund, $25.26.

There are 44 annual members and 10 life members.

The election of officers was then conducted by the 1st vice-president, Mrs. G. Lamb and resulted as follows:

President: Mrs. E. W. Rowland.
1st Vice-President: Mrs. H. Lamb.
2nd Vice-President: Mrs. Bushnell.
Secretary: Mrs. E. Bradburn.
Asst.-Secretary: Mrs. L. Mahood.
Treasurer: Mrs. J. Shield.
Corr.-Secretary: Mrs. Widdiss.
Supt. Mission Band: Mrs. Rowland.
Asst. Superintendents: Mrs. R. H. Williamson and Mrs. C. L. Morcombe.
Superintendent, Systematic Giving: Miss E. Race.
Supt. Baby Band: Mrs. R. Wilson.
Strangers' Secretary: Miss L. Parsons.
Pianist: Miss E. Race.

At the close of the election the president again took the chair and, after a few remarks, closed the meeting with prayer.

A social half hour was then enjoyed with Mrs. A. Rutherford, Mrs. F. G. Sandy and Mrs. J. Widdis as hostesses.

CONTINUE INQUIRY INTO S-4 DISASTER

Eye-Witnesses Give Vivid Picture of Collision Before Court.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 10 (Canadian Press).—A picture of the collision that drove the submarine S-4 to the bottom of Provincetown Harbor on December 17 was painted yesterday for the naval court of inquiry investigating the disaster by two eye-witnesses. They were Lieut.-Commander John S. Bayliss, commander of the coastguard destroyer Paulding, which rammed the submarine, and Ensign G. M. Phannemiller, officer of the deck on the Paulding.

In closing his description of the [illegible] with its "terrible grinding and ripping of metal," which tore the [illegible] out of the Paulding back of her stem, and wrecked the hapless S-4, Commander Bayliss closed his testimony with an address to the court in which he referred to the irony of his position as a coastguard officer concerned in a disastrous collision.

"I am deeply concerned over this accident as my whole life has been devoted to saving life and property at sea," he said. "When a thing of this kind happens, the first in my experience, I cannot help but feel it deeply."

Ensign Phannemiller, the first man on board the destroyer to sight the periscope of the submarine cleaving the water as the Paulding rounded the buoy marking the outer end of the measured mile of the Provincetown range, reconstructed the accident, using wooden models of the two vessels involved.

WHEN the salesman demonstrates a General Motors car today, he reveals to his customers a new conception of motor car value, safety, comfort and beauty—the conception of greater quality assured by the emblem, Body by Fisher. Expect him, therefore, to give you complete details about the body of the car you are considering—for it is a Body by Fisher. The best motor car merchants join discriminating buyers everywhere in recognizing the superiorities in Fisher Bodies. Before selecting a motor car, you should actually see and realize the important advantages built into every Body by Fisher.

Clear Vision Corner Pillars—The narrow front pillars of a Fisher Body eliminate the "blind spot" in driving, enabling the driver to see objects in front and on the sides at all times—thus increasing safety.

Doors—The strength of a Fisher door permits a 200 pound man to swing on it without affecting it in the slightest. Merely closing the door of a Body by Fisher indicates the staunch and solid construction which is hidden away beneath its beauty.

Inspection—Every part and every operation which is employed in making a Body by Fisher, must pass rigid inspection. For every Fisher Body manufactured during a day, there is a Fisher inspector, expert in his work, testing and scrutinizing, rejecting and approving.

LAKEFIELD SOCIETIES

Many Activities Being Carried on by Various Bodies.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 10.—Ten tables were played at the regular weekly card party given by the A.Y.P.A. on Thursday evening. The prizes were won by Mrs. W. Watson Jr., and Mr. W. Murduff, the consolation prizes were won by Miss Madeline Junkin and Mr. Roger Stenner.

The dance and card party given under the auspices of No. 77 Canadian Legion on Tuesday evening was highly successful, with a good crowd in attendance and a jolly time for the young people. It was a dance which was thoroughly enjoyed by all, and ranks as one of the most successful held in the village.

The Sunbeam Mission Band of Knox United Church held a sale of home cooking in Mr. James Hendren's store on Saturday last, and in spite of the incessant rain, they took in about $12, which was remarkably good.

The annual meeting of St. John's W.A. will be held in the Sunday school on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30, when officers will be elected, and the year's reports given. Following the business an open meeting will be held at 3.30, at which Miss Northcott will speak on conditions in China.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute will be held on Wednesday afternoon, January 10th in the Council Chamber at 2 o'clock.

Week of Prayer services have been held this week in the various churches as follows:

Tuesday: Regent Street United church; preacher, Rev. Mr. McCormick.

Wednesday: Baptist Church; preacher, Rev. T. M. Wesley.

Thursday: Knox United Church; preacher, Rev. S. A. Kemp.

Friday: Baptist Church; preacher, Rev. J. Ross.

CONSTABLE WOUNDS TWO ASSAILANTS

Men Who Followed Manitoba Officer From Blind Pig Now in Hospital.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Two men are in hospital here suffering from severe gunshot wounds in the arm as a result of clash with an official of the Liquor Act enforcement squad of the Provincial Police at Fort Garry, a suburb, last night. After visiting a house suspected of selling liquor, the policeman was followed by two men who are alleged to have attacked him. After he had been badly beaten, the constable drew his gun. R. Bonne, 25, was shot in the right arm and Camille Knockaert, 25, in the left arm.

CAVAN SOCIETIES PLAN FOR YEAR

United Ladies' Aid and W. M. S. Hold Joint Meeting.

ALLOCATION RAISED

CAVAN, Jan. 10.—A joint meeting of Cavan Ladies' Aid and the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Archie Kennedy on Thursday afternoon.

The president of the Aid, Mrs. A. B. Kennedy, conducted the devotional exercises, which opened with the singing of the consecrational hymn, "Take My Life and Let It be." The fifth chapter of Matthew was the Scripture reading.

"Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us."

It was decided to serve lunch at the Annual Congregational Meeting, to be held on Thursday evening, January 19th.

Mrs. R. S. Staples, president of the W.M.S. then took charge.

Mrs. R. Matchett took up the first chapter of the Mission Study book, in a very interesting and instructive manner.

It was announced that the Society had raised its allocation of thirty-five dollars.

This was the first year that a W.M.S. had been working in Cavan United church.

It was decided that at future meetings the roll will be called, each member being asked to respond with a verse of Scripture.

Mrs. J. W. Perrin will take up the second chapter of the Study Book, at the February meeting which will be held at Mrs. R. Matchett's home.

After the benediction the meeting adjourned and a social time was enjoyed while lunch was served.

Among those present were: Mrs. Rowen, Mrs. Will White, Mrs. R. S. Staples, Mrs. R. Matchett, Mrs. A Byers, Mrs. Bradburn, Mrs. W. Pritchard, Mrs. H. Braithwaite, Mrs. F. M. Staples, Mrs. J. W. A STYLE OF PROVEN MERIT

(By G. H. McDonald & H. A. Magoon, Architects.)

This delightful home in the ever-popular Dutch Colonial style is one in which distinction is afforded at moderate cost. The popularity of this style is well deserved, for while possessing symmetry and a certain dignified atmosphere, it lacks the rather austere feeling of the other Colonial styles, which usually is not desired in a home. The composition here is a pleasingly formal one, the sunroom being balanced on the opposite side of house by the garage.

Entry is made through a vestibule into a centre hall having stairs on left-hand side, and a coat closet at the end. Any woman can imagine the possibilities of beautifully furnishing this big living-room, and of entertaining charmingly in it. It is lighted at both ends, and has a fireplace and built-in bookcase. The sun-room may be entered from the living-room or from the outside.

On the right-hand side of the hall are the dining-room, and kitchen, which is very conveniently arranged with table and sink under windows, and containing a range and built-in cupboard. A departure from the usual Colonial plan is the manner of provision for a very convenient rear porch, which almost becomes part of the kitchen. From this porch access is had to the cellar and so by placing the refrigerator here, it becomes unnecessary for tradesmen to enter the kitchen proper.

A structurally sound building has been assured by keeping the main second floor partitions over those of the ground floor. Thus, over the living-room we have a very large bedroom, suitable for twin beds, in which provision has been made for two clothes-closets, and two smaller rooms on the opposite side having one each. A linen-closet opens into the hall.

Imagine this home built of stucco, siding, brick, or stone, and the result is satisfying in every case, as the building itself would be when erected under an architect's guidance.

With walls of stucco on brick, and hot air heating, this home, complete, would cost about nine-thousand dollars, but an obvious advantage is that the main unit may be built first, and the sunroom and garage added as finances permit.

Readers desiring further information regarding the plans and specifications of this house should communicate with the architects direct. Address Messrs. G. H. MacDonald & H. A. Magoon, Tegler Building, Edmonton, Alberta.

ELIMINATING ACCIDENTS.

That safety first principles can be put into effect in industrial concerns and made to mean something if there is co-operation between employer and employees is indicated by the fact that two branches of the Canada Cement Company have gone throughout a year without a single accident involving loss of time.

The plants at Belleville and Hull are the two successful organizations on this occasion, each winning a handsome trophy, and it is interesting to note that four years in succession at least one of the Canada Cement Company's plants has had a perfect record.

It is recognized that the majority of industrial accidents are the result either of mechanical defects or of carelessness on the part of workers, and it is apparent from the showing made by the cement plants during the past four years that when there is an earnest effort on the part of all concerned to eliminate risks and cut down the number of accidents, a very material improvement can be effected.

Industrial concerns generally might find it worth while investigating the methods followed by the Canada Cement Company in achieving such a remarkable record in regard to accidents.

NO PLACE FOR AN OLD MAN.

Some time ago there was an agitation in the editorial columns of many Ontario newspapers, including The Examiner, for the release of a young sailor who had been committed to the penitentiary for escaping from a jail farm where he was serving a sentence for drunkenness.

The campaign was successful, and the prisoner was taken out of the penitentiary.

The latest case of this kind in which an eighty-five-year-old inmate of a house of refuge was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for an assault upon an official is creating a similar agitation that should have a similar result.

If the penitentiary is no place for a young man guilty of a minor offence, it is certainly no place for an old man of eighty-five years, even if he has been convicted of an offence that was serious enough so far as its effect as an example to other inmates of the institution was concerned.

Surely there must be some place other than the abode of hardened criminals where a man of more than four score summers could be sent to spend his last years.

His "crime" does not merit such a punishment, and it seems a travesty of justice that he should now be in Portsmouth Penitentiary where the worst of our criminals are sent.

THE COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN.

In the selection of the committee chairmen for this year's work, the City Council has been fortunate in the fact that the majority of last year's heads of committees were again available for service, and their re-appointment ensure experienced chairmen and a continuity of policy that should make comparative smooth sailing.

Very few changes, in fact, were necessary. Ald. McIntyre, an Alderman of considerable experience, taking Mayor Denne's place as Chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, and Ald. Ackerman succeeding ex-Ald. Hancock as Chairman of the Property Committee.

Otherwise the portfolios will be held by Aldermen to whom the work is familar, Ald. Phelan, for example, heading the Finance Committee for the eighth year in succession, and Ald. Stocker chairman of the Board of Works.

With every chairman well posted in the activities under the jurisdiction of his committee, the routine work of the year should be carried out with a minimum of friction and with a maximum of effectiveness, leaving the Aldermen more free than usual to study those major problems that will have to be decided by the Council during the year.

All this makes for a successful administration of civic affairs, with the Council headed by a Mayor who is essentially a man of action and will insist upon progress being made.

THE MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

In his inaugural address to the City Council yesterday, Mayor Denne outlined some of the most important questions that will have to be considered.

The Examiner is glad to note that he gave especial prominence to the need of taking up at once the question of the employment of a full-time Medical Officer of Health.

To this course, Mayor Denne pointed out, the Council is pledged, inasmuch as the Provincial Minister of Health has been promised that the question would be considered as soon as possible by the Council.

Other matters dealt with by the Mayor are of much importance.

The attitude of the Council toward the possible purchase of the local gas plant will have to be determined, in view of the decision of the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario to dispose of the utility to private interests should Peterborough be not interested in its purchase.

The cleaning up of the situation at the sewage disposal plant, an active campaign for new industries, and the carrying out of a substantial paving programme are other questions that will occupy considerable of the attention of the Council, and in these and other matters that will come up from time to time His Worship expressed confidence that every member of the Council would endeavour to administer the affairs of the city in the best interests of the citizens.

FLOWERS AND BOOKS.

There is an analogy between flowers and books. They are both beautiful, but there are the flowers of weeds just as there are pernicious books, and no one would regret the destruction of the latter. But how different should it be in the case of the former. What care and attention should be devoted to their preservation! To a lover of flowers it is a sorrow to see a bunch of wild flowers thrown down in the dusty road to be trampled on, instead of being left in all their grace and loveliness to beautify the world, to seed, and replenish the earth; and so it is with good and beautiful books of all descriptions. To a book lover it is a grief to see books thrown about carelessly, to find their pages turned down or torn, to discover remarks written in them, to see their pages stained and dirty, and their covers broken like the stems of the wantonly destroyed flowers.

And the wild flowers and the books in the book gardens which are called Public Libraries do not belong to those who damage and destroy them. They belong to the people at large, and should be regarded as being in trust for others. It is no pleasure to handle a dirty, badly treated book, to many it is actually repulsive, and no one has the right to make a book in such a condition. A Public Library is such a boon to thousands upon thousands of people that every effort should be made to make it as perfect as possible in every way, and an institution of which a city can justly be proud.

There is the chance that a few of the wild flowers may be left to come up again the next year, but in the case of books they either have to be mended at the cost of time and money or destroyed. In the latter case it means that there will be less money left available for the purchase of new books. Flowers and books! Two great joys to countless people. Cherish them, take care of them, treat them as your best and loveliest friends.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

AN HISTORIC INVITATION.

The Washington Government has made a declaration that will prove historic. It has invited France to join the United States in proposing to the principal powers of the world a multilateral treaty renouncing war as an instrument of national policy.

This is the most hopeful thing since the creation of the League of Nations. It has taken by surprise the French Government, which probably had no idea that the Briand note of a few weeks ago would have so significant a sequel. M. Briand, as Foreign Minister of France, proposed an agreement limited to the United States and France, by which both powers would bind themselves to a peaceful settlement of all disputes between them of whatsoever nature or origin. In response, United States Secretary of State Kellogg submits a draft arbitration treaty and uses these words, which will warm the heart of humanity:

"In view of the traditional friendship between France and the United States—a friendship which happily is not dependent upon the existence of any formal engagement—and in view of the common desire of the two nations never to resort to arms in the settlement of such controversies as may possibly arise between them, which is recorded in the draft arbitration treaty just referred to, it has occurred to me that the two Governments, instead of contenting themselves with a bilateral declaration of the nature suggested by M. Briand, might make a more signal contribution to world peace by joining in an effort to obtain the adherence of all of the principal powers of the world to a declaration renouncing war as an instrument of national policy.

"Such a declaration, if executed by the principal world powers, could not be but an impressive example to all the other nations of the world and might conceivably lead such nations to subscribe in their turn to the same instrument, thus perfecting among all powers of the world an arrangement heretofore suggested as between France and the United States.

"The Government of the United States is prepared, therefore, to concert with the Government of France with a view to the conclusion of a treaty among the principal powers of the world, open to signature by all nations, condemning war and renouncing it as an instrument of national policy in favor of the pacific settlement of international disputes. If the Government of France is willing to join with the Government of the United States in this endeavor, and to enter with the United States and the other principal powers of the world into an appropriate multilateral treaty, I shall be happy to engage at once in conversations looking to the preparation of a draft treaty following the lines suggested by M. Briand for submission by France and the United States jointly to the other nations of the world."

France cannot spurn this invitation without repudiating the very principles upon which the League of Nations is founded. Certainly it will be hailed with joy by the British people, whatever its reception on the Continent may be. One can imagine the excitement in the Chancelleries of Europe caused by this bold stroke, which puts to a decisive and immediate test the professions of all the nation-members of the League. Honest lovers of peace will forgive the United States its desertion of the League if the Washington Government will press its new policy resolutely and compel the nations to go on record. Perhaps a new and blessed chapter in the annals of civilization is about to be written. It would be a shorter path to the realization of the ideals for which the Allies professed to go to war than the gradual reduction of armaments. If the powers bound themselves by such a treaty in sincerity and in truth, armaments would inevitably and automatically melt away.—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Judging from the weather, April must be trying to push into the line-up.

Soft ice is one thing anyway that can stop Peterborough hockey clubs from losing games.

The Toronto Grads have at last been defeated, but even yet we refuse to feel uneasy about the Olympic competition.

Probably the example set by Gene Tunney is responsible for more books being circulated from the Public Library.

In Detroit on Saturday the police arrested 2,000 motorists for violation of traffic rules. A few round-ups like that would soon teach a new respect for the regulations and bring about an era of safer driving.

Peterborough's civic government is now ready for the year's work, and its members should have the support of the people in the tasks that lie before them.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, January 10 (Canadian Press). — Very little business was done with foreign buyers in Canadian grain here yesterday, the demand from all sources being inactive.

The trade in cash grain in the domestic market was also slow owing to the absence of any demand from exporters, while local and country immediate wants. The tone of the buyers only took odd cars to meet market was steady.

The demand for spring and winter wheat grades of flour continued quiet, but prices were firm.

A feature of the millfeed trade was the increased inquiry from the United States, but on account of the small supplies available here little business was reported. The local trade was fair and prices were steady. The market for standard grades of rolled oats continued quiet and firm.

A moderate amount of business was done in fresh and storage eggs, and prices were about steady. The receipts were 283 cases.

The tone of the potato market was steady, but the volume of business was small. Car lots of Prince Edward Island Green Mountains were quoted at $1.15 per bag of 90 pounds, Prince Edward Island White potatoes at $1.05 per bag of 90 pounds, New Brunswick Green Mountains at $1.00 per bag of 90 pounds in bulk, and New Brunswick White potatoes at 95c per bag of 90 pounds in bulk, ex-track.

The market for imported beans was quiet and prices were unchanged. Car lots of choice white hand-picked sold at $2.65 per bushel, ex-track, and in smaller quantities at $2.75 per bushel, ex-store.

The demand for butter continued of a limited character, but values ruled steady. The receipts were 121 packages.

Some further business was done with United States buyers in cheese and sales of Obtober No .1 white and colored were made at 19¼c per pound and in Western current receipts of the same grades at 19c per pound. The demand from the United Kingdom was dull. The receipts were 37 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, January 10 (Canadian Press). — Predictions that the Government corn crop report to-day would prove bullish did a good deal to rally the corn market yesterday after an early decline. Corn prices were also strengthened by a new high-price record for the season in the barley market ,putting barley at above 2 cents a pound, whereas corn and oats commanded only about 1½ cents.

Closing quotations on corn were firm at a shade to ⅝c net advance. The finish in wheat was unsettled, ½c to ⅝c to ⅞c net lower, with oats ½c to ¼c up, and provisions showing 5 cents to 20 cents gain.

Wheat tended downward in price almost the entire day. Favorable weather for the Argentine harvest was an incentive to sell, and, so too, was the fact that world shipments of wheat were increasing. Export trade in North American wheat was inactive with North American total stocks more than 60,000,000 bushels larger than last year.

Provisions developed firmness, reflecting an advance in the hog market.

A Thought

THE WAY TO WIN.

The simplest and surest plan on the way to win is of course the best idea after all.

Just do what you are expected to do and do the thing a little bit better every day, then, when you are thoroughly qualified, you will be moved up.

Now repeat this simple plan of desirable and dependable service, and in time you will be the one that has the authority to move others along.

This is so simple, but so successful. The person who thrills with the honor and glory of winning his own way through dependable service will some day get that "authority."

In the last 125 years no Mayor of New York City has served three consecutive terms.

MADOC INSTITUTE WILL HOLD COURSE

Millinery and Dressmaking To Be Taught—Dance Very Successful.

MADOC, Jan. 10.—The Madoc Women's Institute held their December meeting on the last Friday of the old year. An exchange of Christmas gifts had been arranged for which added a festival touch to the program, and a donation of small jars of jams or jellies on answering the roll call was for the Children's Shelter in Belleville.

The attendance was 27. Mrs. E. M. Tumulty, the president, opened the meeting with the Institute Ode, then called for the minutes of the last meeting and the correspondence.

Replying to the application for the Demonstration Lecture Courses in millinery and dressmaking, the institute informed that the millinery course could be given the latter part of February, with the dressmaking course some time later. It was decided to accept this. There is room for six or seven more members for this class.

All joined in singing "Hark, the Herald Angels sing," after which Mrs. George Harris was called on for the special topic of the day, "The Beauty of Christmas" and began by saying "the first promise of Christmas was given in the prophecy, 'And thou, Bethlehem, in the land of Judea, art not the least among the princes of Judea: for out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel."

The beginning of Christmas giving was when the "wise men" brought gifts —gold, frankincense and myrrh, to the Infant, Jesus. The how and the wherefore, and the where of the giving was clearly indicated and the beauty was in everything connected with Christmas—the stars, the singing of carols, the Christmas music, the red and green of the holly, the white and silver of the parcel wrappings, the good cheer, the cheerful friendliness of all at Christmastime and the Christmas spirit pervading all.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Harris.

After a discussion of the Fair time receipts it was moved by Mrs. Moorecroft, seconded by Mrs. Connor, that fifty dollars be applied to the Memorial Fund. This was carried unanimously.

Mrs. W. E. Connor then asked permission to speak as convenor of the Relief Committee. First thanking the members for flowers during her illness, she went on to speak of relief work needed in the northern hospitals, and also asked that funds be available for any urgent relief work.

It was moved by Mrs. Moon, seconded by Mrs. Springham, that twenty-five dollars be donated to hospital work as suggested by Mrs. Connor.

It was suggested in amendment that the young people be asked to re-produce their play, "The path across the hill," for the Institute, for the benefit of the Hospital Fund. The amendment carried and a committee, Mesdames Brown, Wellman and Nickle, was appointed to interview the young people and make necessary arrangements.

For Relief Work it was moved by Mesdames Brown and Huffman, that $5.00 be allowed for immediate relief work, and more at the call of the executive.

Mr. Charlie Bing, of the Canadian Cafe entertained several of his business friends to a real Chinese New Year's dinner on Monday evening.

The New Year's Dance, given by the High School hockey boys, under the auspices of the Cadet Corps, in the armouries on Jan. 2nd was one of the most successful ever held here.

The music furnished by the Victor Young Orchestra was excellent and the crowd merry and happy. A bountiful lunch and hot coffee were served about midnight. Dancing was continued for some time afterwards, when the Home Waltz and the National Anthem closed a pleasant evening.

The decorations were in the High School colors: old gold and black, and were the work of the boys themselves. Japanese lanterns were used over the lights and furnished a subdued color Japanese lanterns were used over the scheme.

The moonlight waltzes were very popular. Several old-fashioned waltzes, and one or two quadrilles were called for and were certainly appreciated by many of the crowd, students and visitors alike.

CAMPBELLFORD COUNCIL BEGINS YEAR'S WORK; REV. N. C. WALLACE OFFICIATES AT OPENING MEETING

Mayor Kingston Discusses Paving and Sewers In His Opening Address.

NO BEER WAREHOUSE.

Town Was in Local Option List Before O.T.A., Liquor Control Board Advises.

CAMPBELLFORD, January 10. — The brief ceremony of inauguration for the Town Council was conducted by Rev. N. Clarke Wallace, rector of Christ Church, in the Council Chamber yesterday morning at eleven o'clock. After a brief word of prayer, Mr. Wallace addressed the Council briefly. He congratulated those members who had been successful at the elections, and assured them all that he felt certain that whatever could be done for the benefit of the town generally, they would be found quite capable of doing. He complimented them on the co-operative spirit which had existed during the past year, and thought that their interpretation of the term esprit de corps would accomplish much for their desires in the future.

In responding to Mr. Wallace, His Worship Mayor Kingston said he thought the Council was greatly indebted to him for his generous expression of goodwill and for his having come to open their meeting. As Mayor for another term, Mr. Kingston welcomed the members of the old Council who had been returned by the vote of the people and also Councillor Joseph Wilkinson, the only new member to sit at the Council table. All have had experience in municipal affairs, said the Mayor, and this ought to help in the business throughout the year.

There were two or three things of major importance to the town, continued His Worship, which would be for the disposal of thte present Council. There was the matter of paved streets. This would be brought before the Counties Council at their January session, and there was every reason to believe that it would be favorably considered. Regarding the extensions to this pavement, he thought it would be necessary to issue debentures to meet the payments and therefore it would be necessary to formulate a by-law to that effect. The paving of Front Street was also a matter which was still very far from being decided upon.

The matter of sewers would also be one of the problems for this year's Council to deal with. Several difficulties had cropped up during the year that ought to be disposed of this year. He felt certain that every member of the Council was anxious to carry on the business of 1928 successfully.

Scale Question Debated.

At 11.20 the meeting took on the form of a regular business meeting of the Council. When the usual opening formalities had been dispensed and the Mayor asked if there was anyone present who wished to address the Council. Mr. Jones, convenor of the Canadian Legion Employment Committee, took the floor. He introduced himself in the capacity in which he addressed the Council, and brought up the matater of the leasing of the market scales to George Third, who, he said, was a wealthy, retired farmer. For this position there had been two applications, one from Mr. Third and one from Mr. Jones, a returned soldier, who had lost a limb overseas.

Mayor Kingston replied that the Council had decided the question on its merits, and that the man who had been granted the contract was the more competent.

"In what way?" asked Mr. Jones.

Mayor Kingston replied that the applicant pernaps did not know that there was considerable work in connection with the operation of these scales, and ruled the question as being out of order, but further argument followed, until the Mayor ruled that the question was closed.

Reeve Bygott, himself a returned soldier, asked permission to speak a few words. He said he thought he might be able to clear up the situation to a certain extent. He explained the operation of the scales, and said that in his personal opinion Mr. Jones could not handle the job.

Mr. Jones replied hotly that Mr. Nancarrow (operator for 1927) used to employ Mr. Third on shipping days and thought that his brother could have done the same. Some further argument of a fiery nature ensued, and several of the Councillors called "Order! Order!" but Reeve Bygott asked the Mayor to permit Mr. Jones to proceed. It was granted, and Mr. Jones stated that it was his candid opinion that Reeve Bygott's principles were contrary to the laws of the Legion.

"I would expect you to say that Mr. Jones," replied the Major, who is president of the local Canadian Legion, calmly.

This ended the discussion in the council chamber, and the Mayor asked if it were the pleasure of the council that he name the heads of the committees for the year. As he named each head of committee, the leader selected his committee, with the following result:

Finance—Messrs. Wiggins, Stone, Bygott and Cole.

Road and Bridge.—Messrs. Abernethy, Bygott, Sullivan and Davidson. In connection with the naming of this committee, Councillors Cole, Wilkinson and Stone were named and refused to act. This is an important committee and action of these councillors came as somewhat of a surprise.

Charity—Messrs. Stone, Cole and Wiggins.

Inquiry and Industrial — Messrs. Bygott, Stone and Davidson.

Police—Messrs. Davidson, Sullivan and Bygott.

Band—Messrs. Cole, Wilkinson and Stone.

The correspondence read by the Clerk contained first, a letter from the Clerk of the United Counties enclosing a remittance of $709.72. The second was a letter from The Municipal World, asking the Council that they renew their subscriptions as in former years. This matter was immediately dealt with and the subscriptions renewed.

Can't Have Warehouse

A letter from the Department of Liquor Control and bearing the signature of Mr. Hanna, explained that as this town had been under local option in 1908, it would be impossible for the department to sanction the establishment of a brewers' warehouse here. As if in explanation and also by way of suggestion, came a letter from F. J. McArthur, Cobourg, suggesting that the Council get together and with the consent of the people, present the affair to the department. A communication announcing the Good Roads Convention to be held in Toronto, February 22, 23, and 24 was laid on the table till after the January meeting of the Counties Council. A motion to pay the fifteen dollar fee was passed but no delegates will be appointed till the February meeting.

The annual appeal from the Sick Children's Hospital was dealth with by voting the usual donation to this cause. This concluded the correspondence and applications for the various positions were dealt with. For Assessor, there were three applicants. The position was alloted to M. Mulhearn, who was assessor last year. For auditors, there were four applications, and the appointment went to R. J. Allan and J. D. McEacherin. The appointment to the Library Board went to Harry Townsend, and J. A. Jeffs is again High School trustee. John Gay was named to the Board of Health.

The bylaw providing for banking and loan facilities occasioned considerable discussion as to which bank should have the handling of the town account. Councillor Wiggins pointed out that since there would probably be no loan required at all, the argument was quite unnecessary. The rate of interest was set at six per cent. and Mr. Lapp, Standard Bank, when asked regarding the Mayor's signature, said that the Standard Bank would not require it for deposits.

Wants Band Grant Cut

Under the heading of general business, Councillor Cole, Band Committee, said he thought that fifty dollars a month was too much to give the band when the citizens were not getting as many band concerts as they should receive. He put a motion that the grant be cut to thirty-five dollars and it was immediately seconded by Councillor Sullivan.

Deputy-Reeve Davidson spoke strongly against the motion. He thought the band master a good teacher and a competent leader. The younger members who were not, perhaps, as good players as the more seasoned bandsmen, were necessary to the band and were, in fact, the only factor that made the band possible at all. He pointed out that Mr. Pearson gave one night to beginners only, one to general practice, and also arranged to give individual lessons to any beginner free of charge. He thought that if the salary were cut, there would be no band, and that would be a mistake. Stirling, he said, appreciated his efforts. Major Bygott agree with Davidson and thought the band ought to be kept going.

Mr. Sullivan said he had been on the committee last year and complained that the band had not turned out to play more than twice on the street and therefore the grant was unnecessary expense. Councillor Wilkinson, a new member of the Council this year, but with previous experience, a veteran of the Great War and an ex-bandsman, declared that without a band the chief source of amusement in the town would be lost. He thought the Decoration Day parade was worth the entire grant if the band never turned out again during the entire year. He thought his fellow councillors ought to realize that the older members were dropping out and that new members were coming in to replace them. These younger players were not to be expected to be as reliable as men who had served for many years. He thought that the band should not be done away with without the consent of the people. Their music, he said, was second to none between Toronto and Montreal.

Councillor Stone agreed that the town ought to have a band, and if the service warranted it, he was willing to pay the regular appropriation. But he did not think the band as good as it had formerly been. Reeve Bygott tried to explain some of the conditions by saying that several first-class bandsmen had left town because of unemployment. Others had gone to college. To lend force to his argument he named some of these men. He did not think thirty-five dollars a good salary.

Mayor Kingston agreed that the new players were probably the last word in efficiency but reminded the council that until late years, the membership of the band had been practically the same for 40 years. Many had been compelled to stop playing for no other reason than that their ages would not permit them to continue such strenuous endeavors. Some of thees members had died and the mayor also supported his statements by naming some of the old timers who were no longer members for the reasons he had mentioned. He also admitted readily that he was not able to tell good music from bad, and if the band was not as good last year as it ought to have been he was unaware of it, but he did not think the services of a competent man could be secured for any less money.

For some minutes the argument continued between the councillors, some for and some against the cut. In the end it remained as it had been. At this point the clerk interrupted to say that he had overlooked a communication. It was from the Trent Waterways and had to do with the coming motor boat show in New York. The per capita tax for Campbellford amounted to $70 and this amount was ordered to be paid.

The pay sheet and accounts were then passed and a discussion arose from a police account which had been O.K.'d by the chief. Deputy Deeve Davidson thought that his O. K. ought to be good enough as he was police commisioner and had already given an order to the constable to purchase the goods listed on the account. This settled the matter at once.

A notice from the Kingston general Hospital re Nelson Martin's hospital account was received and laid on the table till the account should be rendered at the next meeting.

Joseph Douglas reminded the council that the ditch in front of his residence had not been cleaned out, and that the result was six inches of water in his cellar. He claimed that there was a foot drop betwen his celair floor and the ditch if it were properly cleaned. He also understood that the Road and Bridge Committee had had authority to do the cleaning some time ago. But Councillor Abernethy denied ever having been given the authority.

After a brief discussion his committee was authorized to investigate and take what action was necessary, and also to attend to the trees on the street in front of Douglas' home.

Before the motion to adjourn was seconded, Councillor Wilkinson asked if he could be told how much charity had been given this year. The figures which were furnished him totalled approximately $85.00 since December 31st. This called forth discussion which did not arrive at any definite conclusion, and the Council adjourned.

OBITUARY

STIRLING, January 10. — The body of Joseph McAvoy arrived at the home of his father, Mr. F. McAvoy, of West Huntingdon, on Saturday. The deceased had been employed on a railway in Chicago for some years, and while at work met with accidental death. He had resigned his position intending to come home but remained on a few days until his successor was ready for duty. He was the youngest of ten sons and was thirty-three years of age. In religion he was a Roman Catholic. The funeral service was held at St. James' Church, Stirling, on Tuesday morning.

DR. EDWARD J. COOKE

Word was received in the city on Saturday of the sudden death of Dr. E. J. Cooke in Cheltenham, England, father of Basil Cooke, formerly of Peterborough.

He leaves to mourn his loss his sorrowing widow; two sons, Basil A. of Toronto, and Dr. Cecil J., of India, and one brother, William, of Toronto.

ERNEST PARSONS.

WAHSAW, January 10. — A very sad death occurred on Thursday afternoonwhen Ernest, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Parsons passed out suddenly. As a child he had not been strong, but lately he had appeared, and in every way seemed, to have outgrown his weakness. He was a tall, healthy appearing boy of nineteen years and on Wednesday and Thursday was helping his father. Complaining of illness, he went to bed, and when his mother went to see how he was she found him cold, and she and his father discovered he was dead. Aid was called, but the lad had quietly passed away. Besides his grief-stricken father and mother, he leaves three sisters.

The funeral service was held in Warsaw Anglican Church on Saturday afternoon. In this church, not many months ago, the young man had been confirmed.

Rev. J. T. O'Conor Fenton conducted the service, which was a very sympathetic one, and full of comfort for the bereaved family. Many attended the service, as the young man and the family to which he belonged are held in high esteem by their neighbors in North Dummer.

There were many beautiful wreaths and other flowers. Six of his companions acted as pall-bearers. The interment was in Warsaw.

FRED GOVAN.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 10. —The funeral of the late Fred Govan, Oshawa, took place in that city yesterday. Deceased was a victim of pneumonia. He is survived by his widow and a two-year-old daughter, also six months old twins. Mrs. Govan was formerly May Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Lawson, Trent River. She is a cousin of the late Mrs. Harold Brown.

HAROLD BROWN.

The funeral of the late Harold Brown was held yesterday afternoon from his father's residence, Seymour West. Deceased was in his thirty-fourth year and was, by profession, a farmer. At the age of sixteen, he graduated from the Campbellford High Scohol and at one time entered upon a teaching career., but he much preferred farm life and returned to it. Just less than nine years ago, he married and located on the farm which was his home till the time of his death, lot 7, con. 9, in the township of Seymour. He was a devout member of the United church, and of the Methodist previous to church union. In his two fraternal societies, he had achieved great success for a man of his years. A former master of L.O.L. 1369, he was also Past Preceptor of Golgotha Preceptory R.B.P. 381, and in the latter occupied the chair of County Deputy. His brothers of the lodge state that he was in order for even higher honors when the next election of officers came around. Everyone who knew him spoke in the highest terms of praise of the deceased and the multitude who attended the funeral service bore mute testimony to their words and thoughts.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hie, Hastings United church and the two lodges of which the deceased was a member also performed the last rites of their order. Particularly impressive was that of the Knights of the Royal Black Preceptory. The pallbearers were Messrs. John Brown, George Brown and Fred Brown, brothers of the deceased, and Messrs. Jack Free, Raymond Free and George Free, brothers in law of the deceased. Interment was made at Centre cemetery.

There survive, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Brown, his parents, his seven-year-old son, Edmund, his daughter Ada who is nearly four, Clifford who is just more than two, and a three-weeks-old daughter, Eleanor. The late Mrs. Brown predeceased her husband only three weeks ago. There are also three brothers, John, George and Fred Brown, all of Seymour.

The most sincere and deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved family by the entire community.

CAR ABANDONED.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan., 10. — At 11 o'clock yesterday morning the police received information that a Ford touring car of an old model had been abandoned on the property of John Johnston, just outside the corporation line sometime during the night. The license markers bore the number 311-117. Some empty pop bottles were found in a paper bag on the floor of the vehicle. At a late hour last night the ownership of the car had not been definitely established but investigation is proceeding. The car was last seen in its abandoned position near the barn at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, but it has since been removed.

A JOLLY GOOD FELLOW!

A Man is never So Far Lost but Love Can Redeem Him!

Joe, a grey-haired and absolutely broken man, stood before me.

JOE was "a jolly good fellow" — one of the boys — a "regular guy." And he was fond, too, of the good fellowship which "a little snort" now and then stimulated. When Joe married he was a very successful Realtor, his opinion sought after by those engaged in "big business." Marion knew that he was not an advocate of the White-Ribbon League when she married him — but she had never seen him under the influence of the "Cup of Bacchus." Her disillusionment came three months after their marriage. Joe disappeared for three days — and returned home a penitent, full of the age-old conventional vows of "never again"! And everything was lovely — until the next time! But that "next time" lasted a month — and Joe found himself out of a job! For a full year thereafter, "The water-wagon" was Joe's constant friend, during which time he became a proud Daddy. But such an important event in any red-blooded man's career, he argued, demanded a celebration. And being "a jolly good fellow," the celebration developed into a permanent orgy of drinking. For five years after that it was a case of "On again, off again" the water wagon — fired from this job, starting afresh with that, moving here and there, until .... one day Marion took the reins in her own hands .... and the sparks began to fly!

What did Marion do? You'd be surprised! Did she preach temperance? She did not! Did she leave him flat? Wrong again! She simply ..... but you must read this absorbingly interesting story from life yourself in order to appreciate what a courageous woman really can do. All classes in England assembled on November 11, the ninth anniversary of the armistice, to pay tribute to Britain's heroes of the Great War. Above is the scene of that memorable day in Whitehall, London, where is located the imposing cenotaph of the empire's million war dead.

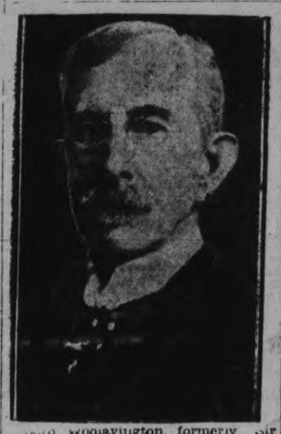
FOUR EXECUTED FOR PLOTS IN MEXICO

These are the first photos of the execution of four, one a Catholic priest in Mexico City, for an alleged attack on General Alvaro Obregon, presidential candidate. The executions took place at eleven o'clock on the morning of November 23. At the left is Engineer Luis Segura Vilchis, the second of the four to die. Note the body of the executed priest beside him and the wall riddled with bullets by other executions. At the right are the five convicted of the plot. All but the young girl were executed, and she was given a long prison term. At centre, Engineer Vilchis. Upper right corner, the Catholic priest, Miguel Augustin Pro Jaurez. Upper left corner, Humberto Pro Jaurez, the priest's brother. Lower right, Juan Tirado Arias. Lower left, Josefina Montes de Oca, niece of the Archbishop Montes de Oca.

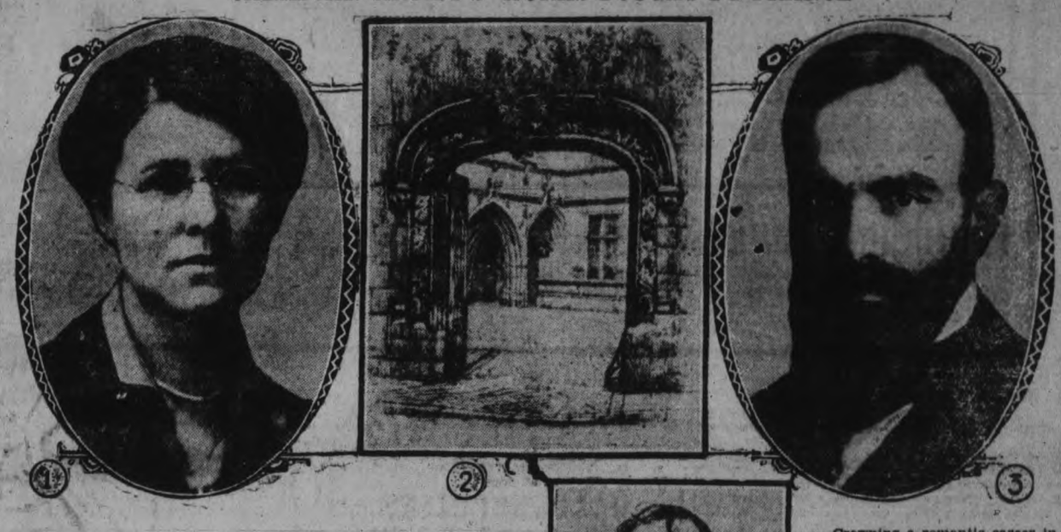
TRYING COMPANIONATE MARRIAGE

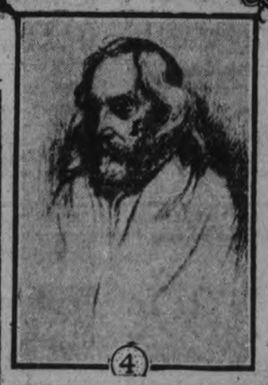
These two will try a "companionate marriage", with the consent of their parents. Modern views decidedly triumph in the home of 18-year-old Josephine Haldeman-Julius, shown ABOVE with her future husband, Aubrey C. Roselle, aged 20. He will not support her. The girl's parents are well-known American publishers and writers, associated with the modern movements in American letters, and they see no reason why their daughter should not have a husband—at least a temporary one—simply because the young man of her choice cannot afford to support her. Therefore, her father will take care of the bread and butter supply and Roselle's father, who is of like mind, will support him, while they finish their college courses. If there are children, Haldeman-Julius will regard these, temporarily, as a family responsiblity. The marriage was solemnized, on the American Thanksgiving Day. If it proves a success a "regular" marriage will follow when the couple are on their own feet financially. Otherwise there will be a divorce. Meanwhile bride and groom will live at the home of their respective parents.



Lord Woolavington, formerly Sir James Buchanan, distillery magnate, who settled a fortune on his two young grand-nieces in Jamesville, Ohio, when he learned that their father, his nephew, had died leaving his widow and daughters in poor circumstances. He also invited the girls to England where he entertained them handsomely and proved a very real fairy godfather.

CANADIAN ARTIST'S WORKS BOUGHT BY FRANCE





Crowning a romantic career in art, works of the famous Canadian artist couple, Frank and Caroline Armington, have been purchased by the French Government for the Luxembourg Gallery. This celebrated pair, who have long been living in France, came from Fordwich and Brampton respectively. Their marriage was the result of a romance which blossomed in the studio of J. W. L. Forster, Toronto, Ont., artist. One of Mr. Armington's works was bought by France in 1923. Here the two artists are shown with representative works. Upper centre is Mrs. Armington's "Entrance to the Cluny Museum." Lower is her husband's "Head of an Old Man."

COSGRAVE TO VISIT OTTAWA

President of Irish Free State Accepts Invitation of Government.

REVISE ITINERARY.

DUBLIN, Ireland, Jan. 10.—President Cosgrave has received an invitation from the Canadian Government to visit Ottawa during his trans. Atlantic visit and the invitation will be accepted. It is probable the president's itinerary subsequent to his Washington visit will be revised in order to make the trip to Ottawa.

ALDERMEN PREPARE, ETC.

here. The County of Peterborough gets benefit from it, doctors from Havelock, Lakefield, and other municipalities use it, and not only this county of Victoria and Durham and Northumberland should be approached for a grant.

Ald. Phelan proposed that the city sign the agreement and that the Mayor and Ald. Ackerman approach the county councils in this matter. If they refuse the city can take advantage of the clause permitting either party to cancel the agreement on three months' notice.

Ald. Stocker asked if signing the agreement would not prejudice the city's request, and cause the counties to refuse to take part.

Ald. McIntyre called his attention to the fact that the city could cancel the agreement if they refused and Ald. Phelan reiterated his opinion that a deputation would get results.

Ald. Greene asked if the counties would not consider that the government's payment covered them. Mayor Denne agreed that they might but stated that the city people as well as the rural residents pay into the Ontario treasury.

The county councils will be approached at their January meetings which begin Jan. 24.

When the staff of the labratory was being appointed Mayor Denne asked if the District M.O.H. has such an amount of correspondence that he needs a stenographer. He favored having the work done by some of the city staff and this appointment was held over until the matter can be investigated.

The Mayor was authorized to send deputations to other places on public business when he deems it advisable. This is an annual resolution.

The customary interim payment of $15,000 to the Board of Education and tre usual grant to the Separate School Board were ordered paid.

A deputation will interview the Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey asking cooperation in cleaning up the sewage disposal plant.

Mayor Denne asked why the pump delivered to the sewage disposal plan' in Decemebr has not been connected Mr. Parsons said that the electrical connection has not been made but that the special parts had been ordered. He was instructed to get immediate action.

Support Legislation.

The request of the Ottawa Council for support in seeking changes in the municipal act to make clear the liability of a municipality for accidents caused by slippery sidewalks and roads was supported. This would make it necessary that the scene of the accident should have been left in a dangerous condition for several days in order to make the municipality liable.

The customary grant of $400 to the Trent Waterways Development Association was made an its efforts commended.

Ald. Greene expressed his support of the union of Canadian Municipalities and urged that a member be sent from the council to a meeting of the Ontario section in London this month to discuss legislation to be asked of the Ontario Legislature.

The Council will ask the executive of the V.C.M. to name Ald. Greene in place of ex-Ald. Hancock on the executive of that body.

The Mayor was asked to send a deputation to this meeting and to send one to a meeting arranged by Carleton County Council to ask the province to take steps to erect homes for the aged patients being discharged from the Ontario hospitals.

Ald. Macdonald asked if the instruction of the aldermen regarding careful sanding of the streets were being carried out. Ald. McIntyre called attention to the fact that hills are often slippier when in other places the walking is good. Mayor Denne pointed out that sand blows away in cold weather and proposed the use of salt. He also suggested a record of where sand has been placed on the streets. All these matters are being attended to, Mr. Parsons assured the council.

Ald. Greene called attention to the fact that a great deal of material is purchased on the "say-so" of the employees, and moved that a proper requisition form be drawn to be signed by the chairman. Often, he said, the chairman hears of it only when asked to O.K. the account.

Mr. Armstrong remarked that these forms are in use in some departments and Ald. Greene replied that he had known nothing about them.

Ald. Stocker announced his intention of keeping a thorough check of all such matters in the Works Department and expressed the opinion that the other chairmen should do the same.

Ald. S. A. Lowe took his seat, falling heir to the chair occupied last year by Mayor Denne.

There were present His Worship Mayor Denne and Aldermen Phelan, Cotton, Stocker, McIntyre, Hamilton, Macdonald, Greene, and Lowe.

New York City adds about 450 to its population every day of the year.

S.O.S. MYSTERY SEEMS SOLVED

American Schooner in Distress Believed Source of Signals.

HEARD AT HAMILTON.

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 10. — The discovery last night that S.O.S. calls were being flashed by the American schooner Alvena in distress, near Cape Hatteras at the same time that signals were picked up here, is believed to have solved the mystery puzzling Hamilton residents ever since it was discovered that the boat reported in trouble by Earl Reid did not exist.

Signals sent out by the fruit steamer Saxola for assistance to the Alvena coincide with the message picked up by Reid on the radio of Mrs. Roy Parke, 40 Platt Avenue. Operators explain that it was very easy, under the circumstances, to make a slight error in longitude and latitude. The continental code combinations for the steamer Sixalo's signature could easily be confused to make the interpretation given by Reid, particularly when the operator was more familiar with the Morse than the continental code.

The postion of the Alvena was given, in part, for instance as 75 west. Hamilton interpreted this as 140. In the continental code for 140 there are 15 dots and dashes. In the Morse there are the same number of dots and dashes for 75 west.

The Alvena is now believed lost, as the coastguard cutter Mascoutin sent to the rescue of the leaking fourmaster, has been unable to find any trace at the location given.

Lloyds agents deny ever being in communication with Reid, and it is now believed that some practical jokers were responsible for the telephone message purporting to come from Lloyds, which thanked him for the warning given and stated that he was the first to pick up the message.

tario people are most familiar is the penitentiary at Kingston, built between the years of 1830 and 1832. Incidentally, it might be mentioned that the first prisoner came there on opening day, having been sentenced to four years for horse theft near Niagara Falls. However, the buildings have been in course of remodelling almost continually since that time.

"Fourteen miles south of Montreal is the Quebec Pen., and there is also one at Dorchester, in the Maritimes. Each prisoner is examined physically and mentally before entering, and if found insane, is sent to the municipality to which he belongs. If he becomes insane after being confined, he is sent to a similar institution at the expense of the Federal Government.

"Once a prisoner enters, every effort is made to fit him for some vocation. He is taught by efficient and qualified teachers and tries examinations. 'At Kingston, alone, last year, eight passed their matriculation and seventeen their entrance examinations. A sane policy is followed, the penitentiary is not made a bed of roses, but at the same time each man is given a chance to improve, temptation is not allowed to become too strong and sixty per cent. of them go out without a mark against their records."

Pictures Shown.

The latter part of General Hughes' address was illustrated by lantern slides, showing the various penitentiaries, the buildings which comprise them, their surroundings, the work that the men do, such as building, tailoring, shoe-making; improvement in the prisons themselves, modern methods employed in every line of work and clearly indicating the wisdom of the government's policy in dealing with the prisoners.

In conclusion, the speaker made mention of the difficulties encountered and restrictions which hinder prison industry. He urged a policy whereby the work of the prisoners might be made a paying propostion both to government and to their dependents.

Vote of Thanks.

Dr. Craig moved the vote of thanks to General Hughes, coupling with it appreciation of the banquet supplied by the ladies, and of the work of the artists on the program. James Dutton seconded it, voicing his personal approval of the work that the speaker had outlined.

Rev. Allan.

Rev. Allan was heard in brief but humorous vein. He told several stories, and in conclusion voiced appreciation of the thoughtfulness of his congregation on this occasion of his wedding anniversary.

William Lyburn invited all to be in attendance at the unveiling of the war memorial at the Armories this (Tuesday) evening).

Adjournment followed with the singing of "O Canada."

4TH PETERBOROUGH TROOP.

The meeting opened on Thursday night with flag break and then inspection.

A game, Kangaroo Relay, was played, but the Kangaroo patrol were not hopping very good. The game was followed by two ten-minute instruction periods. R. Cook and C. Routley passed their second-class signalling tests.

The drawing of patrol animals was practised for a short time, followed by instruction on how to save a person who has fallen through the ice.

Four minutes was allowed for patrol in council before the council fire was held. Some lively songs were sung, followed by a number of short stories and tongue-twisters by Mr. John, President of the association.

Mr. John took the names of several boys who might join and is going to look them up before next meeting.

Mr. Corbett told a short story before the meeting closed. The meeting closed with the singing of God Save the King and Scout Silence.

The Owls are leading with 202 points, the Kangaroos second with 196, and the Crows third with 182½ points.

A court of honor was held after the rest had gone.

There will likely be a Scout hockey league this year among the four troops.

5TH PETERBOROUGH TROOP.

The Bull Dog patrol, 5th Peterborough Troop Boy Scouts of Peterborough held their usual banquet at the home of their patrol leader, Garry Johnson, on Wednesday evening. The boys stood while they saluted the flag and repeated the Scout oath.

A toast was proposed by Garry Johnson to the Boy Scouts of Peterborough, "may they prosper," and responded to by Verne Janeway. Lin Pratt then proposed a toast to Sir Robert Baden Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement, and Chief Scout of the British Empire. This toast was responded to by Mark Bredin. Richie Walsh proposed a toast to "The Flag," which was responded to by the entire patrol in most enthusiastic fashion.

Everything dear to a boy's heart and appetite was provided. Many humorous stories were told by the boys. Much amusement was caused by the household pet, a tiny Pekingese, which kept vigil under the table and protested loudly when anyone moved his feet.

After disposing of unbelievable quantities of good things the boys held a short program, consisting of vocal solos by Verne Janeway, Lyn Pratt, R. Walsh, a duet by V. Janeway and G. Johnson. Music was provided by G. Johnson at the piano and V. Johnson on the xylophones. Ken Fox getting in an occasional note on the cornet. Before departing all expressed thanks to Mrs. Johnson for so kindly acting as hostess and treating them so hospitably. Among those present were Scouts Vern Janeway, Mark Bredin, Jr., Ritchie Walsh, Arnold Smedmore, Kenneth Fox, Garry Johnson, Vic Johnson and Earl Leggett.

The meeting on Tuesday night opened with flag break and inspection. Then for half an hour the patrol leaders instructed their patrols. The Scoutmaster then called the boys for setting-up exercises. This lasted about fifteen minutes. The Scoutmaster helped along by introducing some new games. Poison well was run off and L. Asling won it. Then followed a race, where the boys had to run from one end of the room to the other and set up two bottles and race back again. A short instruction period on lashing, bridge building and making stretchers out of staves, with rope interlacing, followed. Most of the boys are now well on their way to second class scouts and there are only three that are not tenderfoots. Also there is a troop hockey team, and if the other troops are ready, the Fifth will play them in several weeks time. Those who have not tried out for the team should come along and try.

The fellows tried a little singing at the council fire and the Scoutmaster congratulated them on it. The meeting came to a close with Scout silence and "O Canada."

75TH ANNIVERSARY MARKED SUCCESS

United Staffs of Grafton Stores at Dundas Hold Celebration.

DUNDAS, January 9. — Wednesday evening was the occasion of a most successful party held in the Valley City by Grafton & Co., Limited, to celebrate 75 years of successful business life in this province.

The auditorium of the music hall was used to accommodate the hundreds of guests and personnel of the company who gathered to commemorate the unique event. Representatives from eight branch stores united with the combined staffs of head office, factory and warehouse. The hall, with its gorgeous decorations of flags, streamers, and shaded lighting presented a very gay appearance, while the stage bordered with ferns and flowering plants and banked with palms, ferns and a profusion of bloom, was a veritable bower of remarkable beauty. On the platform appeared a bouquet of 75 roses emblematic of the years 1853 to 1928.

The program proved to be of unusual interest. Musical selections, vocal and instrumental, and several readings were much enjoyed. The features of this part of the evening's entertainment were the presentations of diamond stickpins to Col. J. J. Grafton, president, and to J. Stewart Grafton, the vice-president. The former, after suitable introductory remarks by J. F. Hickey, manager of the London store, received his presentation at the hands of T. W. Barry, managing director. Col. J. A. MacLennan and T. D. Lunn, of the Hamilton branch, introduced the vice-president. In thanking the employees for their appropriate gifts, both Col. Grafton and J. Stewart Grafton spoke in terms of highest praise of the work of J. B. and J. S. Grafton, who founded the business three-quarters of a century ago. Proud of the achievements of the past, they welcomed the future with optimistic vision and pledged their strength of mind and body to a continuation of the splendid ideals which have always been the company's motto.

The remaining hours were spent in happy conversation and dancing to the strains of an excellent orchestra.

The staff of the London store travelled in a special car on the Canadian National Railways, and were joined at Woodstock by the employees of that branch.

The staff of the Peterborough store, consisting of W. C. Hughes, manager, and Mrs. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cronin, Mrs. W. Conway, L. E. Conway, Mr. J. C. Best, H. J. Conway, Harold Chate, and Misses Olive Curtis and Gladys Green, left on the noon train on Wednesday, and at Hamilton joined the staff of the Hamilton store, proceeding to Dundas by special bus.

The program was as follows:

Orchestra; cornet solo, S. C. Thornton; the Melody Boys, Art. Hill, Art. Wright, Art. Thwaites, (a) "The Whisper Song," (b) "A Cup of Coffee," (c) "I Wonder How I Look When I'm Asleep"; vocal solo, "Come to the Fair," C. Hume Madden, Owen Sound; reading, "A Character Impersonation of Mrs. Moneymade's Fitting," Miss Emily Hendershot, Hamilton; ukulele ditties, Art. Hill; the Melody Boys, (a) "The Egg," (b) "Matrimony"; reading, "The Carousal at the Palace," W. F. Stuart, Buffalo; vocal solo, "The Vagabond," C. J. Snider, Brantford; Orchestra; cornet solo, "Showers of Gold," S. C. Thornton; vocal solo, "Devonshire Cream and Cider," Miss Helen Drury, Dundas; character songs, Art. Wright; reading, "The Habitant," C. N. Hall, London; vocal solo, "The Island of Dreams," Mrs. B. C. Parker, Woodstock; sketch, "Down on the Farm," the Melody Boys; "Reminscences," Col. Grafton; "A Look Forward," J. Stewart Grafton.

The Snow Fight

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS.

ONE might as well tell a dog to quit wagging his tail as to try to make boys stop throwing snowballs. There is something so exhilarating about it, so boylike in its impulse, that there just isn't much use trying to prohibit it unless we station a corps of policemen at all corners as long as the snow flies. What we can and should do is to teach our boys the danger of hitting folks with snowballs packed too hard, for serious injuries are easily inflicted that way. Teach them also to have due regard for property such as windows and street lights. Then little harm will result from the jolly fun of snowballing.

OUT in our back yard we built a fort,
With thick high walls
Of great snow balls
And started a war that was jolly sport.
The enemy charged with whoops and calls
But we scattered their ranks with cannon balls.

WE followed them hotly on the run,
But with a shout
They turned about
And our armies had such jolly fun,
Till Andy threw balls that were packed too hard
And then there was war in our back yard!

DRESS
By MARY MARSHALL

Close-fitting toque of black felt gives an effect entirely Parisian when worn with a short veil of wide-meshed veiling.

Turkish women have recently given up their veils. Only the most conservative among them cling to the time-honored fashion. Meantime veils have come back into fashion in the Occident.

They were revived in Paris several months ago but here they have not been seen to any great extent until within a few weeks—and now at every gathering of smart women in the daytime you see some of these new veils.

They are placed close to close-fitting hats and extend not quite to the tip of the nose—and usually they are of coarse or fine meshed veiling and often there is one rather large dot at the left side. Usually veil and hat are both black. Hardly ample enough to come up to the old Mohammedan requirements!

Already there are signs of larger, more ambitious veils, and the fad will probably not stop with the little eye veil. A new French hat I saw recently had a loosely draped veil slightly longer than the regulation eye veil, and another small hat had a great deal of black tulle draped about it, looped up in the front with a jeweled ornament.

Bow neck ties to go with small hats are shown by Reboux of Paris. These ties are of taffeta silk long enough to pass around the neck with a bow in the front, with ends extending to the waist, and are tied over the collar of the frock. The effect is very smart.

One thing that many women still seem reluctant to pay for when buying hats is the style and design. Yet, of course, it is the style and design rather than the materials and trimmings that make the great milliners able to charge ten or twenty times as much as the insignificant ones. A woman I know debated whether to buy a very simple little hat that she admired immensely. "Goodness," she said, as she turned away, "nothing to it but a yard of silk and velvet." And yet this season it is the hats that consist of little more than a yard of material plus smartness and clever designing that the really fashionable women are most willing to buy.

QUIETLY MARRIED

Ian Douglas Campbell, heir presumptive to the Duke of Argyll and the Hon. Janet Aitken, only daughter of Lord Beaverbrook, were married quietly in London. The ceremony took place in St. Columbia's (Church of Scotland). The ceremony was private owing to the recent death of Lady Beaverbrook, only immediate relatives being present.

SAINT and SINNER
By ANNE AUSTIN

With desperate hurry Faith jerked open the bathroom window and flung the three bottles which had contained poison as far as her strength permitted. Fortunately the window overlooked a side street that was deserted for the moment. She listened for the reassuring sound of the crashing of glass against pavement five stories below, then pulled down the window and walked waveringly toward the outside door, which was trembling under a deafening barrage of blows.

"It's funny, but I feel as weak as if I had taken poison," she reflected, leaning against the door jamb for support as her icy hands fumbled with the key in the lock.

"Did you knock?" she asked with ludicrous dignity, as her fever-hazed eyes tried to focus on the faces of the men who were staring at her in amazement.

There were three of them—the clerk who had assigned her the room, an old man with ruddy cheeks and a yellowish-white Vandyke beard, and a stocky, middle-aged man in a checked suit with a heavy gold chain across this prominent stomach.

"Sorry to disturb you, Miss Pringle," the clerk began apologetically. "The manager here was afraid there was something wrong when you didn't answer the phone or the door. This is Mr. Barnes, the manager."

"Everything all right, Miss Pringle." The manager shoved uninvited into the room and looked curiously about. "I see you were just taking a nap. A sound sleeper, I suppose?" His darting gray eyes had taken in the tumbled appearance of Faith's bed, but when they came to rest upon her again they were narrowed with suspicion. "Room comfortable?" he went on unctuously, but without waiting for her answer he darted to the closet, threw open the door and satisfied himself that no man was lurking within.

Faith heard his words faintly, as if they came from a great distance.

"She's fainting! Here, Barnes, help me get her into bed! A pretty sick girl, if I know my business. Easy, there. Keep her head lowered. Ring for an ice bag, Tilton. She's burning up with fever—"

"The old man with the beard is a doctor," Faith thought drowsily, as they carried her clumsily to the bed. "I'll have to tell him I have not fainted. I'm just—just—"

She moaned with pain as someone straightened her body upon the bed. Why were they hammering on her flesh? It was sore enough already—

"Miss Pringle! Can you hear me, Miss Pringle?"

She opened her great, fever-dazed eyes and stared blindly at the doctor who was bending over her. "Yes," she nodded. Then she smiled, that queer, cunning smile that had come to her with her tragedy. They didn't know at all who she was. They really thought she was Miss Stella Pringle, of Chicago—

"Have you swallowed any poison, Miss Pringle?" the doctor's gruff but kindly voice insisted.

"No, no!" Faith thought she was shaking her head violently on the pillow but it was hardly a gesture of negation that accompanied her hoarsely whispered denial.

"I'm afraid you have a very sick girl on your hands," she heard the doctor say to the hotel manager.

HOROSCOPE
The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

FOR WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 11th, 1928.

This should be rather a lucky day in planetary direction, according to astrology.

In the early morning there may be a tendency toward contention and argument. It is not favorable to breakfast-table harmony.

This should be a fairly fortunate day for settling accounts with banks or corporations.

If the stars are to be trusted the wise will pay their debts early, for they will later profit, owing to unusual circumstances.

This should be an auspicious sway for oil exploitation, which is to claim attention of financiers and economists as the year advances.

Although there will be unusual storms on the Pacific as well as the Atlantic this winter, voyages begun today should be fairly lucky.

Factional strife, dissensions and disruption are forecast for political parties, which will have a springtime of cross purposes.

Neptune is in an aspect supposed to presage extreme contests over the prohibition issue.

The development of a substitute for gasoline by a European chemist is foretold by astrologers.

Great increase of manufacturing interests on the Pacific coast is prognosticated. Prosperity is to include the entire country.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of success through personal effort. They should beware of false friends.

Children born on this day probably will be clever and industrious, but not given to detail and averse to responsibility.

Uncle Wiggily
By HOWARD R. GARIS

To-day's Bedtime Story

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BILLIE'S SKATES

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

For Christmas, among other things in his stocking and under the tree, Billie Wagtail, the boy goat, was given a pair of roller skates.

"They're the finest skates I ever had!" bleated Billie. "I'm going out now and roller over the sidewalk."

"You can't go now!" bleated Nannie, his sister.

"Why not?"

"'Cause the sidewalk is all snow and you can't ride on roller skates very good in the snow."

"That's right—you can't," agreed Billie. "But when the snow melts I'll go riding along."

It was not long after Christmas before the weather turned warm, the sun shone down hot and the snow melted off the sidewalks in Wood Land where Uncle Wiggily lived in his hollow stump bungalow near the animal boys and girls.

"Hurray!" cried Billie as he saw the pavements appear from beneath the layers of snow and ice. "Now I can go roller skating!"

It did not take him long to put on his skates. They fastened to the heels and soles of his shoes with strong clamps that were twisted tight by a winding key. As most of you have had or seen roller skates, you know what I mean without being told any more.

After he had his Christmas roller skates fastened to his shoes with the turner key, Billie put the key in his pocket and off he skated, rolling down the street just like a pumpkin.

"Why don't you leave your skate key home?" asked Nannie.

"'Cause," answered Billie, "I might want to tighten my skates if the clamps come loose. Or I might want to take them off."

"You'd need a key then, of course," said Nannie.

"I'll lend you one of my skates if you want it," offered Billie, who was a kind brother. Really he wanted both skates himself. So he felt better when Nannie said:

"No, thank you, I am going to play with my Christmas doll."

So Billie went skating down the street, like Tom-Tom, the Piper's son, only Tom ran while Billie gilded along on wheels. All of a sudden one of Billie's skates loosened and he stopped, took out the key and tightened the clamp. Then Billie skated on.

Up and down the sidewalk, with banks of snow on either side, the little boy goat glided, having lots of fun and thinking how wonderful Christmas was. And then, all of a sudden, it began to snow. The sun hid under a cloud, the cold wind blew and big, white flakes sifted down as if Mother Goose were shaking her feather beds.

"Oh, Zoopie!" bleated Billie who was a funny little chap. "I can't skate in the snow! I must hurry home and get out my snow shoes!"

But the snow came down so fast it clogged the wheels of Billie's skates and they would not roll. The wheels would not go 'round. And when Billie tried to walk through the fast deepening piles of snow on his rollers he found it hard work. You know it's hard to walk on even smooth ground with skates, and it's much harder to go ploppity plop in the snow. Billie was having a hard time to get along when, all of a onceness, his sister Nannie bleated:

"Why don't you take off your skates?"

"Surely enough! Why don't I?" chuckled Billie. "I will!" But when he looked for his key to loosen the clamps from his wheels and soles he couldn't find it. Then he remembered having stopped to tighten his skates. He had laid the key down on the ground instead of putting it in his pocket. "And now that key is covered with snow!" bleated Billie.

"Never mind! I'll pull your skates off for you," offered Nannie. But when Billie sat down and his sister pulled on his skates, she nearly pulled his legs off, but the skates were as tight as ever.

"I'll have to take my shoes off with the skates on and go home in my stocking feet!" cried Billie. He started to do this when, all of a sudden, along came hopping Uncle Wiggily.

"Why are you taking off your shoes, Billie?" asked the rabbit.

"Because I have lost my skate key!" bleated the goat.

"Well, I have in my pocket a new clock key I just bought for my wife," said Uncle Wiggily. "Maybe, the clock key will fit your skates."

Surely enough, it did. In a moment Uncle Wiggily loosened Billie's skates and the goat boy and his sister and the bunny uncle hurried home together through the storm. The next time Billie was careful not to lose his skate key. His father had to buy him a new one, for the old one was still hidden under the snow. But everything came out all right.

Lyrics Of Life
(By Douglas Malloch.)

WHEN FATHER SAWS A BOARD

When Father saws a board in two,
Or has some other job to do,
At first he'll drop it, then he'll scold it,
Then yell for someone else to hold it,
Whoever he may chance to see
Around, and gener'ly it's me.

Yes, gener'ly it's me that's near him.
The second time I have to hear him,
Though I have other things to do
Besides to saw a board in two.
He says to me, "All right, all ready?
Now hang on tight, and hold her steady"

Of course, that's what I mean to do,
When Father saws a board in two;
But right when things are going splendid,
And just the way that Dad intended,
That board just jumps right out my hands,
And on the floor the whole thing lands.

He says to me, "Well, what the thunder!
Can't you do anything, I wonder?—
Not even hold until I'm through
This board I've got to saw in two?
You always seem to drop it, Sonny;
I can't see why; it's mighty funny."

Then Dad gets up and rubs his hair
(I guess he got a bump somewhere),
And I hold, tight, I hold double,
And we don't have a bit of trouble,
Then Father says, "Why couldn't you
Have helped before to saw it through?"

Of course, I know just what's the matter,
Why things fall down with such a clatter,
When any boy has that to do,
Help someone saw a board in two;
But if I said, "the fishing season,"
I know he'd say, "Well, that's no reason."

But what if you yourself should know
That all the other kids could go
That morning up the river fishing,
And you were wishing, wishing, wishing?
You might forget just what to do
To hold a board to saw in two.

DIET A POTENT FACTOR IN EVERY DISEASE

While health is a natural condition of the body, it is, nevertheless, true there are very few persons who can truly say that they are enjoying perfect health.

It is folly for one to look outside of himself to find the cause of any disorder. One is not sick because he does not read a certain book, or because he doesn't take pills, or have an operation; but, He is Sick because he has Lived a Certain Way!

Any child can understand that the body is made out of what we eat and drink. Mistakes, like eating the wrong things, eating too much, and improperly combining our foods, are the greatest causes of disease, and physicians who do not prescribe a definite diet for each individual patient are either careless or ignorant.

In order to show you how diet plays such an important part in causing and curing disease, I am going to give you a series of short articles in which I will run down over an alphabetical list of the different disorders and explain how food is a potent factor in the cause of every disease. We will start first with acne, and continue through to zymosis.

ACNE is a skin ailment manifested by blackheads and pimples appearing mostly on the face and back, and the principal cause is from using too much greasy or sugar food. The body attempts to eliminate these excesses through the skin, and some of the two and a half million pores become stopped up, producing an unsightly skin which can never be cleared up until fatty and sugar foods are reduced to the minimum for the needs of the system.

ANEMIA is a disorder caused by iron and oxygen starvation, and this is in turn caused by a deficiency in the diet of the vital green vegetables and using too large a quantity of devitalized foods, such as white flour products, which rob the blood of the necessary organic minerals. The patient with this disease is often overweight, because of using food of wrong quality.

APPENDICITIS is brought on by colitis, or intestinal irritation, due to chronic constipation from faulty dietetic habits.

ASTHMA is characterized by difficult breathing which is produced by catarrh from mucus-forming foods, and by excessive gas pressure against the diaphragm from excessive food fermentation.

AUTO-TOXEMIA is a sort of blanket name for general toxemia created by various dietetic indiscretions, and often called the "Mother of all disease."

BILIOUSNESS is a common complaint produced by using more food than the system can convert into useful tissues. Any "heavy" food used in excess may be the agency for the production of a torpid liver.

BLADDER TROUBLES are caused mostly by irritating substances in the urine which come from irritating food by-products, and hyper-acidity created by wrong food combinations.

BLOOD PRESSURE—Too high or too low: If the blood pressure is too high it is because of too much arterial tension, and often the result of hardening of the arteries with calcareous deposits from using too many foods rich in lime. With low blood pressure an opposite condition exists, of flabby arteries from lack of sufficient organic minerals which can be derived solely from the proper food containing these elements. Those in good health will have a normal blood pressure of from 120 to 130 millimeters.

Questions and Answers.

Question: X.Y.Z. writes: "Please tell me what to do for ulcers in the mouth. The tonics from doctors only seem to give temporary relief, and the ulcers return in only a few weeks after getting rid of them."

Answer: Chronic mouth ulcers come from a similar condition which occurs in your stomach, and is due to wrong habits of eating which produce an overacidity of the gastric juice. The ulcers may be expected to return periodically until you learn to correct the hyperacidity of your stomach.

Question: H.P.C. asks: "Is it all right to eat cucumbers and ice cream at the same meal?"

Answer: Cucumbers and ice cream make a good combination, providing the cucumbers are not flavored with dressing and the ice cream is made of real cream and does not contain any cornstarch.

Question: Broken Hearted writes: "I have lost confidence in myself and others—also have lost control of my will-power which causes me to have a nervous fear almost constantly. Will you tell me what causes this, and how to cure myself?"

Answer: You should seek the advice of a good psychologist or psychoanalyst. You can receive much help by reading good books on the subject of mind power and mental control, but personal advice and the encouragement of a mental practitioner is often necessary to help you in effecting a complete cure, after you are conscious of having lost your mental control.

Question: E. P. writes: "My wife, fifty-six years of age, has been under the care of a heart specialist for nearly two years. She has high blood pressure, pains in the back of the neck, continuous ringing in the ears, with severe headache at intervals; a gnawing feeling in the small of the back, eyes ache and seem too large for sockets. Has a general feeling of weakness and insecurity and is very nervous. She has had her eyes tested but glasses do not seem to help. Had a bad illness last winter, and the doctor said it was Bright's Disease. She eats very little. Please advise what to do in this case."

Answer: It is unwise for me to attempt to advise you through the column in such a serious case, but I will be glad to send you some articles that I have written on high blood pressure and Bright's Disease. I regret that you have had to wait so long to see this unsatisfactory answer, but you did not give me your name and address, or I would have written to you at once.

Question: W. H. L. asks: "Please tell me how many calories a day should one get in his food. I am underweight and am trying to improve by eating. Is it injurious to take salts every night? What causes fever blisters when one does not seem to have fever, or cause for it?"

Answer: Dietitians who try to balance patients' diets through the calorie theory might say that you require some place between 2,500 and 3,500 calories a day, but the truth is, you may be able to get more nourishment and live better on 1,000 calories daily, providing it is of the right quality. It is a bad habit to take salts every night. The so-called fever blisters are really caused by hyper-acidity of the stomach which is usually present when one has a fever; but of course, these blisters may occur at any time from the over-acidity when fevers are not present.

A constitutional amendment to regulate "bossy" mothers-in-law is suggested by a probate judge in Springfield, Mass.

If you buy out of town, and I buy out of town, and all our neighbors buy out of town, what in thunder will become of our town? Ever think about it?

Minor Leagues to Rescind Dallas Resolution

BASEBALL DRAFT SITUATION REVERTS TO FORMER STATUS WHILE LANDIS IS IN OFFICE

Five Big Minors Win Right To Continue Under Modified Draft.

BRIEF SESSION.

Commissioner and Various Major League Representatives Not in Attendance.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—(Canadian Press).—The draft was among the minor leagues came to a sudden end yesterday. The resolution adopted at Dallas last month ordering the five big minor leagues to cease their "modification" of the draft, was rescinded by unanimous vote of delegates representing all the miners, both big and little.

Yesterday's resolution, in addition to annulling the Dallas action, provided that methods of former years should continue during the incumbency of Kenesaw Mountain Landis as baseball's $65,000 a year commissioner.

Commissioner Landis did not attend the meeting yesterday and neither did the various major league representatives who conferred with the minor league magnates before the executive session began.

In less than two hours the five big minors—International, Pacific Coast and Three Eye Leagues and the Southern and American Associations—had presented their opposition to the Dallas resolution and had won their right to continue under the modified draft. This system permits the major league to draft only those players who have come down from the major leagues, and protects the clubs of the big five in possession of the rookies they have developed themselves—for sale to the majors at fancy prices.

President Thomas J. Hickey assembled the American Association club owners yesterday morning to agree on their stand. Cowed by the threat of the major leagues, the little minors did not insist upon any concessions in the peace terms, but voted to go back to the former system.

The major leagues had served notice that peace must be affected between the big five and the little minors by January 16 or the major-minor agreement would become a scrap of paper and the minors would lose the protection of Commissioner Landis' authority.

The only public notice the commissioner took of the minors' meeting was to send a list of suggestions which the major leagues adopted at their meeting last month which the minors promptly adopted. The suggestions provide, among other things, a three year suspension for any umpire or official caught "scoutin" for a club in his league, and permanent suspension for any player, umpire or official found betting on baseball games.

Detroit Outfielder Best League Batter

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Harry Heilmann, popular outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, led the American League in batting in 1927, official averages of the league released yesterday show.

Heilmann outhit Lou Gehrig, Al Simmons, Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb, and other leading batsmen, to gain a percentage of .398. It was the fourth time Heilmann gained the lead since 1921, when he led the field with an average of .394. Simmons was second with .392 and Gehrig was third with .373.

The averages show that Babe Ruth not only led the league in home runs, but also in the number of runs scored with 158.

His team-mate, Gehrig compiled the greatest number of bases on his hits with a total of 447.

Bucky Harris, manager and second baseman of the Senators, made the most sacrifice hits, 20, but in everythings else the Yank-

SHARKEY OR HEENEY MAY FIGHT TUNNEY

Rickard Thinking of Staging Two Fights During This Year.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(Canadian Press).—The chase for an opponent to box Gene Tunney in a heavyweight championship bout goes on this week with Jack Sharkey, Boston lithuanian, tilting against Tom Heeney of New Zealand at Madison Square Garden on Friday night in the try out for a challenger.

Promoter Tex Rickard, who holds Tunney's contract to select a rival, made known yesterday that he hopes to reach a decision immediately after the fight. For the present, Rickard is going ahead with plans to stage the big spectacle at the Yankee Stadium in September. Rickard has taken the attitude that if Tunney wants to fight twice this year he will put on two bouts. The winner of the Sharkey-Heeney struggle may be pitted against Tunney without the formality of facing Dempsey, who would be held over for the fall title match.

RAVINAS BEAT WINDSOR 3 TO 0

Stratford Swamps Kitchener, League Leaders, 5-0, in Canpro Game.

TIGERS BEAT FALLS.

WINDSOR, Ont., January 10. — Thirty-five hundred Border Cities hockey fanatics had another bitter pill to swallow last night as the Toronto Ravinas administered one more reverse to the cellar-mired Hornets. It was a pill coated with whitewash, and thus the more unpleasant, for Frank Selke's men took the verdict, 3 to 0. Strangely enough, while they played smart team hockey all night, all Ravinas' goals came on individual efforts. They bagged one in each period, a pair falling to their scoring ace, Joe Primeau, and the other to "Pat" Patterson on Primeau's rebound.

LEADERS WHITEWASHED.

STRATFORD, Ont., January 10. — Doing just exactly what they did to the London Panthers on Friday night., the Stratford Nationals last night stepped into the league-leading Kitchener Millionaires, and gave them a 5-0 trouncing, and the victory was richly earned, for, after the first period, the Nationals used their bodies with telling effect to subdue the light, fast-travelling Millionaires.

The record crowd of the season was treated to the outstanding game of this year. Rivals for years, Kitchener always proved a drawing card. They did not fail last night to give the fans the worth of their money, but they were no match for the heavier Nationals, who let loose in the third period for three tallies.

TIGERS WIN EASILY.

HAMILTON, Ont., January 10. — Hamilton's speeding Tigers carved their way to a clean-cut 4-1 triumph over the Niagara Falls Canpro representatives in a scheduled fixture last night, driving the Cataracts down under a terrific attack that progressed with the game. From the time that Roth sifted the first counter through the Falls' defence, ten minutes after the start of the game, the Yellow and Black held a margin that the visitors could not overcome, and from the first period on, it was just a case of the Falls' sextette battling in vain against a team that was not only on edge, but in the midst of a charging campaign that asked or gave no quarter.

Rickard Would Stage Sharkey-Tunney Bout

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Tex Rickard yesterday told Johnny Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight title contender, that he wants to discuss the possibilities of a Sharkey-Tunney title match with the Boston manager as soon as possible.

From a long distance telephone conversation with the New York promoter yesterday, Buckley gathered that Rickard intends to go ahead with plans for the fight in New York next June if Sharkey demonstrates his fitness in his bout with Tom Heeney of Australia in Madison Square Garden next Friday night.

O.H.A. BULLETIN

Cornwall is playing at Brockville to-morrow night; Bowmanville Juniors at Oshawa, and Bobcaygeon and Havelock Intermediates at Peterborough.

Referees appointed for to-morrow night's game are as follows:

Senior Series
Kitchener at Marlboros — Tom Munro, London.
Intermediate Series
Cornwall at Brockville—Clair Devlin, Kingston.
R.M.C. at Kingston—Ernie Collett, Toronto.
Bobcaygeon at Havelock (Peterborough)—William Jackson, Peterborough)
Junior Series
Peterborough at Whitby — Frank Sullivan, Toronto.
Bowmanville at Oshawa—R. Armstrong, Toronto.

Referees confirm appointments.

WHEN HAVELOCK PLAYS EVERYONE IS ON HAND

First O.H.A. Intermediate Game, Havelock Vs. Bobcaygeon, To-morrow Night in Brock Street Rink.

One of the best drawing cards in the Brock street rink is the Havelock hockey team. Whenever they play they are usually greeted with a full house, and when they meet Bobcaygeon here to-morrow night they are coming in full force with a bang up special. Havelock is playing their home games at Brock street. They claim a better team than last year, so we may yet get a good deal of Intermediate Hockey of pretty fair variety before the season is over.

Jack Delaney Gets Bout With Risko

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Jack Delaney, former light heavyweight champion, who recently was bought by Joe Jacobs for $50,000 was matched yesterday for a bout with Johnny Risko of Cleveland at Madison Square Garden, February 10.

Jacobs has patched up his differences with Tex Rickard, after failing to negotiate for a Tunney fight in Chicago, and is ready to send the Bridgeport boxer in against Risko next month, provided the winner is promised a bout with the winner of the Sharkey-Heeney fight.

Delaney will have two "tune-up" fights, one with Sully Montgomery at the St. Nicholas rink next Monday and another with Jack Humbeek, the Belgian champion, in Boston, a week later.

HOCKEY NOTES

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 10.—Local hockey fans are very much pleased with the victory of the Lakefield intermediates in their first O.H.A. game played with Bobcaygeon on Thursday night in the latter village. The score was 4-2. The next game in the round will be played in Lakefield on Tuesday evening next against Havelock.

Jack Ridpath, of Preston, and formerly of Lakefield, is playing with the Preston team in the senior O. H. A., and won special mention in the reports of the game for good and effective play. Jack is upholding the Ridpath hockey traditions.

HOLY NAME LEAGUE.

Games played on Friday, January 6, resulted as follows:

Midgets.

Sacred Heart beat St. Peter's 3 to 0, in a very fast game.

Sacred Heart—Goal, H. Grady; defence, Lazure and Martin; wings, Burke and Hatton; centre, Collins; sub, Courneaya.

St. Peter's—Goal, Young; defence, Gainey and Huton; wings, O'Brien and Scollard; centre, J. White.

Juveniles.

Sacred Heart again proved victors in a very close game, defeating St. Peter's by the small margin of 1 to 0. L. Burke scored the only goal of the game, completing a clever piece of combination, in which this team excells.

Sacred Heart—Goal, Foley; defence, Blodgett and MacGrath; centre, Jones; wings, Maher and Burke; subs, Heffernan, Rogers and Collins.

St. Peter's—Goal, W. LeBarr; defence, Carroll and Mulvihill; wings, Collins and Johnson; centre, A. De Forge.

Juniors.

In the final game of the evening the St. Peter's boys proved too good for the Sacred Heart, although it was a close battle all the way, with the Northerners winning out 4 to 1.

St. Peter's—Goal, W. LeBarr; defence, J. Paquette, J. Mulvihill; centre, Maher; wings, Houlihan, P. Deforge; subs., Carrol and Archambault.

Sacred Heart—Goal, Murray; defence, Stante and Creighton; centre, Jones; wings, O'Toole and Collins; sub., Heffernan.

Referees—H. Ranger and L. LeBarr

St. Peter's Seniors.

The following players are asked to be present, to play from 9 to 10, at the Sacred Heart rink on Tuesday, January 10:

Goal, Thomas Lansfield; defence, C. Wolfe, J. McDonough; centre, L. LeBarr; wings, J. LeBarr, E. LeBarr; subs., P. Carroll and H. Archambault.

Any player named above who cannot be present please phone Lew LeBarr.

Golfers Are Pleased With Mild Weather

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Remarkably mild weather for this season is being received with mixed feelings in the Toronto district. Yesterday the mercury was hovering around forty degrees in Toronto, Ottawa, and Kingston, while it was generally mild throughout Eastern Canada. In Northern Ontario and Lake Superior district, however, the weather is somewhat colder.

A number of Toronto golfers yesterday got in some practice rounds on the soggy links but devotees of winter sports in this vicinity are fretting at the unseasonable weather.

VARSITY WINS THIRD STRAIGHT

Beats Kitchener 2-0 in Opening Game On Green Shirts' Ice.

WIN DESERVED.

KITCHENER, Jan. 10. —University of Toronto seniors defeated Kitchener Green Shirts, 2 to 0, at the Auditorium here last night, in the opening game of the senior O.H.A. season. It was the third straight win for the Toronto Collegians, and the second successive loss for the Green Shirts.

The game was a good exhibition of hockey, with the main feature being the open play by both teams, the rival defences being pierced fairly frequently. The Varsity team deserved to win, but the home team certainly did not deserve to be shut out, and had they been at all effective around the goal mouth they would not have been, and they might have won the game on the chances they were offered. The Blues simply took advantage of the openings and made them count.

Varsity Deserved Win.

Both teams played a fairly good combination, especially after the first period which was the least interesting of the trio. Varsity checked back well, and it was to this they owe their victory. They were greatly aided in this game by their speed, the Blues invariably getting back into position quickly.

"Kid" Wilson Keen Scrapper

Colborne, Ont.,
Jan. 6, 1928.

The Sproting Editor,
Evening Examiner, Peterboro.
Dear Sir:

Re letter published in The Examiner of Jan. 5, 1928, to "The Boxing Promoter", Peterboro, written by F. W.Lott, manager of Norman Wilson, Moose Jaw middleweight, I would like to say this much: If there is anybody in Peterboro who is a promoter of fights and they by chance would like to see something real snappy, by all means arrange a match with Wilson. I have seen him in several of his bouts and take it from me he is one of the fastest, cleverest boxers I have ever seen. And hit, say, that boy carries dynamite in both hands, and he has a real record too. So if the fight fans of Peterboro want some real class, they certainly will not be disappointed if they get a chance to see Norman "Kid" Wilson. I would go a long way to see him in action again.

Thanking you in advance,
Yours very truly,
ALFRED N. BROOKS.

LAKEFIELD MASONS HOLD INSTALLATION

Loughran Will Defend His Title in March

NEW YORK, N.Y., Jan. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Tommy Loughran, fighting king of the light heavyweights, probably will be called upon to defend his title some time in March, Tex Rickard announced yesterday.

Simultaneously, the Madison Square Garden fight "impresario" announced that Loughran had signed a contract giving Rickard exclusive rights to his services for a title bout before November 1.

Under present plans, the Philadelphian's opponent will be the survivor of an elimination tournament between Leo Lomski, of Aberdeen, Wash., Jim Slattery, of Buffalo, N.Y., and Mike McTigue, former titleholder. Loughran has defeated all three within the past three months.

Rickard said he had matched Lomski and McTigue for a bout at the Garden February 3. The winner will face Slattery and the ultimate survivor then will get a shot at Loughran's title in a match on or about March 30.

GIANTS HOPE FOR BREAKS

New Yorkers To Put Up Stiff Fight in National League Race.

ADD TO HURLERS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Barring some sling and arrow practice by outrageous misfortune, John McGraw believes the New York Giants will have considerable to say before the National League's 1928 champions are crowned. The Giants had a lot of luck last year, but it was mostly bad.

Injuries during the early part of the season kept baseball's "Napoleon" busy trying to devise some sort of a line-up that could keep him from being left at the post before the race really got under way. Finally the jinx departed, and the McGraw men started an upward climb that threatened to bring both major league pennants to New York. The drive came too late, however, and the Giants were forced to trail both Pittsburgh and St. Louis.

Probably considering himself lucky to finish as high as third place, McGraw began his plans for the 1928 campaign. The addition of Lefty O'Doul, crack Coast League outfielder, and of a flock of new pitchers have given the giants "paper power" that seems the equal of that of any of their rivals.

In Terry, Hornsby, Jackson and Lindstrom, McGraw has one of the best infields in the league. The two "Andys", Reese and Cohen, are the principal reservists.

With Harper and Roush as two starters, McGraw is depending upon O'Doul to fill out his quota of flychasers.

Indications are that the chief burden on the mound will be carried by Larry Benton, who led the league on a won and lost basis last year, Burleigh Grimes, Fred Fitzsimmons and Virgil Barnes. McGraw hopes to develop at least one more starting hurler from among Dutch Henry, Ben Cantwell, Jacksonville, right-hander, "Lefty" Faulkner, Toronto star, Billy Walker, Denver southpaw, and Arthur Johnson, purchased from Norfolk. All of these saw service during the latter part of the 1927 campaign.

With Al Devormer released, it looks like Zach Taylor and Jack Cummings will divide the catching duty, although Alfred Spohrer, a highly touted lad from Wilkesbarre, joins the team in the spring.

In Peterborough Churches

ST. ANDREW'S UNITED CHURCH

On Sunday evening at St. Andrew's Church, Rev. J. W. Gordon preached the first sermon in a series of four on the general topic, "Old Testament Questions and New Testament Answers." The subject of study on Sunday evening was "Did God command Abraham to offer his son Isaac as a human sacrifice."

Mr. Gordon first narrated the incidents which make up the pathetic and dramatic story found in Genesis, chapter 22, and then raised the problem which must inevitably come into the mind of students of the Bible: Must we believe that God would thus deal with any man? Would he thus "tempt" men?

Jesus taught us to pray, "Lead us not into temptation." What would we think of any man who would treat a fellow man like that? Would any man today do such a thing? If any man today were to proclaim his intentions to offer his child as a sacrifice because God had so commanded, he would be locked up as a lunatic and dangerous character. Would God so act today? If not today, why would he so act 3000 years ago?

Would Jesus so act? It is unthinkable and yet he said: "He that hath seen Me, hath seen the Father." Jesus corrected many points of view and customs and laws found in the Old Testament. Paul abrogated with one sweep the whole Jewish ceremonial laws. This question, "Did God command Abraham to offer his son Isaac as a human sacrifice?" finds an answer in the life of Jesus and in the atmosphere of love found in the New Testament.

If Jesus would not do such a thing then we as Christians must believe God would not do it. What we seem to have is an account of an inner spirited struggle which may have lasted for years, in which this great servant of God wrestled with the problem of human sacrifice. Others so sacrificed to their gods. Should he come behind them in devotion to Jehovah? At long last came his momentous decision: Isaac must be devoted. Then, in that tragic interference of God, came the light breaking over Abraham's soul. "Touch not the lad," and Abraham knew that human sacrifice was wrong. It was not pleasing to Jehovah. This was an epoch-making discovery; the thing is now settled once and for all.

Mr. Gordon then pointed the lessons of the story:

1.—Our debt to Abraham and all pioneers in religion and other realms of thought. We see some things of the cost of religion.

2.—God expects our utter devotion to Him of ourselves and all that is ours. Why not boys and girls from our homes to the Christian ministry?

3.—The great lesson that in all times of difficulty: "The Lord will provide."

Mr. Jack Smith sang splendidly "What of the Night?"

Mr. Gordon announced that the question for next Sunday evening's study would be: "Did God harden Pharaoh's heart?"

WORLD'S WORKERS ENDORSE REMEDY

Men Engaged in Many Trades Use Liniment To Keep in Shape.

Those who do the world's hard work were asked how they fought off cold and chill, what they did to relieve sprains, bruises, tired muscles. The universal answer was "Sloan's Liniment."

Cab drivers, mill hands, men from the shipyards, fishermen, policemen, postmen and many others all told the same story: "Sloan's Liniment keeps rheumatism away, keeps us fit."

One old Irish cabby had driven a jaunting car back in Ireland. He had driven a hack in New York. Now he drives a taxi in New York and through these many years he has used Sloan's to keep himself in condition.

These enthusiastic mass endorsements will be presented to the public in a huge advertising campaign. Each advertisement shows a striking picture of a worker well known to everyone. With it is a human interest story, telling how workers in that industry use Sloan's.

People everywhere will want to use the same remedy that keeps these workers fit. Sloan's is an old product known to millions for years. Now Sloan's will gain millions of new users because these workers are getting behind it.

MINE OFFICIALS PROBING BLAST

State Director and Coroner Start Inquiries Into Frankfort Fatality.

BODIES BROUGHT OUT.

WEST FRANKFORT, Ills, Jan. 10 (Canadian Press).—Gas, the invisible menace of the coal miner, has added twenty-one lives to its lengthening list as a result of a terrific gas explosion in a passage of the Peabody Industrial Mine Number 18, six hundred feet underground and more than a mile from the entrance. Most of the miners were killed outright while others died from the after-damp that followed the explosion.

Three mine rescue crews fought their way through the gas and crumbled walls of coal and timber to bring the bodies to the surface. Two of the dead men were found within a few feet of fresh air and safety. Another had made his way nearly to a trap door where he could have escaped. A brave effort by David McPhail to save his brother, Robert, was related. David, upon hearing the blast, rushed into the passage and after three dashes into the deadly gas found his brother but was forced to drop him within fifteen feet of fresh air.

State and County investigations today sought to fix the explosion's cause. A. D. Lewis, State Director of Miners, who put on "pit" clothing and made a personal inspection, was conducting the State's investigation, while Coroner Joe Hill of Franklin County impanelled a jury to investigate the disaster for the county.

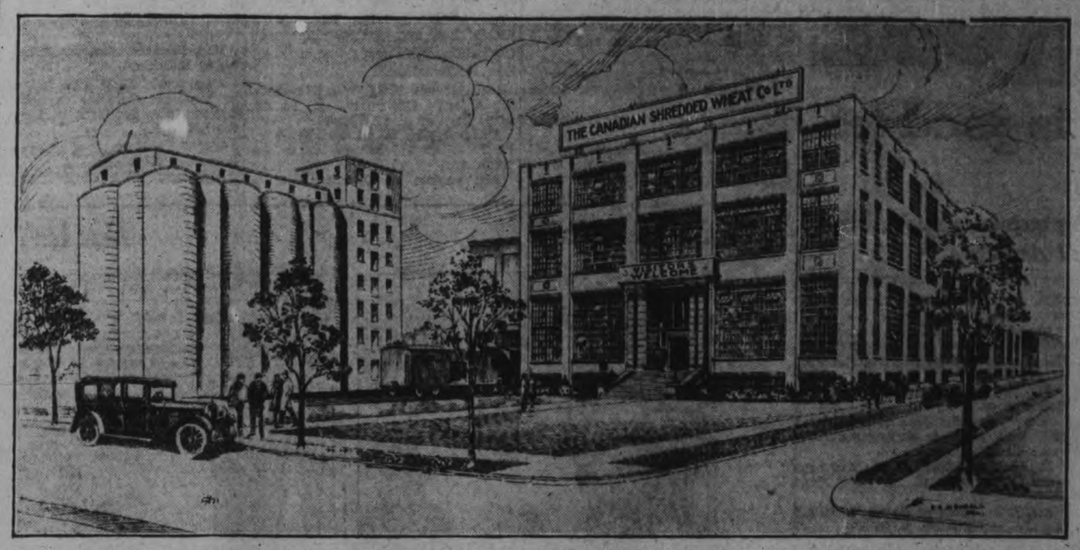
GROWING UP WITH CANADA



Here is a picture of the new Shredded Wheat factory now under construction in Niagara Falls, Ontario. It is being built by the Canadian Shredded Wheat Company, Ltd., to take care of the constantly increasing demand for Shredded Wheat in Canada. It is of concrete, steel and brick, attractive in architectural design, and will be modern and up-to-date in all its equipment. It will embody the ideas of cleanliness and sanitation which have been carried out in all the factories built by this company. It will be a source of pride to all Canadians. Shredded Wheat is made of Canadian Wheat, by Canadian labor—a real Canadian food for Canadians. The new factory will be completed the early part of the summer and will be open to visitors all the year round.

AT THE CAPITOL.

COLLEEN MOORE IN "HER WILD OAT."

The vivacious and attractive Colleen Moore is the heroine of the Capitol's feature picture, "Her Wild Oat." This young lady's pictures are always refreshing. She does not go in for vamp stuff or sex appeal or psychological analysis reactions. In the productions in which Colleen Moore stars, there is plenty of amusement and wholesome laughter, particularly when Marshal Neilan directs, as he did in "Her Wild Oat." A sparkling atmosphere to the subtitles gives an added zest to the picture.

As Mary Lou Smith, the heroine attracts the attention of Philip Latour, who later turns out to be the son of the Duc de Granville. Of course, there is a strong fairy-book tang and unreal ending to the picture, but it is very entertaining, and that's all that matters in a production of this type.

Mary Lou's "Wild Oat" is a very innocuous one. She takes the savings garnered from the sale of coffee and sandwiches at a perambulating lunch counter and departs for Plymouth Beach, choosing an assortment of dreadful attire modelled on the wardrobe of her vaudeville friend. There she meets with sundry snubs and is about to decamp, in tears, when Tommy, an energetic press agent and also a friend of Mary Lou, arrives on the scene and persuades the young lady to impersonate a visiting personage, the Duchesse de Granville. The name, by the way, is chosen from a fortunately-placed bill of fare that catches the lady's eye, with "Potage de Granville," as one of the items on the menu. Of course, the real Duc and Duchesse de Granville arrive the next afternoon after the pseudo grandee has descended in an aeroplane. And complications ensue for the dark and ingenuous little lady. When Philip Latour turns out to be the son of the Duc, everything is hotsy totsy and ends accordingly.

A special added attraction to the program is the showing of the complete official championship fight pictures, portraying the Belanger-Jarvis bout in twelve rounds.

AT THE REGENT.

JACK MULHALL WINS NEW SCREEN LAURELS

Jack Mulhall is the same jovial handsome, and at times, frolicksome young man in "See You in Jail" that he has been in many other First National pictures. The film is now at the Regent Theatre and last night's crowd was enthusiastic in its approval of the entertainment.

The word debonnaire seems to apply to Jack especially; and by the same token, Alice Day, who plays opposite to him is as pretty as a picture and can act. This combination is always a satisfaction.

Joseph Henabery, who directed "See You in Jail," has the comedy spirit. It is easy to see where he has injected a lot of clever touches into this story of a youth who goes to jail in place of another man because he needs the money!

Ray Rocket, who produced the picture for First National is also gifted in this respect, for he made "The Perfect Sap," recently seen here and which proved a great comedy success.

Mack Swain, always unctuously humorous, one of the real big leaguers of the comedy films, has a fine chance in this picture and a lot of other clever people contribute their share. Among them are Crauford Kent, George Fawcett, John Kolb, William Orlamond, Leo White, Carl Stockdale Burr McIntosh, Charles Clarey, Yola d'Avril and others.

"See you in Jail," can be recommended for its entertainment value, and for the perfection of the production as well as the superior acting of the cast.

Here is no great problem, no tremendous theme; but a human story with comedy that is spontaneous and convincing. We can well afford more pictures of this sort!

PLANE ENGINEER TO GIVE ADDRESS

Engineering Problems of Airplanes Will Be Subject of Talk.

Flight Lieutenant A. Ferrier of the Aeronautical Engineering Division of the Department of National Defence, will give a paper on "The Airplane as an Engineering Problem," at the regular meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

In this paper the author purposes showing how an Aeronautical Engineer attacks the problem of the design and production of an airplane. In these days of rapid and sensational developments in transport by air, everyone is interested in such a topic, and the meeting should draw a large audience.

The meeting will be held in the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday evening at 8.15.

FAMOUS LOVE ROMANCES — POCAHONTAS AND CAPTAIN JOHN SMITH (II) — By Nicholas Afonsky

The Indian warriors who had captured Captain John Smith of the Jamestown colony finally decided to bring him alive to their chief, Powhatan. Sitting on a raised platform, wearing a robe of raccoon skins and a crown of red feathers, Powhatan received his prisoner and heard the charges against him.

Then the prisoner was led away and the Indians debated on his fate. His offense was serious, for he had shot some of their braves. Smith, waiting at the edge of the crowd, unable to understand their language, noticed the lovely little Indian princess, who stole shy, friendly glances at him.

At a word from the chief, Powhatan, whose decision was final, two young braves brought in two great stones and laid them before him. Other Indians seized Smith and forced him down, holding his head on the stones. Then two executioners, armed with great clubs, stepped forward and waited for the chief's signal.

As the great chief opened his lips to speak to the silent crowd of Indians, Smith realized that he was to be killed. The executioners swung their clubs to their shoulders and waited for the word of command. Then suddenly out darted Pocahontas, threw herself down beside Smith, and took his head in her arms.

PRAISES ERBAC FOR WEAK, TIRED, NERVOUS WOMEN!

Gives New Ambition and Courage Abundant Vitality and Strength Or Its Use Costs Nothing

No matter what you age may be or how many treatments you have tried without success—don't get discouraged and think your case hopeless—until you have tried a 20 day treatment of Double Strength Erbac, without slightest risk of cost unless fully pleased!

Double Strength Erbac, endorsed by Doctors and praised by hundreds of grateful users, is a special private formula designed to build life-giving, age-defying Nerve Force and abundant vitality—and should not be confused with ordinary Nerve Tonics or "so-called" body builders.

Here's the amazing Erbac offer! If you are weak, tired, nervous and run-down, if you can't sleep nights, if you lack the ambition and energy to accomplish the things you would like to do—go to Bond's or your druggist and get a package of Double Strength Erbac at once, take it regularly according to directions for the full 20 days, and if you are not wonderfully pleased with results you can have your money back!

Mine Shares Go Down Slightly This Morning

TORONTO, January 10 (Canadian Press). — Practically all classes of mine stocks lost ground in fairly heavy trading on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning, though the largest loss was only the twenty-cent recession in Noranda at 22.30.

A. W. Cressman has appointed Canadian Departmental Stores to collect all outstanding accounts owing the Cressman Co., Ltd. These accounts may be paid at our office.

Rally At New York Suddenly Cut Short

NEW YORK, January 10 (Canadian Press). — A promising rally in the stock market to-day following the announcement of an unexpectedly large increase of half a million tons in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation was nipped in the bud by a flood of selling orders shortly after midday. United States Steel, which had led the recovery with an advance of nearly two points to 150½, suddenly plunged to 146½ as large amounts of the stock were offered.

The sudden slump in Steel Common dismayed operators for the advance working with other prominent stocks and hasty unloading was soon in progress in many quarters of the list. General Motors toppled from the day's high of 134 to 130¼, and Radio Corporation, which had reached 104¼, retreated to 99.

Grain Prices Fall; Report Out To-day

CHICAGO, January 10 (Canadian Press). — Preparations for the Government crop report due this afternoon occupied much of the grain traders 'time to-day and prices early tended to sag. Considerable notice was taken of the forecast of large clearances of Argentine wheat this month. Opening at a shade lower to ¼c advance, Chicago wheat underwent a moderate general setback. Corn and oats were also easier, corn starting unchanged to ⅛c off and later showing downturns all around. Provisions held firm.

Opening prices were: Wheat, March, 129⅝, May 130¾. Corn, March 87⅛, May 91¼. Oats, March 54, May 55¼.

Walkers Is Leader In Toronto Upturn

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (Canadian Press).—Hiram Walkers led a strong upturn on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, gaining a full point at 68. Good advances were made also by Canadian Oil and Christie Brown in heavy trading, the oil stock gaining nearly three and Christie recording 4½ at 111. Another strong oil stock was International Petroleum, gaining two at 38. British American firmed an eighth at 38⅛, Eastern Steel Products advanced three at 29½, and Northern Bakeries, very active in the unlisted section, had a fractional gain at 45⅝. Page Hersey, Massey Harris, and Canners Second Preferred firmed fractionally, other Canners issues easing. International was the weak stock of the morning, losing one at 89 in heavy dealings.

CREOMULSION BREAKS UP COUGHS THAT HANG ON

Helps You To Get Rid Of Deep-Seated Colds

Have you a cough that has bothered you persistently. Nothing that you have tried has given relief. See what Creomulsion will do for you.

This new discovery is meeting with extraordinary success in helping people to throw off these persistent coughs and colds. Creomulsion, you know, is an emulsified creosote—and creosote is one of the greatest healing agencies for breaking up deep-seated coughs, healing the inflamed air passages and checking the growth of disease germs. Try it. Money refunded if cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. At druggists. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SPECIAL LANDING MADE FOR COOLIDGE

Weather Permitting He Will Go Ashore Close To President's Palace.

HAVANA, Jan. 10 (Canadian Press). — Weather permitting the United States battleship Texas, which will bring President Coolidge and his official party to the forthcoming Pan-American Conference will be docked in a specially constructed landing place close to the Presidential Palace, a short distance from Morro Castle.

The dock is being built to allow the Texas to come close to shore so that the Presidential party may land on barges where the meeting with high Cuban officials will take place.

821 KILLED.

Memorial Service To-night For Men Who Gave Their Lives.

There were 821 officers and men killed on service with the 21st Battalion. Their names are given in the list which appears on page 1 to-day—and their memories will be recalled by the tablet to be unveiled in the Armouries at 8 o'clock to-night.

The Mystery Man

At the Peterborough Poultry Show in the Market Place tonight is a well-known man about town; holds a responsible position; is neither tall nor short; is more dark than fair; is neither stout nor thin; a pleasant active man; a real good average citizen. Be at the Poultry Show tonight and see the fun.

THAMES TIDE LOWER TO-DAY

Authorities Believe Danger Has Passed, But Precautions Are Continued.

RELIEF WORKERS BUSY.

LONDON, Jan. 10. — (Canadian Press.)—The fury of the Thames has spent itself and London to-day turned to measures of relief and to repairing the damage wrought by the flood waters on Saturday. The tide to-day reached it height at 3.46 a.m. and subsided without damage. It was below Saturday's high level and experts believe that the danger is past. Precautions against further deaths and destruction are being maintained and barriers against a new rush of water were strengthened continually.

Gas Spoiled Sleep, Made Her Dizzy

"For years I suffered from gas and constipation. Used to get headaches and dizzy spells. The first dose of Adlerika gave me relief. Now I rest well."—Mrs. B. Brinkley. Just ONE spoonful of Adlerka relieves gas and that bloated feeling so that you both eat and sleep well. Acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and relieves old waste matter you never thought was there. No matter what you tried for your stomach, Adlerika will surprise you. Sold by McDermid Drug Stores and E. L. Payne.

BUOY THOUGHT CLUE TO PLANE

Float Found in Pistolet Bay Brought By Steamer to St. John's.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Jan. 10.—(Canadian Press.)— The buoy which was picked up at Pistolet Bay recently and which it was thought might furnish some clue as to the manner in which one of last year's tragedies occurred arrived here to-day aboard the steamer Prospero. It is a black, spherical, inflated float about two feet in diameter and made of canvas. A cleat containing a hole for a rope is nailed across the top, which is made of wood. The object is evidently a float used for the purpose of making a sea anchor.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water.

RABBITS AND PIGEONS.

A few facts about the big Poultry Show now in progress in the market hall, may be of interest to citizens generally.

In the large hall there are some ten double rows of cages or pens for the feathered folk as well as many along the sides and across the north end of the hall. In them are confined nine hundred of the feathered folk and many more are expected. It looks like a banner year for the poultry men.

Just by way of variety there are to be seen a number of fine exhibits of rabbits. In the district there are many fanciers who will be pleased at the prospect of viewing these exhibits.

Great care is taken that the temperature within the hall be kept at a certain level to insure absolute comfort for the poultry. This is a most important item and the association is not neglecting it.

There are several very fine exhibits of pigeons, forming an interesting phase of the show. They are to be found near the north end of the hall.

JUDGMENT UPHELD

Dispute Concerning Lawyer's Fees Settled By Appeal Court.

On December 30 judgment was given by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario, in a suit of Gordon & O'Brien versus Abraham Cherney. Mr. Cherney appealed from the judgment of His Honor Judge Huycke.

This appeal arose out of an alimony action instituted by Becky Cherney ,wife of Abraham Cherney, against her husband for alimony. Messrs. Gordon & O'Brien were retained on behalf of Mrs. Cherney to sue her husband for alimony. A settlement was arrived at, whereby Mr. Cherney agreed to pay Mrs. Cherney's cost to Gordon & O'Brien, and upon the strength of this arrangement, the alimony action which was to have come on for trial at the last sittings of the Supreme Court was adjourned, to enable the settlement to be carried out. Mr. Cherney later repudiated the arrangement, and refused to pay Messrs. Gordon & O'Brien. As a result the solicitors sued Cherney in the First Division Court, where judgment was given in their favor. R. R. Hall, K.C., who acted for Cherney, appealed to a Divisional Court of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario.

The appeal came on for hearing on December 7 when judgment was reserved. On December 30 the Appellate Division gave judgment upholding the judgment of His Honor Judge Huycke.

J. A. O'Brien acted as counsel for his firm, both at the trial and on the appeal. R. R. Hall, K.C., acted for Cherney both at the trial and on the appeal.

DOCTORS SHOW WAY TO END HEAD COLDS

Many Relieve Stuffy Colds in Few Hours at Home by Using Hospital Method.

A quick and inexpensive way to get rid of head colds and chest colds —which doctors have found to be the most effective used in hospital and private practice—is bringing hundreds of Peterborough people the same quick relief that came to Mrs. W. H. Gary, who used it at home.

For two days Mrs. Gary had such a stuffy head cold she was unable to breathe nights. Salves and sprays couldn't get rid of the congestion. Then she telephoned her doctor, who advised Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, a concentrated mixture of ingredients which hospitals have found to be the quickest, safest, and surest to end a cold. With the first pleasant spoonful she felt the comforting, healing warmth, from her nose passages deep down into her chest. Relief began immediately. In a day or so she was out shopping—completely free from the cold.

Note: Other cases reported daily—all certified by a member of the hospital clinic.

Doctors find that this hospital medicine does far more than stop coughing instantly. It is absorbed by the whole system. This quickly checks phlegm, heals irritation, and drives out the cold from the nose passages, throat and chest.

Just a few pleasant spoonfuls of Cherry Pectoral now and you'll feel like a different person to-morrow.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral for COLDS and COUGHS

THREE CHAPTERS

November 3, 1914.

"Peterborough's contribution to Canada's expeditionary force, in the shape of seveny-nine representing the 57th regiment left for the concentration camp of the 3rd Military Division at Kingston, at noon to-day, amid scenes of great enthusiasm. The quota was four over the number allotted to Peterborough to enlist; in fact at one time was nine over strength, five youngsters whose parents refused the necessary consent, being struck off at the last moment. The men have passed the strictest possible examination and in physique and bearing are worthy representatives of Peterborough, about whose conduct there need be no anxiety. Averaging younger probably than the first contingent from Peterborough, they are nevertheless well set up and developed and a fine body of men who will doubtless make as good showing at Kingston as the first quota did at Valcartier.

"The contingent paraded, 79 strong, at 10 o'clock, at the Armouries and were marched outside where they were photographed. Meanwhile the crowd was gathering inside the building for the addresses.

"At 12 o'clock, headed by the 57th Brass and Bugle Bands the contingent left the Armouries and paraded to the C.P.R. station by way of Murray and George streets. In spite of the rain the streets were lined, and the soldier boys were repeatedly cheered as they marched along. For part of the march the new Tommy Atkins sang the Tipperary song."

—The Examiner.

JANUARY 10, 1928.

They marched away amid cheers, and they returned to cheers—those who were left.

To-night there will be written the third chapter in the story of war, the memorial for the dead.

There is inspiration in the marching of troops to war, with blare of bands and the cheers of the throng. There is a thrill in the return from the battlefield, when every man has victory in his pack. And to-night there will be sorrow because of those who did not return, but a great gratitude that these sons of Peterborough were able so well to play their parts in the great struggle.

Those who cheered the men as they marched away, and welcomed their returning comrades, have to-night the opportunity to honor these, the unreturning brave.

The Armories should be filled to-night as it has not been since the stirring days of war.

May 26, 1919

"Peterborough's men who served with the 21st Battalion overseas arrived home yesterday morning at 8 o'clock and were given a rousing reception at the G.T.R. station.

"There was a touch of humor in the home-coming in that the first notice the waiting crowd had of the arrival of the troop train was when Wilton Tranter walked on to the station platform. He jumped from the train when it was halted at Romaine Street and walked to the station, where his father was waiting.

"Cars were supplied by the City and by C. E. Canfield, J. E. A. Fitzgerald, G. A. Gillespie, T. A. Ferguson, Capt. Morrizon, and W. R. Turner.

Alderman Taylor and City Clerk S. R. Armstrong represented the City Council in the reception given to the twenty-five men.

"It was quite an impressive contingent and the reunion had all the evidences of happiness that slightly repay the soldiers and relatives for their long and anxious separation.

"Among those who came home yesterday was Captain D. H. More, M.C., who has seen long service and came through with only minor scars of many engagements. He enlisted as a private, won his commission and promotions, and was also decorated."—The Examiner.

MURRELL WILL BE EXTRADITED

Ontario Police Will Make Formal Application Through Washington.

REWARD IS $3,000.

TORONTO Jan. 10. Canadian Press. — General Victor Williams, commissioner of provincial police, stated to-day that so far no arrangements have been made for bringing back to Ontario William Murrell, who has been arrested at Los Angeles and who is wanted in connection with the murder of Russell Campbell at Melbourne, Ont., 7 years ago.

It is considered probable that the usual formal extradition proceedings will be instituted through Washington in which case at least six weeks will elapse before Murrell can be brought back.

A reward of three thousand dollars is standing for Murrell's arrest, one thousand being offered by the Ontario government and the remainder by London, Ont., the nearest city to Melbourne.

GAME IN LINDSAY POSTPONED A DAY

Owing to the mild spell there is no ice available in Lindsay rink for the third game of the junior series between the Lindsay Midgets and the St. John's team to-night, and the fixture has been postponed. It is hoped to be able to play it to-morrow night should the thermometer drop to-night.

Flood Tide Passes With Slight Damage

LONDON, January 10 (Canadian Press). — Thousands of persons paraded the banks of the Thames through London yesterday afternoon at high tide, and watched the swollen stream as it lapped near the top of the reinforced defences without renewing the violent torrent of Saturday, when fourteen persons were drowned. For many hours gangs of men had been at work piling bags of sand along the threatened district of Grosvenor Road, and as a protection for the famous Tate Gallery.

At three o'clock in the morning the tide reached its flood and receded without damage, and the residents along the Thames side went off to rest, with the knowledge that they would not be menaced by the waters for another 12 hours. And again the danger passed.

The Port of London Authority announced yesterday afternoon that no further overflow need be expected if the rain and wind held off. The river, it is believed, will subside to normal after to-day.

Lunch was then served.

The talent tea for January will be held at the home of Mrs. W. Lowes, 83 Aylmer Street.

Wedding Bells

HUNT—HARDIE.

The marriage was solemnized by Rev. P. Costello, at St. Peter's Rectory, last evening, of Desmond Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hunt, Aylmer Street, and Margaret Hardie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hardie, Murray Street. Mr. and Mrs. Hunt will reside in Peterborough on their return from a brief honeymoon trip.

HICKS-LYNE—NEEVE.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Antoinette Neeve, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Neeve, Lynwood Avenue, to Mr. Richard Temple Eales Hicks-Lyne, son of Mrs. Hicks-Lyne and the late Jas. P. Hicks-Lyne of Toronto, took place on Saturday at 3 o'clock at Grace Church-on-the-Hill, Toronto. The Rev. Mr. Arthur McCollum, St. John's church, York Mills, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, officiated. Dr. T. Alexander Davies played the wedding music. The church was decorated with pink roses, palms and ferns and the guest-pews roped off with white cord, and tied with white ribbons. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very pretty in her frock of ivory satin, with long, tight sleeves and bateau neck line. Her skirt was trimmed with pearls and draped to one side. Her long court train was of satin and was lined with cloth of silver. At the foot of the train was a big lovers' knot of silver, edged with pearls. Her long tulle veil was edged with rose point lace and held to the head in cap effect, with a wreath of orange blossoms. She wore the bridegroom's gift, a platinum and diamond bar pin and carried Ophelia roses and lilies-of-the-valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Neeve, as maid-of-honor, and Mrs. W. G. Barker and Miss Constance Wilson as bridesmaids. Their frocks were of the same design in three shades of pink, from pale pink to a deep rose and had plain bodices of pink net with a choux on the shoulder of the net and frills of net on the skirt, pink satin slippers, with the bridegroom's present, rhinestone buckles, and small hats of pink felt with velvet of a deeper tone. They carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. Harold Barnum and the ushers included Mr. Clark Locke, Mr. W. Sherring, Dr. Beecher Locke and Colonel Baptist Johnston. The bridegroom's present to them were cigarette cases. During the signing of the register, the sister of the bridegroom, Miss Winifred Hicks-Lyne sang "Oh Perfect Love."

A reception was held after the ceremony at Linwood Arms, the home of the bride's parents, where Mr. and Mrs. Neeve and Mrs. Hicks-Lyne received the guests. Mrs. Neeve wore a smart frock of honey colored satin with hat of the same shade and bouquet of violet and pink roses. Mrs. Hicks-Lyne was in black satin crepe, with old lace and a black hat with gold. She carried mauve sweet peas, lily-of-the-valley and roses. The rooms were done with pink roses and spring flowers. Miss Hicks-Lyne, sister of the bridegroom wore a grey georgette gown with mauve hat and silver cloth with touches of mauve. Mrs. A. C. McCollum, sister of the bridegroom, was in poudre blue crepe with hat to match and carried Columbia roses. The bride and bridegroom and attendants received in front of the fire-place. The bride's table was done with roses with the wedding cake in the centre. The Rev. Mr. McCollum proposed the health of the bride, to which the bridegroom responded. The bride's numerous presents were in an upstairs sitting-room. Her going-away gown was a two-piece French frock of sand and brown with brown coat with collar and cuffs of dyed squirrel, and small hat of brown felt. The bride did not throw her bouquet, but later, by her wish, it was divided between the two mothers, Mr. and Mrs. Hicks-Lyne left for Buffalo and the honeymoon will be spent in the Southern States. On their return, they will live in Peterboro.

OBITUARY

WALTER BATE

The death took place in Toronto on Sunday night of a former well-known baker of this city in the person of Walter Bate, who moved to Toronto about twenty-five years ago. Left to mourn are his sorrowing wife, seven children (one son was killed overseas). Two brothers and three sisters also mourn, namely P. W., of Peterborough; Stanley, of Elmvale, Ont.; Mrs. C. E. Swait, and Mrs. R. J. Finlay, of Toronto, and Mrs. W. A. Graham of Mimico. The funeral will take place in Toronto on Wednesday, January 11, at 3.30 p.m. Interment will be made in that city.

MRS. JULIA O'BRIEN.

Mrs. Julia O'Brien, widow of the late John Joseph O'Brien, of Stratford, died on Jan. 3rd, after a short illness.

Mrs. O'Brien, whose husband predeceased her on April 10 last, was well and favorably known in the city of Stratford and vicinity.

She leaves her suriving, in addition to her sister, Miss E. M. Kennedy of Stratford, two children, Miss Mary V. C. O'Brien of Windsor, and J. A. O'Brien, of the firm of Gordon & O'Brien, Peterborough.

C. A. FERGUSON

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan 10 (Canadian Press)—C. A. Ferguson, 52, principal of the King Edward High School and former president of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation, is dead here.

After graduating from Toronto University, he taught school in Perth and Peterborough, Ont., coming to British Columbia in 1913. He served overseas as a lieutenant in the 241st Battalion, later joining the 28th Gordon Highlanders.

MRS. LOVICA DORIE.

TORONTO, Jan. 10.— Mrs. Lovica Dorie, 97 years old, and one of Toronto's very few great-great-grandmothers, died on Saturday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. E. Archambault, 462 Gladstone avenue.

The late Mrs. Dorie, whose husband had predeceased her 42 years ago, was the mother of five generations and had lived in the reigns of four monarchs since George the 4th.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. H. Stoneborg and Mrs. E. Archambault, Toronto; four sons, George, of Brantford; John, of Hamilton; and James and Wilbert, of Campbellford, where the late Mrs. Dorie had spent the greater part of her life; and eight grandchildren, four great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren.

Lived Pioneer Life.

Born to the rugged life of the early pioneers, Mrs. Dorie was brought up on a farm in Seymour township. As a child she learned to be a lover of horses and thought nothing of a 20-mile journey through the then unbroken forests. She had seen the stage coach replaced by the steam railways and the horse and wagon by the motor car and had watched the soldiers march off to the Fenian raids and northwest rebellion.

Mrs. Dorie had seen little of city life, having lived the entire span of her life in Seymour township and Campbellford until seven years ago when she came to Toronto to take up residence with her daughter.

She had a keen memory of the great historical events that marked the progress of Canada from the pioneer days. Sixty years ago she experienced the hardship and suffering brought about by the tremendous rise of the Trent River when its swirling flood threatened to devastate the entire farming community of its basin.

In religion she was and adherent of the United Church.

IN MEMORIAM.

BATTEER. — In sad and loving remembrance of David B. Batteer, who passed away January 10, 1927:

I loved him, yes, I loved him,
But Jesus loved him more,
And He has sweetly called him home
To yonder shining shore.

The golden gates were open,
A gentle voice called come,
And with farewell unspoken,
He calmly entered home.

God knows how much I miss him,
He counts the tears I shed.
And whispers Hush! he's only sleeping—
Your loved one is not dead.

POULTRY SHOW MAKES JUDGES' TASK DIFFICULT

Splendid Exhibits in All Classes Commented On By Officials.

HARD TO CHOOSE.

About 900 Birds Are On View, With Many Varieties Well Represented.

This year's Poultry Show got off to a good start last night in the big market hall, which furnishes such fine quarters for the showing of the birds. Warm enough to keep the interior at a comfortable temperature for humans and feathered folk alike, with splendid lighting and plenty of space to move around, it affords excellent accommodation for such an exhibition. The fowl are arranged in short aisles of double tiers of wire coops, placed at a comfortable height for viewing and the showing includes examples of nearly every known variety of bird.

The fact of such splendid variety was commented on by both judges last night. G. F. Purser of Windsor and A. W. Tyson of Guelph are judging the fowl this year, and the former was particularly enthusiastic over the many varieties encountered in Peterborough.

"It is seldom," he said, "that we find so many examples of the different varieties of each breed as we find here. It makes it difficult to judge the fowl, as they are all of excellent quality. It is quite unusual to find so many good birds of so many types at what we call a local poultry show."

Mr. Tyson, who judges birds at the Peterborough Fall Exhibition, remarked on the nice arrangement and cooping of the fowl, on the comfortable, clean, well-lighted quarters provided for the show. "The stock is well put down and in good shape," he said, "with every section of first-class quality."

The usual range of birds in the various classes is supplemented this year by a special showing of the "production" class, in which the "bred to lay" exhibitors have an innings. These are mainly shown in the White Leghorns and the Barred Rocks, with the characteristics very prominent of the fowl that is bred to lay eggs, rather than for table use or exhibition purposes. The most notable points in these birds are the "squirrel" type of tail, as contrasted with the stubbier tail of the other birds, also the bigger comb and the larger body. Anyone listening to the experts who frequent these shows can glean some interesting bits of information about barnyard folk that may seen quite similar when they arrive at the table, but have fashions all their own in the "undressed" state; like the Rhode Island Red, for instance, with its brick formation of body; the Wyandotte, with the short curves that older poultry fanciers call "cobby," and the Plymouth Rock, with its large back.

The fowl on view, about nine hundred in number, include the many varieties of birds bred for meat, egg-laying and exhibition purposes, like the saucy little bantams and the tufted Houdans and Anconas. There are Cochin Blacks and Cochin Buffs, Birchen Game, Black Game, Pyle Game, Rose Comb and Seabrights, in the bantam classes, with their companions, a group of soft White Silkies, with their grey small faces and white topknots.

The exhibition of water fowl is very large, with big Chinese and Emden geese and huge Toulouse specimens. One can understand Jack Miner's fondness for the Canada goose that he raves about when one sees these big, dignified fellows with their intelligent and somewhat inquisitive countenances.

The showing of turkeys is interesting, including specimens of big Bronze and Holland gobblers, and there are little brown and white and Belgian rabbits: Rouen, Muscovy, Aylesbury and Cayuga ducks, and a

EARL NELSON IS LIKELY TO HANG

Little Prospect of Verdict of "Strangler" Being Changed.

DIES FRIDAY, 13TH.

OTTAWA, Jan. 11.— Earl Nelson, commonly designated as the "Strangler," is under sentence of death at Winnipeg on next Friday, the 13th, and there is little doubt here that he will die.

The case has not yet been dealt with by the cabinet, but it has been reviewed by the proper officers of the justice department, and is now in the hands of the minister. There appears to be no extenuating circumstances. Almost unfailingly when there is to be no interference, the disposition of the case is left to the very last, as in this instance, whereas, when sentences are commuted, action is ordinarily taken well in advance of the date set for the execution.

100 DELEGATES AT CONVENTION

Boy Scout Association Makes Arrangements For Their Entertainment.

PROGRAM OUTLINED.

Arrangements were made by the members of the Peterborough Scout Association at their meeting in the council chamber last night, for the entertainment and reception of more than one hundred delegates who will attend the Scout Convention in this city on Feb. 16 and 17.

The convention will be along two lines. There will be the general business sessions and those that give demonstrations in Scout Craft. The convention has been an annual affair for the last ten years, and this will be the first time that it has been held east of Toronto.

The meetings will be held in the Canadian Legion Hall and on the evening of the first day a banquet will be held at which Judge Mott, of the Juvenile Court in Toronto will be the principal speaker. Invitations will be sent out to many of the citizens of this city.

The following committees were appointed:

Billeting: Dr. J. J. Craig (chairman), and Messrs. Hughes, Rogers, and Kay.

Convention Hall and Dinner: W. H. Dickin (chairman), and Messrs. McKone, Howden, McKenzie and Pringle.

Reception: J. John.

Program: J. J. Turner.

Dr. Murray Fraser sent in his resignation as Scout Master, as he will be out of the city for several months.

J. J. Turner in moving that the resignation be accepted said that the Peterboro Association was sorry to lose Dr. Fraser as he had been a most affable gentleman and the local association was much stronger for having had him associated with it.

W. R. Morris, chairman of the Finance Committee, submitted his budget for Scout work in Peterboro for 1928 which involved an amount of $500.

Ways and means of raising this money were left with the Finance committee which is composed of W. R. Morris, F. L. Roy, T. M. Barrie and T. Marks.

AUTO LICENSE FEES REMAIN AT OLD LEVEL

Only Change This Year is in the Cost of Convertible Vehicle Permit.

NEW MARKERS HERE.

Plates Much the Same as Those of 1927—Numbers Start at 357-501.

The new auto license markers have arrived and are being issued. There is but one change in the fee, contrary to the rumors of reduced fees that had been going the rounds some time ago.

The above information was given The Examiner this morning by Frank G. Stinson, auto license issuer for Peterborough and district during 1928. He stated that an express shipment of two thousand sets of license plate arrived today from the manufacturers.

The instructions to issuers for 1928 are practically the same as those in force last year, with two exceptions—the minimum fee for two-purpose convertible vehicles has been reduced from $16.00 to $12.00, and the issuer is not allowed to license trucks of eight tons gross weight or over. All such applications must be forwarded to the department in Toronto, though forms for application may be secured from the office of the Peterborough Automobile Club, where the 1928 markers and permits will be issued as in the past.

The plates themselves are of a deep yellow background with black lettering and figures, but in size and design and, in fact, every other detail, resemble the plates of last year. The first passenger license, 357-501 will be issued, as in the past, to the president of the Peterborough Automobile Club, James Juby.

In commenting on the fees for markers this year, which, with the above exception are the same as the fees charged in 1927, Mr. Stinson expressed disappointment that a reduction in passenger fees had not been deemed possible by the government. A rumor, supposedly well founded, had been circulating a short time ago to the effect that the government planned a reduction in fees for this year, to be accompanied by an increase in the gasoline tax. It was possibly due to consideration which the government was giving to these matters that issuing in Toronto and Peterborough had been delayed for a week or two.

The license issuer and Mr. Juby, the Automobile Club president, are most anxious to give the very best service to the public, especially during the rush period commencing around the middle of March, and extra help will be added to the issuing staff as required. As in former years, applicants for markers and permits are required to fill out and sign application forms, but no oath as to the correctness of information given in the applications is required.

NO HOCKEY GAME AT BROCK ST. TO-NIGHT

Ice Too Spongy For Havelock and Bobcaygeon. To Play.

Owing to the mild weather, the ice at Brock Street Rink is not in shape for the Intermediate O.H.A. game to-night, Havelock vs. Bobcaygeon, and consequently has been postponed until a later date. Havelock is playing their home games on Peterborough ice, and will run a special train for each game that is played.

The Weather

The remarkable mild weather still continues with little change, and unseasonable weather prevails over much of the continent. Lowest temperature yesterday 32 degrees; highest 35 degrees. During the last five days the thermometer has not gone below 30 degrees, and has been practically stationary around 34. Buds are quite prominent on some lilac bushes, and I have noticed buds as well on some of our shade trees.—W. P.

SAYS YEAR JUST CLOSED ONE OF OUTSTANDING IMPORTANCE

British Secretary For Dominion Affairs Tells Canadian Club.

MARKED JUBILEE.

Dominion Has Now Attained Equal Status With Motherland in Empire.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 11. — (Canadian Press.)— "The year that has just closed was one of outstanding importance, not only to the Dominion of Canada, but to the Empire as well." Rt. Hon. L. C. M. S. Amery, British Secretary for Dominion Affairs, declared in an address to the members of the local Canadian Club yesterday.

The secretary pictured to his audience the new Canada, a partner in the Commonwealth of sister nations comprising the greatest Empire in the history of the world. The past year, he said, marked the Diamond Jubilee of Canada's charter as a nation and the coming into full nationhood at the Imperial conference of the Dominion and full partnership in the Empire.

The final seal on the nationhood of the Dominion had been given at the conference when it was announced that the Dominion had equal status with the Motherland in the Empire.

"Few things have been more wonderful in the past century than the growth within the bosom of the British Empire of a group of new nations," declared the speaker, who contrasted this development with the strife and struggle, the horrors of war and the suffering that marked the development of new nations upon the continent of Europe.

What sort of nationhood was it that had been developed by these nations within the Empire? "We, of the British Commonwealth live without fear," continued Mr. Amery, "knowing that in any danger, any contingency, we have allies in the rest of the members of family. Between ourselves war is unthinkable. As for the dangers without, the knowledge of our combined powers is the greatest insurance any nation can have."

WHEAT GROWER REFUSES OFFER

Herman Trelle, of Peace River, Intends to Remain in Alberta.

EDMONTON, Alta., Jan. 11.—(Canadian Press.)—Notwithstanding offers that he has received from California syndicates to induce him to settle in that State, Herman Trelle, of Peace River, Alta., 1926 world's wheat champion, 1927 world's oats champion, and runner-up for the 1927 world's wheat championship, does not intend to forsake Alberta.

The offers that were made to Mr. Trelle, who has just returned from California, were from several large real estate and moving picture concerns. The latter would like to use him in the movies for the advancement of educational work along agricultural lines.

Shadow of New Crime Thrust Upon Slayer By Girl Witness In Miles Murder Trial

LOS ANGELES, January 11 (Canadian Press). — The shadow of suspicion for possible complicity in a third murder yesterday was thrust over William E. Hickman, the confessed slayer of Marian Parker and an admitted accomplice in the killing of C. Ivy Thoms, a druggist.

While alienists examined the youthful kidnapper in his jail cell, a girl witness electrified a courtroom where three men are on trial for murder by declaring the robber she saw kill a store proprietor looked more like Hickman than Harvey Lesher, one of the three defendants.

Roberta Scriver, the witness, was present when the three robbers entered a drug store on November 1, last, and killed A. V. Miles, the proprietor. Lesher and two companions, William Rohan and Mike Garvey, are accused of murder.

On cross-examination by defence counsel, Miss Scriver said although she had identified Lesher from a police photograph as one of the robbers, she now felt that the man wielding the gun in the robber looked more like Hickman. Attorneys for Lesher immediately began re-arranging his defence.

In the County Jail, guards reported that Hickman, his face ashen grey and his eyes wide with fear, fled precipitately from a room where three psychiatrists were examining him, to the door of his cell. There he cowered until the steel gate was opened and he rushed inside.

What had caused Hickman to become so frightened was not revealed, and the three alienists declined to comment on their findings. They planned to question him again.

Jailers say they understand the three mental experts wanted Hickman to take the "lie" test, in which a machine registers emotional vibrations. This he refused to do, and was not compelled to submit to this.

Cuba To Reduce Its Sugar Crop

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Cuba will reduce its sugar crop this season to 4,000,000 tons or 500,000 tons less than last season's crop, leading sugar merchants were informed yesterday in cables from sources in Cuba said to be close to the administration circles.

No official confirmation was ceived but the figures were in line with trade expectations of the Cuban government decree supporting limitation plans.

V. J. M'ELDERRY NEW PRESIDENT

Chosen at Annual Meeting of Peterborough Law Society.

MEMBER LEAVING.

At the annual meeting of the Peterborough Law Association held on January 10, the retiring executive presented its report which, after dealing with the Association's business for the year 1927, drew attention of the members to the loss sustained during the past year in the death of His Honor James E. McGlade, late Judge of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham.

The following officers were elected by the Association for the year 1928:

President—V. J. McElderry.
Vice-president—J. R. Corkery.
Secretary—J. W. Stevenson.
Treasurer—B. E. Park.
Trustees—Messrs. R. R. Hall, K.C., F. D. Kerr, K.C., J. A. O'Brien, and W. F. Huycke.

The retiring president, B. D. Hall, announced that His Honor Judge Huycke had consented to address the members of the Association on Wednesday evening, January 18, and asked the members to make arrangements to be present.

At the conclusion of the meeting, he Honorable G. N. Gordon, K.C., stated that he regretted to learn of the contemplated departure of J. W. Reid, a member of the Association, who was leaving to take up the practice of law in Windsor, Ontario, and moved the following resolution:

"That this Association has learned with much regret the decision of our fellow-member, J. W. Reid, Esq., of leaving Peterborough to take up the practice of law in Windsor, Ontario, with the firm of McLarty & Fraser of that city. That the members of the Association have learned to respect and appreciate him both personally and professionally, and recognize that his many excellent qualities will assure him of the same respect and appreciation and a prominent position amongst the members of the Windsor Bar, and that this Association unanimously extends its heartiest good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Reid for a happy and prosperous future in their new home."

E. A. Peck, M.P., seconded the resolution, at the same time expressing his regret at Mr. Reid's departure and wishing him every success in his new field.

The resolution having been passed unanimously, Mr. Reid thanked the members for their expressions of goodwill, and expressed his regret at leaving Peterborough, where he stated his relations with the other members of the Bar had at all times been particularly pleasant.

ANONYMOUS GIFT MADE TO CHARITY

Big Sisters Receive $10 in Letter Without Signature.

The Big Sisters, a charitable organization of the city, whose members go only into homes where there are cases of real need, have received the following letter, without signature, enclosing $10: "Here is a little to help the family in distress. I 'phoned regarding this matter, this morning. Hope it will help and that you may receive all the help possible in your good work."

21st Battalion Veterans Honor Former Comrades

Brass Plaque Unveiled By General Hughes, First Officer Commanding Famous Battalion — Erected By Members of Peterborough Battalion Club.

ADDRESSES GIVEN AT CEREMONY OF HIGH AND IMPRESSIVE CHARACTER

Large Audience Hears Officers of Unit and Other Speakers—Music of Choir and Bands Lends To Beauty and Inspiration of Service.

The men of the 21st Battalion Club of Peterborough have honored their fallen comrades. On the north wall of the Armories there may be seen today, a beautiful brass plaque. It was unveiled last evening in the presence of hundreds of citizens, ex-service men and visitors from distant points. For weeks that service had been planned, yet last evening it was impressive beyond expectation; the addresses were of unusually noble character, and the music—the beautiful hymns led by All Saints' Choir, the bugler's part, the music of the pipers, and the splendid leadership of the band of the Peterborough Rangers—was of an order quite in keeping with this memorable occasion. From the opening hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," to the Benediction and National Anthem, it was a beautiful thing, that service, and the spirits of everyone in the assemblage moved in accord.

Lieut.-Col. W. Gordon Hall, V.D.

In his opening remarks, the commanding officer of the Peterborough Rangers made reference to the tablet or plaque, to the part played by the men of the 21st Battalion and the 57th Chapter I.O.D.E. in its inception and made appreciative mention of the choir of All Saints' Church under the direction of George Chandler. He also expressed the thanks of the committee in charge, to the Rangers' Band and the Canadian Machine Gun Corps Pipe Band for turning out, and to all organizations or individuals who had been connected with the memorial service. He concluded by calling upon Lieut.-Col. H. E. Pense, D.S.O., M.C., to conduct the memorial service from this point.

Lieut.-Col. Pense

As chairman for the evening, Comrade Pense took occasion, first of all, to express his pleasure at returning to Peterborough, where, during war days, he had made many friends. He said in part: "When the 21st was organized, quite a few men from this district volunteered for service. They were splendid chaps. I know, because I went through trying times with them, and for this reason, it is gratifying to me to behold such a splendid turnout tonight when we honor the memory of many of those men who will never return.

"We sometimes feel that the sacrifices of these men are being forgotten, but tonight, and such occasions as this, remind us that their work overseas and the work of those men and women who remained at home will live beyond the years."

Comrade Pense welcomed Brigadier-General William St. Pierre Hughes, D.S.O., the first commanding officer of the 21st; the Mayor of the city, Roland Denne; His Honor Judge Huycke; W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P.; Colonel Miller; and members of the clergy, the Reverends Paterson, Gordon and Kidd, as well as the general public.

The hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," followed, in which the Rangers' Band and the splendid choir from All Saints' Church took part. In fact, both musical bodies were heard in splendid force, the band rendering several numbers, and the choir, of men, ladies and boys, aside from leading the singing, contributed an anthem, "Hymn of

Hailwood Forfeits Election Deposit

LONDON, Jan. 11. Canadian Press Cable. — As a result of the Northampton by-election, in which Col. I. Cecil L. Malone, labor candidate, was victorious, E. A. Hailwood, Independent Conservative candidate, having failed to poll the requisite quota of votes forfeits his election deposit of £150 as he did in the Southend by-election.

The result is described by the advocates of electoral reform as another argument for such reform inasmuch as 25,203 votes were cast against the successful candidate, Col. Malone, who polled 15,173.

The success of labor is attributed chiefly to the intervention of Hailwood, most of whose 1093 votes would otherwise have presumably gone to the official Conservative candidate.

Malone's victory is regarded as surprising in view of what has been described as his coquetting with communism. Any prejudicial effect of this was evidently effectively counteracted by the action of Arthur Henderson, in bringing the full labor party electioneering machinery to Malone's assistance.

SMITH DENIES SNYDER APPEAL

Now Felt Almost Certain Condemned Pair Die on Thursday.

LAWYERS IN DISPUTE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (Canadian Press).—Governor Smith yesterday denied the pleas of Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray for executive clemency. Both are scheduled to die in the electric chair Thursday night for the murder of the woman's husband.

"The execution of this judgment on a woman is so distressing that I had hoped that the appeal would disclose some fact which would justify my interference with the process of law," the Governor said, in announcing his decision.

"I have searched in vain for any basis which my conscience in the light of my oath of office will approve, on which I might temper the law with mercy," he continued. "Up to this writing, there is no extenuation shown for what the seven judges of the court of appeals, in agreement with the twelve jurors and the trial justice, have found to be a deliberate and premeditated murder committed by these defendants."

With the Governor's decision, it seemed almost certain that the condemned pair would die in the electric chair Thursday. While Mrs. Snyder's attorneys were in disagreement as to whether they should appeal to the Federal courts for a writ of habeas corpus, there was no indication that any further effort would be made to save Gray.

The governor said the case had received his anxious consideration, not merely since the hearing upon the application for executive clemency, but since their conviction was unanimously affirmed by the Court of Appeals on November 22.

W. G. MURRELL IS ARRESTED IN CALIFORNIA

Escaped Melbourne, Ontario, Bank Bandit, Admits His Identity.

FINGERPRINTS THE SAME.

Participated in Attempted Robbery With Murder Sequel in April, 1921.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 11 (A.P.).—Cecil Miller, arrested here on Sunday night as an automobile theft suspect, was identified here yesterday as William G. Murrell, said by the police to be wanted on a murder charge in Melbourne, Ontario, in connection with the death there on April 11, 1921, of a bank cashier.

According to police the man admitted that he was Murrell and that he had been a fugitive from justice since a jail escape in September, 1921, but denies any part in the murder of the bank clerk.

He is being held pending word from the Canadian police.

Tattoo marks on the arms and fingerprints are said to have revealed the identity of Murrell.

Capture Looked For

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 10.—The arrest in Los Angeles of Bill Murrell, one of the leaders of the gunmen gang that met disaster in attempting the robbery of the Home Bank in Melbourne, April 11, 1921, vindicates the faith of Crown officers that the long arm of the law will eventually account for all four of the bandits.

Murrell's brother, Sydney, the man believed to have actually fired the shot that took the life of Russell Campbell, Melbourne garage man, escaped with Bill Murrell in a sensational jail delivery in September, 1921, but was recaptured in California two years later and paid for the crime on the scaffold here on April 10, 1924.

The Melbourn crime was the climax of a sensational outbreak of banditry in the Spring of 1921. The Murrells with "Slim" Jack Williams and "Pat" Norton, long known only as "the mysterious fourth bandit," planned the bank robbery in the Murrell home in Manor Park, a suburb of London, and after stealing a car during the night at Lambeth drove to the Melbourne district and slept in a field awaiting daylight. During the morning they proceeded to the Home Bank in the village and attempted the robbery. A girl employed in the bank escaped and transmitted the alarm to the village telephone operator who broadcast a call for help.

The Campbell brothers rushed from their garage nearby, and in the fight that followed Russell Campbell was slain while grappling with Syd Murrell. The two Murrells and Williams were overpowered and tied to a post in the village awaiting the arrival of police from London. Meanwhile Norton escaped into a swamp and made a successful get-away. While awaiting trial the Murrells, with outside aid, sawed through the bars of their cell and escaped over the wall of the jail, less than a week before their scheduled trial.

Reward Still Stands

Rewards were offered by the city and county, only one of which still stands, according to information here. This is the Provincial Government's offer of $1,000 for either Murrell or Norton. This offer was last repeated in a provincial police circular re-issued on July 21st, 1925. This circular is believed to have been accountable for the identification of Murrell in Los Angeles.

Williams, though jointly charged with the murder, refused to join in the escape and as a result he was held over at Kingston Penitentiary under sentence for robbery until the arrest of Syd Murrell. He was picked up in Bakersfield, Cal., in company with a man named McGregor as a suspect in a robbery. They had a stolen car loaded with men's clothing taken from a store in Nevada. Murrell was identified by his finger prints and was brought back to London. He and Williams were tried on the murder count by Judge Lennex and both were sentenced to death, the court making clear that under British law all are equally guilty of murder who participate in an illegal act that results in the death of anyone.

On the eve of the execution Williams, who had abandoned hope, had his sentence commuted by executive clemency to life imprisonment and he is still in Kingston Penitentiary. Murrell was hanged on the same scaffold with Clarence Topping who had slain a girl who refused to marry him.

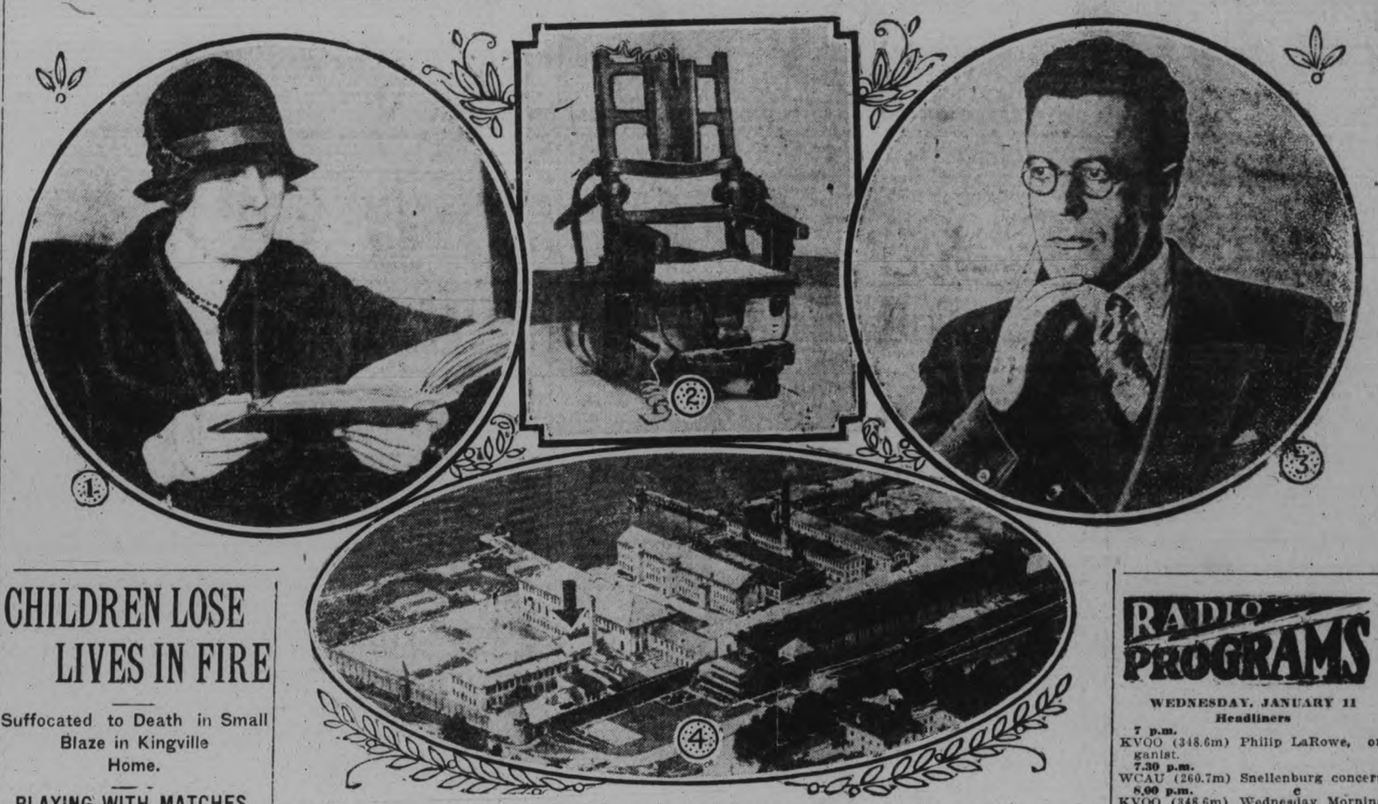
SNYDER-GRAY APPEAL FOR CLEMENCY DENIED BY GOVERNOR SMITH



Their slender hopes for mercy denied by Governor Alfred E. Smith, who indicated he had little sympathy with the pleas of their counsel, Ruth Snyder (1) and her paramour, Henry Judd Gray (3), who on Thursday night next are scheduled to die in the electric chair (2) in Sing Sing Prison for the murder of Mrs. Snyder's husband, Albert Snyder, in their home in Queen's Village, New York City. Together they slew him with picture wire, chloroform, and a window weight after getting him drunk at a party. (4) Is a view of the gaunt and rambling prison on the banks of the Hudson River, and the arrow indicates the location of the death house, where the condemned couple are confined and where they will meet their doom.

CHILDREN LOSE LIVES IN FIRE

Suffocated to Death in Small Blaze in Kingville Home.

PLAYING WITH MATCHES.

WINDSOR, January 11. — Locked in their home in Kingsville by their parents, Albert and Hilbert Mervis, aged 7 and 5, were suffocated to death yesterday in a small fire which was started, it is believed, by the little ones playing with matches.

The parents, Peter Francis and Mary Mervis, are Belgians, who work in the factory of the Ross Tobacco Company. It is their custom before going to work to lock the house securely.

Yesterday morning an employee of the Ross factory noticed smoke coming from the Mervis home, which is near the factory. An investigation showed that a bed was on fire. The burning materials were quickly carried out,the fire extinguished, and then the gruesome discovery was made of the two dead children, who lay under a table in a front room of the little home.

Doctors McKenzie and Hillis were called, but both pronounced the children dead of suffocation, as no burns of any kind were found on the little bodies.

Numerous stubs of burnt matches were found about the rooms, and it is believed that the fire originated in this manner. Neither parent is able to explain how the children got hold of the maches, nor had they any idea that the little ones knew where these were kept, as they had fully realized the danger that might come from the children playing with them, they said.

An inquest into the tragedy is regarded as unlikely, as the circumstances surrounding it are so plain.

CASES ADJOURNED.

Division Court Sitting in Campbellford Short—Mystery Solved.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan 11. — The division court held in the public library building yesterday was of very short duration. Judge Huycke of Peterboro presided, and ordered both cases laid over till the next sitting of the court February 7th. The cases were Denton, Mitchell and Duncan vs. Leonard, and Hendricks vs. Fairman and Russell. The former involved a deal with Leonard for certain articles of clothing, and the latter the ownership and payments of an automobile.

The car which appeared on the property of J. W. Johnston on Monday and disappeared so mysteriously later in the day, was found to belong to two men who were cutting wood in a neighboring wood lot. They had apparently parked their car there and taken a short cut across the field to their work. One of the men was rather peeved to think such a stir had been caused by such an innocent and harmless circumstance.

Radio sets are banned in Venezuela because they "keep people from working."

Tamatave, Madagascar, a seaport town, again has been destroyed by a cyclone. It may never be rebuilt, for within the past century more than 100 cyclones have damaged the city.

MORE SHOCKS FELT IN KENYA

Great Fissure in Side of Mountain Enlarged By Quakes.

NUNS ESCAPE DEATH.

NAIROBI, East Africa Jan. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Renewed earthquakes have occurred throughout Kenya, and another heavy shock at Nairobi was felt early today. A great fissure which was torn in the side of a mountain near Lake Baringo yesterday has been vastly enlarged. It is about nine miles long and nearly ten feet wide.

The nuns in the Catholic Mission at Fort Hall narrowly escaped death when the heavy stone wall of their dormitory collapsed. Falling stones smashed the beds and furniture, but at the moment nuns were at prayer in the chapel.

MANVERS COUNCIL HOLD MEETING

Establish Bylaw to Abolish Statute Labor, Principal Business of Session.

BETHANY, Jan. 11.—The first meeting of the new Municipal Council of the township of Manvers for 1928 was held on Monday afternoon in the Council Chamber, with all members present.

The chief item of business was to confirm the establishing of the bylaw to abolish statute labor. The vote which was taken for and against this question at the recent election resulted with a majority of 40 in favor of the abolishing of statute labor, so the new Council decided to stand by the wish of the people.

The selecting of a Commissioner was left over until the next sitting of the Council.

Premier Presented With Jubilee Records

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 11.—(Canadian Press.) — An interesting event in the office of the Prime Minister yesterday afternoon was the presentation to Right Honorable Mackenzie King of the records and original matrices in connection with the celebration of the Confederation Jubilee. The records comprise the speeches made on July 1st and also the initial performance of the Carillon. The original matrices, it is estimated, are good for five hundred years.

QUEBEC HOUSE OPENS SESSION

Hon. Hector Laferte Elected Speaker of Legislative Assembly.

CHAMBER CROWDED.

QUEBEC, Jan. 11. Canadian Press—The first session of the seventeenth Legislature of Quebec was opened here to-day with the customary ceremonies by Lieutenant-Governor the Hon. Narcisse Perodeau. The galleries in the Legislative Assembly Chamber were crowded, a newcomer to the ceremony being the Hon. William Phillips, United States Minister to Canada, who was accompanied by Mrs. Phillips and Albert Halstead, Consul-General to Canada, located at Montreal.

The first business of the new Legislature was the election of the Hon. Hector Laferte, member for Drummond, as Speaker, in place of J. M. Francouer, resigned.

Held Responsible For Death of Child

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 11. Canadian Press. — Mrs. Eleanor Howe of Appin was held responsible for the death of her imbecile child on Dec. 31, 1927, by a coroner's jury yesterday. The verdict added that at the time Mrs. Howe strangled her child she was in a state of mental derangement brought on by excessive worry.

High constable Sharton and Mr. Howe, husband of the woman were the chief witnesses at the inquest.

Mrs. Howe will appear before Magistrate Hawkshawe, for a a preliminary hearing on a charge of murder this morning.

FREIGHT RATES PACT REACHED

North Atlantic Steamship Conference Comes to Final Agreement.

SLIGHT INCREASE.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters.)—It was officially announced yesterday that, following the agreement reached on passenger rates at the North Atlantic Steamship Conference meeting here Monday, the Conference arrived at a compete agreement that there would be no freight rates war, thus maintaining the status quo.

A passenger rates war among members of the North Atlantic Shipping Conference appeared imminent when the Canadian Pacific Lines announced that they would withdraw from the passenger conference as a result of publication of a new schedule of rates by the Cunard Line. Differences were composed at the Paris conference and the Canadan Pacific cancelled its plan to withdraw. The agreement reached involved a slight increase in fares of the various grades.

CAUGHT BAD COLD WHILE OUT PLAYING NOT PROPERLY DRESSED

Mrs. L. Mantie, Millet, Alta., writes:—"My youngest child had a very bad cold which she got by going out playing in a strong, cold wind not properly dressed.

"She got so hoarse she could hardly speak, and her throat and chest were very sore.

"I used everything available, but she received no relief until, finally, I secured a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and the first few doses certainly did her good. It is wonderful how it can help so quickly."

MAY APPOINT RACING BOARD

Commission Would Be Free From Politics, Says Price.

WOULD SET DATES.

TORONTO, January 11. — The future policy of the Government on racing will be early discussed in the Cabinet, as a result of the information asked for by Provincial Treasurer Monteith, having just been completed.

A Provincial Racing Commission is considered a likely result. Attorney-General Price said yesterday that he had always been in favor of a commission. The problem was to get the thing done properly, free from politics, and independent of racing.

Such a commission, Col. Price said, would see to the appointing of proper officials and would arrange racing dates.

Legislation creating such a commission might, Dr. Monteith thought, come before the House this session.

SEYMOUR COUNCIL IS INAUGURATED

Rev. James Grier Officiates at Formal Opening—Routine Business.

Campbellford, Jan. 11. — The inaugural meeting of the Seymour township council was held in their council rooms, Ferris Block, at eleven o'clock on Monday morning. The Rev. James Grier officially opened the business for the year with a word of prayer and a brief address. The reeve, deputy reeve and councillors were all present and after the formal opening Reeve Grills took the chair and commenced the regular business of the meeting.

Among the communications read was an appeal from the Sick Children's Hospital, which was considered, and a donation forwarded to the institution. There was also a communication from the Good Roads Association regarding the membership fee and the convention to be held in Toronto next month. After some consideration the membership fee was ordered paid but no delegates have been appointed to attend the convention. Henry Redden addressed the council regarding the condition of Road number nine and was promised that his appeal would be given consideration here.

S. H. Neale manager of the Royal Bank here, addressed the council for the purpose of soliciting a portion of their business. George Nicol, manager of the Bank of Montreal, was also present for the same purpose and addressed the council. After considering the matter for some time the council decided not to make any change from last year.

At this point the council adjourned for lunch. When the session was resumed the matter of passing bylaws and appointing certain officials occupied their attention. Bylaw number 1068 authorizes the reeve and treasurer to borrow from the bank for the purpose of financing the present year affairs. Bylaw Number 1069 appointed George Anderson to the position of school attendance officer. Bylaw number 1070 was presented in duplicate and appointed Ernest Brunton road superintendent for 1928. J. W. Johnston will be a member of the Board of Health by Bylaw 1071, and W. A. Wynn will be sheep valuator according to Bylaw Number 1072. William Cock is appointed to the Board of Education by Bylaw number 1073. He will represent S. S. number 8 for the township of Seymour. George Anderson then presented his report for the month of December 1927.

There being no further business to transact accounts amounting to $1496.16 were ordered paid. This amount is arrived at by the following detailed accounts:

Thomas Brown	$ 27.90
Peter Hicks	135.60
P. S. Ewing	931.00
James Russel	288.16
G. A. Hay	24.88

JOHN A. M'NABB DEMANDS STORE BY JANUARY 31

Disposes of Interest in Chain Store Which Must Be Cleared Out.

TO RUN OWN STORE.

Present Firm Has To Make Quick Clearance Under Sale Terms.

John A. McNabb has disposed of his interest in the J. A. McNabb Co. Ltd. chain stores, and has given the firm until January 31 to vacate the George street store. He will then remodel it and completely restock with up to the minute goods, and open under the name "McNabb Ladies' Wear Store" about February 15.

J. A. McNABB.

The chain formerly managed by Mr. McNabb had stores in Peterborough, Brockville, Belleville and Kingston, and other stores will continue to operate under the name "J. A. McNabb Ltd."

All the stock in the Peterborough store must be sold out before January 31, when Mr. McNabb has demanded possession. He will not take over any of the stock, having decided to restock with new goods throughout. The sale, which must clear the shelves of all stock now on hand will be under management of a merchandising broker.

POULTRY SHOW

showing of pigeons in Grey Homers and White Fantails.

Over in the main coops are the polish silvers and blacks, with queer head adornments, pencilled Hamburgs, Barred Plymouth Rocks, big Houdans; Silver, Black and Spangled Campines; little, meaty Cornish birds; odd-looning Langshans, Partridge Cochins, and Dark and Light Brahmas; Brown Sussex, and sleepy Orpingtons in white, black and buff; White and Buff Plymouth Rocks; Columbia and Partridge Black and Silver Wyandottes; Redcaps, with their green and bronze hackle feathers; demure, grey-coated Dorkins; the big Buttercups that were a new variety last year in this show; Anconas and Minorcas; White and Buff Leghorns; White Wyandottes, Rhode Island Reds; White and Barred Rocks, and a long line of the Jersey Black Giants that appear to be cramped in their big cages, so large are they. The entire group of these big birds united in an impromptu chorus last night on what seemed almost like a single concerted note of shrill excitement, when they flung their big heads upward to watch the flutterings of a tiny sparrow near the roof.

An interesting side exhibit is that of S. E. Moncrief, who is showing Chinchilla rabbits and the pelts of their furry bodies. These are pretty little silver-grey bunnies, speckled in black and white, and Mr. Moncrief has a table devoted to literature descriptive of their care and breeding for fur purposes.

The Quaker Oats Company has a nicely arranged big exhibit, in charge of F. Walsh, showing in colorful style varieties of fowl feeds and mashes, with descriptive literature. Mr. Walsh also shows at regular intervals interesting moving pictures of the recent World's Poultry Congress in Ottawa, and some smaller reels showing the manufacturing process of the Quaker Oats Company's "Full o' Pep" feeds. This picture shows how to feed and house poultry in order to get the best results.

From the Cliffmuir Farms, in charge of Cliff Carruthers, comes a splendid showing of eggs, arranged attractively, and a number of the birds responsible for their production, and a couple of golden pheasants are also on view from his farm.

The line of breeding pens, placed near the north end, exhibits a very fine lot of birds.

There is an exhibit of eggs and dressed fowl, in a special compartment, with two of the birds averaging eleven pounds apiece, making a noble pair of table adornments.

A small boy wandered around last night, with his little Boston Bull pup, a minature creature like a toy, resting quite comfortably on one hand, and only seven weeks old.

Judging on the birds started yesterday morning, and, on account of the large number and excellent standard, which requires close work when competition is as keen as it is here, will not be completed until this evening. The exhibitors, including several from out of town, have an aggregate total, according to W. J. Nesbitt, secretary of fifty-three entries, ten more than last year, showing a gratifying increase in interest in the local show.

Energetic officers in charge of the show this year include the superintendent and treasurer, George Paxman, who is in charge of the general arrangements, and has a careful eye to every detail necessary to ensure a satisfactory exhibition. Others taking an active interest are: The president, F. H. Dawson; the first and second vice-presidents, S. E. Moncrief and Morgan Brown; the secretary, W. J. C. Nesbitt; and the directors, E. H. White, B. Law, A. R. Robson, W. Fisher, R. D. Robson, B. Trotter, C. Sanderson, K. Throop, H. T. Lush, G. Buller, and E. F. Robson. Auditors are F. Holmes and V. J. Tully.

The list of exhibitors is as follows: Percy Price, R. R. No. 7; John Hayward, H. C. Lord, Fred Ward, John Martin, B. Fraser, R. R. No. 2, H. V. Mills, R. M. Paterson of Agincourt, V. J. Tully, W. Jenkins of Cobourg, W. J. C. Nesbitt, R. M. Brown, R. Bugg, J. T. Weir of Agincourt, O. Kingdon, R. R. No. 3, E. H. White, Edgar Lemmons, Arthur Wilson of Port Hope, W. Lloyd, George Buller, Charles Barton, K. Throop, R. D. Robson, J. R. Hope, R. R. No. 1, Keene, H. T. Lush, B Law, Clayton Sanderson, W. H. Bowhey of Agincourt, F. G. Carpenter, R. R. No. 7, A. J. Ward of Stouffville, Lorne Hutchinson of Warkworth, George Blowers, Leo Murphy, Harold Thompson, R. R. No. 3, S. E. Moncrief, F. Lawless, T. R. Hunter, G. A. Bendelow of Ida, A. R. Robson, H. R. Cole, Frank Head of South Monaghan, A. H. Clegg, F. Chambo, Mrs. G. Rose, A. A. Long, W. J. Abernethy of Campbellford, W. J. Outram, P. R. Castle, J. J. Stewart, James S. Chandler, and J. H. Gilroy.

Little Bobby Wilson, of the Grand Central Apartments, was the lucky finder of "Mr. X., Mystery Man of the Peterborough Examiner," last night, winning a prize of a goose or $2.00 in cash.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared from stomach use.

End of All Auto Speed Laws Is Predicted; Motor Official Calls Mile-a-Minute Safe

NEW YORK, January 11. — A number of safety organizations throughout the country have criticized automobile companies for advertising cars with speeds of sixty, seventy, and eighty miles an hour, but Paul G. Hoffman, the Studebaker Corporation's vice-president in charge of sales, counters these criticisms with the charge that they are not sound. When interviewed in the Studebaker booth at the Automobile Show, he said emphatically that in his opinion the safety organizations were wrong.

"It is a mistake," he said, "to make safety a matter of speed as such. There are times when twenty miles an hour is dangerous and sometimes seventy is safe. It all depends upon conditions, and I predict that within five years all speed-limit laws in the United States will be abolished. Michigan has already abolished hers, the laws there heavily penalize reckless driving, which is as it should be.

"The country is developing its highway system, and soon we will have one-way highways, with grade separation at crossings, on which cars will be expected to go at least sixty-five miles an hour. We are living in a rapid age and must keep going more rapidly all the time. In order to accommodate the increasing automobile traffic of the country we must keep the cars moving at a high rate of speed.

"The automobile is going through the same history as the railroad. At first a man had to walk ahead of a train to warn pedestrians. Then speeds were limited. Now we keep the right of way clear and let trains in the open country go as fast as they can.

"Furthermore, people want to be assured of the facts about a car. We are advertising that our Commander made 25,000 miles in less than 25,000 minutes. That proves endurance. Even if the man who buys a car doesn't expect to drive it at that rate for that distance, he wants to be assured that his car has the endurance to accomplish the feat."

Mr. Hoffman added that the automobile of to-day was safer at fifty miles an hour than the car of ten years ago was at twenty.

"DRY" BUT THIRSTY.

A despatch to The Globe from one of its Ottawa special correspondents admits that the figures in regard to the exports of Canadian whiskey to the United States "show what a joke the 'dry' law of that country is."

The official trade returns indicate an increase in the flow of whiskey and other alcoholic beverages over the border, and the rising figures are eloquent of the impossibility of enforcing a sumptuary law upon people who are in a large proportion opposed to any such legislation, and who have not the least compunction in breaking a statute that they regard as an infringement upon their personal liberty.

The year's whiskey business with the United States, which is illicit so far as that country is concerned, has grown by over two millions since the year previous, and a check-up on each month's operations shows in nearly every case an increase.

In 1927 Canada supplied her neighbor with nearly eighteen million dollars worth of whiskey, two and a half million dollars worth of foreign liquors and some six million dollars worth of beer, gin and other beverages.

For a "dry" country the United States has considerable of a thirst.

WHY NOT ENFORCE THESE LAWS?

Among the legislation that is to be passed by the Quebec Legislature during the present session is an amendment to the Traffic Act requiring all vehicles using the highways at night to carry lights.

This is of interest in Ontario.

For some months a similar regulation has been in effect in this Province, but unless the measure is more vigorously enforced than it has been up to the present it, like the law in regard to drivers' licenses, will fail to prove of any particular advantage in remedying a situation that called for reform.

Motorists report that unlighted vehicles are encountered on every highway, and that the regulation is apparently being disregarded by many farmers, who up to the present have not taken the trouble to secure the equipment that the law requires them to have.

There is not much sense in passing laws if there are no teeth in them.

If drivers without permits are using the streets and highways daily and horse-drawn vehicles without lights continue to prove a menace at night, the situation calls for action.

A law that is not enforced is not a law at all; it is a joke.

CANADIAN LEGATIONS.

The Department of External Affairs at Ottawa has denied the report that Canada is contemplating the appointment of a Minister to Tokio.

The announcement will be welcome.

There have been so many reports of legations for here, there and everywhere that it began to look as if we were going to overdo the thing.

It may be advisable to extend the work carried on up to the present by the Canadian Commissioner-General in Paris by the establishment of a legation in that city, but so far as representation in Great Britain is concerned The Examiner agrees with Hon. Col. Amery, the Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs, who in discussing the rumour of a British Minister being apponited to Canada, remarked: "There is no need for Ministers between members of the same family."

We can get along quite nicely without building up a squad of Canadian ambassadors to send out all over the map, convenient as such berths might prove when party stalwarts have to be rewarded.

Our business associations with the United States and increasing interests in France justify ambassadors to those countries, but for the present that should be the end of our programme.

We no more need a Minister to Japan, for example, than we require one in Greenland.

THE 21ST BATTALION'S DEAD.

The tribute paid by the 21st Battalion Club of Peterborough to the memory of the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the battalion who gave up their lives to the Great War takes the form of a memorial plaque, which was unveiled with very impressive ceremonies last evening.

The tablet, erected on the north wall of the local Armouries, will form a permanent indication of the fact that the men of the Eastern Ontario battalion who were spared to come home have not forgotten the comrades beside whom they fought in the mad days when the world was at war.

The honour roll of the battalion, the list of the men whose names are recalled by this splendid plaque, shows how heavy was the price paid by the 21st in the long series of engagements in which the unit distinguished itself.

Thirty officers and eight hundred non-commissioned officers and men were killed or died of wounds or illness on active service, as the Eastern Ontario battalion fought at St. Eloi, the Somme, Vimy Ridge, Hill 70, Passchendaele, Amiens, Arras, Cambrai and Mons, in that glorious record of effective service established by the 2nd Canadian Division.

It is fitting that the names of the illustrious dead should be held constantly in memory, and the members of the 21st Battalion Club are to be thanked for their tribute and for the ceremonies that brought to the fore again the price paid for ultimate victory.

AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY.

A significant fact is brought out in the review of the automobile industry for the past year published by Mr. R. S. McLaughlin, president of General Motors of Canada, Ltd. Since the revision of the tariff in the early part of 1926, he says, the number of imported cars has been steadily increasing. The increase during the year amounted to about 30 per cent., and the number of Canadian-made cars sold in Canada decreased by a number which "bears a close resemblance to the number which "bears a close resemblance to the number of imported cars marketed in the Dominion." It looks, therefore, as if the severity of the pressure of foreign competition has been considerably intensified. Taking the year's business as a whole, however, this authority regards the situation in Canada as much more satisfactory than in the United States, where sales of passenger cars dropped off to an extent twice as great as the decrease in this country. There were more higher-priced cars sold in Canada, and it is thought that when figures for the entire year are available, the actual investment in automobiles for 1927 will not be less, but more than the sum for the previous year. There is a car for every ten persons in Canada today, representing an initial investment of approximately one billion dollars, and it is predicted that the number of cars in proportion to the population may yet be doubled.

As to the future, there is no doubt that a very interesting time is ahead. With the new Ford on the market and the uncertainty in that respect ended, and with leading makers coming forward with their announcements of improved models and reduced prices, it is reasonable to suppose that an added impetus will be given to the buying movement. That elusive period when the "saturation point" would be reached seems to be continually pushed off farther and farther into the future, if, indeed, it will ever come. With the splendid road systems throughout the continent, the alluring inducements offered prospective buyers, together with the general prosperity which is confidently anticipated, manufacturers may well view the future with optimism. It must be said for them that they are ably doing their part by continually improving the efficiency and beauty of their products.—Hamilton Spectator.

A GREAT PAPER GOES WRONG.

Toronto Saturday Night pays especial attention this week on its front page to a most obnoxious and ill-informed editorial on the international debt question, which was published in The Saturday Evening Post, Christmas week. This paper cordially agrees with Saturday Night, but the latter might have gone much farther in its strictures on the Philadelphian publication Saturday Night says:

"The statement that Great Britain had any part in launching an emotional propaganda in America in behalf of debt cancellation is in plain language a lie, rather more direct than Mr. Lorimer usually indulges in, for it is his general practice to misrepresent Great Britain by innuendo. What Great Britain did was to send its then Chancellor of the Exchequer, Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, to the United States, to make a settlement that would sustain British credit throughout the world. Mr. Baldwin made a funding arrangement which his chief, the late Rt. Hon. Bonar Law, truly said would lower the standard of living for the British people for a quarter of a century, but which Great Britain has consistently lived up to.

"Mr. Lorimer cannot avoid admitting the settlement, but hints at something sinister and underhanded in the transaction, and continues: 'Having funded her debt she (Great Britain) borrowed a great sum of money on Wall street, and went about putting the pound sterling on a gold basis.' Shameful! But even here the 'Evening Post' cannot speak the whole truth. What really happened was that the British Government negotiated with Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co., for a credit of $100,000,000—not a great sum compared with the total indebtedness. This credit, as the present Chancellor of the Exchequer stated in Parliament, was never actually utilized. It was valid for a year and then cancelled, but in the meantime, Morgan & Co. were paid a substantial fee for a service of which the British Government never availed itself. All it got out of it was the moral prestige involved in the existence of such a credit. There was nothing of low and cunning mendicancy about Britain's conduct in this transaction, however Mr. Lorimer may endeavor to persuade his readers to the contrary."

If ever there was propaganda it was contained against Great Britain in the half truths which The Saturday Evening Post uttered with all editorial authority. That paper was not bold and honest enough to state that among all the debtors of the United States, Britain had played the game clean and was the first to make a settlement, and since that settlement, except for the credit established, as mentioned above, has not borrowed a nickle in the States. On the other hand, Germany has been borrowing so heavily that there is danger, very grave danger, of that country precipitating a crisis, when she will be unable to pay.

The Saturday Evening Post is becoming almost obnoxious in certain well defined directions, to well-informed Canadians. It is a great paper, none can deny that, but it is not a fair paper to British interests. The articles of Marcosson are about the best published, but the least said about some of the other special writers the better. The Post enjoys great privileges in Canada and has a very large circulation in this country. Probably it could afford to dispense with that circulation, but that is no reason why it should not seek the truth, tell the truth and be fair to the sensibilities of the Canadian people.—St. Catharines Standard.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Jan. 11 (Canadian Press).—There was an improved demand from the United Kingdom for Canadian Spring wheat here yesterday and sales of about twenty-five loads were made with the result that there was more inquiry for ocean grain from Canada winter ports. Engagements were made to Hull at 2s 6d per quarter, to Leith at 2s 3d and to Liverpool and Manchester at 1s 9d.

A feature of the domestic grain trade was the improved demand from exporters for wheat and sales of several loads of tough No. 3 Northern were made at seven cents per bushel under the Winnipeg May option, and No. 3 Northern at a flat price, c.i.f. Bay parts. Some business was also done in No. 2 feed oats for local account for all-rail shipment at nine cents per bushel under the May option, track, Fort William. The local and country demand for spot grain was quiet and prices were unchanged.

The trade in spring and winter wheat grades of flour continued quiet but values were steady.

A fair amount of business was done in all lines of millfeed and the undertone to the market was firm. A steady trade was done in standard grades of rolled oats and prices were unchanged.

Furthew weakness developed in the market for strictly fresh eggs and prices scored a decline of two to five cents per dozen. This was attributed to the continued mild weather, the increased production and the limited demand. There was no change in prices for storage eggs, but the undertone was easy with a small trade passing. The receipts were 1,573 cases.

The demand for potatoes continued inactive, but the undertone was steady. Prince Edward Island Green Mountains were quoted at $1.15 per bag of 90 lbs.; Prince Edward Island White potatoes at $1.05 per bag of 90 lbs; New Brunswick Green Mountains at $1 per bag of 90 lbs in sulk, and New Brunswick White potatoes at 95c per bag of 90 lbs in bulk, ex-track.

The inquiry for imported beans continued of a limited character but values ruled steady. Car lots of choice white hand-picked are selling at $2.65 per bushel, ex-track, and broken lots at $2.75 per bushel, ex-store.

The butter market was without any new feature to note, prices were unchanged and the demand was dull. The receipts were 133 packages.

Prices for all grades of cheese were well maintained but the volume of business was small. The receipts were 232 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Ills., Jan. 11 (Canadian Press).—Influenced largely by weakness of the New York stock market, grain values crumpled yesterday and closed at about the bottom level reached. the government report announcing that 2,320,343,000 bushels of the 1927 corn crop was actually harvested for gain made an apparent bearish showing.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled 1¼ to 1½ cents net lower, corn 1 to 1⅜ cents down; oats ⅝ to ¾ cent to ⅞ cent off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 7 to 10 cents.

Almost from the outset, wheat showed a downward tendency, but weakness did not become pronounced until the last hour of trading. At this stage, as a reflection of Wall Street weakness, numerous standing orders to sell out holdings of future delivery contracts for wheat were automatically put into operation to stop losses. Execution of many of the late selling orders oppeared to be especially for houses with connections northwest. Earlier, a good deal of attention was given to a forecast of large clearances of Argentine wheat this month. On the other hand, reports were current that Central Kansas wheat areas are becoming dry, and that the western half of Kansas is suffering oadly from lack of moisture. Inasmuch as the government crop report yesterday was not issued until after the close of trading, the market was not directly influenced by the new official figures. Recent bullish predictions, however, were offset by assertion that preivous government reports at this time of year had not materially changed the official figures or corn acreage north yield per acre for any state. Besides favorable weather in the domestic corn belt yesterday was something of a bearish factor, and there was also selling on reports of beneficial rains in Argentina. Oats declined with wheat and corn.

Provisions were easier, downturns in grain and cotton having some effect, although hog values were higher.

EIGHT-TON LIMIT BEING ENFORCED

Larger Vehicles Will be Licensed Only if Registered Before 1924.

TORONTO, Jan. 11.—Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways, emphasized the Department's policy with regard to the operation of heavy trucks on Ontario Highways. With two exceptions no permits will be issued this year for vehicles having a gross weight of more than eight tons. The Minister's statement follows:

"It has come to the notice of my Department that motor truck dealers and owners are apparently not familiar with the provision of the Highway Traffic Act relative to the operation of heavy trucks. As there seems to be doubt in the minds of many as to the maximum gross weight allowed, attention is directed to part six of the Act as amended in 1923 and 1924 to come into effect on the first of January this year.

"Motor trucks registered prior to January 1st, 1923, as having a gross weight (combined weight of vehicle and carrying capacity) in excess of ten tons (20,000 lbs.) will be granted special permits to operate until December 31st, 1928.

"Motor trucks registered prior to January 1st, 1924, as having a gross weight in excess of eight tons (16,000 lbs.) and not exceeding 10 tons will be granted special permits to operate until Decemebr 31st, 1928; with the exception of the two classes mentioned, no permits will be issued for vehicles having a gross weight in excess of 8 tons (16,000 lbs.).

"Ample notice was given by the legislature of these changes by the amendments of 1923 and 1924, and it should be noted by all concerned that no consideration will be given to the granting of permits for vehicles exceeding a gross weight of 8 tons which were not registered prior to 1924.

"No change in the tire requirements for these vehicles has been made."

MONAGHAN COUNCIL BEGINS 1928 WORK

Inagural Meeting Held Monday Morning—Assessor Appointed.

The inaugural meeting of the North Monaghan Council was held at the Court House, Peterborough, on January 9, at 11 a.m. The following members of the new Council were present: H. B. Rye, Reeve; W. G. Waterman, Deputy Reeve, Councillors Herbert Bourne, George Patton, and Andrew Kent. After taking the declaration of office, Mr. John McIntosh appeared before the Council and made application for position of assessor for year 1928. T. B. Henry made application for position of sanitary inspector, relief officer, and school attendance officer for 1928. The Council appointed Mr. McIntosh assessor at $225, the same as last year. Norman Hatton was appointed auditor at a salary of $50.00.

A communication was read from the general manager of the Liquor Control Board re the appointment of an officer under by-law to carry out the provisions of the Act. The Council decided to take no action.

The Ontario Good Roads Association wrote announcing the dates of annual meeting.

By-law No. 908 was read and passed authorizing the Reeve and treasurer to borrow $10,000 from the Bank of Nova Scotia to meet current ordinary expenditure for year 1928.

A communication was read from the Ontario School Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association re the annual meeting.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for applicants for the position of sanitary inspector, school attendance and relief officer for the Township of North Monaghan for year 1928. The Township will pay a salary of $200 per annum for said services.

A communication was read from Harris MacKeen and Company, Toronto, dated January 5, stating they had paid into the Bank of Nova Scotia on the estate $30,020.55 for the debentures for the new Confederation school.

The following accounts were passed for payment: Dawe-Pearson, $4.68; Harold Gibbs, $3; treasurer for postage stamps, war tax, telephone and telegraph, $3.68.

The county treasurer furnished a statement showing that the total hospital accounts paid by County of Peterborough for patients from North Monaghan for year 1927 amounted to $1,504.00. North Monaghan share was one half or $752.00.

The following charity accounts were passed for payment:

County of Peterborough, balance due on hospital accounts, $386.75; W. J. Byers, groceries, $2.61; A. E. Saunders, groceries, $15.02; A. Thompson, wood $11.00.

The following allowances for deputy returning officers, poll clerks and polling booths were passed for payment:

A. Pitchford, $3; Mrs. E. Bowen, $3; Geo. Campbell, $4; W. J. Laing, $3; H. Davidson, $3; H. Davidson, $4; W. D. Anderson, $3; Mrs. Hurley, $3; A. Padgett, $4; K. M. Denoon, $3; E. Adamson, $3; S.S. No. 2, $4; J. F. Clark, $3; O. Dunford, $3; S.S. No. 3, $4.

A resolution was passed authorizing the treasurer to pay the County of Peterborough $237.85 for lots purchased by the reeve for the township at the adjourned tax sale.

The council endorsed the resolution passed by the Board of Health for the township in regards to placarding shacks unfit for human habitation. The meeting adjourned until next regular meeting at Court House, Peterboro, on Monday, February 13, at 2 p.m.

A Thought

A GREAT INSTITUTION.

That opening in your face called the mouth was put there for talking and eating.

Plenty of people kill themselves by eating and plenty of people ruin their prospects by talking. The mouth is a great institution.

In this inlet we tamp too much food and from this vestibule come the words that keep us in hot water.

Much of your health and happiness depends on what goes in and what comes out of your month

I repeat: the mouth is a great institution when not opened too often.

NEGLECT OF RULES BLAMED FOR CRASH

Engineer's Judgment at Fault, Enterprise Jury Finds.

ENTERPRISE, Ont., Jan. 11.—Engineer Bradford, injured in the recent C.P.R. train wreck at Dockrill, was still too ill to appear when the inquest was resumed yesterday, and Dr. Cowan, coroner, and Crown Attorney U. M. Wilson, acting upon instructions, declared the inquiry closed, after the jury had agreed to a verdict finding the accident due to non-observance of the rules, and suggesting the advisability of a period longer than five minutes for clearance of passenger trains. The C.P.R. was not represented yesterday.

The verdict of the jury is as follows: "The jury empanelled to enquire into the death of William Barnett find his death was caused by a collision which occurred on the C. P.R. near Dockrill siding, at 2.13 p.m., on November 27, 1927, when first No. 19, fast express, traveling west, collided with the engine of second No. 910 freight, traveling east. We are of the opinion that had the rules laid down by the C.P.R. for the guidance of men in charge of trains been carried out, the accident would not have occurred. We are of the opinion that the accident was caused by the misjudgment of Engineer J. L. Bradford, of the freight train; firstly, by releasing his brakes too soon and over-running the switch, and secondly, by not sending out his flagman to protect his train, as provided by the rules. We are of the opinion that the five minutes as mentioned in Rule 89 is not sufficient time for clearance of passenger trains."

The Peterboro Male Voice Choir held a social re-union in the hall of the Conservatory of Music last evening, when the members and their friends attended, about one hundred and thirty people being present for the occasion. An attractive program of music and dancing was arranged with the gathering breaking up about midnight. Prior to the service of dainty refreshments and the enjoyment of dancing, a musical program was given, opening with a selection led by Mr. V. Boorman, this orchestra also providing excellent music for the dancing period. Other numbers were vocal solos by Miss Ruby Quartermaine and Mr. Warren and a vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. E. Rowe; also two numbers by a male quartette composed of Messrs. Lee, Crowe, Rowe and Woods, a piano duet by the Misses Napier tion, a reading by Miss Queenie Hope, and several banjo numbers played by Mr. Frank Clarke, who also led in the community singing. The choir gave two renditions in fine voice and was loudly applauded as was every number on an excellent program, while a rendition affording much amusement was the effort of a "Dry Quartette," composed of Messrs. McLeish, Crowe, Parlour and Cook, to whistle "Tipperary," immediately after eating three soda biscuits. The best singer in this group was Mr. A. McLeish. Mr. A. H. White made a very satisfactory chairman, opening the program with words of welcome to the members, old and new, and President G. S. Parlour, at the conclusion, voiced the thanks of the choir to all who had taken part in the entertainment, stressing especially the valuable assistance rendered by Mr Boorman's orchestra.

Woman's Wisdom

Kingston, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is such a great help to nature in motherhood, I marvel that every prospective mother does not take it. I had two children before I knew that there was such a tonic. My former experiences caused me dread. By chance I read that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription quieted the nerves and strengthened the body of the expectant mother and I proved that statement to be true, also I had comparatively no suffering and did not lose any of my strength or vitality. My baby is now 2 years old and weighs 30 lbs., is the picture of health."—Mrs. Olive Brown, 12 Markland St.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Faith did not answer the doctor's repeated question, did not open her eyes again, but lay very still, listening with curious interest to the pounding of her heart.

At intervals she was aware of voices about her bed, caught fragments of what they said—"Temperature a hundred and four, pulse a hundred and thirty. May be pneumonia, but the chest seems to be clear—"; "Just a fever stupor; not entirely unconscious;" "Keep that ice bag on her head, Miss Sutton, and give her one of these powders every hour until the fever comes down—"

Another voice, crisp, clear, professional: "Yes, doctor. No, doctor. All right, doctor. Yes, doctor, I'll call you if there is any change—"

She felt cool, capable hands upon her body, was dimly aware that the nurse undressed her and sponged her burning flesh with cold water which felt wonderfully good. She wondered dully about the soft silk nightgown which she found herself wearing and it was many minutes later that she remembered that George had packed a suitcase for her.

Faith drifted away to unconsciousness with her insubordinate lips tightly clamped. Her last thought was that she mustn't give herself away, must clamped. Her last thought was that somehow manage to escape from the nurse and get home, where she could die quietly and respectably, under her own name. She could never explain why she had registered here as "Stella Pringle," but if she could get home she would tell Bob—tell Bob—

She must have babbled in delirium, for when she was conscious again the nurse, a girl with pale, thin hair drawn back neatly under a crisp white linen cap, was bending over her, urging her softly:

"I'll tell Bob, Miss Pringle, if you'll give me his address. What was it's last name and where does he live, Miss Pringle?"

"No, no!" Faith's head worried back and forth on the pillow. Her lips felt stiff and cracked. "Ice water, please! What time is it?"

"It's eight o'clock Monday morning, Miss Pringle," the nurse answered briskly. "Here's a bit of ice. Feeling better?"

"I'm all right," Faith lied, desperate with the need to escape. "I'm fine! Could you—could you go downstairs and get me some breakfast, Miss Sutton? I'm hungry." If she could only get the nurse out of the room for a few minutes she could dress and run away—

"Hungry? That's fine! Doctor King will be so pleased," the nurse soothed her with professional cheerfulness. I'll phone right down for some orange juice and tea for you. They're sending my breakfast up. Dr. King will be here in a few minutes with an ambulance to take you to the hospital. Just so you'll be more comfortable," she added hastily, as Faith sat up in bed, glaring at her wildly.

The nurse and the doctor were wrapping her inert body in blankets preparatory to placing in on the ambulance stretcher when a beloved voice pierced shrilly through the fog of semi-consciousness in which Faith was submerged:

"Oh, Faith, Faith darling! It's Cherry! Don't you know me?"

Lyrics of Life - By Douglas Malloch

THE JOY OF LIFE

The joy of life is joy
In youth,
And yet you'll learn, my boy,
The truth:
That joy is not the joy
We live,
It comes, my boy, from joy
We give.

When joy grows old, as joy
Will do,
When joys return, my boy,
To you,
Then you'll be proud, my boy,
And glad,
For joy you gave, not joy
You had.

Yes, he the greatest joy
Will find
Who learns one simple joy—
Be kind.
Yes, he the greatest joy
has known
Who finds in others' joy
his own.

She Used Them To Purify Her Blood

So Says Manitoba Lady of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Miss Ella Scott Suffered From Boils And Pimples on Her Arms.

CARMAN, Man., Jan. 10.—(Special).—"I cannot praise Dodd's Kidney Pills too highly," writes Miss E. Smith, a well-known resident of this place. "They have helped me so much. At one time I had thirteen boils and my arms were just covered with pimples, owing to my being in a run-down condition. I have used several boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they have built me up again. I am quite well now. I always recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to people."

Dodd's Kidney Pills simply strengthen and heal the kidneys. The work of the kidneys is to strain all the waste matter out of the blood. If the kidneys are out of order they fail to do their work, and the waste matter remains in the blood, causing serious diseases.

Sound kidneys mean pure blood. Pure blood means good health.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)

THURSDAY, JANUARY 12, 1928

This is rather an uncertain day, according to astrology, which reads in the configuration certain menacing aspects.

It is an unfavorable rule for all branches of speculation, but there will be great temptation to try one's luck.

Sudden fluctuations in the stock market, prospects of quick rises in real estate values and new oil discoveries will lure many to heavy losses, it is forecast.

Advertising continues subject to the most promising rule, making for immense gains and great profits.

Art will enter into the crying of wares as never before, the seers foretell, and they predict benefits to painters.

Changes in the form of character of magazines are indicated and printing will be one of the arts that engross special attention.

There should be care about traveling today when the stars frown on those who go to sea.

Accidents to passengers on airplanes as well as ocean liners are prophesied for this winter, which may bring many disasters.

Extremes of fortune may be expected as 1928 advances, for there are to be new fortunes accumulated, while heavy losses are sustained in certain quarters.

Mexico is likely to have some sort of spectacular revolution next summer and meanwhile will continue to have numerous difficulties, political and economic.

Jupiter, now Ireland's ruling sign presages increase of trade and prosperity. The Free State is under an encouraging direction of the stars.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of great adventures in the coming year, but they should be careful.

Children born on this day probably will be inordinately ambitious and restless. Subjects of this sign are capable of big achievements.

Hints on Etiquette

1. Does one leave cards when calling on New Year's Day?
2. What should a caller be sure to do?
3. Do the father, mother and children of a family all receive together?

The Answers

1. Usually, no, though in some cities where hundreds call, they are left.
2. Greet host, hostess and any guest or older person of the family personally as New Year's Day is the most personal of all calling days.
3. In smaller towns, yes. In large cities, however, young folks keep "open house" at one home while older folks at another.

London's night clubs are dying.

This is the second of a series of articles in which I will try to explain to you the part which food plays in the cause and cure of all of the common disorders. As explained, I am taking up these various disorders one by one, on down through an alphabetical list, the closing paragraph in the introductory article having covered High and Low Blood Pressure.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, or NEPHRITIS, is due to faulty metabolism. This is likewise true of diabetes. A cure depends almost wholly upon dietetic treatment.

BRONCHITIS and all similar derangements of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat are the result of too liberal a use of mucus-forming foods, such as sugar, starches and fats. A change of climate may be tried—the tonsils and adenoids removed—and still these catarrhal troubles will continue until these mucus-forming foods are entirely eliminated. Hay fever is likewise caused by the irritation of this mucus which is often of an acid reaction, irritating to certain delicate types of mucous membranes.

CONSTIPATION is developed from a multiplicity of causes, chief among which is the use of too much starch, and a deficiency in the diet of the leafy green vegetables and fruits.

DEAFNESS, when not of accidental origin, is due entirely to catarrh of the nose and throat and this, in turn, as I have said before, to wrong food.

DEFECTIVE CIRCULATION of the blood is often due to a sluggish blood stream, thickened with excesses of food materials not needed by the body. It is surprising to note how quickly the circulation will improve when the blood is thinned to the proper consistency to more easily pass through the hundreds of miles of blood vessels winding in and out of the different tissues of the body.

DIGESTIVE DISORDERS of all kinds are, of course, induced by various dietetic indiscretions, such as using indigestible foodstuffs, inharmonious mixtures of even good food, overeating, eating without hunger, eating when exhausted by work or nerve strain, improper mastication, and irregularity of meals. These are the principal causes of gastritis, and stomach and intestinal ulcers, and the many digestive disturbances included under the name of "indigestion." Every one understands this to be true, as the discomfort after a meal gives an immediate clue to the cause of the trouble. It even seems that nature is kind to the one whose digestive system is easily upset, as the cause is so apparent, which is often not true in other disorders also really produced by the same errors in diet but which are not so easily traced to the same origin by one whose knowledge of physiological chemistry is not sufficient to understand this fact.

ECZEMA and PSORIASIS are skin disorders actually produced by hyperacidity of the stomach, due to improper food combinations. No lotion or salve can reach far enough to eliminate the unquestionable digestive reasons for these unsightly and persistent eruptions.

EPILEPSY is a serious affliction occasioned by a toxemia generated in the colon by the decomposition and excessive fermentation of food materials. It disappears as soon as this morbid contamination of poisons is eliminated.

Questions and Answers.

QUESTION: Subscriber writes: "My child was given toxin anti-toxin a year ago. Do you advise having the test given the child to prove if he is immune from diphtheria?"

Answer: The test you refer to has a very doubtful value, and many of those who formerly advocated it have discontinued its use. Keep your child clean inside and out, and you need have no fear of his developing diphtheria.

Question: Mrs. McL: asks, "Does Junket with a quart of milk (which makes a custard of a real thick consistency) make a good food used as a dessert?"

Answer: Junket is a good food an makes a good protein to be used in place of meat, fish or fowl. If used as a dessert, only a very small amount should be eaten.

Question: Miss C. W. E. writes: "Why is it that when I am full and eat at intervals I feel fine and can work hard, but the minute I am the least bit hungry I have a dizzy feeling or light headedness?"

Answer: The hunger you complain of is due to gastritis and over-acidity of your stomach. You should stop eating, and drink only water for a few days, and the dizzy feeling and headaches will disappear. If you will then adopt a sensible diet you will not have any return of your trouble.

The Musterole Co. of Canada, Ltd. Montreal

MUSTEROLE WILL NOT BLISTER

Better than a mustard plaster

GRANDMOTHER KNEW

there was nothing so good for congestion and colds as mustard. But the old fashioned mustard plaster burned and blistered.

Musterole gives the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Gently rub it in. See how quickly the pain disappears.

Try Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Not Like Medicine

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine. Perfected by the famous Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle.

FROZEN SAUCE

Frozen cranberry sauce is a delightful novelty. Make a regular cranberry ice, but be sure it is sweet enough as freezing needs more sugar.

DRESSED WATERCRESS

Watercress, served with French dressing made tart with lemon and sprinkled with Rocquefort cheese, makes a fine salad.

CAMPBELLFORD LOSES PLAYER AND FIRST GAME

Horkins Declared Ineligible and Game in Tweed Ordered Replayed.

AN O.H.A. PLAYER.

Heated Debate Ensues at Meeting of Trent Valley League Executive.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 11. — We consider Campbellford has broken the rules of the Trent Valley League by playing Horkins, and consider the player's certificate cancelled for the season. The game ordered to be re played in Tweed at a date agreed on by both teams, or in case of dispute, by president.

Referee, advertising and Campbellford's legitimate expenses to be taken out of gate, also rink's share and then divided 50-50 between the teams.

Campbellford's protest cheque to be returned to them.

This was the decision of C. R. Turley, Frankford; E. Luery, Stirling, and Thomas H. Rupert, Madoc, in the protest of Tweed against Campbellford, and although this was the official and final decision, Mr. Beatty of Campbellford reminded the executive at its meeting yesterday that Campbellford would automatically withdraw from the league. Although this was but an oral statement, it was made before witnesses and would be confirmed. He also called to their attention the fact that the entire protest was out of order since the notice in writing had not been received inside the forty-eight hours allowed.

This, however, made no difference to the decision of the representatives from Campbellford. Although offers of a very sporting character were made unofficially, but none the less sincerely, the Campbellford delegation left Stirling, firmly resolved to remain out of the league. At a late hour last night there was no indication of a change of these intentions. By their action they lose the proceeds from four league fixtures which would ordinarily have been played here on the league schedule, but the members of the Campbellford executive have already planned other games which they think possible to arrange and which will be, they believe, of sufficient interest to draw large crowds. The opening game at the new arena was staged for next Monday night, and the hockey officials wish it understood that there will be a game if the weather permits good ice conditions which will be well worth seeing.

STIRLING, Jan. 11.—The protest was lodged by Tweed, which claimed that Horkins was an O.H.A. player.

In defence, a deputation from Campbellford appeared at the meeting of the executive of the Trent Valley Hockey League in Stirling yesterday afternoon at three o'clock. Owing to the illness of his wife, Mr. Nugent, president of the league, was unable to attend, and Mr. Whitty, vice-president, occupied the chair. There were official representatives from Tweed, Campbellford, Frankford, Stirling and Madoc, the towns represented in the League.

In answer to the question as to whether Horkins had signed and played with a Toronto team, Beatty did not make any denial, and an argument followed regarding the rules of the league. It was claimed that these consisted of the O.H.A. rules with certain exceptions regarding the residence rule, travelling expenses of players and officials, and the fee for the referee. Cook from Campbellford asked that the minutes of the organization meeting be read and an official read from a newspaper clipping. Cook pointed out that there was nothing in this about O.H.A. rules and claimed that Horkins asked permission to play in Toronto if the opportunity afforded. According to his interpretation of the rules, there was nothing to stop him from doing so, and permission was given.

Whitty claimed that the rules had been discussed and understood at the organization meeting. No one, he claimed, thought Campbellford was trying to put anything over the league. Beatty of Tweed, admitted that he had been of that opinion when he first heard of the matter, but admitted that it was just hearsay till he confirmed the gossip by telephone and interviews with persons who were in positions to know.

Horkins was then given a hearing. He stated that he was paying fees to Osgoode Hall, Toronto, with the intention of entering a course there, but he was required to have a certain High School standing which he did not have. For that reason he had returned to Campbellford to take one subject at the High school there. As proof of this, he submitted a letter from Principal E. H. Greig, Mayor Kingston and Chief of Police Light. His unsolicited, boyish statement that his father had assured the Campbellford executive that he would be in town for the entire season, brought smiles from the executive. Perhaps they knew the accused player's desire to roam at will.

Regarding the Toronto affair, he said he had left town with the consent of the Campbellford manager and had visited his brother in that city. If he had broken any rules he had done so unwittingly and referred the matter to higher authorities for confirmation. His use of the term "outlaw" did not help his case any. The executive did not understand that he merely meant a league not in the O.H.A., and to which this association invariably refers to as outlaw for that reason, not for any desire to offend. He also stated that he was receiving no money for playing hockey, was strictly amateur. This remark annoyed Mr. Whitty, who said Horkins would have to explain what he had apparently inferred before the evidence he had just given could even be considered. Mr. Cook pleaded that Horkins had meant no offence, and asked tolerance on account of his hot head and immature years, but Mr. Whitty would not be satisfied. He wanted to know what inference Horkins had meant when he mentioned money. The player replied that he had reference to quite another league entirely and with which the Trent Valley was not even remotely associated.

Further discussion followed in which it developed that the O.H.A. rules had not been available at the date the game was played. They had, however, been on order through a local dealer. Beatty from Tweed asked if Holmes, of Campbellford, were on the executive there and was told that he was. He then told of a telephone conversation he had had with Holmes in which he had been accused of being a poor loser and not able to take a licking. This Beatty very much resented. Cook assured Beatty that Holmes had not the least right to do such a thing and the matter would be taken up in Campbellford. He did not think there was any such feeling in Campbellford, and believed the exact opposite to be the case. He further stated that Campbelford wished to continue in the league as originally intended.

Whitty thought the vote ought to be taken, but Davidson, owner of the Campbelford rink, was given the opportunity to speak. He expressed his regret at the action Holmes had taken but thought it due to a hot head where sports were concerned, and hoped that no serious offence would be taken. As the owner of the rink he was backing the team in the Trent Valley League. He claimed that Campbellford was not trying to put anything over the executive. As evidence, he submitted that Horkins had played ball for Camupbellford all during the last season. He hoped, he said, that they would consider the defense favourably.

At this point, all representatives were asked to withdraw save those from Stirling, Frankford and Madoc. Even the press was not allowed to remain during the voting. In half an hour the matter had been decided and the doors were again opened. Hot argument followed over the point of the time when a name of any O.H.A. player should be submitted. Cook defied anyone present to show him in the league rules where there was any time mentioned, but thought that since the ballot had been taken and the verdict prepared, there was nothing to be gained by further argument, but Turley of Frankford, managed to air his views of the matter and the points to which the debate finally settled on were evidence and supposition. Whitty claimed he did not believe what Horkins had stated in his evidence.

21ST BATTALION

Peace," by W. Hutchins Callcott. Mrs. Logan, the church organist, presided at the piano.

Mayor Roland Denne

Mayor Denne confined his remarks to a few minutes, in which he extended the city's greetings to General Hughes, Col. Pense, and all those who had come to the city for the annual reunion of the battalion club. He regretted that this was not the time of year when the city looks its best, "but we have the fairest city in Canada, and I'd like to show it to you at some future date," he added, addressing the General.

Mentions War Memorial

Mayor Denne also spoke of the proposed war memorial to be erected by the city in honor of the boys of Peterborough who fell overseas. "We cannot do too much to memorialize them. Between four and five hundred of our boys made the great sacrifice, and though we may have seemed slow in honoring their memory, we will have one of the most beautiful memorials to be found anywhere. Word has been received by the memorial committee that the bronze statue would be here by April 1st, and already the contracts for the granite and foundation have been let. We will have a memorial that you will be proud of," said he, in conclusion.

The unveiling of the memorial tablet was the next phase of the service and a most beautiful and impressive one it proved. Col. Pense briefly introduced General Hughes who, terminated a short flow of oratory by the actual unveiling.

Then he continued: "Though it is not, perhaps the duty of the unveiler to go beyond that service, I, as an old member of the 21st, could not let this opportunity pass without making some reference to the old battalion. It was mobilized in November, 1914, at Kingston, and fifteen units, from the Governor-General's Footguards down to units from the counties of Eastern Ontario brought its force up to 1,483 men.

"Though these units had been trained before arrival in Kingston, it was now necessary to train them as a single unit and schools were established for this purpose. May I say that from those early days onward, there has been no unit that has shown a finer esprit de corps, and today such men as the members of the 21st are the men who are keeping up the spirit of the Dominion and of the British Empire.

"On this occasion we have gathered to do honor to the comrades who will never return. I knew them, commanded them, and shared their confidence, and we were as one big happy family. Yet we were one of the best disciplined units that ever went overseas, and that same love the men bore their battalion is the love that has brought so many of the old soldiers here tonight. Over there, they made a glorious record; they never failed to get what they went after and never gave a foot of ground that they took. They stood shoulder to shoulder as they stand today."

The speaker concluded by expressing a desire to return to Peterborough when the city's war memorial is unveiled for it, too, will be a tribute to the boys of the 21st, as well as to the other glorious lads who fell on the battlefield.

Dedication of Plaque.

Chairman Pense, in carrying out the program, took great pleasure in introducing the battalion chaplain, Major W. E. Kidd, M.C., who had come to the men in 1914, and stayed with them. No one could be more welcome at a 21st gathering than Rev. Kidd.

The beloved clergyman, addressing the gathering, said: I wish to extend my heartiest congratulations to all who have contributed and worked for this memorial and to the 21st battalion club for initiating such a splendid thing. What they have done will extend into the future with an emphasis greater than at the present time.

We are here to bear record of what has been done. We know that when our beloved Dominion has taken her place that she is destined to take, in the future, it will be founded on such contributions as those made by the men whom we honor here tonight.

Chaplain Kidd closed his address with the dedicatory prayer followed by The Lord's Prayer and a choir anthem, "Give Peace in Our Time, O Lord," by Callcott.

Then, sweeping back upon the assembly all the memory of war time days and nights came the setting for the "Last Post." The great building where those glorious lads had learned the arts of war was plunged into utter darkness—a rifle shot, then another—and yet another—silence—and from somewhere in the west balcony there drifted down the few bars of sound that constitute the soldier's last farewell—"The Last Post." They did not immediately stir but rather, the mothers, fathers, relatives and comrades of the departed ones, in the assembly, stood there in the darkness during two minutes of silence until, from that balcony there came again the bugler's call; this time sounding "The Reveille."

It was followed by the singing of "Nearer My God to Thee."

Judge Huycke

Introduced as "the friend of the 21st, Judge Huycke in his opening remarks, emphasized the significance of this occasion when all had gathered to honor the fallen heroes of the Great War. Said he: "It would appear to me this ceremony should not end here, this evening. it has been strikingly touching from beginning to end. We have with us tonight, General Hughes, the man who mobilized the 21st and took it overseas; we have Col. Pense, who succeeded him and brought the remnants of that splendid unit back home again. And we have with us a third figure of those days—the chaplain, Major Kidd. All three are part and parcel of the 21st. They have told you of the members of the unit who live and of the members who have died. The men have done well to honor their fallen comrades as they have here, tonight. Many of the men who were unable to come are thinking of us. their hearts are with us and, as this memorial was being dedicated, do we not believe that the spirits of the men who are gone, were also with with us?

It has been said that the world will never approach lasting peace until men and women take the name of Christ and follow His example. Those eight hundred men of the 21st who gave their lives—they became Christ's, they gave their lives to save all that was worth saving for mankind, and I envy you men here tonight who have associated with those who died that we might live. Old men dream and young men see visions. Our lives are influenced not only by hopes for the future but by associations of the past. A great heritage of recollection is yours and I envy you who have mingled with those who are numbered among the eight hundred. Judge Huycke concluded with a quotation of verse.

Chairman Pense

Comrade H. E. Pense spoke of the beautiful touch which the speaker had given to the ceremony and gracefully acknowledged the complimentary things that had been said. "However" he said "We are a very humble people; we tried to do our duty as best we could. On behalf of all who are present from outside points I congratulate the battalion club of Peterborough on the splendid arrangement and carrying through of this memorial service."

The chairman also spoke of the choir and bands present, and called upon the Canadian Machine Gun Corps Band for a number, "Lord Lovat's Lament."

The Beendiction by Rev. Kidd, and the National Anthem brought to a close one of the most unique services ever held in the Peterborough Armories.

What Your Want In the WANT ADS

Chest Colds

The obvious answer to the ordinary cold on the chest is warmth on the chest and in the chest. Thermogene! If you can't go to bed, you can put your chest to bed. With a layer of Thermogene snugly placed next to the skin you can go about your business and send the cold about its business at the same time. That comforting protection will keep watch and ward over your chest every moment of a winter's day.

Glowing, comforting, healing all the time, Thermogene is nurse and doctor too. No one knows it is there but yourself, and by the time you get home you probably won't know the cold is there either. Then, when its healing warmth has done its work, Thermogene may be removed layer by layer—safely and comfortably.

WEEK OF PRAYER HELD AT MILLBROOK

Rev. F. H. Howard is in Charge of Services in United Church.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 11.—The annual "week of prayer" was observed in the United Church each evening from January 3 to 6 inclusive, the pastor, Rev. F. H. Howard, being in charge.

The subject of study was the Holy Spirit, His purposes, gifts and graces, and finally specific Biblical instances of His work and offices on different occasions, and with varying individuals, or groups of people. Mention was made also of occasions when the Holy Spirit was 'grieved,' and the ultimate outcome.

"The Holy Spirit is Himself the Christian's best friend—this is what Paraclete, Comforter, means. He brings to us our Elder Brother, the Lord Jesus, and keeps him visible to the inner eye of the soul. A close, personal companion the Holy Spirit is intended to be, a companion and helper to every one who believes. Of old, He came here and there, sporadically and occasionally, but since Pentecost and the finished work of Christ, He comes to abide forever, and to find His place in the heart of every humble, trusting child of God. "Repent and be baptized, every one of you, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost."

"Now the gift of gifts is the Holy Spirit, for Christ is the gift of God, and the Holy Spirit is the gift of Christ, and as God so loved the world that He gave His only-begotten Son, so Christ so loved His own that He gave them His Spirit to abide with them forever. It is Jesus Himself who says to you, at the trysting-place, and keeps graciously saying it, "Receive ye the Holy Spirit'."

The topics were of a most helpful character, and the hymns, thrown on the screen, had a direct bearing on the themes of prayer, inspiration, and Christian living. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper at morning worship on Sunday, January 8, was a fitting conclusion to the week's services.

District Churches

ST. PAUL'S, MARMORA

MARMORA, Jan. 11.—Special music echoing the gladness of the Christmas season was heard at St. Paul's on Sunday morning. Never was its excellent choir heard to better effect than in its rendering of Roland Smart's anthem, "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," with Mrs W. R. Litt at the organ. Mr. R. Hunter and Mrs. F. S. Pearce as soloists, a good male quartette, and further, a well-trained chorus, the grandeur of the music was such as would leave a memory for many a day with the large congregation present. As a special subject for the occasion the rector chose "Acquaintance with God," taking for his text Job 22:21. Having stated that Nature reveals God and that He is also made known to the soul, the preacher led his hearers to think of the more definite means of knowing God. "God," he said, "may be known through His Word wherein it is shown to us that He is the Creator of all, and Ruler or Administrator of the whole universe. We know Him also thereby to be our Preserver—we may further know God by His spirit. He who has the Holy Ghost knows God. The Holy Ghost—is it not the mind of God? Therefore, if we have the Holy Ghost, we have God and know Him. Again, another means of knowing God is through the power of prayer. The Holy Ghost is a promised gift. How do I ask for that gift if not in prayer? Constant approach to God through Christ will produce closest intimacy with Him. We may acquaint ourselves with God through constant study of God's problems. He is made known to His people by His acts as well as by what He says. We become acquainted with God when we pay close attention to the providential acts in our own lives and in the lives of others. When should we have acquaintance with God? Now. "Acquaint thyself now," said the speaker of the book of Job. For spiritual attainments, now is the best time. Now is the accepted time and not tomorrow. The present is the only time of which we can be certain, so let us now acquaint ourselves with Him and be at peace. Godliness is profitable in all things, in the life that now is as well as in the life to come. If worthy of God's friendship, eternal goodwill come to all.

LEAGUE MEMBERS HAVE NEW CONTEST

Teams at Zion Will Be Named For Cars This Year.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Jan. 11.—Thirty-six League members started the New Year right by attending the first meeting in 1928 on Thursday evening. The order of service was changed somewhat with the whole first period given over to the devotional section of the program. Rev. Mr. Daniel gave a very helpful and instructive devotional talk from the Scripture passages, Luke 9: 57-62 and Mark 10:17-22. The topic, "Counting the cost" was ably taken by the devotional convener, Thomas Fry. The greater part of the meeting was given over to the re-organizing of the contest for 1928. This year for six months at least the four groups will engage in an auto race, which should prove quite exciting without any element of danger as the cars will race only on a cardboard chart. The cars chosen were all popular light models, familiar to everyone. Thomas Fry, devotional convener, leads the group, who are backing the Chevrolet; Earl Fairman, missionary convener will pilot a Star in the race for first place; George Brunton, citizenship convener, pins his faith to the Whippet as the model most likely to win, while Miss Gladys Simpson and her group of social and recreational workers will spin down the rocky path to victory in the latest of new Fords.

Each leader is to secure a picture of the particular make of car chosen and these are to be placed on a chart which will be blocked off to show the progress of the race from week to week. Misses Bessie Micklejohn and Laura Watson are appointed to keep the chart in order. Points are to be awarded as formerly on both league and church attendance while additional points will be given for programs put on by the various groups. Fred Barnum, Mrs. Harry Barnum and Lindsay Anderson are a committee to prepare a standard program to be used as a basis in awarding points.

As the pastor, Rev. C. D. Daniel will be conducting the Cobourg Winter School all week, and over Sunday, the next League service is moved forward to the Sunday evening to take the place of the regular church service. Earl Fairman, missionary convener, will be in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barnum on Friday evening entertained the members of their Sunday school classes at their home on the town line. The 'teen age girls and boys were out in full force and enjoyed every minute of the good time provided by their popular teachers.

On the same evening Mrs. Lorne Barnum was hostess to her Sunday school group of young people just out of the 'teen age, and here, too, a most enjoyable evening was spent.

This interest taken by the teachers in the social life of their pupils does much to promote the success of the church life.

The skaters of this locality enjoyed several nights' fun last week, when large sheets of ice, following the New Year deluge and perfect moonlight provided an ideal setting for the finest of all Canadian outdoor sports.

JEWEL PRESENTED.

Tunney Heads Rickard's Selection of Rank And File

IZZY SCHWARTZ RANKED AHEAD OF BELANGER

Fight Promoter Lines Up Pugilists in Order of Merit.

GOLDSTEIN GAINS HIGH.

Delaney Ranked Seventh, Dorval, Renault, Eleventh and Twelfth Among Big Fellows.

NEW YORK, N.Y., January 11 (Canadian Press). — For the fourth successive year, Tex Rickard yesterday lined up the rank and file of pugilists for "The Ring," a boxing publication, and at the head of the parade sat Gene Tunney who just recently declared war on the promoter.

Corporal Izzy Schwartz, of New York, recognized only by the New York State Athletic Commission as world's flyweight champion, is ranked ahead of Frenchy Belanger, Toronto, who won the National Boxing Commission's tournament to determine the successor to Fidel la Barba, who retired from the ring.

Ruby Goldstein gains top position over Mushy Callahan, hailed as the champion of the 140 pound class. Otherwise all recognized champions lead their classes.

Jack Delaney, French-Canadian heavyweight, is ranked seventh, and Jack Dorval and Jack Renault, both Canadian heavyweights, eleventh and twelfth respectively, among the big fellows.

Kid Roy, of Montreal, is placed twelfth and last in the junior lightweight division, Vic Foley of Vancouver ninth in the bantamweight division, and Alex. Burlie, of Toronto, thirteenth and last in the flyweight division.

In all but the heavyweight class, the promoter split the divisions into two groups, only the first of which were ranked numerically. Among the ponderous battlers, Rickard set Tunney first, Jack Dempsey second, and Jack Sharkey third before dividing the remainder of the heavyweights into two groups.

Rickard deplored the lack of outstanding foreign contenders in a copyrighted article accompanying the selections, but declared there were "happy compensations—new records, healthy conditions, splendid champions, and a rosy future." He declared Gene Tunney the 'big sensation of last year, as he was the shining light of 1926."

Rickard paid a tribute to Dempsey as a fighter "who still rates a strong number 2 among the heavyweights of the world," although he won the title from Jess Willard "back in 1919 and has been fighting them all."

In the lightest three divisions, where title possession has been the subject of controversy since the recognized champions voluntarily relinquished their purple robes, Rickard ranked Tony Canzoneri at the head of the featherweights and Bud Taylor at the top of the bantamweight division.

Basing his judgment entirely on performances during the past year, Rickard placed the late Tiger Flowers just back of Mickey Walker, the middleweight champion. Sergeant Sammy Baker gained the edge over Ace Hudkins for second place in the welterweight standing behind Joe Dundee, the titleholder.

The rankings in the heavyweight division are:

Group 1—

1. Gene Tunney, New York.
2. Jack Dempsey, Los Angeles.
3. Jack Sharkey, Boston.

Group 2—

Tom Heeney, New Zealand; Johnny Risko, Cleveland; Paulino Uzcudun, Spain; Jack Delaney, Bridgeport; Vitorio Campolo, Argentine.

Group 3—

George Godfrey, Philadelphia; Knute Hansen, Racine, Wis.; Jack Dorval, Canada; Jack Renault, Canada; Arthur de Kuh, New York; Phil Scott, England; George Cook, Australia.

WOULD REOPEN CASE AGAINST J. F. GRIVEN

Fined $1,530 For Various Charges at Dallas Convention.

CHICAGO, Ills., Jan. 11 (Canadian Press).—The board of directors of the minor leagues waded through a sheaf of complaints and disputes yesterday, and finally voted to reopen the case against J. F. Griner, president of the Jacksonville club of the Florida State League. At the Dallas convention last month, Griner was fined a total of $1,530 for various charges in connection with the interleague series last fall between Jacksonville and Greenville.

He was charged among other things with tying up the gate receipts, permitting gambling on the games and insubordination toward the board in charge of the series. The Dallas convention found him guilty. To-day Griner presented numerous affidavits and records in his defence, and Commissioner Landis dropped in on the sessions long enough to give Griner a vigorous lecture on baseball ethics.

Another hearing will be given Griner on the charges at some future date, the directors indicated.

Ty Tyson, former Giant outfielder, was granted a claim of $483 against the Buffalo Internationals, and the Dallas club of the Texas League was notified to turn back to Vicksburg players Allen or Wood or else pay the other $1,000 of their purchase price.

The Des Moines club of the Western League was refused an extension of its loan by the minor association, which demanded payment of the $3,000 balance at once. The Des Moines club had already paid back $1,000, and owes $3,000 more.

COLLEGES CLASH THURSDAY NIGHT

Old Time Rivalry Between McGill and Toronto Varsity Will be Renewed.

MONTREAL, Quebec Jan. 11. Canadian Press —Amid blare of rooters' band and rooters' cheers, the old-time rivalry that has marked intercollegiate clashes between the two colleges will be renewed Thursday night when McGill and University of Toronto open the intercollegiate hockey season at the forum. For twelve years the blue has held the title but following the showing of McGill in their American tour, hopes are high that 1928 will be McGill's year in hockey.

McGill, on the strength of their successes across the border, are favored to beat the blue to-morrow night —Varsity fell before Harvard 4 to 2 during the holidays, and a week after McGill were able to beat the crimson 3-4.

The probable line up follows:

Varsity	Position.	McGill.
Snyder	goal	Poyer
Kirkpatrick	defence	McTeer
Whitehead	defence	Smith
Stewart	centre	St. Germain
Harley	wing	Doherty
Richards	wing	Robertson
Carrick	sub	Kritzwiser
McMullen	sub	McGerrible
Crosby	sub	Farquharson

WILCY MOORE HEADS HURLERS

Yankee Player Most Effective Pitcher in the American League.

PITCHED 213 INNINGS

NEW YORK, N.Y., Jan. 11 (Canadian Press)—The most effective pitcher in the American League for the 1927 season, according to official statistics released yesterday, was Wilcy Moore of the New York Yankees, though his work for the year consisted chiefly in relieving mates in distress. He was in 50 ball games during the season, though he pitched only six complete games. However, he pitched 215 innings all told and held opponents to 2.28 runs per nine innings. The records gave him credit for winning 19 games and charged him with the loss of seven.

Waite Hoyt of the same team was second in effectiveness, having allowed 2.64 runs per nine innings, while Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox and Urban Shocker of the Yankees were tied for third, each having allowed 2.84 runs per nine innings.

Hoyt pitched 256 innings though he was in only 36 games. He was credited with winning 22 and charged with the loss of seven. Lyons pitched 308 innings, being tied with his mate, Al. Thomas, for the league in that respect. Lyons was credited with 22 victories and charged with 14 defeats. Shocker pitched 200 innings and had a record of 18 victories and 6 defeats.

Lefty Grove of the Athletics was the strikeout king of the year, having fanned 174 batters in the 262 innings he pitched. However, he allowed 3.20 runs per nine innings. Earl Whitehill of Detroit was the wildest hurler of them all, giving 125 bases on balls in the 236 innings he pitched. Braxton, the Washington southpaw, though he did not pitch one complete game, was in more games than any pitcher in the league when he appeared in 59 contests. All told, he pitched only 156 innings.

BRITISH BOXERS HANDICAPPED

Because of Differences of Ring Regulations in America, Says Promoter.

FAVORS ONE REFEREE

NEW YORK, N. Y., Jan. 11.—British boxers are at a disadvantage when they come to the United States because of differences in ring regulations, according to Bernard Mortimer, known as "The Tex Rickard of England." Mortimer is here for the Tom Heeney-Jack Sharkey fight.

"It seems to me that too much holding is allowed here with punching with one hand in the clinch," the British promoter said. "Over where I come from, the fighter is permitted to punch on the break and as a result he manoeuvres for the break.

"In the United States, if a boxer gets himself in an awkward position, under the ropes or with his back turned to a punch, the referee steps in and halts the contest until he is out of difficulty. Our men have to defend themselves at all times, without the help of the referee."

Mortimer declared he favored the one referee as an official at a fight as prevails in England in preference to the judges and referee in this country. Conflicting opinions by judges caused confusion, he said. Mortimer pointed out that the difference in climate also served to handicap British boxers.

COLLINS WINS GILLOTT CUP

Competition Begun Last Year Ends at Millbrook—Doubles Draw Made.

TANKARD RINKS CHOSEN.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 10.—The Curling Club held a business meeting at the rink on Friday evening, with a good attendance of members, and President F. P. Stinson in the chair.

The presentation of the Gillott Cup to T. Howard Collins, winner of the series of thirteen point games, was the main feature of the gathering. The donorof the trophy, W. J. E. Gillott, made a brief address and presented Mr. Collins, who is secretary of the curling club this season, with the handsome silver cup. The series of games was not concluded last winter owing to lack of ice, but the remainder of the schedule was run off this season, and finished on Thursday night, 'in the wee sma' hours of the morning,' when T. H. Collins defeated W. E. Ball in the final contest.

The draw for the Scotch doubles' competition for the Waddell Cup was made, and Messrs. J. N. McGill and J. E. Allen appointed skips of the rinks entering the district cup series. Messrs. W. T. Wood and J. Steele were listed as tankard skips.

On motion, and in appreciation of Mr. Gillott's generosity and interest in presenting the club with a cup for competition, his name was placed on the honorary roll of the organization. The cup will be competed for on a thirteen point basis again this season.

President Stinson was authorized to write the Cobourg Club inviting a rink for a friendly game on local ice when the weather is such that the rink is again in use.

Brief speeches were made by one or two of the veteran skips, the officers, and others before the meeting closed.

SPORT BITS

Gene Tunney has been reclining for a time in the Florida sands. There are lots of other people there, too, says O'Goofty, but they don't count.

• • •

Meantime Tex Rickard's well-oiled elimination tournament is getting under way. You have to be an artist to get into one of these tournaments; that is, you have to be able to draw pretty well.

• • •

Risko, having eliminated Paulino once, is kindly asked to eliminate him again. Suppose Mr. Risko should get huffy and say "I do not choose to re-eliminate Mr. Uscudun"?

It begins to look as if they are trying to give Mr. Risko not only a pair of boxing gloves but the mitten as well.

The schedule of games in the local competition for the W. J. E. Gillott Cup, on a thirteen point basis, which was not completed last season owing to unfavorable weather and consequent lack of ice, has been finished during the last two or three weeks, the final game between T. H. Collins and W. E. Ball taking place on Thursday evening, the former winning. The trophy will be competed for on a similar basis this season, the games to start in the immediate future.

The challenge game, between the 'municipal' rink, skipped by Reeve W. T. Wood, and one chosen from the local club and skipped by R. H. Edmunds, was played on Thursday evening, with the 'city fathers' coming off victors. The rinks were—

F. P. Stinson,
L. C. Russell,
G. W. Sayles,
W. T. Wood, skip—13 points.

W. O'Brien,
T. H. Collins,
W. E. Ball,
R. H. Edmunds, skip—10 points.

The losers had to put up the oysters, and Mrs. W. T. Thorne catered to the players when adjournment was made to her lunch rooms after the game.

The management committee for this season is: P. Stinson, Dr. N. H. Young, W. E. Ball, Jos. Lancashire and T. H. Collins (secretary).

LAKEFIELD WINS FROM VISITORS

Defeat Havelock Intermediates 5-3 in First Game Played at Home.

CLEAN HOCKEY.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 11. — Playing one of the fastest and cleanest games seen in this district for some time, Lakefield defeated Havelock Intermediates 5-3 in the first O.H.A. fixture played at the local arena.

With ice soft and going heavy both teams played airtight hockey. Good combination and defense work combined with star playing of C. Brennan, Havelock, left defence man, provided thrills aplenty for hockey fans that thronged the arena.

Play in the first period was centred mainly around Havelock goal, and 15 minutes after the start Blewitt scored for Lakefield, while at the end of the frame Hooper tallied for Havelock, tieing the count 1-1. There were two minor penalties.

Ratheell scored first in the second period for Havelock, four minutes after play began, Stabler then tied the count for Lakefield by sinking a counter with Louie Sabatino following this with up with another tally before the period ended. In this frame the boys lost many opportunities to score by inaccurate shooting.

Stabler again scored for the local team after seven minutes play in the third period with Wannamaker following up the count some ten minutes later. Both teams played good hockey in last period with no penalties tacked up against either side.

Intermediate Schedule.

Friday, Jan. 13:

THAW IS PLAYING HAVOC WITH HOCKEY

Many Games Postponed as a Result of the Soft Ice.

The mild weather continues to play havoc with the hockey schedules and as a result the Havelock-Bobcaygeon game, scheduled for Brock Street Rink tonight, the Whitby and Peterborough Junior game at Whitby and the St. John's-Lindsay Junior fixture at Lindsay have all been postponed. The Lindsay-St. John's game will be played next Monday night if weather conditions then are favorable. No dates have been set for the other games. The soft spell will make it a difficult matter for the Lake Shore Intermediate and Junior groups to complete the double schedule drawn up. Although the first section is not yet compleetd, there is already a number of postponed games that will clog up the schedule.

MEN HOLD SOCIAL AT GEORGE STREET

Spend Evening Playing Crokinole, Which Bert Allen Wins.

The men of George Street United Church enjoyed a social evening last night. The president, C. S. Thompson, presided. The meeting was opened by all singing "Blest be the tie that binds," Dr. Middleton leading in prayer. After a few remarks by the president, the men sat in on a crokinole game, which everyone enjoyed to the full, and when the battle was over Bert Allen was found to be the winner. Dr. Weldon was a close second. Consolation prizes went to Bert Manning and Paul Hagerman. Then came the sandwiches, cake, and coffee prepared by the men of the club, under the supervision of Chef Sam Oke.
The meeting came to a close about 10.30.

PRESTON STARS TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

One of the Outstanding Fixtures of Year Scheduled For Local Rink.

FROST IS NEEDED.

Fans Will See Team That is Favoured For Senior Championship.

If Jack Frost arrives in time Peterborough fans will see one of the best games of the year on Friday night when the Preston team will meet the Petes in a Senior O.H.A. fixture. This is the first visit of a Preston crew to Peterborough, and their appearance here will undoubtedly attract a big crowd, anxious to see Gunner Arnott, Skelly Talbot, Clark and other Preston stars in action. The Preston gang, who by the way knocked the Petes out of the S.P.A. series two years ago, are strong favorites for the Senior honors this year. They have an extra formidable defence with Schmaltz, one of the most brilliant goalers in the game, protected by Talbot and Skelly, two hard-checking and fast-rushing defence men. Arnott, who plays centre, has long ranked as one of the leading attackers in amateur hockey and he could long since have been in the pro rank if he had desired to make the leap.

It is hoped that the weatherman will send along some frost before Friday in order that this important game may be played under the best possible conditions.

LEAFS PULLED TO LAST PLACE

Americans Defeat Them 2-1 and Secure Company in Cellar.

CANADIENS WIN AGAIN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11. — The New York Americans dragged themselves out of the solitary depths of last place in the Canadian setcion of the National Hockey League last night by dragging the Toronto Maple Leafs down with them. Paradoxical as that may seem the Americans won a smartly played game at the Madison Square Garden rink and by so doing tied Toronto for fourth place, in points at least.

The count was 2 to 1 and Captain Billy Burch was almost the whole show for the Americans. Twice in the second period, taking passes from Alex. McKinnon, the spry forward, Burch counted for the Star Spangled team. The first was right in front of the net, and it was tied a few minutes later by Bill Carson, of the visitors, who drove around the Yankees' left wing and skidded the puck by Miller, the goalie of the home team. The second was a harder shot, passed back again by McKinnon, but Burch made it with three Leafs clustered around him, digging the disc from among their skates. That was the winning goal. The rest of the time the Leafs devoted to trying to catch up and they never did.

Canadiens 3, Ottawa 0.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 11.—Canadiens completed sixteen straight games without a loss by defeating the Ottawa Senators, 3 to 0 here last night. Previous to the game the Senators were the only team which the Canadiens had not beaten in their meteoric flight at the top of the Canadian section of the National Hockey League.

Thirteen thousand fans witnessed the Canadiens give one of their fastest displays of the season. The Ottawa team was seldom in the picture and only brilliant work on the part of Connell, the Ottawa goalie, kept the Flying French men from piling up a more commanding margin. Joliat, Morenz and Hart did the scoring, the first two coming in quick succession early in the second period. Hart counted in the third session.

Boston 3, Chicago 1.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 11. — The Boston Bruins moved into a first place tie with the Detroit Cougars in the American division of the National Hockey League by defeating the Chicago Black Hawks 3 to 1 here last night. Frank Frederickson, Oliver and Connor scored the Bruins' goals, and Wasnie, spare right of the Black Hawks, achieved Chicago's single point.

DETROIT BEAT RAVINAS.

Olympias Come From Behind To Win in Home Rink.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 11.—Frank Foyston's Olympias, playing for the last time under the leader who has carried them so far through the schedule, stepped over the Toronto Ravinas last night into first place in the Canpro circuit by a 3 to 1 win. The contest was a crash-bang affair, filled with action from bell to bell, with penalties plentiful and lax moments rare. Foyston, who is to play for the Cougars against Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday night, performed in his farewell contest with the Canadian Leaguers and looked good throughout the battle.

The Ravina's, fresh from a victory the night previous against Windsor's cellar-ridden Hornets, opened a flashing attack at the start of the first session that kept Stuart busy circling from one side of his cage to the other. Patterson lost no time in giving his team an edge at the beginning when he took Lowrey's pass, lashed from back of the net, and slapped it behind Stuart before the spectators had settled down to witness a game.

JOLIAT LEADING LEAGUE SCORERS

Followed by Morenz in Race for N. H. L. Scoring Honors.

MONTREAL, Jan. 11. — Canadian Press. — Howie Morenz and Aurel Joliat, stars of the Canadien forward line, are fighting it out for scoring honors in the National hockey league with George Hay, the left winger of the Detroit Cougars now in contention.

Joliat's lead has been appreciably cut in the past week by Morenz who took a big forward jump with three goals and an assist in the 9-1 win scored by Canadiens over Toronto last Saturday. Joliat heads the league scorers with a total of 17 goals and 5 assists for 22 points. Morenz is second with 14 goals and 7 assists for 21 points, and George Hay, who heads the U. S. scorers, is third in the league with 12 goals and 7 assists.

From there the points drop to 15, Dr. Bill Carson of Toronto, being the fourth with that many. There are several bunched with 14 points, including Gagne of Canadiens, Frank Boucher of Rangers, and Johnny Sheppard of Detroit.

Eddie Shore, rugged Boston, defence player, has assumed the role of the league's "bad" man with a total of 76 minutes in penalties. Ching Johnson who held the doubtful title being in second place, the Ranger defence player having 67 minutes chalked against him. These two are well ahead of other players in the league in the matter of time served on the penalty bench.

Such amazing evidence serves as convincing proof of the power of URATABS to relieve those distressing ailments so often a handicap to those in middle life.

Overwerked, sluggish Kidneys, Bladder Weakness and Prostrate Gland Trouble bring on so many distressing ailments which so often lead to serious diseases that every sufferer from Lameness, Pains in back and down through groins, scanty but frequent urination, "Getting-up-Nights", Nervous Irritability and Lack of Force—should try the amazing value of Dr. Southworth's URATABS at once! Any good druggist will supply you on a guarantee of satisfaction or money back.

AT THE GRAND, SATURD AY, MATINEE AND NIGHT.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

"ALADDIN" COMING WITH THE COMPLETE LONDON PRODUCTION

When the London pantomine "Aladdin" is presented here for the first time at the Grand Opera House on Saturday local theatregoers will see an Old Country show on Old Country lines, just as it is given to the public in every big town throughout England around Christmas-time. Pantomines are Christmas entertainments at the theatres all over England, and they are designed especially for the edification of children.

"Aladdin" is a sprightly and swiftly-moving diversion. The age-old nursery fable, built on the "Arabian Nights" entertainment, has been adapted to pantomime requirements, as is the case each year. Novelty and every conceivable kind of comedy diversion have been added, and with the very clever dancing and smartly-punctuated comedy that marks the dialogue, the show moves with a celerity that leaves no room for speculation.

Dave Lee, as the Widow Twankey, is the heart and soul of the show, and is ably seconded by his principal lieutenant, Fred Wolgast, who portrays a sinister and diabolical Oriental wizard. The principal boy, Bertha Russell, is a charmingly debonai figure, singing with spirit and speaking the lines of the role with delightful clarity.

Lillian Barnes, a typical pantomime figure, is always in the picture, and her physical fascination and delightful singing will be found irresistible. Molly Molteno, as the Spirit of the Lamp, is a striking figure in silver, and her song is the solo hit of the show. Florence Cameron, the Princess So-Shi, plays her party daintily and piquantly.

The role of the Widow Twankey's Cat is impersonated by Harry Gilmore whose skill in animal roles is remarkable. This is one of the most delightful features of the entire pantomime. The Four Wards, a quartette who combine clever singing with comedy and eccentric dancing, and the Lorenzi Brothers, whose burlesque boxing is another most amusing feature, all help to make the pantomime a successful and diversified entertainment. The scenic settings and the many changes in costumes, with lighting effects, complete a production of manifold qualities designed to move to wholehearted mirth.

AT THE CAPITOL.

RODEO STARS SEEN IN "GUN GOSPEL."

Pick of Western Horsemen Appear with Ken Maynard in New Picture.

The pick of the rodeo stars of the Western states can be seen in 'Gun Gospel,' Ken Maynard's latest First National picture, which is scheduled to be shown at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow

The story of "Gun Gospel' calls for several spectacular and sensational chases and to do this Charles R. Rogers, the producer and Harry J. Brown the director, secured some of the cleverest riders in the west to go with them on location to Lone Pine. The majority of these men are prize winners for trick riding, roping, steer bulldogging and other feats to be seen at Western rodeos. However, with Maynard, a winner of the national rodeo in Chicago, in competition with over two hundred men from the ranges of the United States it became almost a competitive question of horsemanship when the picture was being taken. That is until Maynard began a few of the special stunts, such as riding underneath a horse, and riding six horses. From then on the competition ceased.

'Gun Gospel' is an adaptation of W. D. Hoffman's novel of the same name. The spectacular and daring riding of Maynard, coupled with a strong story, has brought to the screen one of the best Western pictures seen in a great while.

The balance of the cast includes Virginia Browne Faire, Noah Young, Bob Flemming, Romaine Fielding, J. P. McGowan, Bill Dyer, Jerry Madden and Tarzan the horse.

Niagara the Glorious.

Niagara—one of Nature's greatest marvels—a mighty natural phenomenon that in awe-inspiring magnitude, over-whelming immensity and scenic grandeur, towers the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World, is indeed a spectacle from which the passage of time has not detracted.

It is three hundred centuries or more since the Falls of Niagara began their slow but titantic journey up-stream from the old shore line of Lake Ontario, and throughout the ages these tumbling torrents have run their rioting beauty and overpowering grandeur to a sublime and ever changing spectacle.

Countless thousands have viewed this relentless riot of falling waters, and doubtless throughout the centuries have listened to the mighty voice of the great cataract never to be stilled.

"Niagara—the Glorious" is the title of one of the series of the "Know your own Country" series of special films being presented by the Famous Players Canadian Corporation throughout their entire circuit of theatres from coast to coast. Photographically beautiful, this film subject depicts the wonders of Niagara, including splendid panoramic and close up views of the majestic Canadian falls, and almost fragile and delicate beauty of the American Falls, and Gorge, cut from the solid rock by time, the master sculptor the Whirlpool Rapids, and the unusual scenic splendours of their picturesque environs.

"Niagara—the Glorious" will be one of the special features of the splendid program at the Capitol Theatre commencing to-morrow.

AT THE REGENT.

SLOW DRIVING EVIL REVEALED BY MOVIE

America's army of potential jailbirds and law violators, numbering nearly half of the total population of the United States, will be joyful when it sees "See You in Jail," the comedy-drama now playing at the Regent.

The people who are breaking the law consistently are the motorists of the country, and it happens that they are right and the law wrong, for improvements in automombiles and their drivers have come faster than improvements in traffic legislation. Of course justice for the motorist is only a small part of the lively theme of "See You in Jail," which was produced by Ray Rockett for First National and directed by Joseph Henabery. Jack Mulhall heads the cast as feature player, and opposite him is Alice Day, comedy star, forming a new and particularly appealing romantic combination.

Crauford Kent, George Fawcett, Mack Swain, Burr McIntosh, Yola d'Avril and other noted troupers make up the rest of a large cast seen in the picture. The story deals with a young man who, sadly in need of a job, serves out the sentence given a millionaire for speeding, and then carries the impersonation to the length of organizing a corporation—and winning the millionaire's sister!

No moral teaching, sugar-coated or otherwise, stands out of the picture, but if one were to look for it a brief for saner, less antiquated traffic laws might be found—laws that take into account improvements of cars, the danger of going too slowly, and the traffic congestion. But you'll forget the preachment in sheer enjoyment of the hilarious comedy and thrill of "See You in Jail."

OFFICERS ELECTED.

S. Kemp Chief Ranger of Court Langton, 344, A. O. F.

At a special meeting of Court Langton, No. 344, Canadian Order of Foresters, held on Monday evening, January 9th, the following officers were elected for the year, 1928:

Chief Ranger, Bro. S. Kemp; Vice-Chief Ranger, Bro. W. J. Tranter; Financial Secretary-Treasurer, J. J. Hartley; Recording Secretary, M. Jamieson; Chaplain, Bro. A. Hope; Senior Woodward, Bro. H. Manley; Junior Woodward, Bro. Thomas Reynolds; Auditors, Bros. A. Hope and D. H. Kerneghan.

Y.W.C.A. BOARD HEARS REPORTS

Committees and Officials Report Good Work During Month.

IN ALL BRANCHES.

The regular meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association Board of Directors was held on Monday afternoon, with Mrs. E. E. Harvey presiding.

It was decided to hold a Valentine Tea and sale of Home-made Cooking, arrangements to be left to the Social committee.

Mrs. Kenner reported on the December meeting of the Local Council.

The Educational committee report outlined the work of the following classes: English Literature course taken by Prof. E. J. Pratt of Toronto University, the three lectures to be given in January, starting this Wednesday will be on Shakespeare's plays, Romeo and Juliet, and Hamlet, the basketry class, elocution, and junior cooking. New classes to be started this month are, ukulele, wood carving, home nursing and a second class in basketry.

The general secretary's report mentioned the various Christmas parties and entertainments enjoyed by members of the club and the special service given by the clubs in providing for others. The program of carols on Christmas eve around the lighted tree was a new feature this year and quite worth while. In the religious work department the Sunday evening sing-song will be continued, starting this Sunday and the Friendly Hour, the last Sunday of each month. A special study course, entitled, "We Would See Jesus," has been arranged, and all Y.M.C.A.'s and Y.W.C.A.'s over the world will unite in this study. A special class for this Bible study will be conducted as well as the regular clubs.

The physical director reported on the organization of the Ladies' Basketball League. The first games of the series will be played this Friday evening. The big junior Christmas party for 200 gymnasium pupils and guests was much appreciated. Santa Claus distributed gifts, donated by Senior and Junior members to all. Five other parties were held for the other classes.

A campaign for new gymnasium members will be conducted during January, and it is hoped many new pupils will become interested and through gymnasium activities find the way to Healthland. Each class is working hard to interest their friends to join and thus help their airplane cross first. A bulletin in the hall records the distance travelled by each class.

The resident superintendent reported for the residence department. Christmas and New Year's were happy days at the 'Y.' Refreshments were served around the fire on Christmas and New Year's eve and a jolly party enjoyed by all before the closing of the schools.

Miss Dickson closed the meeting and tea was then served.

F. SANDERSON ELECTED D. M.

Orangemen of District One Hold Annual Election of Officers.

ADDRESSES GIVEN.

District No. 1, L.O.L., West Peterborough, held a most successful meeting last night in the Lodge Hall, near May's School, there being an unusually large attendance of members from the various lodges that comprise the district. Though there was considerable other business transacted, the main work of the lodge was to elect new officers. Those who will handle the work of the lodge for the next terms are as follows:

W.D.M., F. Sanderson.
D.D.M., G. Land.
Chaplain, H. Welsh.
Financial Secretary, G. Lockington
Treasurer, F. Kitney.
Recording Secretary, F. Robson.
Marshal, A. Holden.
Assistant, R. Ritchie.

Brother R. Ritchie conducted the installation of officers in a most able manner; several brief but interesting addresses were given, and lunch was served, the National anthem bringing the evening to a close.

Several Bills Announced in King Gustav's Opening Address.

TRADITIONAL CEREMONY.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 11 (Canadian Press).—The traditional pomp and splendor surrounded the opening of the Swedish Parliament today, for which King Gustav's speech from the throne was written by the People's Party Premier, Carl Ekman, who was a blacksmith once.

The throne address said that Sweden was on friendly terms with all nations and announced a number of new bills. One of these bills restricts licenses for public dances in an effort to protect the morals of the young.

TREVOR MILLER ADDRESSES Y.P.L.

"Counting the Costs" is Subject of Talk at Mark Street Church.

The first regular meeting of the Young People's Society of the Mark Street United Church for 1928 was held on Monday evening in the basement of the church. The president, Victor Boorman, had charge of the meeting after which the vice-president, W. Throop conducted the program.

Piano solo, Miss Muriel Davis.
Vocal solo, Miss E. Maybee.
Violin solo, Kenneth Gadd, accompanied by Miss Marjory Gadd.
Address, Trevor Miller.
Subject, "Counting the Costs."
Vocal solo, Miss E. Maybee.

The remainder of the evening was spent in games.

At a previous meeting it was agreed that the Young People's Society contribute $100.00 to the building fund for the new church.

IN POLICE COURT

The charge against Henry Sussie for driving at a greater rate of speed than ten miles an hour across the intersection of Aylmer and Townsend Streets on Christmas Day was dismissed by Magistrate Langley this morning, after all the evidence had been heard. The Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for the accused, and Chief Constable Newhall conducted his own case.

Two cars collided on the afternoon of December 25th and as a result of the action Chief Newhall charged both drivers with speeding across the intersection. Alvin Tedford of Hamilton, who was driving the other car, sent in a plea of guilty to the charge against him, but His Worship remanded the case until next Wednesday.

Constable Thompson was the only witness called for the prosecution, and his evidence was the result of inquiries made after the accident happened, when the accused alleged he was travelling at 15 miles an hour. The witnesses for the accused claimed that he stopped his car before he crossed the intersection, and that the second car was travelling fast.

Mr. Sussie also pleaded not guilty to the charge of buying a second-hand car and failing to have the license transferred to his own name.

HEARING POSTPONED.

Woman Charged With Killing Her Child is Again Remanded.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 11 (Canadian Press).—The preliminary hearing of Mrs. Eleanor Howe charged with strangling her child, has been delayed eight days to allow inquest evidence to be transcribed.

ALPINE CHOIR GIVES CONCERT

Ladies of Salvation Army Contribute Enjoyable Program.

DRESSED AS SWISS.

An Alpine choir, in all probability the first of its kind to visit this city, was greeted by a crowded house at the Temple, Simcoe Street, on Monday evening, and rendered a fine program of music and song. Resplendent in the picturesque costume of that little dependency, Switzerland, and seated amidst the pine trees of an Alpine glade, with an effective lighting scheme, their appearance fully merited the enthusiastic reception given them. One dares not attempt describe their costumes, but only hopes that should they repeat their visit, a large crowd will see them for themselves.

A lengthy programme of music, song, and recitation was thoroughly enjoyed. The singing of the choir under the leadership of Miss Ethel Payton, A.C.A.M., was at times a revelation of the possibilities of an entire choir of female voices, for almost forty ladies comprised the Alpine visitors. Worthy of special mention in the program was the playing of the hand-bells by Mrs. R. C. Braund, a highly musical item very well rendered, while the hand-bell accompaniment to a vocal solo by Mrs. Mendel Braund provided the "high light" of the evening, the effective harmonies that voice and bells gave being heartily enjoyed. The occasion also marked the musical debut of Miss Ardath Richardson, the five-year-old daughter of Mrs. S. J. Richardson, A.T.C.M., as a pianist, who with her mother rendered a pleasing duet, and as an encore played a pretty solo rendered with all the ability of a future artist.

Humor of the evening was provided by Mrs. Lashbrook in her reading of the "Lament of a Wife," in which it was aptly illustrated that a wife was almost, or at least expected to be, everything, for it told that she was nurse, laundress, seamstress, cook, housemaid, chambermaid, washerwoman, till one was expecting to hear that she was indeed "the whole works," a really enjoyable item. The disadvantage of being an inventor's wife was told by Mrs. J. Halcrow, whose brainy husband seemed able to invent everything but the solution to work and the calamity resulting in his "alarm" bed failing to work was highly amusing.

It is impossible to mention all the items, but each number by the choir and individuals reflected considerable credit on the conductor and every member of the choir. To Mrs. Commandant Ham, who made an ideal mistress of ceremonies during the evening, goes the great credit for the organising and arrangement of the program, which, upon repetition, will undoubtedly draw the same crowd as was present last evening to enjoy the Alpine visitors.

The Program.

Opening song—"Come, Let Us Join Our Cheerful Songs."

High Speed—
Another step forward!

A GOOD proportion of long distance telephone connections are now established while you remain at the telephone.

This new high speed long distance service is almost as simple and speedy as local service.

Of course, it always makes for speed when you can give the long distance operator the number you wish to reach. In most cases she can then establish the connection at once, usually while you remain at the telephone.

If you do not know the distant number the operator will look it up for you. She invariably asks you to make a note of it for future calls. It is worth acting on her suggestion — it will insure quick connection the next time you call.

High speed Long Distance service is assured when you can give the distant number to the operator. We will be glad to make up for you a special directory of out-of-town numbers you frequently call.

"Every Bell Telephone is a Long Distance Station."

FAMOUS LOVE ROMANCES — POCAHONTAS AND CAPTAIN JOHN SMITH (III) — By Nicholas Afonsky

Powhatan listened to the pleading of his daughter that he spare the life of John Smith, and allowed him to go free. Thereafter the young girl became a fast friend of the whites. She often visited the settlement at Jamestown, bearing with her gifts of corn or venison to the improvident and hungering colonists.

One night she stole into Jamestown and sought Smith out to tell him that her father plotted to kill him. He thanked her and offered her some little trinkets, but she refused them, explaining that if her father saw them he would know where she had been. "And if he know," she said, tears running down her cheeks. "I am dead."

After Smith returned to England, Captain Argall, a piratical soldier-trader, decided to get Powhatan under his power by kidnapping Pocahontas. So he plotted with an old Indian and his squaw whom Pocahontas was visiting, and promised a copper kettle to them if they would get the girl aboard his ship.

According to plan, the squaw begged her husband to take her aboard the strange ship lying at anchor. Then she begged Pocahontas to keep her company. So the three boarded the ship, where they were entertained at supper. Then, with their precious copper kettle, the two old Indians stole ashore, leaving Pocahontas behind.

O.E.S. OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED

Sister Mary Logan is Matron—Retiring Officers Receive Jewels.

BANQUET FOLLOWS

The regular meeting of Peterborough Chapter No. 161, Order of Eastern Star, was held in the Canadian Legion Hall with a large attendance of members and visitors. After the routine business had been concluded the secretary, Miss Rose Sexsmith, and the treasurer, Mrs. F. Miller, gave their annual reports. These were received and adopted.

The retiring Worthy Matron, Mrs. J. McPhate, made a few remarks on the work of the Chapter during its initial year and thanked the officers and members for their assistance during her term of office.

Mrs. Mary Barlow, Past Worthy Matron of No. 55 O.E.S., Belleville, was asked to take charge of the installation of officers for the coming year. She was assisted by Bro. Barlow acting as Grand Patron, Mrs. Anna Boyd, Provincial Grand Marshal and Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, Belleville, Past District Deputy Grand Matron, who acted as chaplain.

The following officers were installed for the year 1928.

Worthy Matron—Sister Mary Logan.

Worthy Patron—Bro. George Cameron.

Assistant Matron—Sister Florence Moore.

Secretary—Sister Rose Sexsmith.

Treasurer—Alma Beavis.

Conductress—Sister Mary Squires.

Assistant Conductress—Sister Florence Mowry.

Chaplain—Sister E. Rowe.

Marshall—Sister Maye McLean.

Warden—Sister Jean Manley.

Pianist—Sister M. Greenslade.

Star Points—

Ada—Sister Flo Hill.

Ruth—Sister Sybil Kendall.

Esther—Sister Leota Fisher.

Martha — Sister Josephine Armstrong.

Electa—Sister M. Miller.

Sentinel—Bro. A. Mann.

Star Review Correspondent—Sister Florence Miller.

Convenor of Entertainment Committee—Sister Florence Hoover.

Convenor of Refreshment Committee—Sister S. Deyman.

After the new officers were installed and had taken their respective stations, the retiring head officers, Mrs. J. McPhate and Norman Lewis were presented with past Matron's and Past Patron's jewels, and each was presented with a ring bearing the emblem of the order, which is dear to them.

The installing officers were then presented by Sister Logan with small tokens showing the appreciation of the Chapter for their kindness in coming and putting on the beautiful installation ceremony.

Miss Rose Sexsmith, the secretary, who gives much of her time and services to the Chapter, was also remembered.

Before closing the Chapter, the members and their guests were invited to a banquet at the Paragon Hall, and after the Chapter was closed they were not long in making the journey over to the supper room. Here the hall was beautifully decorated and the long tables looked very attractive with their snowy linen and bright flowers. A sumptuous meal was provided by Coleman Brothers and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Mr. George Cameron acted as chairman and toastmaster and proposed a toast to 'Our Visitors.' This was responded to by Mr. Barlow of Belleville. The following interesting programme was given:

Instrumental solo — Miss Mildred Hetherington.

Vocal Solo—Miss Alma Beavis.

Accompanist, Mrs. Greenslade.

Vocal Solo—Mr. Harold Snelgrove.

Accompanist, Mrs. Greenslade.

Vocal Solo—Miss Jessie Hill. Accompanist, Miss Hetherington.

Mrs. Greenslade presided at the piano while those present joined hands and sang 'Auld Lang Syne.' All dispersed after singing the National Anthem.

ROGERS HORNSBY GOES TO BRAVES

Famous Player Traded By the Giants For Catcher and Outfielder.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11. — Rogers Hornsby, famous second baseman and, said by John McGraw, to be the best batter of all times in big league baseball, is no longer a member of the Giants.

The Rajah, as Hornsby is called, was unexpectedly traded yesterday to the Boston Braves for Francis Hogan, a young catcher, and Jimmy Welch, the outfielder.

The announcement of the deal—one of the most startling ever made in organized baseball—was made last night in the Giants' headquarters by Jimmy Tierney, secretary of the Giants. In a statement signed by Charles Stoneham, president of the Giants, and McGraw, vice-president and manager, it was revealed no money was involved in the deal.

The following statement signed by both Stoneham and McGraw was issued by Tierney after the deal was announced:

Official Statement

"After due deliberation between President Stoneham and Manager McGraw, and having in mind what we though the best interests of the New York Giants, a trade was consummated by the Giants today which involved Rogers Hornsby, second baseman of the Giants, whereby the Giants received Francis Hogan, catcher, and Jimmy Welch, outfielder of the Boston Braves."

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION MEETS

M. W. Clark, of Queen Mary School Gives Address.

The regular meeting of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association was held in the Kindergarten room Monday evening, Jan. 9, with the president, Mrs. R. Parnell, in the chair.

The regular routine of business was carried on.

Arrangements were made to have a speaker on the League of Nations at the February meeting; also the nomination of officers for the coming year. A good program was given: Vocal solos by Miss Elizabeth Harrison. Readings by Miss Gwen Parnell. An interesting and instructive address on the Influence of Women in the Affairs of Men, was given by Mr. Clark, principal of the Queen Mary School. The attendance picture was won by Mr. Park's room.

LIFE UNDERWRITERS HOLDING CONGRESS

Interesting Program Arranged For Meeting Here Next Month.

The Life Underwriters' Association is planning an ambitious and interesting program for the Educational Congress, to be held here on February 15th, 16th and 17th. This is one of the Rockwell Congress series, and gives those attending an opportunity to establish contact with an outstanding expert in the field of Life Underwriting.

The program is as follows: Wednesday, February 15th: Morning, Registration, address by the president and chairman, H. B. Matthews, address by His Worship Mayor Denne, talk on "The New Salesmanship," by Dr. G. J. Rockwell. Afternoon session, chairman, L. W. Scott, address by George Parker, Actuary, Imperial Life Company and address by Dr. Rockwell, "Everyone a Prospect."

Thursday, February 16th— Morning, W. Boulton, chairman, address by Dr. Rockwell; "Broaching the Subject," case discussion under leadership of D. M. Bissell, address by Dr. Rockwell, "What to Tell Your Prospect," case discussion under leadership of I. P. McNabb. Afternoon—J. P. H. Wallace, chairman, addresses by George Harris of the Sun Life Company, Montreal, and Dr. Rockwell, "Settling the Estate." Thursday evening's sessions include a banquet at the Empress Hotel, with J. W. Kenmure, vice-president, as chairman, and address by G. Harris, of Montreal.

Friday, February 17th—Morning, J. I. Allen, chairman, addresses by Dr. Rockwell, "Meeting the Sales Resistance" and "Supporting the Family," and by Eric V. Chown, "Association Topics." Afternoon — Neil Tobin, chairman, address by Dr. Rockwell on "Service With Profits."

To-Night's Mystery Man

AT THE POULTRY SHOW.

The gentleman taking the part of the Mysterious Mr. X tonight is a little taller and a little thinner than last night's Mystery Man. He also is a well-known man about town. He might wear glasses; then, again, he might not. He is in a position to hand out a few 'jolts' at an opponent if he so desired—so beware.

No one is eligible for the prize unless they ask the question: "Are you the Mysterious Mr. X"?, and have a copy of today's Examiner in their possession.

Forced To Eat, Woman Gains 15 Pounds

"I just had to force myself to eat. Then I took Vinol. I soon had a wonderful appetite and gained 15 pounds."—Mrs. F. Miller.

Vinol is a delicious compound of cod liver peptone, iron, etc. Nervous, easily tired, anemic people are surprised how Vinol gives new pep, sound sleep and a BIG appetite. The very FIRST bottle often adds several pounds weight to thin children or adults. Tastes delicious. McDermid & Jury, Druggists, E. L. Payne, McDermid Drug Company.

WESTERN ONTARIO DAIRYMEN GATHER

Annual Meeting Opens This Morning at London—Merger Discussed.

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Canadian Press).With over 125 delegates registered, the sixty-first annual convention of the Western Ontario Dairymen's Association opened its two day session here today. Featuring the morning session were addresses by A. E. Gracey, Simcoe, and Frank Herne, London, president and secretary-treasurer respectively of the organization, setting forth the progress achieved by the Association during the past year.

Mr. Herne briefly outlined the proposal for the formation of a federated Ontario Dairymen's Associated, composed of representative officials from the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, the Ontario Milk Producers' Association, and the Western Ontario Dairymen's Association.

Sir Henry Thornton Tells Philadelphia Traffic Club of Status.

WILL STAY OUT.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11 (Canadian Press).—Politics does not figure in the operation of the Government-owned Canadian National Railways and never will so long as he is president of the system, Sir Henry Thornton asserted last night in addressing the Philadelphia Traffic Club. "The Canadian Government," said Sir Henry, "owns the entire stock of the Canadian National System. It is operated under a board of directors, and kept out of politics and as long as I am chairman it will continue to be kept out of politics."

BOB WILSON CAPTURES THE MYSTERY MAN

Lots of Fun at the Poultry Show —Another Mysterious Mr. X To Be Caught To-night— $5.00 Prize.

After everyone at the Poultry Show last night had been scrutinized by every one else, questioned and trailed for more than an hour, Bob Wilson, Grand Central Apartments, was successful in capturing the Mysterious Mr. X, and won the prize of $2.50. The mystery man turned out to be Mr. A. Lebianc, of the sales department of the Quaker Oats Company, and he took the part well indeed. Bob did not win the reward on his first attempt, as he was without a copy of The Examiner in his possession, but finally procured one, recaptured the mystery man, and demanded the prize in cash.

There is another mystery man for to-night, and the prize for capturing him is five dollars. The Poultry Show is a fine one, and besides there is a lot of fun rounding up the Mysterious Mr. X. See his description on another page.

Obituary

JAMES HETHERINGTON

The death took place in this city today, January 11, of James Hetherington, 297 McDonnel Street. Born in Smith Township, he was in his sixty-sixth year at the time of his death; and had been ill only a few days.

Left to mourn are his wife, one daughter, Mrs. W. F. Moule of Sault Ste. Marie, and four sisters, Mrs. Thomas Watson of Lakefield; Mrs. Patterson, of Essex, and Miss Annie and Miss Susie Hetherington of Lakefield. A host of friends among the congregation of George Street United Church learned of his passing with sincere regret.

The funeral will take place on Friday, January 13, at two o'clock, to Hillside Cemetery, Lakefield; the Rev. J. E. Todd officiating.

Upward Move Resumed In Wall Street To-day

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (Canadian Press).—The stock market resumed its upward march today after an early period of irregularity. Operators for the advance ,acting on the theory that the recent reaction had sufficiently corrected the weakened position of the market and that there was no immediate danger of a rise in money rates, started aggressive operations in a dozen or more specialties. Early gain in these issues ran from four to ten points, with a much more moderate recovery in the standard industrials and rails. Call money was in plentiful supply at the renewal figure of 4½ per cent. The importation of more than $8,000,000 in gold from Canada also had a favorable effect on the credit situation. Bullish sentiment likewise was created by the Inter-state Commerce Commission's approval of the St. Paul reorganization plan and by the reported increase in steel mill operations and the firming commodity price tendency.

Corn Prices Drop Because Of Report

CHICAGO, January 11 (Canadian Press). — Corn prices underwent a decided early setback to-day on account of the bearish construction which many traders placed on the Government crop report. Wheat showed relative firmness, owing somewhat to official confirmation of a heavy shortage of the yield in Australia. Starting at ⅞c to 1¼c decline, corn displayed but little power to rally. Wheat opened unchanged to ⅜c off, and kept near to the initial range. Oats were easy. Provisions also tended to sag.

Opening prices were: Wheat, March 128⅜, May 128⅝. Corn, March, 86, May 89½. Oats, March 53⅛, May 54⅛.

Toronto Market Quiet With Changes Small

TORONTO, January 11 (Canadian Press). — Trade was more quiet than usual on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, most of the losses and gains being fractional. International Nickel was the active leader, advancing ¼ at 89¼. Christie Brown made the highest gain of the morning, selling up to 1¾ at 110. Canadian Canners, Seagram, and Canada Malting were all up ¼, while Canadian Oil, selling at 59¾, had a gain of ¾. International Petroleum and Northern Bakeries also made slight fractional gains. Page Hersey was down one point at 88, while Carlings dropped ¼ at 38¾.

Gains and Losses Even In Mine Market To-day

TORONTO, January 11 (Canadian Press). — Gains and losses were about even on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning. McIntyre suffered the greatest loss, selling down 45 points at 27.05. Noranda declined 30 at 22.00. Premier and Teck Hughes were both down 10 at 2.30 and 10.10 respectively. Argonaut, McDougall, Gold Hill, Indian, and Capital Rouyn all suffered fractional losses. Hollinger Consolidated gained 20 at 18.00, while International Nickel was up 25 at 88.75. Treadwell jumped 15 points at 25.90.

STILL SEIZED; MAN ON TRIAL

John Dixon Accused of Keeping Still Without Permit.

CASE REMANDED.

Provincial Constable N. F. Maker, Inland Revenue Officer W. H. Buller, and Inspector J. Stewart seized a still in the Township of Smith yesterday afternoon on the farm of John Dixon. Mr. Dixon was later arrested by Constable Maker and Mr. Buller north of Buckhorn.

Mr. Dixon owns two farms in Peterborough County, one in the Township of Smith, where the still was found, and the other is in the Township of Harvey. When arraigned this morning before Magistrate Langley, he pleaded not guilty to the charge of having a still in his possession without the necessary permit. Mr. Dixon was convicted some years ago on the same charge. The prosecution was unable to go on with its case, so a remand was granted until Tuesday, with bail set at $2,000.

CATERPILLARS AND DANDELIONS

But Yes We Have No Hockey in Peterborough To-day.

While hockey players gaze ruefully at their idle skates, and little boys, who got a sleigh at Christmas time, are beginning to wonder whether there really is a Santa Claus after all—"'Cause if there was one he'd send some snow for the sleigh to slide on"—dandelions are flowering in Peterboro and caterpillars are crawling blithely over the sidewalk. And if there is any doubt on the part of Examiner readers as to the truth of this statement we may say that there are on exhibition in this office one dandelion, fully flowered, and one caterpillar, apparently robust and healthy, and of a lively disposition. Both these rare January specimens were collected on Smith street during his rounds by Jos. Kelbrick of the local letter carriers' staff. When Rudyard Kipling gets this particular edition of The Examiner he'll probably order that poem about the Lady of the Snows expurgated from his books.

LITTLE CHANCE OF HOSPITALS GETTING MORE

Increases Asked Would Cost Province $838,000, Says Goldie.

HEARS DEPUTATION.

Hospitals Ask Higher Rate From Province and Municipalities For Indigent.

TORONTO, Jan. 11. — (Canadian Press.) — The Hon. Lincoln Goldie, Provincial Secretary, was not very optimistic regarding the chances of the Ontario hospitals receiving the additional government and municipal grants for indigent patients which were requested by representatives of the Association, meeting himself and the Hon. J. D. Monteith, Provincial Treasurer, to-day.

"To grant the increases asked for would cost $838,000 and that is a lot of money to dig up in a year," Mr. Goldie told the deputation, "but we will see what we can do."

All of the public hospitals of Ontario were represented in the deputation, seeking more adequate financial allowances from the province and from the municipalities for the care of indigent patients.

The gist of Association's requests, which were presented in full form by various speakers, was a resolution passed at a meeting of the Association, "that each public hospital shall have the right to collect from all municipalities other than the municipality in which the hospital is situated, the sum of two dollars per day towards the maintenance of indigent patients from such municipalities and that this increased municipal grant per diem shall not bar the hospital from receiving the government grant per diem."

BANQUET HELD AFTER SERVICE

Members of 21st Battalion Hold Social Re-union at Paragon Hall.

PARADE FOLLOWS.

In the Paragon Banquet Hall, George Street, some eighty members of the 21st Battalion Club, and members of the two bands, sat down to a splendid supper. Marching from the Armouries following the unveiling ceremony, the soldier laddies joined in the spirit of the pipes, and as a result the banquet was a most happy one. It was a typical 21st re-union, and the ex-officers of the corps, as well as the men, will remember it among the many annual gatherings that have promoted the esprit de corps of the 21st in days gone by.

General Hughes was the main speaker, but he confined his remarks to war time yarns and the old comradeship that had existed between him and his men seemed reborn on this night of their re-union.

The pipers were there, too, and at the close of his address they struck up in good style, the men left their places at the tables, and round and round the hall they marched. There was not much formality after that, and in a few minutes they filed out of the hall and down George Street in final parade. And so the re-union of the 21st closed in triumph.

Soldiers Are Grateful.

The members of the 21st Battalion Club are grateful to all those who have in any way contributed to the success of the memorial services held last evening. The co-operation of Rev. J. D. Paterson, of the designer, John Kennett of Peterborough, the Peterborough Lock Company, which manufactured the plaque, All Saints' Choir, the Peterboroufh Rangers' Band, the Pipe Band, and the invaluable services of the 57th Chapter, I. O.D.E., are all appreciated.

CONDEMNED AWAIT DEATH DIFFERENTLY

Mrs. Snyder Still Unreconciled To Her Fate—Refuses Solid Food.

GRAY RESIGNED.

"Strangler" Nelson Still Hopeful of Escaping Gallows on Friday.

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 11, Canadian Press. — Breakfasts ordered to-day by Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, next to the last breakfasts they will ever eat, unless a court stays their execution, were cited by prison attendants as an indication of the different ways in which the two prisoners are facing imminent death.

Gray, calm and apparently resigned ate toast and coffee and a large bowl of cooked cereal, but Mrs. Snyder, who had remained unreconciled to the end, merely sipped a small glass of orange juice, refusing all solid food.

Warden Lewes said that neither of the prisoners had read the morning papers, and so at mid-morning had not yet learned that Governor Smith had denied their plea for a stay of execution. However, the warden added, both sensed the fact that the governor would not intervene to save them.

Nelson still Hopeful.

WINNIPEG, January 11 (Canadian Press). — Calm and without the least sign of emotion, Earl Nelson, "the dark strangler," slayer of a woman and a child in Winnipeg, still has a hope that he may yet escape the gallows. Unless rumors of startling new developments in his case prove true or he is granted executive clemency, Nelson will be hanged on Friday morning, January 13, and already preparations for the execution are proceeding. In the reinforced concrete and steel death cell at the Provincial Jail, Nelson could hear the ring of the workmen's hammers as they commenced the erection of the scaffold yesterday.

NAVY OFFICIALS URGE APPROVAL BUILDING PLAN

Necessary To Establishment of Power Strong Enough For Protection.

NEED STRONGER NAVY.

Cost of New Construction Program Estimated at Approximately $725,000,000.

WASHINGTON, D.C., January 12 (Canadian Press). — Approval of the administrations's $725,000,000 new warship construction program was urged upon Congress yesterday by high naval officials as necessary to the establishment of a navy strong enough to "protect commerce, preserve our ocean trade routes, and provide adequate naval defence."

"We have not such a fleet at the present time," was one of the conclusions of the Navy General Board placed before the House Navy Committee by Curtis D. Wilbur, Secretary of the Navy.

The secretary, in testimony, stressed a personal belief that "the United States need a first-class navy," and declared he felt that if the program were carried out, the "danger of war and therefore of the destruction of our overseas commerce will be greatly minimized, if not entirely met."

Admiral Charles F. Hughes, Chief of Naval Operations, said that while completion of the program would not give the United States command of the sea, the proposed ships added "to our present force" would cause any nation to pause before attacking United States rights and interests.

Not Competitive.

Mr. Wilbur explained that the program proposing the construction of 25 new 10,000-ton cruisers, five aircraft carriers, nine destroyer leaders, and 32 submarines, could not be considered as competitive, but was "based upon the needs of our navy as determined by the Secretary of the Navy upon the technical advice of the Navy General Board."

He said that Great Britain at the Geneva conference had rejected the original United States proposal for a maximum cruiser tonnage of between 250,000 and 300,000 tons, insisting that, regardless of the navies of other Powers, it required a 600,000 cruiser-tonnage to meet its needs.

The insistence of the British constitutes "the most persuasive evidence," the Secretary continued, that the United States has definite cruiser needs, regardless of other nations, if "we are to have a well rounded fleet."

"The President is opposed to competitive building," he added. "Congress has also manifested its unwillingness to engage in competitive building. The programme we are now presenting to Congress is in no sense competitive."

Mr. Wilbur, who at the time the program was announced several weeks ago, estimated its cost at ap-

Strictest Privacy Observed By Bishops

LONDON, Jan. 12.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—The strictest privacy characterized the discussions between the Anglican bishops on the prayer book which opened at Lambeth Palace yesterday and will continue until Friday. A statement may possibly be issued when the deliberations close.

The evangelicels held a large meeting in Alberta Hall Tuesday evening to give thanks for the rejection by the House of Commons of the revised book of prayer. Bugle calls by two uniformed Guardmen called the meeting to silent prayer and the octogenarian Bishop Knox, formerly of Manchester, later prayed, "From the swift arrow of bitter tongues, Good Lord deliver us." He added that the bishops taking part in the present conference might take heed of the warning before them and be restrained from too hasty and self-willed action. The audience was requested to suppress any desire to applaud the speakers.

THREE RESCUED FROM DROWNING

Twenty Year Old Girl Saves Three During Saturday's Storm.

GIVEN OVATION.

LONDON, Jan. 12. — Canadian Press Cable. — "If we have girls like this we need not fear for the future generation of the English people," declared a Westminster coroner yesterday after his court had heard how Marjorie Franckeiss, aged 20, rescued a woman and two boys from drowning during Saturday's flood.

The girl told her story with obvious reluctance to dwell on her own part in it. At two o'clock in the morning she awoke to find the water at her window ledge and a few minutes later she and another woman were washed out of the room by the force of the water. "I was washed into another room," she continued, "and we crouched on a bed floating near the ceiling. I finally got out of the window and while swimming managed to rid myself of my dressing gown."

What followed was told by another witness who saw her swimming outside his own doomed house. "Miss Franckciss swam to our window," he related, "but refused to take hold of the sheet we held out and asked where the others were. We pulled her brother up and told her Mrs. Watson and Billy were in room underneath. I saw Miss Franckeiss dive and swim through that window, reappearing with the little boy, whom we pulled up. She still refused our help but dived in again and got Mrs. Watson.

Cut by Glass.

"The girl was exhausted," he continued, "but still would not come until she saw Mrs. Watson saved. She placed a second sheet under Mrs. Watson while swimming around her. She then allowed herself to be hauled up by my wife and maid. Her legs were badly cut by the window glass.

Miss Franckeiss was driven to the inquest yesterday from Fulham Hospital where she had been confined since Saturday. She received a great ovation upon arriving and leaving.

Besides warmly eulogizing Miss Franckeiss the coroner and the Mayor of Fulham commended in the highest terms everybody concerned; the mayor stated that he had opened a testimonial fund for Miss Franckeiss and had received many letters from every part of the country.

BIBLE CLASS HEARS OF YEAR'S PROGRESS

Officers Elected at Annual Meeting of Welcome Bible Class.

The annual meeting of the Welcome Bible Class of George Street United Church was held this week, the president, Mrs. P. Hagerman, taking the chair for the reading of reports given by the secretary and treasurer and convenors of different committees, all of which showed an excellent twelve months just ended, the treasurer's report showing a substantial balance in the bank, with cheques of $100 each contributed during the year to the Building Fund and the furnishing of the society's class room.

The teacher of the class, Mrs. A. Stinson, presided during the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

AGED NOVELIST PASSES AWAY AT DORCHESTER

Thomas Hardy Succumbs After Short Illness at His Home.

IN 87TH YEAR.

One of Greatest Writers of English Literature of Modern Times.

DORCHESTER, England, Jan. 12 (Associated Press).—Thomas Hardy, aged dean of English literature, died last night at his home here after a month's illness.

The famous 87-year-old novelist had a chill December 12, and thereafter his condition was alternately hopeful and then critical, but his age imposed heavy odds against recovery. Death came at 9 p.m., after optimistic reports yesterday.

With Hardy's death, one of the greatest of the Victorians, scenes of whose novels of English life were laid in his beloved Wessex, where he lived most of his eighty-seven years, passed from the literary world.

Hardy died in surroundings which he, no doubt, would have chosen for his end. The historic countryside of his home was to him the most loved of spots. More than forty years ago the novelist planned and built a fine red brick and stone country house which has been home and sanctum ever since. It was in this home that he produced some of the greatest literature of modern times.

His estate is in a beautiful undulating countryside about one mile from the ancient Roman town of Dorchester. When he selected the site, it was part of the Duchy of Cornwall and belonged to the then Prince of Wales, later Edward VII., but through the intervention of the Prince himself, Hardy was allowed to purchase two acres.

Planned Own Home.

On these two acres the writer built his home, surrounded it with a grove of trees, laid out lawns and started vines which since have clambered up about the dwelling to mark the passing of the years. Hardy never deserted the home which he loved so well. His declining years were spent largely in penning poetry in his study from the windows of which he could see his trees and the birds he had encouraged to built in them.

Whether any of Hardy's recent poetry will ever be given to the public is problematical. Hardy is said to have written it most for himself and his friends, feeling that he had completed his life-work.

In his later years, Mrs. Hardy, his second wife, much younger than himself, was the novelist's secretary and encouraged him in his poetic work. She herself is a writer, but abandoned most of her own work in order to remain loyally and constantly at her husband's side.

1800 PERSONS ARE HOMELESS

Houses Invaded By London Flood Saturated With Creosote.

HARD TO CLEAN OUT.

LONDON, Jan. 12 (Canadian Press).—The Daily Mail, after making an investigation of the disaster caused by the Thames last Saturday, today estimated that a least eighteen hundred men, women and children were in deplorable circumstances. These were the people of the poorer districts below the business section of the city. They have been trying to clean out their dwellings and to re-occupy them, but have found it impossible as the houses are not only soaked with water but also saturated with creosote, thousands of gallons of which were carried by the flood from local factories.

Il Duce Falls Heir Two Unexpected Gifts

ROME, Jan. 12 (Canadian Press). — Premier Mussolini has fallen heir to two unexpected presents—one a fortune of 5,000,000 lire (approximately $250,000), the other a splendid eagle captured in the Abruzzi Mountains.

The fortune has been bequeathed in trust to Il Duce by the will of Signora Cortella di Castellazzo Dorba, whose husband was an Italian general, and is to be devoted to charitable purposes. The Premier is instructed by the terms of the will to set aside 1,000,000 lire for the foundation of a new Fascist hospital in Rome, 500,000 lire each for the funds for the protection of needy artists and the education of poor boys; 400,000 for the Jewish colony at Milan; 200,000 each for the war-blinded and for developing cancer relief. Several minor requests are also made.

Mussolini, after admiring the eagle, bestowed it on the Rome "zoo."

Speculation Caused As To What Soviet Intends To Do With Disciplined Leaders

BERLIN, Jan. 12 (Canadian Press)—Just what the Moscow government intends to do with a number of Opposition leaders who have been marked for discipline is somewhat of a mystery, and so far as Soviet quarters in Berlin are informed, the proposed deportations of these men have not yet been made effective.

Leon Trotsky, Karl Radek, Gregory Zinovieff, Leon Kameneff and Christian Rakovsky, former Soviet Ambassador to France, are reported to be among those who are to feel the weight of the Soviet government's hand. All of these men have opposed the government strongly, particularly Trotsky, who with some of his lieutenants, has been gradually deposed from whatever positions be held in his own country.

Soviet circles in Berlin attempt to minimize the importance of the contemplated action, professing to see in it merely a measure intended to make the Opposition amenable to party discipline.

"It will be noted," said a well-informed Soviet spokesman yesterday, "that the men who are to be sent into the provinces are those whose entry into the party seems desirable. They must go through a rigorous disiplinary forces and do humble party work in outlying places, and thereby show that they are penitent. But this is in no wise like the Czarist measure of life-long imprisonment.

"After their probation period is ended, they will unquestionably be recalled to party activity in centres like Moscow and Leningrad. Those who are to suffer so-called "banishment" are in much better luck than the Oppositionist who have been dropped once and for all from the party. These may return to their present home towns, but they must find work, like any common laborer, and will not be permitted to return to the fold."

TRENT EXHIBIT BENG PREPARED FOR N. Y. SHOW

Thousands of Folders Will Be Distributed To Prospective Tourists.

PICTURES BEING SHOWN.

Trent Municipalities and Railways Co-operating in Annual Display.

Plans are now well advanced in connection with the annual Trent Waterways Exhibit at the National Motor Boat show, which will open in New York City on January 20, and will continue until January 28.

A visit to the offices of the Trent Waterways Development Association to-day disclosed numerous packing cases, trunks, etc., in fact, the entire paraphernalia required for an exhibit of this nature. The packing cases contained thousands of maps, booklets, supplies of flags, and bunting and such impressive and useful articles as huge mounted fish specimens in addition to many attractive framed pictures. There are also many novel framed invitations to the prospective tourist to come where he may enjoy fishing, bathing, boating, sailing, golfing, tennis, motoring and other summer recreations.

The Trent Waterways motion picture, "Kelly's Cruise," taking during the summer of 1926 by the Provincial Motion Picture Bureau, in co-operation with the Department of Railways and Canals, and under the direction of the Trent Waterways Development Association, will be a feature of the New York exhibit again this year.

This scenic picture was extremely well received when first shown at the Motor Boat show last winter, and has since been circulating through motion picture theatres in the United States. The Motion Picture Bureau has supplied two prints of the picture of this year's exhibit.

The secretary-treasurer of the Trent Association, in charge of the exhibit will be accompanied this year by President Walter Fowlds of Hastings, Ontario; by G. K. Fraser, honorary president, of Burleigh Falls and Hamilton, and by N. K. Wagg, General manager of the Georgian Bay Tourist and Steamship Company, Limited, of Midland.

No effort will be spared in making the exhibit as attractive as possible. The various Trent municipalities are contributing as in the past toward covering the expense of the exhibit. The officials of the Association feel that the importance of placing the Trent exhibit at the National Motor Boat Show cannot be overestimated. The show attracts boating enhusiasts, who are potential tourists, from all over the United States and Canada. The attendance annually is extremely large and continues to grow. The show itself started some years ago in a small way, occupying one floor of the Grand Central Palace, New York. Now, three floors prove inadequate and possibly another year will see the fourth floor added.

Literature to be distributed at the Motor Boat Show will include the Trent Waterways, the Kawartha Lakes, Canadian Pacific, and Canadian National folders. The Province of Ontario has supplied two thousand maps.

The 1927-28 de luxe publication of the Trent Waterways Development Association will receive partial distribution at this show.

The railways have been pleased to co-operate in supplying transportation to and from Montreal to the president and secretary-treasurer of the Trent Association.

President Fowlds points out that it is obvious to everyone now that the tourist business is a good business. "We have had the only Canadian exhibit at the show in New York for the past six years. We are going down with the avowed intention of giving the most aggressive publicity to Central Ontario, as we believe the best will be none too good for our matchless Trent Waterways system," he declared.

Forced To Land After Four Hours

ROOSEVELT FIELD,, Jan. 12. —Canadian Press. — Thwarted after a four hour flight in an attempt to establish a new world's endurance record, Clarence Chamberlin, the trans-atlantic flier and a companion, Roger S. Williams, landed late yesterday, and immediately began planning to start at dawn this morning.

Trouble with the automatic pump which feeds the gasoline from the supply tanks to the gravity tanks in the wings of their Bellanca monoplane, forced them to abandon the flight, they said.

POULTRY SHOW ATTENDANCE UP

Officials Well Pleased With the Success of Their Exhibition.

MR. X STILL AT LARGE.

The officials in charge of this year's Poultry Show are exceptionally well pleased with the attendance up to date. The aggregate attendance yesterday was greater than on any one day of any previous show, and the attendance for the two days is greater than any previous three days' attendance. This shows the increasing interest taken by the public in the exhibition of fine birds and also may be connected with the central position of the Market Hall, where the show is being held this year. A band of musicians contributed to the attraction of the big, well-lighted, warm interior last evening and also added to the mystification of the birds, who were unable to make themselves heard above the music.

This evening, the presentation of prizes will take place, and the show should have a record attendance, with the Mysterious Mr. X still at large.

STAY GRANTED MRS. SNYDER IS DISPUTED

State Officials Deny Legality of Justice Levy's Writ.

HEARING ADVANCED.

Justice Will Decide Matter This Afternoon Instead of To-morrow.

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 12.— (Canadian Press.)— Attorney General Albert Ottringer to-day announced he had ruled that the stay of execution issued in behalf of Mrs. Ruth Snyder last night by Supreme Justice Levy was not binding. The order, he said, does not act as a stay of execution.

Hearing Advanced.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.— (Canadian Press.)—Supreme Court Justice Levy to-day unexpectedly changed the time of the hearing upon the stay granted Mrs. Ruth Snyder from 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to 2 o'clock this afternoon.

As he was presiding in the Superior Court Justice Levy received a message that Attorney Ottringer, at Albany, held the stay was illegal, but he had replied he didn't care what Ottringer held.

This hearing is independent of the action ordered by the attorney for vacation of the stay. If Justice Levy decides that there is no cause for delaying Mrs. Snyder's execution, it will take place to-night, but if he finds there is cause, he will be asked by the State to vacate the stay.

Gray Seeks Respite.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Samuel Miller, attorney for Judd Gray, to-day filed a formal application with Federal Judge Goddard for a writ of habeas corpus to halt Gray's execution, scheduled for to-night. Judge Goddard acted upon the application, but it was stated the nature of the action, whether favorable or not, would not be revealed until 5 p.m.

The writ, Miller said, was signed by Gray's mother and set forth that the condemned man's constitutional rights had been violated by joint trial with Mrs. Ruth Snyder, who was convicted with him.

At the same time Mr. Miller announced that he had wired Governor Smith asking for a stay of execution for Gray for as long a time as Mrs. Snyder is granted one.

Levy Explains Stand.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Supreme Court Justice Aaron J. Levy to-day told why he granted a stay of execution for Mrs. Ruth Snyder. An infant, (Lorraine Snyder, Mrs. Snyder's ten year old daughter), a ward of the court, demands justice and in pursuit of it calls upon the inherent power of the court," he said.

"It may well be, after oral argument, that there is lack of merit in the application, but no one may gainsay that the least this infant is entitled to is an opportunity to be heard. This must of necessity occur in a very brief time, and obviously neither the State nor any person can be aggrieved by a delay of possibly a day."

Lorarine Snyder would become the beneficiary of insurance totalling $95,000 in the event of her mothers' death and should the policies be declared legal.

France and United States Still Differ About Outlawing War.

ANOTHER NOTE SENT.

PARIS, Jan. 12 (Canadian Press). —French and United States views on the proposed pact to outlaw war still differ, it was said at the Foreign Office to-day, but the countries are coming closer together.

Secretary Kellogg's latest note is still being decoded but the comment from Ambassador Claudel which accompanied it caused officials to continue optimistic.

Few Differences.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (Canadian Press).—France's counter suggestion in discussion of the proposed treaty for perpetual peace that the pact condemn only "aggressive war" does not have the approval of the United States Government and the State Department has so replied to Paris.

The new turn in the discussions is not considered by the State Department to bar the way to ultimate negotiations of a treaty between France and the United States and untimately with all powers, declaring against war as a weapon in international relations. There have been indications that virtually all other phases of the proposed pact are acceptable to both sides and there is confidence here that the remaining differences will be worked out.

Mail Flier Makes Successful Flight

GRINDSTONE, Magdalen Islands, January 12. Canadian Press. — The inhabitants of these isolated islands of the Gulf of St. Lawence, thronged the shore at Grindstone yesterday, when a wireless message stated that the first mail plane inaugurating a regular winter service to the islands had left Moncton at noon. An hour and a half later the hum of the aeroplane motor was heard and just one hour and thirty five minutes after the hop-off from Moncton, the plane, flown by E. J. Cooper, made a graceful landing on the water, and transferred 700 pounds of mail to a waiting boat.
